An Appraisal Of Nixon's Two Years

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Two years ago today in the post midnight glow of his hairline presidential election victory, Richard M. Nixon held up his arms in triumph and remembered the little girl at the train station in Deshler, Ohio whose placard read: "Bring Us Together."

As the 37th President of the United States, he promised that unity would be the touchstone of his administration. Americans, he said, would go "Forward Together."

Nixon also pledged that his White House years would mark an era of "negotiation not confrontation" with the Soviet Union; that peace in Vietnam, progress at home, prosperity and law and order would be his goals.

In his inaugural speech he asked that voices of dissent be lowered and called for a truce against angry bombastic rhetoric that "fans discontents into hatreds."

As allies, he summoned the "great silent majority", the "forgotten Americans" and "Middle America."

After 21 months in office, Nixon, frustrated by a Democratic-controlled Congress, angered by bomb throwing "leftist terrorists," and "creeping permissiveness" became the slugger in his recent drive for a more responsive Congress. "The time has come to draw the line," he said .

The voters reacted by giving him a slightly more sympathetic Senate but kept the House firmly in Democratic hands. Only time will tell whether the President can translate this new legislative lineup into programs and policies.

Frineds and foes alike agree, however, that he is looking good in his steady effort to disengage the United States from Vietnam, the war that helped to depose his predecessor, Lyndon B. Johnson.

Nixon has succeeded in largely defusing anti-war sentiment, nullifying the organized peace movement and setting his own pace for withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

The statistics reflect his progress in that area. When he entered the White House there were an estimated 550,000 American troops in Vietnam. He has sliced the force level to 374,000 and plans a reduction to 284,000 men by May 1.

American boys were dying at the rate of 275 a week when Nixon was elected. The most recent rate is about 30.

The President also has won wide support at home and abroad for recent offer to the Communists of an immediate cease-fire and a total withdrawal of all American forces from the war zone.

Nixon has had less success convincing Americans that his fiscal policies will lead to a stable economy. During his tenure, prices have risen 10 per cent and unemployment has jumped by 2 million from 3.5 per cent to 5.5 per cent.

Nixon coined the "new federalism" and traveled around the country to "take Washington to the people."

He asked Congress for an anti-crime package and finally got it after 18 months of verbal lashings. But the lawmakers balked at his revolutionary welfare reform program to give poor families a guaranteed annual income.

Nixon reorganized White House operations, setting up a streamlined Domestic Council and Office of Management and Budget that took over some functions of the Cabinet. He also moved to protect the environment and got Congress to convert the Post Office department into a semi-private corporation.

He won Senate confirmation for two nominees to the Supreme Court—Chief Justice Warren Burger and Harry Blackmun—and made a political issue of the Senate's refusal to clear two nominees from the South.

In world affairs, no President has been more aware of the U.S. role as a superpower. He traveled thousands of miles (the White House declined to say exactly how many) and toured 17 countries to show the American flag and talk to world leaders.

He enunciated the Nixon Doctrine calling for a lower U.S. profile and more self reliance by allies in their own defense, barring a nuclear threat.

During his recent trip to Europe, Nixon's running theme was that "America is the most powerful nation in the world and has a responsibility to defend freedom."

This posture became more apparent as the United States and Soviet Union appeared to be edging toward the brink of a new cold war after a period of conciliation in the fields of nuclear disarmament, the Middle East and Europe.

Nixon's most exciting moment as President was on July 20, 1969, when the United States landed the first man on the moon in a "giant leap for

Release Of Captive Generals Expected

Few Details Remain, Says Russ Source

MOSCOW (UPI)—Three American Army officers and a Turkish colonel being held in Armenia after their aircraft crossed the Soviet-Turkish border will be released within a few days, unofficial Soviet sources said today.

They said there appeared to be only a few "technical details" to be cleared up before the four men are allowed to fly back to Turkey from Leninakian, Armenia, where they have been held since their light aircraft, a Beechcraft U8, landed there Oct. 21.

THOSE HELD

Two of the Americans are generals — Maj. Gen. Edward C.D. Sherrer and Brig. Gen. Claude M. McQuarrie. The other two are U.S. Army Maj. James P. Russell and Turkish Col. Cevdad Denli.

American consular officials have visited them twice in Leninakian and reported they are comfortably housed at a local villa and are in good health and spirits.

The four men claimed their light plane was blown off course by a strong gust of wind and they did not know they were on Soviet territory when they landed.

U.S. PROTEST

The U.S. government has protested their length detention. On Wednesday, State Department spokesman John F. King said in Washington "we completely fail to understand the long Soviet delay in completing the investigation of a matter which clearly involves accidental intrusion into Soviet territory."

He noted the United States already has apologized for the incident and said "the matter should end there."

The Soviet press has used the incident to protest what it termed a number of U.S. flights along the Soviet-Turkish border and into Soviet territory. They compared it to the U2 spy flight of Francis Gary Powers, shot down over the Soviet Union 10 years ago, as a "provocation" but did not claim the Americans were on a spy flight this time.

Return of the four men has been complicated by the hijacking of a Soviet airliner to Turkey.

TOO HOT TO HANDLE

Agency Sidesteps Cost Of Patrols

By WAT TAKESHITA

A political hot potato — an attempt by cities to make unincorporated areas bear more of the cost of sheriff's patrols —proved too hot to handle last night at a meeting of the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission.

An audience of 20, sharply divided between representatives of cities and unincorporated areas, repeated the arguments they have been giving for a decade, with a few new twists.

After two and one-half hours of wrestling with facts, figures and "analyses" by both sides, commissioners gingerly tossed the hot potato into the lap of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Before the commission, meeting at Ross Town Hall, was a proposal that a county service area for police protection be formed in the unincorporated areas so that communities which want "added" or "extended" police services would pay for such services.

Two supervisors on the commission, Louis H. Baar and Peter R. Arrigoni declared that the county supervisors should decide the matter. They wanted to abstain from voting last night because they must vote as supervisors later on.

But chairman Hugh G. Marchant warned that the issue would not go to the supervisors without three favorable votes, and he wasn't about to vote for it.

On a motion by Arrigoni and a second by Roy Farrington Jones of Ross, commissioners approved the formation of a county service area for police services and sent the problem to the supervisors "for careful consideration of various inequities."

Marchant, who lives in the unincorporated area of Kentfield, cast the lone dissenting vote.

Jones, a Ross city councilman, and J. Wayne Womack, a Novato city councilman, want the unincorporated areas to pay more of the sheriff's patrol cost and voted for the proposal.

The two supervisors voted "yes" only, they said, to get the issue before the county board of supervisors.

The long hearing started with a complicated list of figures showing costs and expenditures of various cities as compared with the unincorporated area, prepared by Executive Officer John F. Barrows. Barrows then followed up with an analysis and a conclusion that an inequity exists in financing the sheriff's patrol, with the unincorporated area getting the benefit.

Not so, said Merritt A. Robinson, Sleepy Hollow engineer, who used Barrows' figures and came up with the opposite conclusion. "The total inequity is $882,000 in favor of cities, and that was in 1967-68," said Robinson. Therefore, declared Robinson, the cities could afford to spend $882,000 more in increased sheriff's protection for unincorporated areas "before they collect one red cent from unincorporated areas."

Robinson's major argument was that cities get huge revenues from sales and use taxes, and cities should share some of that if they want unincorporated areas to pay more for sheriff's patrols.

This opened up the whole question of how much benefit cities and noncity areas get from other countywide services such as planning, county jail, and welfare.

Counter-analyses and rebuttals flew from all sides as city and noncity spokesmen lined up against each other.

Frank Solomon Jr., an attorney representing the Marinwood Community Services District said his district is prepared to launch a referendum to prevent the creation of a police services

Thuy Attacks Nixon On American Election

PARIS (UPI) — U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators at the Paris talks quarreled bitterly today over the significance of the American elections. A U.S. spokesman said the Communists used extreme and insulting language.

Stephen Ledogar, the spokesman for the U.S. delgeation, said the meeting was adjourned after a "sharp exchange" which followed "personally insulting, derogatory remarks made by Xuan Thuy about the President of the United States." Thuy, the chief North Vietnamese negotiator, was addressing his U.S. counterpart, Ambassador David K.E. Bruce.

Ledogar said Thuy's remarks were "the most extreme" he has heard in the many months he has attended the talks.

After one of Thuy's remarks about Nixon, Ledogar said, Bruce rose from his chair at the conference table and declared:

"I would like to say to the chief of the North Vietnamese delegation his choice of words and his attitude in these last few minutes is shameful and completely inadmissable. At least one should be cautious if one cannot be quiet."

The meeting was adjourned in an orderly fashion and all participants agreed to meet again next Thursday.

Thuy accused President Nixon of lying to the American people about the progress of the Vietnam War. Bruce rejected this.

Speaking at the 91st session of the stalemated Vietnam talks, Bruce called on North Vietnamese and Viet Cong peace negotiators to end "self-serving propaganda and preconditions to negotiations."

No progress was reported at the meeting, which lasted four hours and 20 minutes, but Bruce told newsmen: "We are still hopeful that the Communists will agree with us there is a need for genuine negotiations

Riles Pledge: 'Everyone Will Benefit'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Negro Wilson Riles, the state's new school chief, pledged today to work for the education of all children, not just black students and "not just to prove a point."

Riles, an upset winner over incumbent Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty, told a victory news conference: "If I can do the job I expect to do, everyone will benefit."

The 53-year-old native of the backwoods of Louisiana polled 3,195,555 votes to Rafferty's 2,716,369 in Tuesday's general election. It was Riles' first election bid, and his victory made him the first black elected to a major statewide office.

Riles told newsmen that he would not issue "a mandate ... for the integration of schools" in the state.

"When you're saying a black child has to sit next to a white child to learn I don't believe that," he said.

In response to a question, Riles said he waged his drive for the superintendent's $35,000-a-year job "on the educational issues.

"I sensed people were sick of confrontation issues such as sex education and busing for integration."

Riles was asked if he felt any special responsibilities as the first Negro chosen for such an office. He replied: "I plan to work for the education of all the children and not just to

Corte Madera's Ferry Plan Upsets Larkspur

A salvo of criticism was fired last night by the Larkspur City Council at the Town of Corte Madera's plan for a proposed Central Marin ferry terminal site.

The broadside was unleashed when, according to City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst, he informed the council that Corte Madera's plan required new roads within Larkspur city limits adjacent to the proposed site.

One councilman called the plan "a rape of Larkspur" to which Mayor Benton A. Sifford Jr., added "It looks like somebody's trying to seduce the (Golden Gate) Bridge District," according to Councilman Neil R. Brixon.

The charges followed a presentation to the council of Larkspur's plan which would place the proposed terminal north of the Corte Madera site on the Hutchinson Co. quarry property.

Following the presentation by architect Norman T. Gilroy of Mill Valley, councilmen Brixon and Fleckles and Mayor Sifford asked the city manager for a comparison between the two sites.

Bathurst reported that the bridge district had told him that more specific economic proposals had to be submitted for the Larkspur site or the Corte Madera plan would be accepted.

"It is extremely difficult to submit competitive proposals, in view of the fact that to date no standards or criteria have been established (for site selection) by the district," Bathurst told the council.

He said he did not believe the bridge district is willing to accept a proposal (Corte Madera's) that will require the filling of over 50 acres of marsh. (Corte Madera's site envisions the terminal located on the 99 acres at the mouth of Corte Madera Creek owned by W. J. Heerdt.

"I do not believe the district is willing to accept poor vehicle ingress and egress from Highway 101 and the City of Larkspur for traffic movement," Bathurst's report continued.

He said today such a proposal would require condemnation of private property within Larkspur, a proposal which raises legal questions if the city does not approve.

Bathurst also criticized Corte Madera's plan for a 15-acre out-

TEPEE PROTEST SITE

Two unidentified Indians, part of a group of 75 that have invaded a deserted Army communications center near Davis, warm themselves near a tepee set up at the post. The Indians, who arrived Tuesday, are attempting to obtain the 640-acre post for an Indian university and are protesting a federal government offer to the University of California at Davis. U.C. officials said the land would be used for rice and range research programs. (UPI Telephoto)

Mideast Cease-Fire Expires Today

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Middle East cease-fire expires today with both Israel and Egypt pledged not to start shooting again. However, immediate prospects for resumption of peace talks appeared dim.

The 90-day truce which began Aug. 7 was ending at 5 p.m. EST — midnight along the Suez Canal. Egyptian forces were on a "state of maximum alert" as a precautionary measure "to face the possibility of renewal of fighting at any moment."

A call for a 90-day extension of the cease-fire was passed by the U.N. General Assembly by a 57-16 vote Wednesday. Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad told the Assembly "we shall further observe the cease-fire period for three months." Jordan, the third party in the truce, also accepted the extension.

Foreign Minister Abba S. Eban, claiming the resolution was biased in favor of the Arabs, said Israel was not bound by it but would continue the cease-fire on an indefinite basis.

However, he made it clear the Israeli position on the resumption of peace talkswith the United Nations' Gunnar V. Jarring acting as mediator remained the same — Israel would not participate unless Egypt withdrew Soviet-built missiles it allegedly moved into the Suez Canal standstill zone after the truce began.

Palestinian guerrillas have refused to accept the cease-fire and three of them died in a clash with an Israeli army patrol near the Lebanese border Wednesday night. An Israeli army spokesman said today the patrol intercepted the three-man squad near the Margaliyot kibbutz in the upper Galilee. There were no Israeli casualties, he said.

The Jordanian government, in announcing its continuation of the cease-fire, said it would not prevent the guerrillas from launching raids into territory occupied by the Israelis.

In Damascus¼ the ruling Baathist party of Syria vowed to boost its battle against Israel and offer greater support for the guerrillas.

Syria has not accepted the cease-fire.

In London, Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir told a news conference the cease-fire could continue indefinitely as fas as Israel was concerned but said Israel will not resume the peace talks until removal of Soviet-built Egyptian missiles allegedly moved into the truce zone.

"We shall not shoot first. But if Egypt violates the cease-fire again and starts shooting Israel will react. But she has no intention of shooting first," Mrs. Meir said.

Israeli troops whiled away the last hours of the cease-fire sleeping and resting in virtually indestructable underground positions improved during the truce.

Israeli positions at Qantara and opposite from Ismalia were fortified with sandbags and barbed wire.

An alert went into effect on the Israeli side of the 102-mile waterway two days ago in preparation for the end of the truce.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

17 Old People Die

MONTREAL (UPI)—An early morning fire today claimed the lives of 17 of 34 elderly residents of an old people's home in suburban Pointe Aux Trembles.

The fire, attributed to a small furnace explosion in the basement of the recently-constructed Foyer Bernadette, broke out about 4:30 a.m. It took Pointe Aux Trembles firemen about an hour and a half to extinguish it.

Damage to the home, which consists of two duplex apartment buildings built side-to-side, was slight, other than in the basement itself.

Those who died were unable to save themselves and died of asphyxiation in their beds, with the exception of one who made an attempt to escape in a wheel chair.

Fire, Bomb Threats

OLEAN, N.Y. (UPI) — A suspicious fire leveled two storage barns on the campus of St. Bonaventure University early today five hours after an argument over university authority and student rights.

While the fire was being fought, the university president called a special convocation at the university center where the arguments had been held earlier.

"I want to make it clear that I do not consider the unfortunate fire you have just witnessed an intimidation," the Very Rev. Reginal A. Redlon said. "I assure you that the unviersity will continue to operate normally in the morning." Several bomb threats were telephoned to the university switchboard Wednesday night while Redlon met with students over a dispute concerning visiting rights.

Ban On Reforms

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican today officially announced a ban on further experiments with the Mass and other forms of Roman Catholic worship.

Some changes were authorized by the Vatican Ecumenical Council more than six years ago.

In an "instruction" on the liturgy, the Congregation for Holy Worship said it was now necessary to achieve greater understanding of the liturgy as it stands rather than to bring about further reforms.

Sino-Italian Talks

PARIS (UPI) — Italy and Communist China concluded negotiations here today on establishment of diplomatic relations and the Italian government is expected to give formal approval Friday,, Italian sources said.

Official Italian sources said texts of the proposed agreements were exchanged between the Italian and Chinese embassies in Paris this morning.

The texts were sent to Rome and Peking for final approval and the Italian cabinet is expected to announce its approval after a meeting Friday, the sources said.

Former King Dies

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Former King Peter II of Yugoslavia, who held the reins of government for less than one month, while a boy, died Tuesday at the age of 47, friends reported Wednesday.

A spokesman for the Serbian Orthodox church in nearby Arcadia said Peter died of a cardio respiratory failure at a local hospital.

He was hospitalized a month ago for pneumonia.

Peter became the nominal king of Yugoslavia in 1934 at the age of 11 when his father, Alexander I, was assassinated. Peter's uncle, Prince Paul, acted as regent and held the real power.

Adventure Over

MOOLOOLABA, Australia (UPI)—Four adventurers rode a raft into port tonight, ending a 159-day, 7,000-mile voyage across the Pacific Ocean to prove that South American Indians could have sailed to Australia centuries ago.

The four men—bearded and parched by the sun—held a black and white mascot cat aloft as a victory sign from the deck of their 26-foot raft named La Balsa. A cabin cruiser towed the raft the last few miles into the harbor of this resort 90 miles north of Brisbane.

U.S. Viet Casualties Drop; New Red Supply Area Found

SAIGON (UPI) —The U.S. Command said today only 24 American servicemen were killed in combat in Vietnam last week, the lowest death toll in five years.

The low death toll was attributed to a battlefield lull, American withdrawals, and the fact South Vietnamese forces were doing more of the fighting.

The figures compared to 43 U.S. soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines killed in action the week before. It was the lowest toll since the week ended Oct. 23, 1965, when 14 Americans were killed in the fighting.

In addition, 431 Americans were wounded during the week ending Oct. 3. Since the beginning of U.S. involvement in Indochina in 1961, 43,928 American servicemen have been killed in action.

Meanwhile,, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops fought a series of battles with Communist forces, Wednesday, killing 64 of them. Four Americans were reported lost in the actions.

Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans Jr. told a news conference in Saigon today that U.S. reconnaissance planes have discovered a major new buildup of Communist troops and supplies in North Vietnam waiting for shipment to the Indochina battlefront. He said the Air Force is waging a massive campaign to stop it.

Describing the supply caches high in the Annamite mountains as "extensive," Seamans said "this is a crucial time in the air war. Because of the Cambodian operation large supplies were wiped out. If they are to continue in Cambodia and Laos they will need supplies."

He said they have to bring the supplies in along the Ho Chi Minh trail and the air force is doing everything to stop them. The trial "will be a primary target in the coming months," he said.

The bombing campaign began 29 days ago when the monsoons cleared.

The cost in the past 29 days has run more than $75 million, the sources said, and current plans call for the campaign to run for several more months.

The campaign is designed to help cut down2 Communist capabilities of inflicting casualties on American and South Vietnamese ground troops.

In Phnom Penh, the Cambodian high command said that as its forces were built toward a hoped-for army of 200,000 men, they increasingly were taking the initiative in fighting against the Communists. "We are going out very often" rather than holding defensive positions around towns, the spokesman said. "Now we are taking the initiative and the offensive on the terrain."

The Cambodian command also reported two new clashes, one at Angkor Ban on the Mekong River about 35 miles northeast of Phnom Penh and the other at the town of Kompong Trach, 72 miles south-southwest of the capital. No Cambodian casualties were reported in either clash.

In South Vietnam, American and South Vietnamese troops clashed sharply with Communist units about 15 miles south of Da Nang, the country's second largest city. The American Command said a U.S. Marine pacification team spotted guerrillas and called in reinforcements. Twenty guerrillas were killed in the battle the followed and one Marine was killed.

Meanwhile, Lt. William Calley Jr., accused of 102 murders in the alleged My Lai massacre, spent today working on his defense with his attorney, Maj. Kenneth A. Raby, spokesmen said.

Calley, 27, is scheduled to leave Vietnam tomorrow, military spokesmen said. His court martial is due to start Nov. 10, at Fort Benning, Ga.

Find Mine Filled With Hashish

BEIRUT (UPI)—When Lebanese coastguardsmen spotted a frogman attaching a mine to an American-owned freighter in Beirut harbor they thought they might have a new form of terrorism on their hands. Instead it turned out to be smuggling.

The coast guard carefully pried the limpet mine from the hull of the Ikaria, registered in Panama and owned by the American Transport Line, and fired rifle bullets into it. The mine didn't explode. When they finally opened it up they found 44 pounds of hashish carefully tucked inside in place of explosives.

New Bus Challenge To Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court has been confronted with another challenge of the use of public funds to bus children to parochial schools.

Americans United, a Protestant organization, has appealed a decision by the Minnesota Supreme Court which on Aug. 7, 1970, upheld the state's 1969 bus law —said the statute approached "the brink of unconstitutionality."

Citing the need to protect children's health and safety, the Minnesota law provides that where the state furnishes transtportation to public school children it must do the same for those attending church schools.

Americans United accused the Minnesota Legislature of deceitful tactics.

"No wonder the young of our land cry out for us 'to call it as it is,'" the appeal said. "The self?serving recital of a 'safety' purpose in an act dealing with religious liberty is an example of what sends youth crawling up the walls in frustration."

The Minnesota Supreme Court said the primary effect of the law was not to benefit religion or support sectarian schools.

Twenty-three years ago in a similar case (Everson vs. New Jersey) the court ruled 5 to 4 that the state could properly reimburse parents for the expense incurred in transporting their children to school on public buses.

Justice Hugo L. Black, now 84 and still on the court, wrote that opinion.

Only two years ago the court upheld New York State's textbook loan program, which included parochial schools.

The rationale of Black's opinion was that the law assisted parents in getting their children to school, regardless of their religion. This view has come to be known as the "child benefit theory."

Americans United argue that savings thus realized by church schools or parents are released for other, wholely sectarian, purposes.

Two Rooms Burgled At San Rafael High

Two San Rafael High School teachers reported thefts from their adjoining rooms yesterday, San Rafael police said today.

Sally Jane Barkey said her purse was stolen from Room L-6, a set of keys extracted and the purse dropped in Room L-7. In that room, teacher Marjorie G. Mount of Lagunitas said a $60 portable radio was taken. The thefts were shortly after 11 a.m., while the rooms were briefly unoccupied, police said.

Judge Seeks Attorney In Theft Case

A Marin Superior Court Judge today said he will consider removing the public defender from an armed robbery case unless a specific attorney from that office is appointed to the case by Monday.

Judge E. Warren McGuire made that statement atfer hearing from the defendant, Gilbert Fullam, 25, of Santa Rosa, that he had been represented by various deputy public defenders in court proceedings but none had talked to him in the county jail.

A jury trial for Fullam and his codefendant, John Dougals Renda, 26, was set today for week of Nov. 23 in Superior Court.

Renda is represented by a court-appointed attorney, Robert McCreadie of Novato.

The men are accused of armed robbery and two counts of assault with a deadly weapon, stemming from the holdup of a San Rafael pool hall owner on Oct. 9.

Volvo Stolen

A 1937 Volvo sedan, license VSB 240, was stolen between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. yesterday from the home of Barbara Ellen Road, San Rafael, police reported today.

Judge Orders Probe Of Panther Slayings

CHICAGO (UPI)—Chief Criminal Court Judge Joseph Power Wednesday signed an order impaneling a special Cook County Grand Jury to investigate last December's police raid on a West Side residence where two leaders of the Black Panther Party were killed.

Power ordered the jury impaneled Dec. 7 at the request of Barnabas Sears, a special investigator appointed June 26 to enter the case after a federal grand jury report failed to recommend indictments for either police or surviving Panthers involved in the raid.

Panther leaders Fred Hampton and Mark Clark were killed by police gunfire in the predawn raid which was called "ill-conceived" by the federal investigating panel.

That report also criticized the state's attorney's office and other police for poor handling of information in the incident, and scored Panthers for refusing to testify before the jury.

Sears, who was appointed after civil rights groups and attorneys' organizations demanded further investigations than were made by the federal grand jury, said the county panel will have power to indict either police or Panthers.

The seven surviving Panthers had been charged with attempted murder by the office of State's Attorney Edward Hanrahan, whose police conducted the raid. But the charges were dropped for lack of proof.

Hijacker Says Marines Cheated

ROME (UPI)—Raffaele Minichiello, a Vietnam War veteran who one year ago staged the longest jet hijacking to date, testified today he did so because the U.S. Marines cheated him out of $200 in back pay and because he wanted to return to Italy.

Minichiello, 21, of Seattle, Wash., faces up to 30 years in jail on a variety of charges arising out of the Nov. 1, 1969, hijacking of a Trans World Airways 707 from Los Angeles to Rome.

He declined the offer of an interpreter at the opening session of the trial and took the stand to answer in Italian questions from the court, presided over by Giovanni Salemi.

Kitzmiller Gets Prison Sentence

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Robert Wayne Kitzmiller, 43, of Fairfax, has been sentenced to state prison for robbing the Rohnert Park 7-11 store on Sept. 18.

Superior Court Judge Kenneth E. Eymann said the term of five years to life will be served concurrently with sentences issued in Marin County Superior Court.

On Oct. 9 Kitzmiller was sentenced in Marin County to one to 15 years for burglary, possession of a sawed-off rifle and possession of a weapon by an ex-convict. He had been captured Sept. 29 in a bullet punctured chase through Tamalpais Valley.

Probation on a bad check charge in Marin County was revoked and he was also sentenced to serve one to 14 years on the count.

Bike Repair Center Delayed By Financing

A repair center for bicycles, scheduled to be opened Sunday at the Mill Valley Drop-In House, has been delayed by financial troubles, the Mill Valley Youth Commission heard last night.

Secretary Mark Noguchi reported the commission will hold a special meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at a place not yet determined to iron out difficulties of funding the repair center where Mill Valley youths will go for advice and help in fixing their bicycles.

The commission also heard a suggestion by Jack Benjamin that the center be turned into a club to sponsor such activities as bicycle trips throughout the county.

The commission held election of officers and chose David Abrahams, chairman; Frederick Wright, vice chairman, and Mark Noguchi, secretary.

This new car is the best reason not to buy a Volkswagen Beetle.

In a year when every car maker seems to be giving you one reason or another not to buy a Volkswagen Beetle, it might be a good idea to listen to the best reason:

Volkswagen's Super Beetle.

It has almost twice the luggage space as the Beetle of yesteryear.

It has a longer-lasting, more powerful engine.

It has a new suspension system for a smoother ride.

It has a flow-through ventilation system to bring in fresh air when the windows are closed.

The interior is, to be honest, much nicer.

The floor, for example, is fully carpeted.

In all, it has 89 things you could never find on a Beetle.

So of all the claims you'll hear this year by car makers that their cars are "better than a Beetle," there's only one car maker with 25 years experience in small cars to back it up.

Volkswagen.

Appraisal Of Nixon's First Two Years

mankind." An overjoyed President likened the feat to the "greatest week since the creation."

His worst week without a doubt followed his electrifying decision "as Commander in chief" to send combat troops into Cambodia last April 30. The move shocked many and touched off protest demonstrations on many college campuses. Four students were shot and killed by National Guardsmen at Kent State University in Ohio, further embittering alienated students.

The President moved immedia.ely to open lines of communication with students and other young people, even going to the Lincoln Memorial at dawn to appeal to demonstrators for understanding.

But he rejected two reports he requested on campus unrest when they said that the White House lacked an awareness of the national crisis and should exert "moral leadership" to win back turned off youth.

For all his highs, his lows, Nixon appears a happy man as President. He lost his "loser" image and he tells all comers, especially Boy Scout audiences, that they too can prevail if they try, try again.

Nor does he b uy the cliche that the presidency is a "splendid misery."

"I know that the job I have is supposed to be the most difficult in the world," he said, "but it has not yet become for me that great awesome burden that some have described it."

Much as he loves the White House and all its trappings, Nixon has spent o nly about eight full weekends in Washington. Some wags refer to him as the "in-flight" President.

His sojourns take him to Key Biscayne, Fla., where he has his winter white house; to San Clemente, Calif., location of the Western White House and to Camp David, Md., a 30-minute helicopter flight to peace a nd isolation.

His innovations at the White House are designed to restore the homely virtues and respect for national symbols.

Nixon and his staff wear small American flags in their lapels. He inaugurated Sunday worship services in the East Room of the White House.

He has practically wiped out the news conference as a White House institution. He has held only 11 televised news conferences since he took office, his last July 30 in Los Angeles. Some five others were held in his office.

He is more prone to open up while he is on the move and a reporter with a microphone sometimes catches him in an expansive mood.

Nixon and his wife Pat like to entertain and do so often, formally and lavishly. To the delight of the sports world, he is also an ardent football and baseball fan with player statistics at his fingertips.

He relaxes best with "the boys" and prefers the company of his best friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo of Key Biscayne for swims and walks on the beach.

Basically, Nixon is a loner. He is organized and disciplined. He makes decisions only after studying in depth all his options.

He can be an eloquent off the cuff speaker, however, and he prides most his ability to keep cool under stress.

Last November, he made a sentimental journey to Capitol Hill to visit with members of the House. He told them that when peace comes it will be because of the support he has received from Democras a nd Republicans, adding:

"And history will record that the United States of America in a period of crisis, in a period of controversy, met the challenge of greatness and that the representatives of the people thought of themselves as Americans, put their country first rather than their party first in the great tradition of this House."

door parking lot, which compares with Larkspur's planned indoor-parking structures.

He said he also recommended that the bridge district consult with the Marin Transit District before making a decision on a site since more than ferry travel will be involved. His recommendation was accepted and the council directed a letter to the district asking such consultation.

"We're not trying to give anyone a snow job," said Sifford today. "We just want the site selected strictly on facts, not finances."

He said that while the Corte Madera plan appears at first to be more economical, the estimated cost there may not be indicative of the final cost. Corte Madera has estimated $4 million.

"The council just became upset with Corte Madera planning the future of Larkspur," said Bathurst today. "There was some strong language used. I don't remember exactly what, I was busy trying to keep track of my own."

He said the final point made during the evening was that the bridge district should evaluate the sites on their merits first, then study economic proposals for the one selected.

Larkspur's site is being proposed by TI Properties Corp. of Los Angeles, which signed an agreement with the Hutchinson Co.

Bathurst said a spokesman for TI Properties said last night n ew economic considerations will be forwarded to the district next week.

Lindsay: No President Plans

LONDON (UPI)—Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York said Thursday he has no plans to run for the U.S. presidency in 1972 and no intentions of changing political parties.

The tall, handsome Republican who won the New York mayoralty as a liberal and who political experts said might run for the presidency as a Democrat, told the heir to the British throne and some 5,000 British industrial and financial leaders that he had come to London "to talk about cities" — not about politics.

Marine Returns To Face Charges

WASHINGTON (UP) — A Marine sargeant, who voluntarily returned from Sweden has been charged with desertion and aiding the enemy in Vietnam. He could be sentenced to death if convicted.

According to Sgt. John M. Sweeney he was shot and left to die by his American comrades, then was captured and released by the Communists in Vietnam. He then went to Sweden.

He is charged with desertion, misconduct in the presence of the enemy by abandoning his rifle and ammuntion, and aiding the enemy by "preparing and recording in his own voice pro-Communist and anti-American propaganda statements.

Average Worker's Real Pay Goes Down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The average California factory worker earned 21 cents an hour more in September than a year earlier, but his "real" weekly take-home pay was $1.64 less, the state Department of Industrial Relations reported today.

The agency said the average hourly earnings of factory workers in September was $3.86, a record high. It said the average worker's weekly pay of $151.79 was $3.14 better than a year earlier, but that the "real" spendable paycheck was $93.71, down $1.64 from the figure of September, 1969 because of inflation.

More Rain Forecast For Marin

Cranky children praying for the rain to go away and come again another day struck out for the third straight day today, but the rain was only half as heavy as the previous day.

San Rafael had .56 inches of rain in the 24 hours prior to noon today compared to the deluge that dumped 1.28 inches on playgrounds and yards in the 24 hours before noon yesterday.

Umbrella weather prevailed through the rest of Marin and Southern Sonoma as well. Mill Valley had .54 inches, Tamalpais Valley .52, Petaluma .45 and Novato .42, all in the 24 hours prior to 8 a.m. today.

Getting less rain in the same period were West Marin, the Tiburon Peninsula and Sausalito where water barrels gathered .36 or .37 inches except in Tiburon where the total was .27 inches.

All totals were less than half those for the previous 24 hours. Forecast for tonight and tomorrow is 70 per cent chance of rain.

and discussion of our proposals as well as of their own."

Thuy, in his remarks, charged that President Nixon sought victory in the midterm elections to "direct even more his foreign and domestic policy in a reactionary sense."

Bruce replied: "I listened carefully to your statements. Unfortunately, you continue to adhere to your habitual formula of self-serving propaganda and preconditions to negotiation."

The chief U.S. negotiator added that Thuy presented a distorted picture of the American election and had no understanding of democratic processes.

"The record of the Nixon administration on deescalating the war and reducing U.S. forces in South Vietnam is clear and needs no elaboration," Bruce said.

Thuy spoke to newsmen as he entered the conference hall.

Calling on Nixon to accept the Communist propositions to settle the war, Thuy said "so long as the war in Vietnam and Indochina will not have found a correct solution, it is really difficult for the United States to smooth out all difficulties in various fields — political, social, economic, inflation, the problems of the cities. To emerge from this difficult situation, it is in Mr. Nixon's interest to stop his lying proposals and to end the war by responding seriously" to the Communist peace plan.

He said during the election campaign Nixon sought electoral victory to "direct even more his foreign and domestic policy in a reactionary sense."

"He pushed quite far the art of lying with the aim of leading public opinion into error," Thuy said.

The Viet Cong's chief negotiator, Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, charged U.S. and South Vietnamese forces exploited recent floods in the northern provinces of South Vietnam to "multiply their sweep operations and frantically herd flood victims into concentration camps."

Mill Valley Girl Attacked By Man

A 16-year-old Mill Valley girl was raped yesterday by a man who gave her a ride while she was hitchhiking on Miller Avenue, Mill Valley police reported.

The girl told police the man, between 22 and 26 years old and driving an older model foreign car, offered to take her to downtown Mill Valley about 5:15 p.m. He said he had to stop by a house because he had forgotten something, the girl told police. She said she accompanied him into the house where she was attacked.

The girl afterwards ran to a friend's house and called police.

Her assailant was described as Caucasian, 5 feet, 8 inches tall, 160 pounds, with black hair and dark eyes.

Nitrogen Spills When Truck Flips

HAYWARD (UPI)—A truck loaded with cylinders of liquid nitrogen overturned today on the San Mateo-Hayward bridge. Both westbound lanes were closed after some of the chemical leaked out.

Mid-morning traffic was turned back at the Hayward toll plaza for a half hour until one of the lanes was reopened.

Eight of twenty cannisters of the gas ruptured in the wreck, spilling the gas which formed ice on the roadway.

A Division of Bay Toll Crossings spokesman said there was also a danger from the vapors.

"The precaution is to keep upwind of the vapors," he said.

The spokesman said traffic had largely been cleared out by 10:30 a. m. The truck was righted and its lift gate used to reload the nitrogen.

Python's Downfall

district. He said most commercial and industrial properties lie within cities so that the bulk of the property tax falls on homeowners in unincorporated areas.

"We've completely gotten off the issue," declared Robert P. Simmons, Corte Madera town councilman. "All we are saying is the unincorporated areas desire increased services but do not desire to join cities. And if they are not desirous of joining cities, then they should pay for added service."

The invitation to join cities can work the other way, said Robinson. "If cities don't like the burdens of their own police departments, they can dissolve and the county would be glad to take them back, especially to share in the (sales tax revenue of) Corte Madera Shopping Center."

James F. Reed, mayor of San Anselmo, argued that "sales taxes don't come free." He said cities pay a high price in patrols, fire protection, and other services for commercial areas, and these costs more than offset sales tax revenues.

Van Athanaskos, representing the Dixie School District Coordinating Council, wanted to know what criteria would be used to decide "present level of police services." Instead of adding another layer of governmental agency, a study should be made on consolidating all county services, he declared.

Other speakers lining up for the cities were Kenneth L. Anderson, San Anselmo city councilman, and Frank J. Egger, mayor of Fairfax. Speaking for the unincorporated areas were Hugh D o u g h e r t y of Stinson Beach, John Kilsby of Loma Verde, and Walter Rudolph of Santa Venetia.

A couple of new twists were s u g g e s t e d by Solomon and Dougherty.

Solomon said the county could increase sheriff's patrols in the unincorporated areas and also supplement police protection in cities like Fairfax, San Anselmo and Ross, which have small sales tax revenue. Tax-rich cities like San Rafael and Corte Madera would then be helping pay for more police protection in tax-poor cities as well as in unincorporated areas.

Suggested Dougherty: Create a police protection fund and have cities contribute a percentage of sales tax revenue into the common kitty, match that with some property tax revenue. Both the cities and the sheriff's department can then draw from that kitty for police protection.

Getting any more reprots and analyses would be fruitless, said Baar. He then suggested that the question be sent to the supervisors for a decision "once and for all."

Two Gls Seek Halt Of Trial

SEOUL (UPI)—Two American soldiers on trial for murder have filed a suit in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia seeking to stop their trial by Korean legal authorities, it was reported today.

The news was disclosed by Korean court officials handling the case involving Sgt. John W. Blount, 23, of San Francisco and James E. Walters, 22, of Detroit, both members of the U.S. 7th Infantry Division stationed in Korea.

Blount and Walters allegedly killed a Korean couple in Tongduchon 30 miles north of Seoul in early March this year and are under trial by a Korean court.

Guilty Plea To Reduced Charge

Joe Paul Seigert, 26, of Redwood City, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a r e d u c e d misdemeanor charge of being in a place where drugs were used.

He had earlier been accused of a felony count of possessing marijuana as well as a charge of possessing tear gas cartridges. The tear gas count was dismissed yesterday.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson placed Seigert on 30 days' probation and fined him $100.

Seigert was stopped by sheriff's deputiets in Tiburon Nov. 15, 1969, and a search revealed the contraband.

Bomb Hoax Again At Novato High

Classes at Novato High School were interrupted for the second time this week by a bomb hoax that made necessary a search of the premises.

Princnpal Stanley Onderdonk said a male oice toldone of the student clerks that there was bomb of four sticks of dynamite in the school. The call was received at 8:30 a.m.

The school was searched by sections and as each area was cleared, the students were sent back to their classes. All students were back to their studies b y midmorning, Onderdonk said.

The high school received another bomb threat on Monday and that afternoon, Hill Junior High School was the object of a similar hoax.

prove a point but to do a good job."

Rafferty's campaign aides said he would not make an immediate comment on the outcome of the hard-fought battle.

For Rafferty the victory by Riles meant the end of an eight-year reign over California's vast network of public schools and five million children. He was first elected in 1962 and then again in 1966.

Rafferty, also 53, and also a native of Louisiana, sprang into national prominence in 1961 when he decried what he said was waning patriotism in the classroom. The statement was contained in a speech which was carried in a national magazine.

In the 1968 senatorial primary Rafferty defeated Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif., but was rejected by the voters in the general election with Democrat Alan Cranston capturing the post.

Riles served as Rafferty's No. 1 aide in charge of compensatory education in California. Before that he taught in Arizona, where he had received a master's degree in education.

Rafferty was a teacher, administrator and superintendent in Southern California schools prior to becoming the state school chief.

Asked whether he would hire Rafferty for his staff, Riles merely smiled.

Fresnan Who Hijacked Plane Recalled As 'Troublemaker'

FRESNO (UPI) — A gunman who burst into the pilot's cabin of a San Diego to Los Angeles United Airlines jet Sunday night and forced it to Cuba was a recent graduate of a Fresno barber school, it was learned here.

FBI agents in Los Angeles Tuesday identified the hijacker as Felipe Larrazola, 34.

A spokesman for a Fresno barber college, who asked to remain anonymous, said Larrazola attended the school for nine months and graduated about three months ago.

The spokesman said Larrazola was a "troublemaker" and said the suspect, a Mexican-American, was "always agitating among his own people and many customers left angry and cussing."

Larrazola's mother, Mrs. Jose Guadalupe Larrazola, who lives alone here, said she had not seen her son in about four months.

She said her son was married and had four children ranging in age from 7 to 3.

Two children, identified as Guadalupe, 7, and Maria, 6, were with the gunman during the hijacking.

Fresno police said records show Larrazola was arrested in Fresno seven times on charges of drunkenness.

Several Fresnans were on the plane which made refueling stops in Tijuana and Monterey, Mexico, before flying on to Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Ashjian and Ashjian's brother, Lee, said they spoke briefly with the gunman in the San Diego airport restaurant.

"We were about 20 minutes into the flight," Ashjian said, "when all of a sudden he grabbed the stewardess and held a gun up to her head."

Ashjian said when they landed in Cuba, two Cuban militiamen boarded the plane, slapped Larrazola on the back and escorted him off.

Ashjian said a woman, later identified by the militiamen as Larrazola's wife, met him at the Cuban airport.

Two other Fresnans, Susan Schneider, 26, and Mrs. M. Capozzi, were also listed as passengers on the plane.

Benzedrine Case To Juvenile Court

The case of Richard Leo Brown, 19, of Novato, charged with possessing benzedrine illegally on Oct. 20 in Novato, yesterday was transferred to Juvenile Court from Marin Municipal Court.

Brown was arrested after police searched him because he and another youth were reported taking a bicycle from Novato High School. Officer said they found a plastic bag of pills in his pocket.

Solnit Incorrectly Identified In I-J

Albert W. Solnit was incorrectly identified as county planning director in yesterday's story on the Marin County Board of Supervisors' rejection of a new ordinance to spell out what constitutes a family in single-family dwelling zones.

Werner von Gundell is county planning director. Solnit is chief of advanced planning for the county.

Attorney Fined In Indian Land Feud

REDDING (UPI)—A judge has fined an attorney $500 and sentenced him to two days in jail for contempt of court in connection with Indian attempts to occupy government lands in Northern California.

Judge William Phelps in Redding Justice Court said Tuesday he had given attorney Aubrey Grossman of San Francisco a 10-day stay of execution to give the lawyer time to decide if he will appeal.

The judge cited Grossman for arriving 25 minutes late for a court hearing and ignoring an order not to return to national forest land occupied by Pit River Indians.

Grossman said he had been late because his Indian clients faced a confrontation with police and "there was a possibility that these clients of mine might be injured or even killed."

Memorial Day began as a day of recognition of soldiers and sailors of the Civil War and was, for years, also known as Decoration Day when it was the custom to place flowers on graves.

ıdge Hits Use f Flag Patches

LLINGHAM, Wash. (UPI) vo young persons were guilty of flag desecration esday and a third young- was declared innocent of charge. All three were ted in separate incidents. atcom County Superior Judge Leslie A. Lee said dants Sherry Marie Helm Richard Claxton had lied e witness stand when they ied they had no other rial but American flags which to patch their blue s.

ss Helm, 18, formerly of amento, Calif., now resides ellingham. She was arrested e wearing jeans with a small rican flag sewn on the rear. axton, also 18, of Bellingham was charged with having an American flag sewn on the front of one of his jean legs.

John Dirk Meadows, 18, of Pittsburg, Calif., was arrested for having a flag sewn on the leg of his jeans. He was acquitted after he told the judge the flag was on the jeans when they were given to him.

Judge Lee said the two youths convicted lied when they said they loved the flag. "This is not something you do when you love the flag," he said.

The judge also said their stories about having no other material to use for patches was "preposterous."

All three of the youths charged are high school dropouts.

Vheel Rim Defects n G.M. Pickups

VASHINGTON (UPI)—The vernment, in a victory for lph Nader, instructed Gener- Motors Wednesday to notify ners of a safety defect in the eel rim of 150,000 G.M. pickup ıcks made between 1960 and 55.

In a Letter to G.M. President mes Roche, the National ghway Safety Bureau chief, ouglas Toms, said the wheel ms were "subject to sudden d catastrophic failure."

The government's decision as the latest move in a three- rnered disagreement between ıe government, Nader and .M. over the safety of the three- uarter ton Chevrolet and Gen- ral Motors Corp. trucks.

General Motors may either ecall the trucks or contest the overnment's findings in court. The estimated cost to G.M. to eplace the wheel rims is about 15 million, sources said.

Nader, the consumer advo- ate, originally claimed 200,000 f the wheel rims manufactured by Kelsey-Hayes Corp. were defective and could collapse.

Last October, the safety bureau and General Motors announced an agreement to replace the wheel rims on 50,000 of the 200,000 trucks. The 50,000 trucks were those which had been modified for use as campers. G.M. claims the wheels were not designed to support the added weight of the campers.

The safety bureau agreed there was no defect in the 150,000 other trucks but reserved the right to take further action if necessary.

In his letter, Toms said, "I have determined further action is necessary." He said tests showed that wheel rims used by the 150,000 trucks were "subject to sudden and catastrophic failure," subjecting operators to risk of death or injury.

Letter to the President of North Vietnam

"... Restore these men to their families"

"In the treatment of prisoners . . . the record in this war is one of the most unconscionable in the history of warfare" — President Nixon.

Can something be done about it? The letter below, written in Vietnamese, may seem a small voice. Yet it and others like it, appealing to Hanoi, are accomplishing what governments have hitherto been unable to do. Because it is an humanitarian, not a political appeal.

Strangely enough, Hanoi has taken note and taken action — not enough but yet encouraging. Mail is getting through, to both prisoners and their wives. Some 65% of all mail out of North Vietnam has come since last November when the letter-writing campaign began. Since January of 1970, under the pressure of this and world opinion, families have been allowed to send packages every other month, rather than two or three over a period of years.

Here in Marin County, three prisoner-of-war wives (shown at right) are appealing to Marin residents to clip and send the letter, in Vietnamese, to Hanoi. They are convinced that enough letters from this and other sources will move Hanoi to better treatment of these imprisoned Americans. And possibly to their release.

Many U.S. civic groups and other newspapers have recently joined in the campaign. Readers are urged to clip and send this letter of appeal immediately. It will definitely reach Hanoi. Perhaps it will reach what everyone wishes — a more receptive ear.

THE WIVES WHO WAIT. Shown above are three Marin County wives whose husbands are prisoners-of-war or listed as missing. They are hoping Marin residents will clip and send the letter to Hanoi.

At left, Mrs. James Douglas Birchin of San Rafael. Her husband, a captain in the Army Special Forces had been listed as "missing" Nov. 1968. She has had no word from him since.

Center: Mrs. Robert Hill of Novato. Her husband, a master sergeant, is an engineer with the 41st Air Rescue unit, Air Force. He has been "missing" since Oct. 1966.

Right: Mrs. William Butler of San Rafael. Her husband, an Air Force captain and pilot, has been a prisoner-of-war in North Vietnam since Nov. 1967.

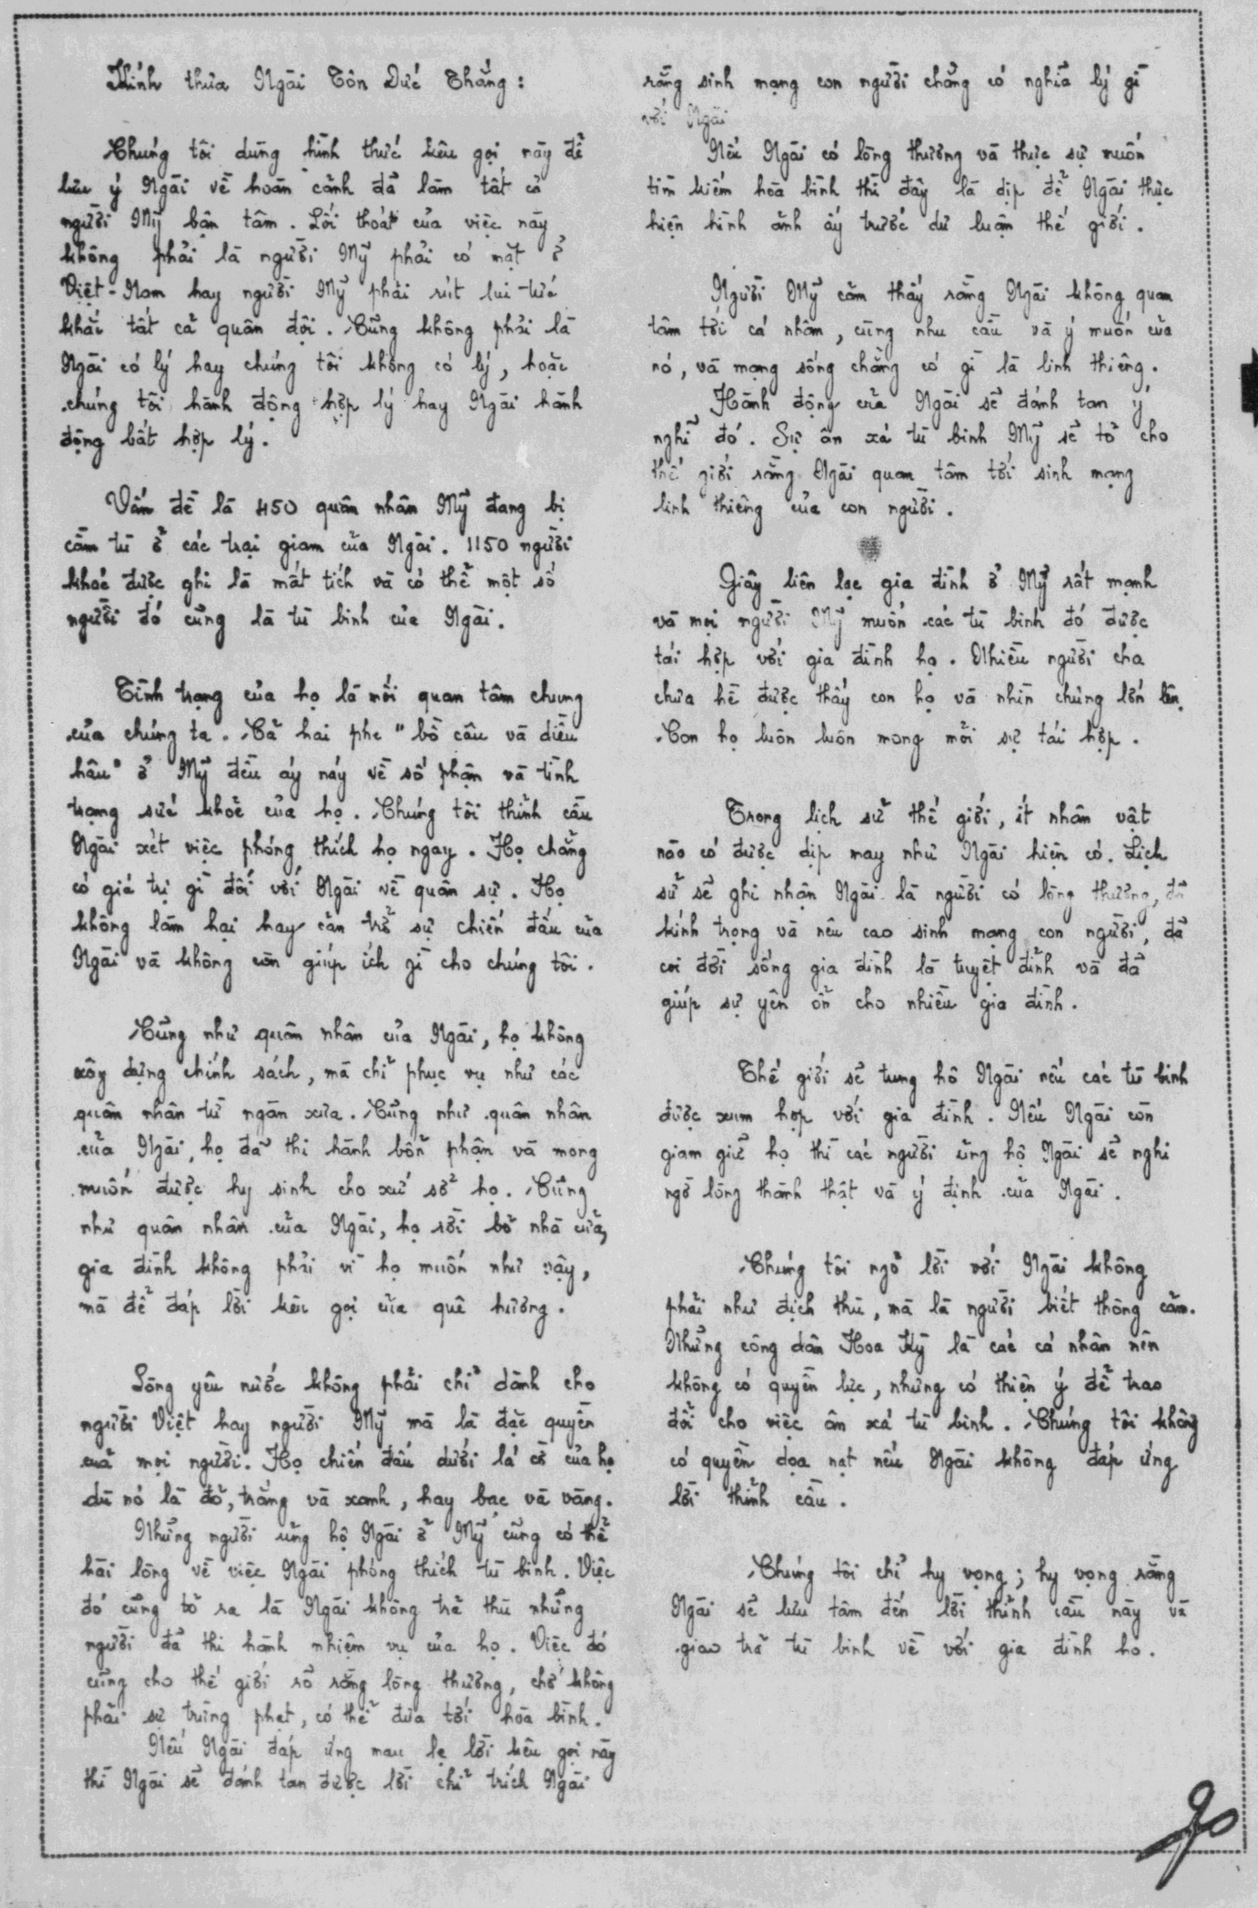
CLIP IT AND MAIL TO HANOI — TODAY!



Thưa thưa Ngài Tôn Đức Thắng:

Chúng tôi dùng hình thức liên gọi này để lưu ý Ngài về hoàn cảnh đã làm tất cả người Mỹ bận tâm. Lời thoát của việc này không phải là người Mỹ phải có mặt ở Việt-Nam hay người Mỹ phải rút lui-tuổi khỏi tất cả quân đội. Cũng không phải là Ngài có lý hay chúng tôi không có lý, hoặc chúng tôi hành động hợp lý hay Ngài hành động bất hợp lý.

Vấn đề là 450 quân nhân Mỹ đang bị cầm tù ở các trại giam của Ngài. 1150 người khác được ghi là mất tích và có thể một số người đó cũng là tù binh của Ngài.

Tình trạng của họ là nỗi quan tâm chung của chúng ta. Cả hai phe "bồ câu và diều hâu" ở Mỹ đều ấy này về số phận và tình trạng sức khoẻ của họ. Chúng tôi thỉnh cầu Ngài xét việc phóng thích họ ngay. Họ chẳng có giá trị gì đối với Ngài về quân sự. Họ không làm hại hay cản trở sự chiến đấu của Ngài và không còn giúp ích gì cho chúng tôi.

Cũng như quân nhân của Ngài, họ không xây dựng chính sách, mà chỉ phục vụ như các quân nhân từ ngàn xưa. Cũng như quân nhân của Ngài, họ đã thi hành bổn phận và mong muốn được hy sinh cho xứ sở họ. Cũng như quân nhân của Ngài, họ rời bỏ nhà cửa gia đình không phải vì họ muốn như vậy, mà để đáp lời kêu gọi của quê hương.

Lòng yêu nước không phải chỉ dành cho người Việt hay người Mỹ mà là đặc quyền của mọi người. Họ chiến đấu dưới lá cờ của họ dù nó là đỏ, trắng và xanh, hay bạc và vàng.

Những người ủng hộ Ngài ở Mỹ cũng có thể hài lòng về việc Ngài phóng thích tù binh. Việc đó cũng tỏ ra là Ngài không thể thù những người đã thi hành nhiệm vụ của họ. Việc đó cũng cho thế giới rõ rộng lòng thương, chứ không phải sẽ trừng phạt, có thể đưa tới hòa bình.

Nếu Ngài đáp ứng mau lẹ lời kêu gọi này thì Ngài sẽ đánh tan được lời chỉ trích Ngài rằng sinh mạng con người chẳng có nghĩa lý gì với Ngài.

Nếu Ngài có lòng thương và thực sự muốn tìm kiếm hòa bình thì đây là dịp để Ngài thực hiện hình ảnh ấy trước dư luận thế giới.

Người Mỹ cảm thấy rằng Ngài không quan tâm tới cá nhân, cũng như cầu vã ý muốn của nó, và mạng sống chẳng có gì là linh thiêng.

Hành động của Ngài sẽ đánh tan ý nghĩ đó. Sự ân xá tù binh Mỹ sẽ tỏ cho thế giới rằng Ngài quan tâm tới sinh mạng linh thiêng của con người.

Giấy liên lạc gia đình ở Mỹ rất mạnh và mọi người Mỹ muốn các tù binh đó được tái hợp với gia đình họ. Nhiều người cha chưa hề được thấy con họ và nhìn chúng lớn lên. Con họ luôn luôn mong mỏi sự tái hợp.

Trong lịch sử thế giới, ít nhân vật nào có được dịp may như Ngài hiện có. Lịch sử sẽ ghi nhận Ngài là người có lòng thương, đã bình thọng và nêu cao sinh mạng con người, đã cứu đời sống gia đình là tuyệt đỉnh và đã giúp sự yên ổn cho nhiều gia đình.

Thế giới sẽ tung hô Ngài nếu các tù binh được sum họp với gia đình. Nếu Ngài còn giam giữ họ thì các người ủng hộ Ngài sẽ nghi ngờ lòng thành thật và ý định của Ngài.

Chúng tôi ngỏ lời với Ngài không phải như địch thủ, mà là người biết thông cảm. Những công dân Hoa Kỳ là cá nhân nên không có quyền lực, nhưng có thiện ý để thao dợt cho việc ân xá tù binh. Chúng tôi không có quyền đoạ nạt nếu Ngài không đáp ứng lời thỉnh cầu.

Chúng tôi chỉ hy vọng; hy vọng rằng Ngài sẽ lưu tâm đến lời thỉnh cầu này và giao trả tù binh về với gia đình họ.

This is the translation of the letter

"We take this means of appealing to you"

An English translation of the Vietnamese follows:

To the Honorable Ton Duc Thang:

We take this means of appealing to you on a situation which is close to the hearts of all Americans. This issue is not whether Americans should be in Vietnam or whether we should pull all our troops out immediately. The issue is not whether you are right and we are wrong or that we are right and you are wrong.

The issue is the 450 American servicemen who are held in your prison camps. Another 1,150 are listed as missing and possibly some are your prisoners.

Their situation is our united concern.

Both the "doves and the hawks" of America feel deeply about them and their welfare. We ask you to consider their immediate release. They have no military value to you. They can't hurt or hamper your war effort and no longer would help ours.

These men, like your soldiers, do not institute policy but merely serve as soldiers have done since time began. Like your men, they performed their duty and were willing to sacrifice for their country. Like your soldiers, they left their homes and families not because they wanted to but because their country called on them.

Patriotism is not limited to the men of Vietnam or to the men of America but is the privilege of all men. They fight under their flag whether it be red, white and blue or red, yellow and blue.

Your supporters in this country could take satisfaction from the release of the prisoners. This, more than anything else, would demonstrate that you, too, do not seek revenge against men who did their duty. This, too, would show the world that compassion, not punishment, can lead to peace.

The arguments of your critics that human life means nothing to you would be baseless if you allowed just peace by acting quickly on the appeal.

If your heart contains mercy and your soul compassion and if you truly seek to help the cause of peace, you have an opportunity to achieve these images in the eyes of the world.

The feeling here is that you don't care about the individual; that his needs and wants and desires don't matter; that life is not sacred to you.

Your actions can give lie to these beliefs. An act of amnesty toward American prisoners would show the world that you are concerned with life and that all life is sacred.

Family ties in America are strong and all Americans want these men reunited with their families. Some fathers have never seen their children. Some are missing the joy of watching them grow.

And, the children, they live with a constant dream and hope that they may again be a whole family.

Few men in the history of the world have been given the opportunity that you now have.

History can record you as a man of compassion; a man who respected human life and held it in high value; a man who held that family life is paramount, providing a measure of peace to many families.

Return these men to their families and the world would hail you. Retain them and your supporters can't help but wonder about your sincerity and motives.

We address you not as one enemy to another but as one human to another.

As citizens of the United States we have no power to offer anything as individuals but goodwill in exchange for the men you hold. We have no power to make threats if you don't.

We only have hope; hope that you will heed the pleas and restore these men to their families.

How & where to send your letter

Copies of the adjoining letter to Ton Duc Thang, president of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, may be mailed for 25 cents to Hanoi.

The letter, written in Vietnamese, should be clipped out as indicated, folded into an airmail envelope, and mailed to:

Ton Duc Thang, president
Democratic Republic of Vietnam,
Hanoi, North Vietnam.

McNears Beach Planning Backed

A fishing pier at the county's new McNears Beach near Peacock Gap is desirable, but no power-boat docking should be allowed because boating does not mix with fishing and bathing.

This was the consensus of the Marin County parks and recreation commissioners meeting at the Civic Center yesterday afternoon.

Commissioners also decided that when the pool reopens next summer, the pool area will be fenced off and a separate fee charged to all swimmers. The only other fee would be 50 cents per car for those who use the parking area. Two other entrances will be provided for pedestrians and bicyclists to enter free of charge.

With these changes, the commissioners approved a master plan for McNears Beach presented by Park Planner Donald Rolph and Director Pierre W. Joske.

The master plan calls for a two-lane parkway along the Quarry Road entrance to the 13-acre beach, picnic tables and lawn areas for family recreation, a concession area near the pool, remodeling of a caretaker's residence, a new restroom and change house building, removing of pilings in the water and restoration of the beach area, and a pier jutting out into deep water for fishing.

The master plan also called for a courtesy dock for about four boats at the end of the pier.

"Somehow, I just don't like to see this mix of boats with fishing and swimming," said Helen E. Newman. She said fishing and swimming should get priority at McNears Beach, and power boats would be out of place.

Ronald A. MacMillan, president of the Glenwood Homeowners Association, announced that his group opposes any power boat docks at McNears Beach. "This should be a family park with low gear use." He said power boats would bring noise, gas and oil spillage, and other activities that would not be compatible with fishing and bathing.

Rolph replied that power boats are crying for a place to land and argued for a "courtesy dock" for three or four boats.

Commissioners agreed that power boat docks are scarce but three or four berths would not begin to solve the problem. They knocked out the docking facility.

On a motion by Albert J. Boro and a second by Merritt A. Robinson, the commissioners unanimously accepted the rest of the master plan and sent it on to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for approval.

29 Nations Ask Skyjack Action

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Twenty-nine nations today formally asked the General Assembly to take action against airliner hijackings and to protect passengers and crews of hijacked aircraft.

The measure was introduced into the Assembly's 127-member legal committee.

The main sponsor was the Philippines.

Coasting To La Paz

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—La Paz taxi drivers seldom use their engines in carrying passengers from the 13,000-foot airport down to the capital city of 12,000 feet elevation. Once they start down the twisting road, they cut their engines and coast all the way to the heart of the city.

Creek Bank Recreation To Be Aired

Recreational use of Corte Madera Creek, between oBn Air Bridge and College of Marin, will be discussed at a public hearing before the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission next Wednesday night.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the library of Wolfe Grade School, 25 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield.

Commissioners announced yesterday that the evening meeting was set to give the public a chance to express views on the use of the creek bank for hiking, bicycling and other recreation.

A private fence erected on the banks of the creek now prevents public access along the length of the creek.

Five-Year-Olds Learn To Type

HEIDELBERG, GERMANY (GF) — Experimental educators in West Germany are teaching five-year-olds to type.

The first experiment is being carried out with 165 kindergarten children who are also learning to read and write. Under the so-called "Intertip" program, the pupils start off on special typewriters with the ten-finger system.

Each key has a different color, which is also daubed onto the child's corresponding finger nails. The text to be written is programmed into the typewriter. The keys fail to respond to wrong letters. The child sees what he has written in front of him, which simultaneously teaches him to read the printed word.

Wouldn't Be Sold Like Toothpaste

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Milton Shapp, newly-elected Pennsylvania governor, received a package Wednesday containing a bronze plaque with a tube of toothpaste at his suburban Merion home.

"To Milton Shapp with admiration and respect from the ad agency he would not let sell him like a tube of toothpaste," the plaque read.

Big Civic Center

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Civic Center, which includes the 28-floor City Hall built in the 1920s and the three-theater Music Center complex completed in the 1960s, is the largest concentration of local governmental buildings in the nation.

Rainbow Entrance Into Marin Praised

The rainbow painted on the northbound approach to Waldo Tunnel is a great idea, the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commissioners declared yesterday.

"I've been reading in the Independent-Journal some letters from people complaining about it," said Albert J. Boro. "I just want to go on record that I think it's great."

Boro said the rainbow is not only pleasing to the eye but is almost symbolic for people driving north through Marin. "On the other side of the rainbow you find a pot of gold."

Mrs. Helen E. Newman, who said she has not yet seen the rainbow, expressed the only dubious note. She said the rainbow may be fine "just so they don't keep on painting other bridges into a Disneyland."

"It makes your drive worth while," said chairman Lothar Salin. "I think we can informally express our pleasure to the state Division of Highways."

The Parks And Recreation Commission Also:

AIR POLLUTION — Nominated Leroy M. Gerner as the commission representative to the newly created Advisory Council to the Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board.

FENCE — Heard from Mrs. Joi Losee of 69 Hatsic Court, Larkspur, that the administrators of Tiscornia Estates plan to build a fence to block off scenic Baltimore Canyon. Commissioners advised Mrs. Losee to get community backing and approach the Larkspur City Council to see if access to Baltimore Canyon can be saved for hikers.

YOUTH — Reappointed Boro to the Marin County Youth Commission and named Merritt A. Robinson as alternate to succeed Luther Salin.

Terrorism Film In Panther Trial

NEW YORK (UPI)—A documentary type film featuring the activities of the Algerian terrorists in the 1954 uprising against France was shown today at the bomb-conspiracy trial of 13 Black Panthers in Manhattan Supreme Court.

The jury was excused during the presentation by the prosecution of the French-made film "Battle of Algiers." The jury was excused to permit the defense to consider possible objections to the submission of the film as evidence in the trial of the defendants who are accused of attempted murder, arson and conspiracy to bomb public places.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph Phillips has maintained that the movie was used by the Black Panthers for training purposes and was required viewing for members.

Crewmen Rescued When Boat Burns

SEATTLE (UPI)—An 85-foot fishing vessel owned by the Flamingo Fish Corp. of New Bedford, Mass., burned and sank today after the two crewmen were rescued by a passing tug.

Three Coast Guard cutters responded to the emergency call but were unable to extinguish the fire aboard the fishing boat Flamingo.

The two crewmen were taken aboard a Coast Guard boat from the tug Dorothy Foss which had pulled alongside the burning boat and taken off the men.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined, Coast Guard headquarters said.

The sinking occurred off Point No Point, north of Seattle.

Visitors To Korea

SEOUL (UPI)—A total of 90,102 visitors from 51 foreign countries entered South Korea through Seoul's Kimpo Airport from Jan. 1 to Aug. 31 this year, officials report. Americans topped the list with 37,933, followed by Japanese with 29,584.

Hanoi's Special Torture For Prisoners' Families

"It is the view of the secretary general that the government of North Vietnam ought to give an international humanitarian organization such as the League of Red Cross Societies access to the Americans detained in North Vietnam," said U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, last year.

It has not done so.

The International Red Cross conference in Istanbul last year called on Hanoi "to abide by the obligations set forth in the (Geneva) Convention and . . . to insure that all uniformed members of the regular armed forces of another party to the conflict and all other persons entitled to prisoner-of-war status are treated humanely and given the fullest measure of protection prescribed by the convention."

It has not done so.

HANOI HAS REFUSED even to identify whom it holds as prisoners of war. The occasional lists of names of prisoners it has released have included only those whose status had already become known through other channels. More than 1,100 Americans remain listed as "missing in action" in Vietnam — a situation unprecedented, since in other wars captives were soon identified so that those missing were known to be either prisoners or dead.

In this war, only Hanoi knows.

Two Marin women — Mrs. Robert L. Hill of Ignacio and Mrs. James Douglas Birchin of San Rafael — are among the thousands who do not know whether their husbands are dead or alive in the prisons of North Vietnam. Their children do not know whether they have living fathers.

To bring the powerful force of public opinion more strongly to bear on Hanoi — which clings to the idea that it is supported by many Americans — government officials from President Nixon on down are joining this month with organizations such as the Junior Chamber of Commerce and American Red Cross in urging the signing of petitions calling on Hanoi to observe the Geneva Conventions for treatment of prisoners of war.

The California Newspaper Publshers Association also is joining in the effort.

ELSEWHERE IN TODAY'S Independent-Journal are a full-page advertisement for this campaign, and a story detailing the situation of Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Birchin, and another Marin wife, Mrs. William W. Butler, who knows only that her husband lives as a prisoner of the North Vietnamese.

It is known that more than 200 American POWs have been held prisoner for five years or longer. One Navy flier began his seventh year as a captive last Aug. 5.

But even worse is the lack of any knowledge of the more than 1,100 who may be prisoners — or who may be dead.

NORTH VIETNAM subjects the families of these men to a special kind of hideous torture in refusing to give out complete lists of those whom it holds as prisoners.

If enough petitions reach Hanoi, it may realize that it is damaging its own already weak case before world tribunals by thus flouting the Geneva Conventions which it signed. That is the purpose of this month's petition campaign.

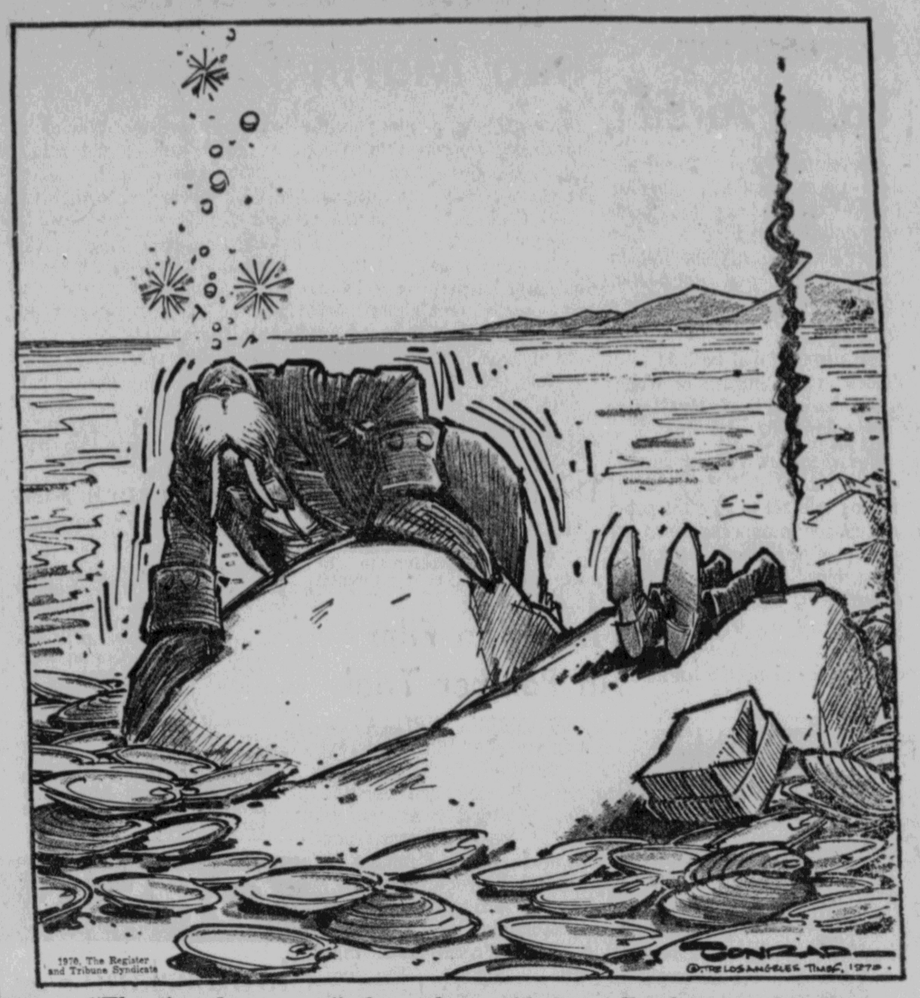
The Survivors

The quail that were balls of fluff this spring are now practically full grown. They even have their parents' crests upon their heads, though not quite as large.

They form a small covey of about a dozen birds, about six adults and six young. This summer one pair had about a dozen of their own. It appears that about one in six survived. Cats, skunks, climate, owls, disease and other factors — all played a part in controlling their numbers.

At first thought, this low survival rate seems very cruel. But Nature is infinitely wise. She knows the land will support just so many quail. By giving us an excess and allowing outside factors to whittle them down, she insures that those with the quickest reflexes, the most adaptable habits, the most resistance to disease survive.

The survivors do not know it, but they are the elite. They have been tested and chosen to perpetuate their species.



"The time has come," the walrus said, "to talk of many things: of DDT — and mercury — and what pollution brings."

Language Teachers' Stand Clarified

Due to the erroneous coverage of the foreign language teachers' statements regarding overcrowded first year classes we fell the necessity to clarify our position.

Your article on page 14 dated Oct. 27 stated, "Simone MacKinnon, foreign language and English teacher, asked that foreign language teachers not have to teach English." This is not in agreement with the statement as read by Miss MacKinnon at the Oct. 26 board meeting of the Novato Unified School District. We would like to quote from the specific paragraph read:

"The most desirable method of ameliorating this acute predicament (of overcrowded first year foreign language classes) would be to acquire an additional English teacher, thereby reducing the number of English classes that most foreign language teachers now carry."

For example, two foreign language classes of 36 each could be divided into three classes of 24 each. This would necessitate another teacher acquiring one English class from the foreign language teacher. Our statement does not indicate or even imply that the foreign language teachers do not want to teach English; on the contrary, we enjoy and wish to continue our instruction of English . . .

On this bit regarding the new rock center and nite spot in the old Browns Furniture in Mill Valley, I think it's terrific. When I moved to Mill Valley from South San Francisco, I thought there would be some action up here. But as it is, Mill Valley is totally dead. But this new club will bring in people from all over the Bay Area and get Mill Valley out of the dark ages where it is now.

The kind of snobs you got in Mill Valley now think it's a big deal if they can go up to the library and read old magazines for an hour or so. But what else have they got they can do?

As to the parking —that is no problem as at night there is room to park three to four hundred cars downtown as the streets are all deserted all night now.

Rules Blocked Best Ways For Pennsy To Save Self

(Reprinted from Wall Street Journal)

On the basis of a House Banking Committee staff report, chairman Wright Patman says the Pennsylvania Railroad's diversification program in the mid-1960s "contributed significantly" to the later financial woes of its successor, the Penn Central Railroad. He may well be right, but no one concerned with the future of U.S. railroads can let the subject drop there.

We won't try to pass on the wisdom of the Pennsylvania's major purchases, which included a pipeline company and three real estate and development firms. It's worth noting in passing, though, that they don't seem as far removed from the company's major interest as the acquisitions arranged by some other diversifying corporations.

WHAT IS IMPORTANT is the reason the Pennsylvania felt forced to diversify. Like other major railroads, the Pennsy represented a large capital investment that was generating a relatively small return. In fairness to their stockholders the railroad's managers had to try to improve that return.

One way it could have been improved was by limiting labor costs — by ending make-work practices and the chaos of dealing with a multiplicity of unions under antiquated federally set procedures. Here, of course, the way was and is blocked by union intransigence and congressional inaction.

The railroad's return also could have been improved through innovation —by experiments with rates, equipment and routes. Here the way was and is blocked by long-drawn-out Interstate Commerce Commission procedures, which often lead to rejection of any changes at all.

FINALLY, the Pennsy hoped that earnings could be improved through a merger with the New York Central, a transaction that would permit elimination of duplicating facilities and other economies. Whether the merger was a good idea or not, it was delayed for so long that by the time it was consummated the economic climate had completely changed.

So it's scarcely any wonder that the Pennsy tried to diversify. If the railroads are to survive as private enterprises, it's no help to tell them to stick to railroading. Other steps are needed to make it less necessary for railroads to turn to diversification in desperation.

Sierra Club Forces Long Delay In Mineral King Project

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Although Walt Disney Productions is ready and willing to proceed with development of Mineral King recreation area east of Fresno, continued delays are foreseen.

The Disney people were scheduled to benefit from a suit won in federal court by the federal government, but added delays caused by the Sierra Club, losers of the suit, stand to add more than a year in delaying start of the project.

THE CLUB originally obtained a preliminary injunction against the federal government enjoining issuance of a permit for implementation of the Disney development plan.

Later, the Ninth District Court of Appeals vacated the preliminary injunction. This ordinarily would have fixed the go-ahead signal for the Disney people to begin the project.

But the Sierra Club adopted more delaying tactics, and was granted a stay in dissolving the injunction for 30 days, which brings the date up to tomorrow.

Even after the injunction is dissolved, there remains another period of delay until the U.S. Supreme Court decides whether it will hear the Sierra Club's appeal.

And the U.S. Supreme Court won't make up its mind until sometime next January. The injunction will remain in effect until such decision is made, and if the court does decide to hear the appeal, probably until final decision by the court is reached.

Thus, the harassing and delaying tactics of the Sierra Club are paying big dividends to the club members in their efforts to delay or halt development of the area as a major recreation center.

THE CLUB'S suit is based on saving the environmental quality of the Mineral King area. Yet the protection of this quality is not only guaranteed by the Disney interests, but also accepted by the federal government through departments of interior and agriculture, as well as national parks.

State funds still are budgeted for the construction of a road into Mineral King from Three Rivers, a project that has been budgeted for some years. Attempts to revert the money were made in the legislature this year by Sierra Club sympathizers, but were defeated.

It seems rather peculiar that a private firm is stopped from developing a recreational area at its own expense, when millions of dollars of state bond money are being spent to extend facilities on various projects throughout the state at probably double the cost as compared to private enterprise.

Shame Of Spending Spree Should Help Override Nixon's Veto

WASHINGTON — Money, money, money — this has been a corrupting force in the election campaign just ended, dwarfing anything in America's political history. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that if an effective curb is not put on big spending elections, the country well will be destroyed.

While the Republicans had the big money and spent it by the barrelful, spending was not a prerogative of one party. In two Democratic primaries before the November election, private wealth put into television went to swing the balance.

IN NEW YORK, state Rep. Richard L. Ottinger is reported to have spent $1,300,000 to win the senatorial primary. The money came largely from International Plywood Corp. which his family controls.

In Texas, Lloyd Bentsen Jr., a multimillionaire insurance executive, spent well over a million dollars on a television blitz that began months before the primary date to defeat Sen. Ralph Yarborough. The Bentsen television spots were shrewdly tailored to exploit the emotions of prayer amendment and campus unrest.

While exact figures are difficult if not impossible to come by, the Republicans in the campaign spent probably over-all 10 times as much as the Democrats. One reason is that they had the money in contrast to the near-bankruptcy of the Democratic party.

WITH THE MEMORY of this orgy of money still fresh, a major goal should come at the top of the agenda of the returning Congress. That is to override President Nixon's veto of a bill limiting broadcast spending in political campaigns. The president vetoed the measure on Oct. 12 even though 97 Republicans in the House, including virtually all the Republican leadership, voted for it.

At the time of the veto, Republican leaders predicted they could prevent a two-thirds vote to override. By what rationalization those who were for the measure can justify supporting a feeble veto message is hard to see.

The measure is a modest attempt to hold broadcast spending down to a sane limit. Figures compiled by the Federal Communications Commission show that in 1968 the Republicans spent $12,697,953 for television and radio time for the Nixon-Agnew ticket. Electronic time for the Humphrey-Muskie ticket cost $6,143,953.

The broadcast bill would limit spending in a presidential campaign to 7 cents a vote for each vote cast in the last general election. This would add up to a total of $5,100,000 for each ticket. It would not include presidential primaries. Candidates for Congress and governorships would be limited to 7 cents a vote of $20,000, whichever was higher.

REPEATED attempts to restrain the spiralling costs of political campaigns have been frustrated. These attempts have included proposals to encourage small individual contributors by granting an income tax writeoff. The broadcast bill is the best chance — it may be the last chance, given the intricacies of the legislative process — to take a small step before another national election.

The president in his veto message called for board reforms, calling the restraint on broadcast spending merely plugging one hole in a sieve. Should the vote be against overriding, another strategy is under consideration by senators angered over the deluge of money. That is to separate the three elements in the bill — the restriction on broadcast spending, the equal-time provision, and a requirement that the networks charge at a lower than the highest commercial rate for political broadcasts — and introduce each on its merits. Lengthy hearings have been held on all these proposals and against the background of the spending spree it is believed they have a good chance of passage.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

China Couples New Blast With Nuclear Pact Bid

By PHIL NEWSOM, UPI Foreign News Analyst

Communist China has linked an attack on Japanese "militarism" with a call for a conference of large and small nations to discuss prohibition and destruction of nuclear weapons.

Since the Red Chinese have in the past rejected all invitations to participate in world disarmament dicsussions, the proposal scarcely can be taken seriously. It is, however, in the pattern of the propaganda line which the Chinese have been following since the first Chinese nuclear test blast in 1964.

Linked with the latest Chinese proposal was a denunciation of "U.S. imperialism" and of "Japanese militarism" for collaborating with and serving as a vanguard for U.S. "aggression" in Asia. It was issued in connection with a visit by a Japanese socialist delegation to Peking.

IT WAS ON Oct. 16, 1964, that the Chinece announced their entry into the atomic club, accompanying it by a call for an international conference to "discuss the question of the complete prohibition and thorough destruction of nuclear weapons" and a promise that China "will never at any time and under any circumstances be the first to use nuclear weapons."

In 1965, the Chinese proposed specifically to the United States that they join in a pledge not to use nuclear weapons against each other.

The U.S. rejected the suggestion as without "sufficient guarantee.

The exchange was not made public until May 11, 1966, when the United States raised the possibility of entering into a pledge with the Chinese that neither would be the first to use nuclear weapons if the Chinese would agree to stop their atomic testing.

THE CHINESE, who had refused to sign the 1963 test ban treaty, worked out by the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain, did not react to the U.S. proposal.

They have continued their atmospheric nuclear tests, carrying out their most recent one on oct. 14. It was their 11th nuclear test.

Their propaganda attack on the Japanese "militarists" and the government of Prime Minister Eisaku Sato was their second in two days.

A commentary distributed by Hsinhua, the Chinese Communist press agency, declared that a Japanese white paper outlining Japanese defense policies actually was designed to open the door to Japan's nuclear armament.

What the paper did was to reiterate Japan's anti-nuclear policy.

The Chinese commentary also said the white paper aimed at justifying introduction of conscription for supplying Japan's armed forces with manpower. The white paper specifically said Japan never would introduce conscription.

Be all this as it may, the commentary concluded that Japanese militarism is a paper tiger anyway.

Never Mind The Diplomats, Let Women's Fashions Close Gap

WASHINGTON — "Comrade buyers, fashion designers and state managers of state department stores. Is honor to introduce Comrade Torkel who has just completed visit to America where he observed new fashions now being worn on American women. Comrade Torkel."

"Is pleasure to be back in Moscow, comrades, and give report on American fashions with illustrations from magazines.

"Here, comrades, is first dress. Skirt is coming to below knees."

"BUT, COMRADE TORKEL, we've been making this dress in Leningrad dress factory for 20 years. What is new about this?"

"Am only reporting what have seen. Here second illustration. Evening pajamas to go to party in."

"You are mad, Comrade Torkel. Why would American women go to parties in their pajamas when they are richest women in world?"

"Is impossible to explain, but every reception I went to, I saw women wearing pajamas."

"But Comrade Torkel, if American women wear pajamas to party, what do they wear to bed?"

"Is nothing."

"NOTHING?"

"Is called 'new permissiveness.' Now, comrades, here is woman in pants suits."

"Are those for women railroad workers?"

"No, comrades, those are for women to go to restaurants, cocktails and dinner."

"Comrade Torkel, you are making fun of us. How can women wear pants in America when not working in factory?"

"Is being done all over."

"The Kiev Pants Co-Operative has been making pants like that since the revolution."

"Is true. Now here is outfit women wear to go out shopping in. Is leather coat with leather boots and fur on collar."

"BUT, COMRADE TORKEL, this woman looks like a member of the Communist Party. She could be working for KGB."

"Is true. Leather coats and boots are now the fashion."

"The Gum department store in Moscow had this outfit 10 years ago. We were stuck with hundreds of them."

"Next illustration. Here is peasant blouse and peasant skirt and no shoes for afternoon wear."

"But that is what they have been wearing in Smolensk since Stalin died."

"My sister, Katrina, wore an outfit like that until she got a job."

"AND HERE, comrades, is the piece de resistance. Is knickers with boots and woolen sweater and woolen hat."

"Comrade Torkel, do they have women Coassacks in America?"

"No Cossacks. Is for going to beauty parlor and night clubs."

"To think Malinkock was sent to Siberia when his factory once tried to make knickers and they wouldn't sell!"

"WHAT ARE YOUR conclusions, Comrade Torkel?"

"Is obvious, comrades, that American women want to look like Russian women. We also know Russian women all want to look the way American women used to look. Is possible we make barter deal. We give them all the clothes our women won't wear that we make; they give us all the clothes their women refuse to wear now."

"Comrade Torkel, is fantastic solution to our rotten clothes problem. I am putting you in for the Lenin medal today."

Five Arrested For Kidnapping

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI)—Police arrested five persons Wednesday, including two sons of a former presidential candidate, in connection with the kidnapping of Air Force commander, Gen. Cesar Rohon Sandoval, government sources said.

The sources said former paratrooper Washington Zavala, an alleged participant in the plot, told police the aim of Rohon Sandoval's kidnappers was to topple the government of Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra. Velasco who is serving his fifth term as president has never completed a full term in office.

Arrested with Zavala were Andres and Jorge Cordova, sons of Andres Cordova Nieto, a Liberal presidential candidate who lost to Velasco in 1968.

MARIN'S 'TOP GUN'

Veteran Lawman Retiring

By WAT TAKESHITA

Capt. Carl Ralph Sears, 45, Marin County's "top gun" in 1958, will retire on Dec. 15 after 23 years in Marin law enforcement, the last 19 in the sheriff's office.

He will retire because of illness, a crippling bone disease.

When the Marin sheriff's department started holding shooting competition in 1958, Sears posted a series of near-perfect scores to earn the title of "top gun."

He and his teammates outshot the best in the state to win the state team championship three years in a row, from 1961 through 1963. On that championship team were four others, still active on the sheriff's force — Undersheriff Sidney Stinson, William Johansen, Edward Levine, and Ernest Nielsen.

The team went on to the national finals in Indiana in 1963 and came back with individual trophies by Levine and Stinson.

Despite his prowess with the revolver, Captain Sears never drew his gun in anger during his four years as officer in Sausalito and his 19 years with the sheriff's department.

During his years as deputy, investigator, lieutenant and captain, Sears was known for his tight lipped silence, replying to queseioners with the laconic "Yup" and "Nope" in Gary Cooper style.

Did he recall any close brushes with death during his career?

"Nope," said Sears. "Not that I can remember."

But he did recall investigating some grisly cases such as the strangulation of Joy Barnes in a vacant lot on Princess Street in Sausalito in 1948, the twin murder committed by Stinson Beach houseboy Bart Caritavivo in the mid 1950's and the murder of 12-year-old Lorna Lax in Kentfield in 1960.

A native of Las Vegas, Nev., Sears attended public schools in Redwood City and joined the Navy in 1944. While stationed at Inyokern Naval Base in the Mohave Desert, he met and married his in 1946.

They moved to San Francisco and then to Sausalito in 1947 when he joined the Sausalito Police Department under Chief James F. Doyle, now retired. During his four years in Sausalito, Sears became sergeant and served as acting chief.

In November of 1951, Sears became a deputy in the sheriff's office, serving under Sheriff Walter Sellmer, then the late Sheriff David Menary Sr., and current Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

Sears rose to investigator, lieutenant and then captain in charge of the patrol division in June of 1966.

A graduate of Gornac Polygraph School in Pasadena, Sears is the only deputy in the sheriff's office who is qualified to administer lie detector tests.

"He came up through the ranks and has been one of the outstanding captains to command a patrol division with respect and dignity," said Sheriff Mountanos. "His reputation is well earned and deserved."

Sears said the big change in the sheriff's office he joined 19 years ago has been the growth, both in number of personnel and the physical facilities.

"There were 44 of us, including matrons, secretaries and the civil deputies," said Sears. "Now, there must be close to 180. At first we had no patrol cars so we used our own family car. Of course, in those days, we had no regular patrols. We were just subject to call."

Besides shooting in competition, Captain Sears' hobbies are water skiing and hunting.

His favorite hunging area is in Idaho, where he bas bagged elk weighing about 800 pounds. "I once shot a black bear, but we were driven away by a blizzard. We were snowed in for three days, and then when we went back for the bear, the entire area was covered with snow.

Sears' last day of work was last Friday, but he is still on sick leave and will not officially retire until Dec. 15, when Capt. Harvey E. Teague will succeed him.

'Head Tax' Ends In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) —West Virginians, seizing a rare opportunity to reduce their taxes at the polls, have wiped off their lawbooks the century old "capitation" tax.

The levy required all males over 21 to pay $1 annually to the state. Officials complained the cost of collecting the so-called "head tax" was greater than the returns some years. The vote was 239,926 to 112,418 Tuesday.

Volunteer's Group To Purchase Pumper

The Alto-Richardson Bay Volunteer Firemen's Association will purchase a used 1,000-gallon pumper truck for the district, the group's board of directors decided last night.

Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. said the truck, a Seagraves with a high-pressure pump, will be bought from the Los Angeles Fire Department.

Yacht Explodes, Victims Saved

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A yacht exploded, burned and sank in San Francisco Bay Wednesday but both persons aboard escaped unharmed in a raft.

A Coast Guard helicopter plucked them from the raft as it floated off Brisbane.

Those aboard were Bob Kennedy, South San Francisco, the operator; and Dale Campbell, Montara, a passenger.

Homestead Poll Due On Brown's Hall

Homestead Valley's 900 families will be polled by the Homestead Valley Community Association to see if they approve of plans to sell the group's meeting place, Brown's Hall.

Secretary Audrey Peterson said directors on Tuesday appointed a committee to prepare ballots and a letter giving background of the issue.

Member approval is necessary before the transaction can be made, Mrs. Peterson said.

Directors were told Tuesday that several parties are interested in purchasing the hall, which is being sold to ease the tax burden on the asosciation. Two of the proposals would convert the building into a film center and a third would make it into a dance hall.

In a related matter, directors voted to pay the first installment of the association's 1970 property taxes on the building. Total taxes this year will be $1,477, Mrs. Peterson said.

The board also was told that the county wants the association to agree to a five-year plan to pay off $2,098 in back taxes owed on the structure. Mrs. Peterson said the taxes accrued while the group's application for tax-exempt status was pending before the state.

Marin Women

THIS O F F -w h i t e shirt probably tailored to fit someone who wore it years ago gives a sort of dust bowl look to the young man who now happily wears it in Sausalito. It has hand stitching and a few stains.

Fashion—Right On The Street Where You Live

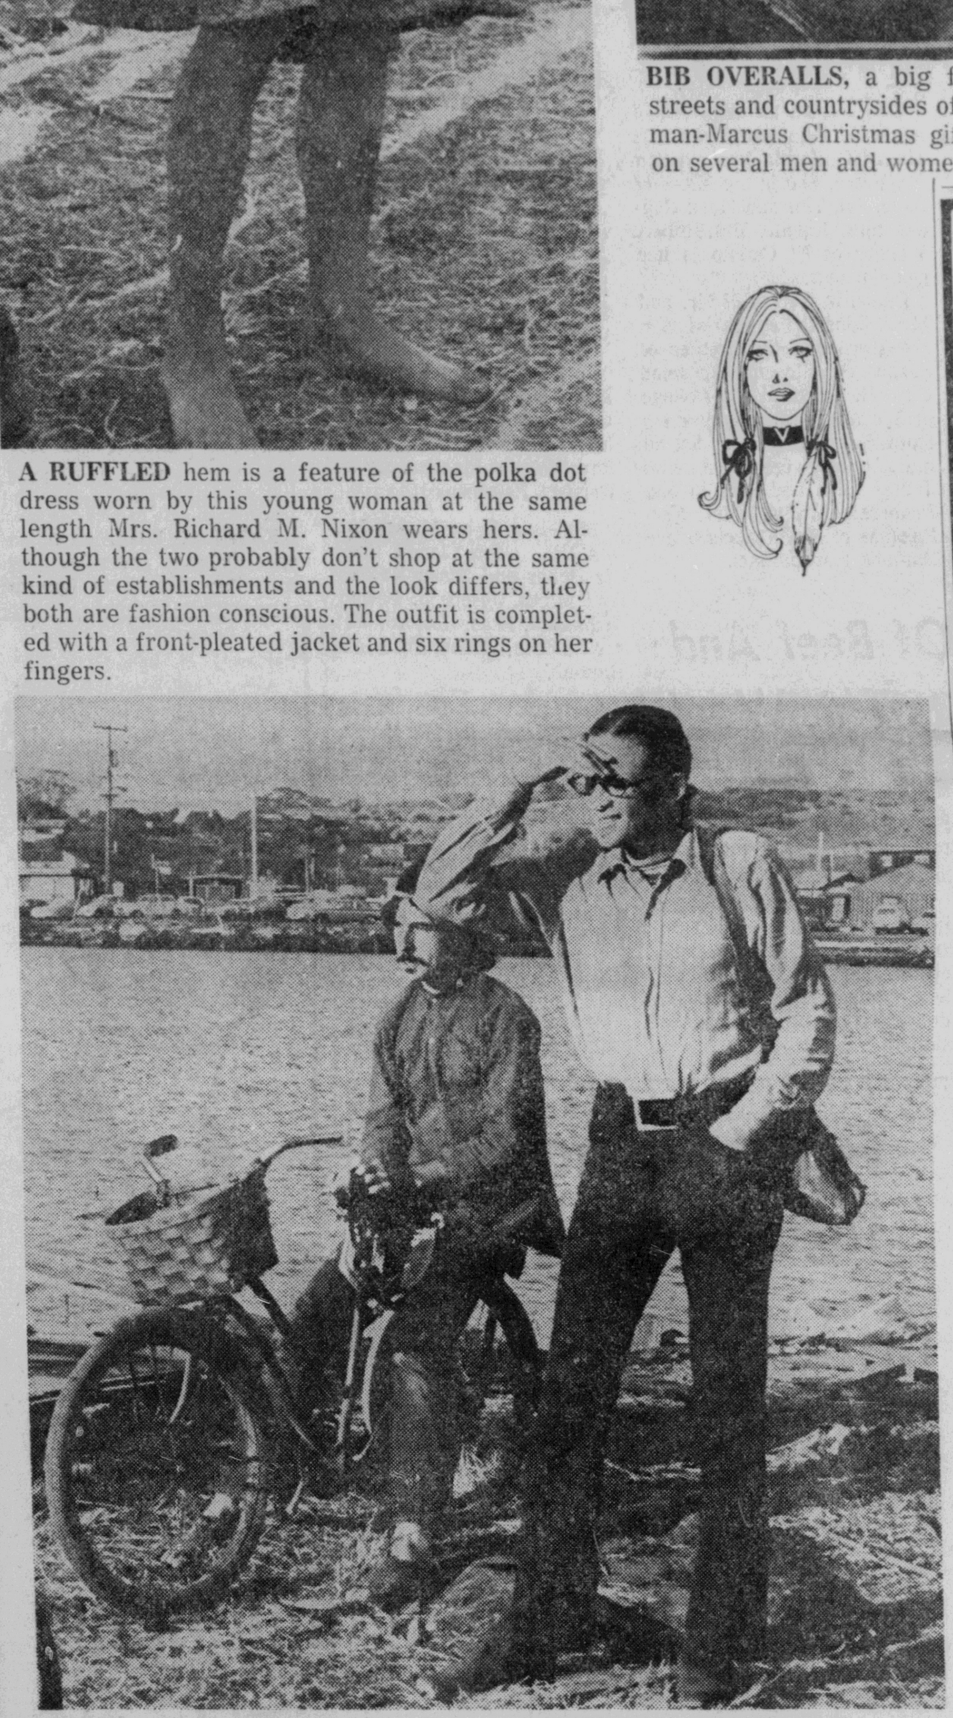
The occasion was a free rock concert by the bay in Sausalito. Lured by the rock vibrations of a band called Heresy, hitchhikers and houseboaters appeared in their kind of "high" fashion, to have some apple cider and sit in the autumn sun.

The clothes they wore are the ones copied by designers for boutiques which are then copied by some of the world's most famous fashion designers. So, here, straight from the street are some of the "highest" fashions around. They include bib overalls, fringed scarves, shoulder bags worn by men and longer skirts — all first worn by people on the streets of Marin.

A RUFFLED hem is a feature of the polka dot dress worn by this young woman at the same length Mrs. Richard M. Nixon wears hers. Although the two probably don't shop at the same kind of establishments and the look differs, they both are fashion conscious. The outfit is completed with a front-pleated jacket and six rings on her fingers.

BIB OVERALLS, a big fashion item from the streets and countrysides of Marin to the new Nieman-Marcus Christmas gift catalogue were seen on several men and women who happened by the rock concert in Sausalito. The best accessory for the overalls, of course, is a red plaid flannel shirt. This man's box seat for the concert was a cut-down Buick. (Beth Gaeddert photos)

WHAT TO wear for an afternoon of jamming is whatever you feel like. This outfit included a feather and long-trailing scarf tied around the head, two neck scarves, a cross, airline junior pilot wings, a shoulder bag from South America, knit tank top and jeans adorned with two belts, a fringed shawl and a stars and stripes scarf tied around the knee.



AS IF posing for a high f a s h i o n magazine the two were just watching as the band played on. At right, the man's outfit included a canvas shoulder bag and neatly tied-back hair. Sitting on his bicycle, the other young man wears a Nehru-collared shirt and sandals. A head band and mustache complete his look.

Month In Peru Is Filled With Adventure For John Barnards

The John R. Barnards returned last weekend to Mill Valley from an adventure-filled month in Peru, where they visited their son Geoffrey and his wife, Elizabeth, both Peace Corps volunteers.

The young people have been living for a year at Puno, a small town located at an altitude of 12,500 feet on the shore of Lake Titicaca, highest navigable body of water in the world.

Of most interest to Jean Barnard, who is vice mayor of Mill Valley, she says, was seeing and a c t u a l l y going through some of the extreme hardships involved in living in that area.

"We bumped in ancient buses and cattle trucks over miles of dirt r o a d s," she said, "jammed in among Indians and their big loads and flew in all sorts of planes, including a Colombian cargo plane out of the jungle, sharing space with stacks of wild boar hides and fish as big as tuna but caught in the Amazon River.

"At Iquitos we swam in the very hot, black and unrefreshing waters of that river — a great contrast with swimming later in the delightful Carribbean Sea — and were surprised at how flat the Amazon is. In 2,600 miles it drops only 350 feet."

Jean said new experiences in food were eating alpaca meat in Puno and papayas as big as watermelons in the jungle and drinking milk from coconuts in Panama, which they passed through on the way home.

Incredible to them was having their shoes shined for two and a half cents, attending movies for 28 cents in Bogota and enjoying a full course dinner including cocktails for $2.50.

They saw many scenic wonders.

"We spent two days and a full moonlit night at the ruins of Machu Picchu, which our son calls 'the greatest sight in the western hemisphere,' and admired the work of modern man in the remarkable Salt Cathedral near Bogato, which

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Minors Get Busted For Smoking Grass But Adults Go Untouched

DEAR HELEN:

It's illegal to smoke grass at any age, right?

So how come they bust us 'minors' for it, but leave the adults alone? Two of my friends got expelled from school because the were caught smoking one cigarette (between them). They'll go to court next week. One kid had never tried pot before, and the other got the stuff from a friend who stole it from home. His folks pass it around every time they have a party, and you'd be surprised who comes to their parties — people pretty high in the police department and county court.

You'd better believe these people don't get raided.

In magazine and television interviews, well known performers talk about getting stoned — even smoking right out on the street, and the cops never tap them. But if a student — even if he's over 18 — tried it,he'd be slapped with a heavy fine or even jail.

As I see it, there's a tough law for kids and "street people" that the police don't like, and a look the other way rule for the upright (or rich) citizens who do probably more illegal drugs than teens. Also, I doubt if the kid who got the joint from home would ever get busted.

How about printing my letter, Helen, and asking answers from people who make or enforce (more or less) the law? — STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT:

Letter printed; answers awaited. (We may have a long wait) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This fall four of us girls went on a week's camping trip at a state park. We had our parents' permission. In fact they even visited us there. We're ordinary college students, who like boys but don't go overboard about it.

On the last two nights of the campout, some fellas stopped at our campfire and we sat around playing guitars, singing, and talking. All we had to drink was coffee. We were neither loud nor lewd.

Well, it seems that some older campers were just waiting for an excuse to complain. They reported that we created a nuisance, and accused one girl of coming out of the tent in panties and bra. You know, the old naked hippie thing. They also said we used foul language, which we didn't.

It was their word against ours, and with all the publicity about hippies and parks, guess who won? We are now restricted from the park, and even our parents are doubtful about us. The Superintendent doesn't want to take a chance of giving the park a bad name, so — our reputations went up in smoke. Incidentally, the only smoking we did was with tobacco. But we got accused of that too.

How can we get this restriction lifted and clear ourselves of what we didn't do? — NOT GUILTY

DEAR N.G.:

First prove to your parents that the accusations were highly exaggerated. That shouldn't be hard, if you've been clean up to now. Next, have them arrange a hearing with the park superintendent. If he got no other compaints, or noticed nothing amiss with your camp during your stay, he may review the case and reverse the decision. Adult pressure carries a lot of weight. —

DEAR HELEN:

What's a good put-down for a guy who thinks he's GGTW? He thinks all the girls should fall down and worship him, and inasmuch as we're only sexual playthings anyway, he's doing us a favor by inviting us to his apartment. — WANTING A SHARP ANSWER

DEAR WASA:

The best put-down for these "much libido about nothing" fellas is "No thanks, baby" And a fast switch to another guy. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in the Independent-Journal.

Gail Marie Rogers Is Bride In Novato

Gail Marie Rogers became tpe bride of Daniel Grahame Payette of San Francisco in a ceremony Saturday at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Gail, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rogers of Novato, chose her sister Linda Rogers as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Douglas G. Alexander of Corte Madera, Donna Pettey of Novato and Sheila Lindsey of Millbrae.

Steven Payette of Berkeley served his brother as best man.

The guests were seated by Dan Zell of Novato, David Maiero of San Bruno and William Nacca of San Diego.

Gail and Daniel greeted guests afterward at a reception at the San Marin Club in Novato. Following their wedding trip to Southern California they will live in San Francisco.

Gail is a Novato High School graduate and is employed with United California Bank in San Francisco. She is the sister of Jane, Jill, Tim and Mark Rogers, all of Novato. Mrs. Robert Wander of El Cerrito is her grandmother.

Daniel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Payette of San Francisco and the brother of Susan Payette of Redwood City. He attended the College of San Mateo after graduation from San Carlos High School and is now employed with James Allen and Sons in San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Passage of San Francisco are Daniel's grandparents.

Good Variety Of Beef And Pork At Markets This Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that early November shoppers will find a good variety of beef and pork at meat counters and a fair supply of fruits and vegetables to choose from this weekend.

Beef offerings for this week include several varieties of roasts and steaks. In the pork line, shoppers should look for chops and ham. Broiler-fryers are the leading item in poultry buys.

Vegetable bins will have good supplies of onions, potatoes, cabbage, and carrots.

In West Coast markets the wholesale prices on broiler-fryers and fresh and smoked pork are lower while eggs are higher. Prices on butter and other red meats and poultry are generally unchanged from last week.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapefruit, cabbage, carrots, celery, onions and potatoes.

Seafood buys to watch for in the West, according to the U.S. Department of Commerce, are oysters, Pacific snapper fillets, halibut, salmon steaks, dungeness crabs and canned salmon.

ON THE AGENDA

Tamalpais District Camp Fire Girls To Plant Trees Saturday

Two hundred Camp Fire Girls of the Tamalpais District will plant 200 trees at the south end of Waldo Tunnel Saturday.

Conceived as a conservation project, the tree planting will follow a picnic at Kirby Cove for the girls, their families and leaders.

After U.S. Army transports have carried Camp Fire personnel and trees to the hillside, fathers of the girls will lend a helping hand by digging the holes for the Monterey pine seedlings the girls will plant on the hill.

Mrs. Herbert Heberling of Corte Madera is in charge of the project. District chairman Mrs. Donald Miller has announced that the trees grown at the University of California at Davis, agricultural station were donated by Assemblyman William T. Bagley. He formally presented the trees on Oct. 26 at the Camp Fire office in San Rafael.

THE MARIN Charter Chapter of the American Business Womens Association will present a fall fashion show Saturday at the San Geronimo Country Club. The theme will be Feathers and Fashions.

Proceeds are to be used to supplement the chapter's educational fund. Scholarships totaling $1,000 have been awarded this year to young women in Marin County. Special guets at the show will be this year's scholarship recipients.

Mmes. John J. Clancy and Dave Moore are coordinating the event assisted by Mmes. Maida Barrick, Harold L. Hosford, Eleanor Montgomery and Barbara Petropoulos.

Models will be Misses Norma Neal, Cheri Clancy, Christie Heller and Susan Nattress and Mmes. Joseph J. Bewley, William J. Frye, Hosford, Walter Madsen, Robert Tozer and Barrick.

Hostesses will be Mmes. John C. Logan, Lucille Brown, Kenneth Seibold t, Rowena Thornton and Eleanor Montgomelry. Commentator will be Myron Zwang.

A "ROARING '20's" costume party will be held by the Novato Hostess Club at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Community House with a Reno style setting.

Mrs. Robert Powers is coordinating the party. Mmes. Archie Patton and Al Verza will serve refreshments and a midnight snack to members and their guests; Mrs. C. J. Goudeau is in charge of games; Mmes. Arthur Wagner and James Kiehl are decorations chairmen, and Mrs. William Cheney is reservations chairman.

ST. CECILIA'S Parish in Lagunitas will hold its annual public roast beef harvest dinner at the parish hall on Saturday evening beginning at 7. There will also be a silent auction and entertainment.

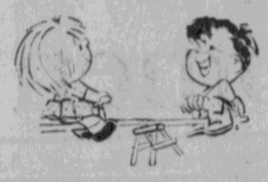
Members of St. Cecilia's Women's Club will prepare the home cooked dinner, and members of the Holy Name Society will assist. Reservations will not be necessary.

B'NAI B'RITH Women, Marin Chapter 266, is planning an evening "Remember When," Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wachsman in San Rafael.

Following a happy hour at 7 p.m. a pot luck dinner will be served highlighted by a fashion show of 100 years of fashions, courtesy of a private collector. Reservations chairman is Mrs. Harry Yaffee of San Anselmo. Funds raised will go to the many philanthropic activities of B'nai B'rith Women.

THE CHICKEN Little Chapter of Children's Home Society is having an anniversary dance at the Veteran's Memorial Building Saturday at 9 p.m. to raise funds to help the Children's Home Society. Reservations chairmen are Mrs. Ron Walters and Mrs. Fred Groverman of Petaluma.

FATHERS WILL have an opportunity to see what goes on at the Church in Ignacio Nursery School Saturday when their children bring them to the school to demonstrate fingerpainting, puzzle solving, block building and carpentry and to introduce them to the staff: Mmes. Arleigh Sawyer, John McSween, James Heidinger, Arthur Caswell and John Pearson, director.



A BANJO band will provide the music at the St. Anselm's parish dinner dance Saturday at the church in San Anselmo. The party begins at 7 p.m. and dinner will be served at 8 p.m.

MEMBERS OF Preceptor Alpha Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will attend the Actor's Playhouse of Marin production of "Star Spangled Girl" at the Congregation Rodef Sholom auditorium Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

A buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Chester Pec in San Rafael will follow.

A PRE-CHRISTMAS showing of creative playthings will be sponsored Saturday by the Mill Valley Nursery School, a parent-participation organization.

The show will be held from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the school, 51 Shell Road, Alto. In addition to the toy display there will be a sale of baked goods.

DAUGHTERS OF the Shepherd of Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church in Tiburon will host a reception Sunday after the 10 a.m. service to honor Dr. R. D. Lechleitner. The 11 a.m. reception in the church's fellowship hall will follow his installation as new pastor of Shepherd of the Hills.

Barnards' Peru Trip

is really carved out of black salt. Designed by an architect, it is located in a mine and has a most impressive treatment of the 14 stations of the cross consisting only of a Roman numeral for each standing tree in an alcove lit by fluorescent light," Jean said.

In Lima the Barnards spent some time with the Robert De Haans, formerly of Mill Valley and now of San Rafael but assigned to Lima for three years.

"We were amazed," Jean said, "to find that part of their house was open to the sky, for it never rains in Lima. It is a gray, ugly, fog-bound city which is not characteristic of Peru. Cuzco, on the other hand, is one of the most attractive cities we have seen."

The Indian women were of special interest to Jean. Because of a Peruvian government regulation that all names and ages of passengers must be listed, she learned that ancient looking, wrinkled women who would have been judged in the 90's in the United States were in their 40's. On the Puno streets she saw many women who looked like the grandmothers of the babies on their backs. Nevertheless, she observed, they seemed cheerful and jolly.

Jean said the major duties of their son and daughter-in-law are working with the campesinos, or peasants, encouraging them to sell their arts and crafts to cooperatives that they are also helping to set up. They find it quite frustrating because it is so difficult to get the campesinos to do anything new. They simply agree to whatever they are told and then do to suit themselves.

The young people were not called to help with the great earthquake disaster, Jean said, because more than enough people were already in the area for that purpose.

OUT OF THE ASHES AT GNOSS FIELD

Less than a month after a $250,000 blaze destroyed the Spectrum Air offices and Blue Yonder Cafe at Gnoss Field, workmen rush completion of a building that will be almost identical to the one burned. The structure was roofed in time to beat Tuesday's rains, and contractors' crews were expected to finish work within a month. Spectrum air service officals said they'll move out of a trailer rented as temporary offices, into the new building before Christmas. (Independent-Journal photo)

Regional Library Groundbreaking

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the long-sought Corte Madera Regional Library will be tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the intersection of Meadowsweet Drive and Stanford Street.

According to Bruce D. Bajema, county librarian, construction will begin about Nov. 15, with completion expected by October 1971.

The new library will be built by J. Di Giorgio and Son of San Rafael and will have about 10,000 square feet of floor space. Di Giorgio in September bid $330,974 for the project — about $10,000 less than the next lowest bidder. The architect, Neill Smith and Associates of San Francisco had estimated the construction cost at $320,000.

When completed, the one-story structure situated on a 2.6-acre lot will house from 50,000 to 70,000 volumes. It will replace two small existing branches in Corte Madera and Greenbrae.

For the next four years, study commissions from the two municipalities continued to discuss joint powers agreements and mergers.

In June 1968, the Corte Madera and county began discussion of a joint powers agreement to establish a county library in Corte Madera, with financing to be split between the two.

Four months later, the county board of supervisors voted to purchase the property where tomorrow's ceremony will be held.

In October of this year, the newly created Marin County-Corte Madera Library Authority board, formed to administer financing of the library, sold $855,000 in bonds for the library.

The funds will be used for site purchase, building construction and furnishing.

On hand for tomorrow's groundbreaking will be Corte Madera Mayor Edward W. Colthurst, Supervisor Louis H. Baar, and state Senator-elect Peter H. Behr.

Also envisioned for the new library site is a park for passive recreational use. The building itself will feature a clerestory roof to admit glare-free daylight throughout the building.

Corte Madera's bid for a library goes back to 1964 when discussions were held between the town, City of Larkspur and the county. Talks bogged down when Larkspur indicated it would not give up control of its library in any joint agreement.

Bay Crusade Seeking More Money

United Bay Area Crusade volunteers in Marin and four other counties are striving to raise $3.35 million more in pledges within a week. The annual campaign by 50,000 Bay Area volunteer fund-raisers entered its final week today.

Stephen A. Girard, UBAC campaign chairman, said yesterday the volunteers had raised $13,498,113, or 80.1 per cent of the Crusade's goal of $16,850,000. The money provides support for 190 voluntary agencies in the five counties.

Final report on the total pledged and community recognition awards will be made at a luncheon Nov. 13 in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel, San Francisco. Award applications and reservations may be made through the Crusade office in San Rafael.

Public Defender Out In Death Row Case

A motion asking that the Main public defender be removed rom a death row case on the grounds that he is incompetent vas granted without comment yesterday by a Superior Court udge.

Public defender Jerome C. Durham did not appear at the hearing, held in the courtroom at San Quentin prison. It was reported by deputy public defender Buford Toney that Durham was ill and confined to bed under a doctor's orders.

After Toney asked for a week's continuance in the matter because of Durham's illness, Judge E. Warren McGuire asked Toney if his office planned to file affidavits in answer to those filed on behalf of Jack R. Gorman.

The affidavits had accused Durham of being unprepared for a trial which had been due to start next week.

When Toney replied that his office did not plan to file any affidavits, the judge granted the motion that Durham be removed from the case. He appointed Sausalito attorney A. Leonard Bjorklund for Gorman.

Bjorklund had prepared the affidavits for Gorman, in which a member of Durham's own staff, Edward Briggs, had been quoted as saying that the Gorman case was being mishandled and shuffled from one member of the staff to another.

Gorman had said in an affidavit that he thought Durham was drunk the first time he ever met him and that he smelled of liquor during his earlier trial.

Gorman and Marc C. Osuna were convicted of slaying bartender Mario Ferrari during a 1965 Labor Day holdup of the Mission Inn Tavern in San Rafael.

A higher court reversed the jury decision that they receive the death penalty and they are to be retried on the penalty phase of the case only.

Judge McGuire yesterday severed the cases and left the Osuna case set to go to trial next week. He continued Gorman's case to Jan. 19 for setting of a trial date.

Questioning On San Jose Incident

SAN JOSE (UPI) —A Santa Clara County Grand Jury committee has begun a series of "information sessions" on the incident last week at San Jose Civic Auditorium in which things were thrown at President Nixon's car.

The grand jury's Criminal Complaints Committee met Wednesday in Police Chief Ray Blackmore's office to begin its study.

Leonard Winston, chairman of the committee, said the series of sessions with various officials and witnesses would determine whether a full grand jury probe of the matter is necessary.

No Visas Needed

NEW YORK (UPI) — American tourists visiting New Zealand no longer need entry visas provided they have valid passports, fully paid transportation tickets to another country within 30 days and firm reservations at that destination.

Memorial Hike Set For Sunday

About 200 hikers are expected to take part in the sixth annual Kennedy Memorial Climb Sunday from the Mountain Home Inn on Panoramic Highway to the top of Mount Tamalpais.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. and the climb will begin an hour later when participants split into two groups. One will climb by way of the Nora Trail to West Point and then on to the top; the other will use the Throckmorton or Hogsback Trail.

The event, held yearly as a living memorial to President John F. Kennedy for his role in the development of a nationwide physicial fitness program, last year attracted 150 hikers. It is sponsored by the Mill Valley Youth Commission.

Hike leaders will be George Kewin and Carol Pritchard, both former chairmen of the commission. Master of ceremonies will be Mill Valley City Councilman Jerome C. Hauke.

Members of the Piedmont High School bagpipe band and the Marine Corps color guard from Treasure Island, traditional leaders of the hike, again will form an escort for the start of the climb.

Participants are asked to bring their own lunches, drinking water, comfortable and sturdy shoes, and rain gear for possible wet weather.

Cause Found In Fire Disaster

St. LAURENT DU-PONT, France (UPI)—A commission investigating the dancehall fire that killed 145 youths said today a coroner's report revealed the blaze started when one of the victims threw a lighted match on a plastic-covered chair.

Soon after the announcement, the local council and six mayors from surrounding areas resigned to protest the government suspension of St. Laurent-du-Pont Mayor Pierre Perron after the fire last Sunday morning.

The investigating commission said Coroner Andre Viossat also reported the plastic decorations in the "5-7" dancehall gave off "an important quantity of gas" which when burned "probably had a considerably devastating effect."

AEC Detects 7th Soviet A-Blast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission says it has picked up seismic signals from central Siberia, indicating the Soviet Union conducted an underground nuclear test equal to 200,000 tons of TNT.

It was the seventh apparent test recorded by the AEC this year. The last one, on Oct. 14, was equivalent to about 6 million tons of TNT.

San Anselmo Board To Expand Student Tests

The San Anselmo School District board has authorized an additional $800 to expand psychological testing of students at Yolansdale School.

Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry reported yesterday that the board's action Tuesday was taken to provide a comparison study of normal children with an already approved study of educationally handicapped students.

The new study of first through third graders at Yolandsdale will provide control data for comparison and will give additional guidance to their teachers by eavluating classes.

Lowy said the original study was initiated to identify instruction levels for the handicapped children.

The San Anselmo School District Board Also:

UNIFICATION — Tabled consideration of a Tamalpais High School District resolution asking that the state's mandatory unification election every four years be eliminated. The high school district is seeking support for its resolution from its feeder elementary districts.

PERSONNEL — Approved hiring Ann Richards for the position of district secretary at a salary of $583 per month; and Gordon Sims as supervisor of buildings and grounds at a salary of $602 per month. Sims was previously the custodian at Red Hill School.

GERMAN MEASLES — Approved a request from the Marin County Health Department for use of district school for rebella immunization clinics. Dates for the clinics have not been set.

RECREATION — Heard a report from the ad hoc recreation committee, made up of board members, city councilmen and recreation commissioners, that a community-wide assessment of recreation needs be made.

HEALTH EDUCATION — Heard a report that a representative of the Folsom-Cordova Unified School District (Sacramento County) will make two presentations Nov. 10 on health and family life education. The first presentation will be at 2:15 p.m. at Red Hill School for board members, health committee members and the curric lum advisory council. The second talk will be at 7:30 p.m. at Red Hill School for interested persons. The district is considering such programs.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to the next regular meeting Nov. 17.

Guilty Plea To Marijuana Charge

Frank Johnson, 20, of Petaluma, has pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of possession of marijuana.

The plea came in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court after a felon charge was reduced to misdemeanor. Judge Alexander J. McMahon set sentencing for Dec. 7.

Johnson was arrested Sept. 9 when police said he was standing in the middle of Petaluma Boulevard, waving a Bible and trying to preach to passing motorists.

Sluggish Rudder Story Related At Crash Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Both the captain and the pilot of the container ship Panama testified Wednesday she responded sluggishly to the rudder before smashing into an Oakland pier.

Captain Lewis Hassell of San Rafael told a Coast Guard hearing that construction at the Port of Oakland may have affected tidal currents and therefore the rudder action.

Pilot Paul Hoey of Daly City also noted currents had increased since the port expansion program started and said the ship "wouldn't hard left."

Traveling at 5 or 6 knots in a heavy fog on Monday, the ship tore a 64-foot hole in the concrete pier. She was freed by tugs.

Shakespeare Fest Gets $1 Rental

NEW YORK (UPI)—The City Planning Commission has approved a plan to buy a building used by the New York Shakespeare Festival and lease it back to the group for $1 a year so the festival can keep operating.

The commission approved $5.1 million to buy and remodel the building.

The festival, headed by Joseph Papp, has produced free outdoor Shakespearean productions in city parks. Several theaters it operates use the theater building.

STATE, NATIONAL ROUNDUP

Younger's Win Produces Potential Reagan Heir

By DENNIS J. OPATRNY

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Evelle J. Younger has become California's first Republican to be elected attorney general in more than a quarter century and looms as a potential gubernatorial candidate in 1974.

The Los Angeles County district attorney narrowly defeated Democrat Charles O'Brien in the final semi-official vote count Wednsdaey. Younger polled 3,084,300 to 2,994,042 for the chief deputy attorney general.

Fred N. Howser in 1946 was the last Republican to win election as the state's top law officer. It was the same year Earl Warren won his second term as governor.

Younger and O'Brien waged a vigorous battle for the attorney general's office, a post both Warren and later Democrat Edmund G. Brown used to vault them into the governor's chair.

The Nebraska-educated Younger has already indicated an interest in seeking his party's gubernatorial nomination in 1974. Gov. Ronald Reagan has said he believes governors should serve no more than two terms.

Younger, 52, served as both a municipal and superior court judge before being twice elected district attorney.

Marge Buckley, the Peace and Freedom party attorney general candidate, polled 174,560 votes, enough ballots to deny O'Brien victory. Presumably Miss Buckley drew her support from disenchanted Democrats.

Edmund G. Brown Jr. has taken a different route than his father by being elected secretary of state in his first try for statewide office.

Brown, 32 and a bachelor, defeated Republican James L. Flournoy, the first Negro a major party has ever nominated for statewide office. Semi-official final returns gave Brown 3,163,857 votes to 2,873,436 for Flournoy, a Los Angeles attorney.

Houston I. Flournoy won landslide re-election as state controller, which possibly puts him in position to battle Younger four years hence for the GOP nomination for governor.

Flournoy, a moderate, was the top votegetter in Tuesday's election from either party, polling 3,712,460 to 2,294,430 for his Democratic opponent Ronald Brooks Cameron. He garnered better than 60 per cent of the ballots.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, who also has announced aspirations to seek the governorship when it is surrendered by Reagan, won a smashing victory over his Democratic challenger, state Sen. Alfred E. Alquist.

Reinecke, a former three-term congressman from the San Fernando Valley, polled 3,481,512 votes to 2,663,413 for Alquist, a San Jose lawmaker.

Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest also won easy re-election as state treasurer by trouncing Democrat Milton Gordon. Mrs. Priest, the U. S. treasurer during the Eisenhower administration, gathered 3,636,102 votes to 2,467,654 for her opponent, a San Diego hotel executive.

CLOSE RACE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —A recount is likely in the Senate battle between Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke and Congressman Richard L. Roudebush following the impounding of voting machines and ballots in Indiana's 92 counties.

The state election board, headed by Gov. Edgar D. Whitcomb, took the surprise action Wednesday after unofficial tabulations of Tuesday's election showed Hartke the winner in the closest U.S. Senate election in Indiana's history.

Indiana state police impounded voting machines, paper ballots and absentee ballots, casting doubt also on the final outcome of other statewide races won, according to unofficial figures, by Democrats.

The nearly complete tabulation by National Election Service (NES) showed 865,397 votes for Hartke to 861,520 for his opponent. According to the Democrats, Roudebush was only a stand-in for President Nixon in this Indiana campaign. The President had campaigned in Indiana for Roudebush, as did other members of the Nixon family and administration.

The unofficial margin of slightly more than 3,800 votes in a total balloting of 1.7 million —less than one vote a precinct —set a new record for a close senatorial election in Indiana.

The extension of the impoundment order to all 92 counties was the result of objections by the lone Democratic member of the three-member state Election Board. Thurman DeMoss, Franklin, the Democratic member, said that Whitcomb and J.B. King, Indianapolis, the two Republican members, "told me they wanted to impound Lake, St. Joseph and Clark counties."

DeMoss said that he objected to picking out three usually Democratic counties for impoundment and that King then suggested the order cover all 92 counties.

Although the Election Board order locked up all the election material, except tally sheets, in all the counties, the apparent target of the GOP was the three counties in which Hartke received a margin of 51,860 votes. These were Lake, where the vote was in favor of Hartke, 86,773 to 56,364, St. Joseph, 52,809 to 34,151; and Clark, 11,528 to 8,492, according to NES results.

State law sets a deadline of Nov. 18 by which petitions for recount of votes may be filed. Such recounts may be requested in single counties. The cost of the recount is borne by the requesting candidate.

HAIRLINE WIN

DETROIT (UPI)—Republican Gov. William G. Milliken today appeared headed toward a close victory over Democratic state Sen. Sander M. Levin in the Michigan governor's race.

With 95 per cent of the Michigan precincts reporting, the governor held a 1,289,339 to 1,226,470 lead over Levin. Those totals included 874 of the 1,111 precincts in heavily Democratic Detroit, where a foulup in counting computerized ballot cards had kept the results of the governor's race in doubt.

The Detroit precincts which still were uncounted, however, included the only Republican legislative district in Detroit and some heavily Catholic areas where Milliken was expected to show well because of his stand favoring state aid to parochial schools.

The precincts, nearly all in northwest Detroit, also were ones in which Milliken's running mate, James Brickley, ran strongly when he was elected to the Detroit Common Council in the 1960s.

The governor had accumulated a 150,000 vote lead outside of Wayne County, in which Detroit is located, and the only question had been whether Levin's forces had turned out strong enough to turn the tide.

But a low turnout of little more than 400,000 voters in the Motor City combined with unusually strong black support for Milliken and strong Catholic support to blunt the Levin effort. Initial estimates said Milliken took at least 20 per cent of the black vote.

The governor sought his first full term after succeeding to the governorship when George Romney left the state capital to become Secretary of Housing and Urban Development in the Nixon administration.

Milliken had built up a 54-46 per cent edge in outstate Michigan, excluding the Wayne County (Detroit) area, as the tabulation began after the polls closed Tuesday night. But it was not possible to determine the eventual winner immediately because of the problems in counting the Detroit vote, problems which also held up counting in the August primary.

Wednesday evening the two realized no decision was coming and left the downtown Detroit election headquarters where they had been since early Tuesday evening.

The boyish-looking, 48-year-old Chief Executive returned to Lansing where he prepared to deal with the state's fiscal problems, aggravated by the General Motors' strike, when the state legislature reconvened today.

Levin returned to his suburban Berkley home to rest and be with his children.

There were various reasons given for the failure of Detroit's new computer card voting system to give a fast and accurate tally. But Mayor Roman Gribbs said simply the system had "flunked its test."

Stevenson's Victory Boosts Illinois Demos

CHICAGO (UPI) — Illinois' new junior senator-elect, Adlai E. Stevenson III, who led a sweeping state-wide victory for the Democrats, may be able to move up a notch in the Senate's seniority system by being sworn in when senators reconvene Nov. 16.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, a Republican, said Wednesday he would push for an early swearing in since it may result in Stevenson's improved status on committees and a better position to be effective in matters affecting the state.

Stevenson is eligible to be sworn in as a U.S. senator as soon as he receives certification of election, following the official canvass of ballots which usually takes 10 to 12 days.

His term as state treasurer expires Jan. 11 and Ogilvie said he will appoint Assistant Treasurer Charles W. Woodford to serve until the new treasurer, Democrat Alan J. Dixon, is sworn in.

Stevenson's landslide victory Tuesday defeated Sen. Ralph Tyler Smith, the gubernatorial appointee to fill the vacancy of the late Everett Dirksen, by a margin of about 452,000 votes or 57 per cent of the vote.

The victory, which also moved Democrats into control of practically all the state and Cook County offices, left the Republican organization in no position to "dismantle the Democratic machine" of Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, as Ogilvie had once threatened.

The Stevenson victory also denied Nixon administration efforts to get more support in Congress.

One Vote For Chet

BOSEMAN, Mont. (UPI)—Retired NBC-TV news commentator Chet Huntley, who now heads a corporation building a recreation complex near here, received one write-in vote for state representative in Tuesday's balloting.

Suspect Booked On Burglary

A 14-year-old San Anselmo youth was arrested yesterday at Sir Francis Drake High School on suspicion of burglary, police said today.

Officers said Gregory Vasilieff of 71 Camino D Herra was arrested at 2 p.m. following a tip that the youth was not in school at the time of a $3,815 burglary on Tuesday.

Police reported that personal possession taken sometime between 8 a.m. and 6:40 p.m. Tuesday from the home of Robert M. Kincaid, 10 Herrera Court, were found at Vasilieff's home following the arrest.

The youth was booked into juvenile hall.

Angela's Cohort Pleads Innocent

NEW YORK (UPI)—David R. Poindexter Jr. of Chicago, arrested last month with fugitive black militant Angela Davis, today pleaded innocent to charges of harboring a fugitive.

Poindexter is currently free on $100,000 bail, while Miss Davis is being held in the Women's House of Detention.

Poindexter's plea was made today before Federal Judge Irving Ben Cooper, who assigned the case to Judge John M. Cannella. Cannella, possibly later today, is expected to receive a plea for reduction of Poindexter's bail and possibly assign a trial date.

Rec District Won't Delay Cove Access

Directors of the Strawberry creation District last night used to halt or delay action acquire public use of private ach and marsh areas on the rawberry Peninsula.

The board defeated two mons that would have instructed torney Stephen H. Kaufmann hold off on legal steps to sere recreational easements on operty in the Strawberry Cove ea, site of a planned 102-unit partment development.

MOTION DEFEATED

Defeated, 2-3, was a motion Director James L. Andrews halt legal action pending a ecision by the Bay Conservaon and Development Commisson, which must approve the trawberry Cove apartment lan. Director Manuel K. Lehua oted with Andrews.

A second motion by Andrews lso failed, 2-3. It would have urrendered responsibility for he legal action to the county to let it pursue acquiring the roperty for the public in whatver fashion it deems possible."

Clerk Jeanne Heick reported bout 70 residents attended the neeting and heard Kaufmann explain what steps the board is aking to insure that public acess to the cove area will not be blocked by planned development.

These include court action to obtain easements based on a California Supreme Court decision that the public has established a claim to property if use has gone unchallenged for five years.

Attending last night's meeting was Paul J. Broman of Peacock Gap, who won approval of the Strawberry Cove apartments from the Marin County Board of Supervisors Oct. 20.

Also at the meeting were members of an ad hoc group which is mounting an independent effort to see taht the Strawberry shoreline is not overdeveloped.

BCDC HEARING

The group urged citizens to attend the BCDC hearing at which Broman's plans will be considered. The meeting will be Nov. 19 at 2 p.m. at the state building in San Francisco.

The board also was told last night that a canvass of votes from Tuesday's election will be necessary before the winners of three seats on the panel can be named.

Elected were incumbents Arthur R. Senter and Carl L. Schaefer, but results of the voting for the third seat were inconclusive. They show Conrad N. Von Blankenburg with 550 votes and Thomas B. Miller with 548.

In such close races, Mrs. Heick said, the county elections office customarily seals the ballots until a canvass can be made. The board, which by law must meet within a week of the election to declare the winners, set an adjourned meeting for Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Strawberry Point School. The new terms begin Jan. 1, Mrs. Heick said.

Second Prosecution Witness On Again

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — The second prosecution witness in the trial of seven men arrested outside the Independent-Journal on Valentine's Day returned to the stand under cross-examination today.

Officer Charles Brobeck, testifying for the second day in Solano County Superior Court, identified defense pictures showing the scene on Julia Street before a violent confrontation between a group of shouting demonstrators and police during a rally in support of striking printers.

Carl B. Shapiro, one of three defense attorneys, also led Brobeck through a timetable of events leading up to the confrontation which resulted in the arrest of the defendants.

The seven later were indicted on 36 charges, including participating in a riot and assault on a police officer.

Brobeck was on a fire escape of the Rafael Theater overlooking Julia Street when the violence broke out.

Brobeck testified yesterday that the demonstrators chanted, "Hell, no, we won't go," during the time when a police command post was ordering the crowd to disperse. Brobeck said, however, that he could clearly hear only two of the loudspeaker commands because of crowd noise.

Earlier testimony indicated a long series of orders was given. The defense contends the demonstrators were unable to hear the commands because the crowd of about 400 protestors was yelling and chanting.

The commands, Brobeck testified, came after arrival of a car that was to have picked up newspapers at the I-J loading dock on Julia Street. Chanting demonstrators "bunched around" the auto, Brobeck said, and police tried to move the crowd back so it could leave.

The policeman said the auto tried to drive through a tightly packed group of pickets who began slapping on the auto's hood. The officer said he saw "sporadic objects flying from the back of the crowd toward the vehicle."

"I recall seeing a few eggs and some other hard objects," Brobeck said.

After the car finally departed with the aid of police, Brobeck said, a sweep of Julia Street by officers began. He said a line of officers rushed the demonstrators and that there was a lot of "pushing and shoving" by pickets to get out of the way. He said he saw several persons fall down in attempts to flee.

Brobeck said the riot-garbed officers carried batons, but added he saw none of the sticks being wielded in a striking position.

Sausalito Planners Balk On Proposal

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night refused to give the green light to a proposed housing development near the intersection of Santa Rosa Avenue and Glen Drive until the developer submits detailed plans.

Accorling to H. Eric Borgwardt, city planning director, the commission asked David Hunter, who is seeking a conditional use permit for the development, to prepare the plans and present them for further review.

After lengthy discussion, the planners decided no more than 18 units will be possible on the 145,000 square feet of land, as opposed to the 22 units proposed by Hunter, owner of the property.

Hunter seeks to construct a combination of apartments, duplexes and single family homes on the land. A variance to facilitate development was approved by planners in early September.

The Sausalito Planning Commission also:

SUBDIVISION — Approved lot split applications from: Marcus Perry for property at 136 Spencer Avenue; star of the Sea Church for land at 180 Harrison Avenue and A.A. Raymond for land at 625 Locust Road.

ZONE CHANGE — Denied a request from developer Frank Lynch for a rezoning of 60 acres of land on Wolfback Ridge to allow development of a 400-unit planned unit apartment development.

VARIANCE REQUESTS — Turned down two requests from Alexander Anolik for variances to allow an office at 911 Bridgeway to be turned into a dwelling unit and seeking relief from city parking requirements for apartments at the same address.

Tire Leasing To Bus Firms Under Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) today accused the nation's five largest tire companies of violating antitrust laws through a $20 million-a-year system of leasing tires to bus companies.

In a proposed consent order, the FTC said the leasing operations eliminate competition. According to the commission, the companies refuse to sell rather than lease the "special mileage tires" used on most buses and the leasing contracts have the effect of binding a bus firm to the same tire maker year after year.

The complaint named Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., the B. F. Goodrich Co., the General Tire and Rubber Co., all of Akron, Ohio, and Uniroyal, Inc., New York.

The proposed FTC order would ban the leasing arrangements and require the companies to sell bus tires competitively with published price lists.

The tire firms can sign the order, agreeing to its terms without admitting any guilt, or contest the accusation before an FTC hearing examiner.

Airborne Sensors Can Detect Crops

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The national space agency reported today that airborne sensors successfully detected corn blight infestations in an experiment carried out over Indiana.

The agency is developing sensors for use aboard two earth resources technology satellites (ERTS) to be launched in 1972 and 1973. Such satellites may be able from space to locate mineral resources, survey crop conditions, and provide information on air and water pollution.

The Indiana erperiment was conducted in August and September.

Nixon Considers Election Success

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon considers Tuesday's election a "tremendous success" and believes the new make-up of the Senate will be "very helpful" in promoting his domestic and foreign policy programs, the White House said today.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen that Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew gave their assessment of the election results at a Cabinet meeting earlier today.

He said the President feels that his campaign efforts and those of Agnew were "very worthwhile."

Comedy To Be Formula Of Troupe

There's a new theater group in Marin that thinks a crayon to draw moustaches on the face of society is mightier than the fanatic's bomb.

The new Actors Playhouse of Marin is dedicated to the idea of offering comedy to its audiences, rather than some deep message, according to Robert W. Boyden, Playhouse president.

If the formula works, Marin may have a new, year-round theater, offering three conventional or musical comedies during the fall and winter season, plus something fitting for summer audiences.

The fledgling troupe will make its first flight — hopefully, amid gales of laughter — Saturday when "The Star Spangled Girl" opens. Curtain time will be 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Congregate Rodef Sholom, 170 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

Taking its comedy seriously, the new theater has incorporated. Boyden, the president, is a veteran of the Ross Valley Players. He was vice president and executive producer for that group.

William McCall, chairman of the board and director for "The Star Spangled Girl," is a former president of the Ross Valley group. Ralph "Skip" Sommer, a Festival Theater star; disc jockey-comedian Gene Nelson and comedienne Patti Newman are vice presidents, and Mrs. Milton Flynn Jr. is secretary-treasurer of the new corporation.

The Playhouse goal is to fill a 400-seat theater for runs somewhat longer than other Marin theater groups, cooperating with 30 to 40 service groups selling tickets to benefit performances.

Plays performed by the group will "one, be comedies that the actors enjoy performing, and, two, sell well," Boyden stated candidly. "We are dedicated in a large degree to the enjoyment of the people involved" on both sides of the footlights, he said.

The troupe will audition only by invitation to build a group of tested and popular performers who will do as professional a job as possible for an amateur theater. The playhouse hopes to spend whatever's necessary for quality sets and technical production, providing it can keep full-house audiences coming in.

The Playhouse also must find a permanent home large enough.

Boyden said that a recent column by Melvin Maddocks expresses the philosophy of actor Playhouse of Marin:

"The prig builds reverent statues to himself. The comedian . . . crayons moustaches on them. Without comedians to deter them, little prigs tend to grow into big fanatics. Bombs being what they are nowadays, a custard pie in the face of a few prigs is a cheap price for civilization to pay. Bombs and bomb throwers we've got. But where are the pies?"

Hopefully, they'll be flying on and offstage in Marin.

College To Recreate Time Of Shakespeare

"Midsummer Night's Dream" will open at the College of Marin fine arts building tomorrow, in a recreation of the theater as Shakespeare knew it.

Strolling minstrels, a Punch and Judy show and ticket takers garbed as London Tower "Beefeater" guards will add to the atmosphere of the college production, directed by James Dunn.

Curtain time will be at 8 p.m. for performances tomorrow through Sunday, Nov. 12 through 15 and Nov. 19 through 22.

Dunn said the stage, theater entrance and costuming all follow Elizabethan patterns, to give both the performers and audience the spirit of Shakespeare's era.

The collegian cast is led by Ted Norris of Ross as Theseus; Pamela Contos of Belvedere as Hippolyta; David Brown of Larkspur as Lysander; Howard McMaster of Fairfax as Demetrius; Roxane Wilkinson of Novato as Hermia, and Alice Rorvik of Mill Valley as Helena.

Other roles are played by:

Alan Kernan, Joel Blum, Karen Meadows, J. W. Harper and John Chapot of Fairfax; Bruce Swenson, Leonard Roy Stevenson, Kathy Rainey and Rick Casoria of San Anselmo; Linda Apple, Steven Blair, John Evans, Ernie Shelton and Phillip Wandtke of San Rafael.

Helen Griesemer, Shelly Lipkin and Jess Jestrab of Mill Valley; Elwood Markham and Carla Sarvis of Kentfield; Robert Cooper of Novato; Stephanie Saunders of Greenbrae; Denise Orr of Ross; Robin Williams of Tiburon, and Mark Rasmussen of Lagunitas.

$110 Million Death Suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The widow of television personality Louis Lomax has filed a $110 million damage suit against Ford Motor Co. and Avis Rent-a-Car in the death of her husband.

The wrongful-death action was filed Wednesday in behalf of Robinette Lomax who asked for $10 million damages plus $100 million punitive damages.

Lomax, 47, was killed July 30 when his rented Ford Fairlane went out of control on a New Mexico highway. The suit charges the car was "unsafe because of defects in the manufacture, design, assembly, maintenance, inspection and repair" and had been "carelessly maintained, inspected and repaired."

The suit said the crash resulted from a mechanical defect of the front end steering mechanism.

Humphrey Invites Lindsay To Defect

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former Vice Prsident Hubert H. Humphrey, who will be returning to the Senate in January, has invited New York Mayor John V. Lindsay to become a Democrat.

Humphrey was interviewed Wednesday on the CBS program "Election '70, What Happened Last Night."

Humphrey said that he had not talked to Lindsay about switching from the Republican to the Democratic Party. "I'd like to see him in the Democratic party," Humphrey said. "I don't know what he's been waiting for, in the first place. He needs a weekend out of New York to do some clear thinking."

Food To Needy On The Climb

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of needy Americans helped by government food relief programs rose from about 6.9 million in September 1969, to an estimated 11.7 million in September of 1970, the Agriculture Department said today.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Lyng indicated in a statement that the increase came primarily in the food stamp program. Enrollment in that program rose from about 3.3 million people a year ago to about 8.2 million last September.

The number of persons receiving government-donated food commodities in family-feeding programs remained basically stable at about 3.5 million.

20 Injured As Jet Bounced By Storm

NEW YORK (UPI) —Twenty persons were injured, seven of them seriously enough to be hospitalized, Wednesday night when a Pan American Airways Jumbo 747 jetliner was bounced around by a thunderstorm between Nantucket and Newfoundland.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., was one of the passengers aboard the New York to London plane, but he was not injured.

NLRB Charges Picketing Unfair Labor Practice

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Teamsters Local 85 was charged Wednesday with engaging in unfair labor practices by picketing which closed about one-tenth of the San Francisco waterfront warehouses for one week.

The charge was made by the National Labor Relations Board. The case will be heard Nov. 20 by Federal Judge Albert C. Wollenberg.

The Jones Stevedoring Co., was picketed by teamsters, who asserted the firm inherited a teamster contract for equipment truck drivers when it took over Matson Navigation Company's warehousing operations last summer.

Spokesmen for the company said their only labor contract is with Interntional Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

The NLRB filed the injunction suit to stop the picketing. Hearings were set for Dec. 9 to determine which union should be assigned the work.

MARSH PRESERVATION — Redwood High School students Robert J. Posner (left) and Richard L. Holmes grapple with the rusting remains of an oven discarded in the marsh adjacent their school. Their efforts were part of a massive clean-up Saturday of the marsh, which the two students and other conservationists hope to preserve as an outdoor laboratory. The group later learned the marsh is actually a flood control pond.

Agonies Of The POW Families

Mrs. Robert L. Hill of Ignacio last saw her husband, a master sergeant in the 41st Air Rescue Squadron, before he left for a second tour of duty in Vietnam as a plane crew member in April 1966. He was reported missing in action in October 1966. Since then, she has had no word.

Mrs. James Douglas Birchin of San Rafael's husband was a captain in the Army Special Forces (Green Berets) when he was reported missing in Vietnam in November 1968. Since then, she has had no word.

Mrs. William W. Butler of San Rafael is a bit more fortunate. Her husband, an Air Force captain, was pilot of a plane shot down in Vietnam in November 1967. For two years, she heard nothing, but since then she has had several letters from him, written from North Vietnam prison camps. The latest two were brought back in September by Robert Scheer, returning from a visit to Hanoi. There has been none through the mail since June.

The plight of Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Birchin is unlike that of servicemen's wives in any other war. Always, except in the Southeast Asian conflict, when a man was missing in action he would soon be reported by the enemy as held captive, or else would be presumed dead. But North Vietnam has never accounted for its prisoners. More than 1,100 Americans are still listed as missing in action. The U.S. government believes many of them are in North Vietnamese POW camps — but how many, only Hanoi knows.

There is a special poignancy for these women in a drive to make this month one of massive appeals for the Hanoi government to live up to the Geneva Convention's requirement that prisoners of war be permitted to send letters home, and to arrange for release of the sick and incapacitated and exchange of the others.

President Richard M. Nixon has proclaimed Nov. 11 — Veterans Day — as Prisoner of War Day this year. Gov. Ronald Reagan has made a similar proclamation for its observance in California.

A project started by the San Rafael Jaycees (junior chamber of commerce) has been adopted statewide to obtain petitions with hundreds of thousands of signatures to be sent to Hanoi. Their message is simple:

"We the undersigned petition the government of North Vietnam to abide by the terms of the Geneva Convention with regard to the treatment of American prisoners in Southeast Asia."

The San Rafael Jaycees plan to set up a table for obtaining petition signatures in downtown San Rafael on Nov. 11, according to Gordon Brown, Jaycee president. The Marin County chapter of the Red Cross plans a similar table in the Northgate Shopping Center on the same day.

The California Newspaper Publishers Association, of which the Independent-Journal is a member, has joined with the Jaycees and with Concern for POWs Inc. in in a statewide drive for letters and petitions. The San Rafael Jaycees, with Robert Callahan as project chairman, and the Concern for POWs office in San Diego will be collection points for these letters and petitions at the close of the drive on Nov. 25, and will see that they are delivered to the North Vietnamese Embassy in Paris during the Christmas holidays.

The organizations cooperating in the campaign believe, as do President Nixon and Governor Reagan, that an immense outpouring of concern over the prisoners may move Hanoi to recognize its responsibilities under the Geneva Conventions. A letter-writing drive last winter caused Hanoi to allow more of the prisoners to send letters home; but it still has identified only about 330 of those it holds — although the United States knows of 500, and the fate of more than 1,100 others is uncertain.

Sergeant and Mrs. Hill's son Robert Jr., who was five years old yesterday, cannot remember his father. And it is hard for Mrs. Hill to explain to the boy that she does not know whether his father is alive or dead.

Captain and Mrs. Birchin's son, David, 18 months old, was born after his father was reported missing. Their daughter Kimberly, 30 months, has no memory of a father. Their mother does not know whether they still have a father.

Captain and Mrs. Butler's daughter, Sheila, was only three weeks old when the captain's plane was shot down and he managed to parachute to safety — in a prison camp.

The three women hope that the petition campaign may at the least cause Hanoi to resolve the uncertainties that torment their lives as to the plight of their loved ones — and, in the cases of Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Birchin, whether those loved ones still live.

LIVING CLASSROOM PROJECT

Young Conservationists Find A Marsh Not Always A Marsh

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A plan by a small band of conservationists to transform a marsh at Redwood High School into a living classroom was set back the other day when it was learned the marsh is not a marsh.

The 12 acre area, which has every appearance of a marsh from pickleweed to yellow-legged coots, is actually an artificially created flood control pond maintained by the City of Larkspur, according to city officials.

As such, natural tidal flow in the pond is shut off during winter months to insure an empty basin for rain runoff.

Until Monday, all this was unknown to the conservationists, who have been studying, planning and promoting the outdoor laboratory concept for more than a month. As one member said, a readjustment of the group's plan is now in order.

The group, made up of students, biologists and high school officials, became distressed in September over abuses being inflicted on what they thought a natural marsh. Fearing possible irreparable damage to the marsh, the conservationists set out to save it.

"It has been viewed by some people as a hole which has to be filled," said Richard L. Holmes, a Redwood High School junior.

He and a classmate, Robert J. Posner, buttressed that view pointing to submerged motor oil cans continuing to discharge their plant killing contents, and to piles of decaying yard cuttings and old tires, open invitations to more dumping.

Combining the enthusiasm of the students, the expertise of several biologists and the influence of Tamalpais High School District officials, the group formed in September and mapped plans for the marsh's preservation.

First, letters were sent to nearby homeowners asking their cooperation in a dumping ban.

Next, junk in the marsh was cleaned out Saturday by about 25 members of the Redwood Hiking and Conservation Club.

Finally, the conservationists were to approach the school district board with a request that the marsh be designated a natural area. (The marsh area has been listed as a football field on the school's master plan.)

Clarin W. Zumwalt, a naturalist for Audubon Canyon Ranch and a leader in the marsh project, said he noted something askew last weekend while helping the students clean the marsh: It was high tide, but there was no tidal flow into the marsh.

A check with the city engineer showed that the city had shut the tidal gate which feeds the marsh — standard procedure during the fall and winter months. This allows rain runoff to collect in the nearby empty pond at high tide.

"The pond is definitely important to flood control," said public works director Warren Mistron, who added there was no way the city could do without the marsh except to build an elaborate pumping system.

The area is not a natural marsh anyway, said Mistron, but rather land subject to periodic innundation for flood control purposes.

Zumwalt said he did not realize the area was not natural marsh when he began the project in September.

"We're now going to have to reevaluate uses of the area," he said, "It may turn out we can still use it, but we'll have to take a different approach."

A major obstacle to the outdoor project, he said, is that it would be in the winter months it would be required the most, and those are the months it probably won't be usable.

He said arrangements were being made for a meeting between the conservationists and the city to see if there is some way of salvaging the group's plan.

"Possibly the city will consider opening the tide gates periodically to allow some salt water circulation," said Zumwalt.

Plans Approved For Retaining Walls

The Novato Plan Review Committee last night approved plans for retaining walls for the townhouse development of Western Hosts Inc., south of Rowland Boulevard and west of Highway 101.

The plan for the townhouses has already been approved by the committee. The committee postponed until 8 p.m., Nov. 18, consideration of plans for the recreation building for the townhouse project by the same firm.

Woman Reports Assault Attack

A 52-year-old San Anselmo woman told police today she was raped at 1:45 a.m. at her home by a man who threatened to kill her if she did not comply.

Officers said the woman told them she was awakened in her bedroom by the man described as a Negro, 20 to 25 years of age, six feet tall and wearing a yellow sweater and leather jacket.

Before leaving the woman's Hazel Avenue residence, the intruder reportedly stole $5 in cash, a watch and other personal possessions, police said.

$991 In Cash Taken From Marin Firm

Theft of $991 in cash from the office of Marin Motor Sports, 1560 Fourth Street, was reported by San Rafael police today.

The money was taken from a bank bag concealed in a cabinet; checks in the bag were left behind, police said. The theft, reported yesterday by Merle S. Greenblat of 3 Flamingo Lane, San Rafael, apparently took place between Monday night and yesterday morning, police said.

School Organizing Committee Elects

Two members were reelected, and a third former member returned to the Marin County Committee on School District Organization last night.

Representatives from 17 Marin County school districts voted to reelect Roy Parks of Tomales as a Fourth Supervisorial District member; J. R. B. Ellis of Kentfield as at-large member, and William Linn of Novato as a Fifth Supervisorial District member.

Parks was uncontested; Ellis and Paul McMullen of San Rafael had been nominated for the at-large seat. Linn was nominated from the floor at last night's meeting in the county superintendent's offices in Corte Madera, according to Byron Mauzy, assistant county superintendent.

The only school districts not represented at the annual meeting were Bolinas-Stinson, Laguna, Union and Lincoln, Mauzy reported.

Linn was a member of the reorganization committee until it was revised three years ago in line with a U.S. Supreme Court "one man, one vote" ruling. Last night's meeting marked completion of the committee's switch to two members from each of the county's five supervisorial districts, plus one member at large.

Arson Suspect Has Court Hearing Set

A preliminary hearing was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for next Tuesday for William Phillip Nance, 20, of Santa Rosa, who is accused of arson and burglary stemming from the $250,000 fire Oct. 12 at Gnoss Field.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. yesterday also reduced Nance's bail to $5,000.

Three other youths charged with burglary in connection with the fire are in custody in Sonoma County and have not yet been arraigned in Marin.

Officers have said the youths apparently went to the airport to steal gasoline. Upon discovering they had to go inside a building to release a lock on a gas pump, they reportedly stole a tape recorder and a radio and then allegedly set the building on fire to cover fingerprints.

Labor Council Sending Protest Letter To Nixon

The Marin County Labor Council voted last night to send a letter to Washington, "strongly protesting" recent National Labor Relations Board actions in the labor dispute involving the Independent-Journal.

Charles B. Weers, labor council secretary-treasurer, said the letter would be sent to President Richard M. Nixon, California's senators and other lawmakers in Washington.

The letter will appeal the "very arbitrary action" of the NLRB's "doing everything in favor of the I-J and everything against labor," Weers said. "They're the toady of the I-J," he declared.

The NLRB earlier this week dismissed complaints by the striking San Francisco International Typographical Union Local 21 that the I-J had failed to bargain in good faith to settle the strike that began Jan. 7.

In September, an NLRB examiner ruled that I-J mechanical superintendent Gordon Dixon had been illegally disciplined by the union, In August, the examiner ruled that the typographical union and two teamsters' locals were conducting an illegal secondary boycott in trying to halt shipment of I-J newsprint from a San Francisco pier.

The NLRB also is pressing federal court contempt charges against the printers, two Teamster locals and a Longshoreman's local involving recent hit-run picketing and halting of delivery trucks to Marin County businesses.

Engineer Hired For Outfall Line

San Rafael Sanitation District directors yesterday hired consulting engineer John Jenks of Palo alto to design a new outfall line for the Peacock Gap sewage treatment plant.

The engineer's fee will be 10 per cent of construction cost, which is expected to be about $87,500, according to Norris W. Rawles, district administrator.

Rawles told the directors that preliminary plans for the new Francisco Boulevard pumping station will be ready for presentation at the board's Nov. 18 meeting.

Nixon Sets 10-Day Vacation In Florida

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon flies to Key Biscayne, Fla., Friday for 10 days of relaxation and work in the sun, the White House announced Thursday.

Nixon will leave at 12:15 p.m. EST for the Florida White House following a morning National Security Council meeting.

Disruption Profile Given In Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Big, expensive, coeducational universities in the East that emphasize liberal arts and have ROTC programs are most likely to produce campus disorder, a report to the Scranton Commission said Thursday.

The 41-page profile of a school mostly likely to suffer from student violence was drawn from a survey of administrators, faculty and students at 1,890 colleges and universities in all parts of the country.

The report was issued without comment by the staff of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest, appointed by President Nixon June 13 to investigate the causes of student violence. The findings issued Thursday were not included in the commission's general report published last

No Sonority; Auditorium Locked Up

A sour note was struck yesterday when the director and officials of the Marin Symphony visited the Civic Center to inspect accoustics of Veterans Memorial Auditorium. They found themselves locked out.

Contractor Ben Oretsky of Santa Rosa and his superintendent had taken off for the day, locking up behind them the auditorium they are bringing to completion.

Thomas F. Campanella, assistant administrator, said the fault was his for assuming when an appointment was made for the symphony representatives that Oretsky would be on hand yesterday.

Unless Oretsky or his superintendent is present, Campanella said, no one can enter the auditorium. "It's his building until we accept it," said Campanella. "We won't enter without the contractor present and without his permission."

Director Sandor Salgo, who had come from Palo Alto for the occasion, and other symphony officials had to depart leaving untested the accoustics of the auditorium ni which they expect eventually to present concerts.

Campanella said Oretsky's $2 million construction contract is about complete except for installation of 800 seats. Still to be installed before next September's anticipated opening are furnishings and amenities such as curtains, elevators, carpeting, moving wall and another 400 seats.

When everything, including land, landscaping and fees, is taken into account, the project will amount to almost $4 million, according to Campanella.

Tape Deck Stolen

A sereophonic tape player and one tape, worth a total of $104 were stolen from the car of John H. Edmundsen, San Rafael police reported today. The theft was Tuesday night or early yesterday, in the carport of 55 Canal Street, Apt. 5.

Informal Talks Held On Teacher Salaries

Dixie School District teachers who received no cost-of-living pay increase this year met with the district's board last night in what may be a prelude to salary negotiations.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell said the teachers had asked for an informal session with the board to air gripes and salary was the major sore spot.

The approximately 45 teachers who attended complained that new funds from the state allocated to reserves should have gone to pay raises, the superintendent said.

Although salary negotiations normally start in the spring, Campbell said there have been none so far. Teachers are receiving the same pay as last year.

However, Campbell said, they may have been biding their time to see what funds would be available to offset the effects of

During the two-and-one-half-hour session Campbell termed "amicable, surprisingly so" the teachers also said they want more say in local school budgets, smaller classes and more preparation time, Campbell said.

There was also dissatisfaction that a room at Mill Creek School being used as a classroom was not designed as one, he said.

Gold Wire Stolen

A spool f pure gold wire valued at $75 was stolen from Fairhild Semiconductor co. in Northgate Industrial Park, company officials told San Rafael police yesterday. The theft apparently took place between Oct. 30 and Monday, police said.

$1,252 Refund On Water Main

The Petaluma Water Commission yesterday approved a refund of $1,252 to the Petaluma Christian Church for the installation of a water main on Schuman Lane.

The church had been paying $125 per year and, if approved by the city council, will receive the refund for over a 10-year period.

The commission also recommended that the council approve a capital improvement budget of $233,350 for improvements to the city reservoir and water mains. The other section of the capital outlay program included $5,300 for new equipment for the water department.

No Alarm To Sausalito Smog Count

Despite the jam of traffic in Sausalito and the resulting exhaust fumes, the amount of carbon monoxide in the air is not a health hazard, according to a report by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

At the request of City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr and City Councilman Wyman Hicks, district personnel took a carbon monoxide sampling in Sausalito on Oct. 3, a Saturday afternoon and a peak traffic period.

"We sampled under the worst conditions we could find," said Milton Feldstein, director of technical services for the air pollution district. "There wasn't much wind, and a strong inversion (an air condition which holds smog) was present in the Bay Area basin."

During the five hours of sampling, according to Feldstein, the average carbon monoxide concentration was 13 parts per million. Hourly averages ranged from 11 PPM to 18 PPM, while momentary peak concentrations ranged from 21 PPM to 60 PPM.

The technical services director said the Sausalito sampling showed the carbon monoxide levels did not exceed air quality standards recommended by the state Air Resources Board. Current state standard for carbon monoxide is 20 parts per million averaged over eight hours, but the air resources board is considering a tightened standard of 10 PPM averaged over 12 hours or 40 PPM averaged over one hour.

The sampling results will be before the Sausalito City Council when it meets tonight to consider a continuation of a partial parking ban on Bridgeway and several plans for curtailing traffic in the city.

HERE'S A COMPROMISE!

Looking for a home in a top area, with 3 or 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, a fun family room, utility room, level front and rear patios AND a Bay view? Finding that for this type and quality of home the prices are astronomical? Here's the reason this home can be bought so reasonably — highway noise. Most of the problem has been solved, however, by a wrap-around, glass-enclosed deck. Consider it — a minor annoyance in return for so much quality living. $41,900.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE
No. 19625

Superior Court of the State of California, for the County of Marin.

In the Matter of the Estate of KATHERYN P. WILKINS, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on or after December 1, 1970, the undersigned MILES B. HOUCK, as executor of the will of KATHERYN P. WILKINS, deceased, will sell at private sale to the highest net bidder, subject to confirmation by the above-entitled Superior Court, all the right, title, interest and estate of the decedent at the time of her death and all the right, title and interest the estate has, by operation of law or otherwise, acquired other than or in addition to that of the decedent at the time of her death, in and to that certain real property located in the City of Mill Valley, County of Marin, State of California, described as:

Commencing at a point which is the Northeasterly corner of Lot No. 345 as the same is shown on that certain Map entitled "G. N. Cushings Subdivision of Blithedale Map No. 3", filed May 27, 1912 in Map Book 4, page 20, Marin County Records; running thence along the Northerly line of said Lot No. 345 and Lots Nos. 344 and 343, North 41° 16' West as shown on said Subdivision 59.69 feet; thence leaving said line of said Lots and running South 48° 44' West 90 feet; thence South 41° 16' East 40 feet; thence South 48° 44' West 6.635 feet to the Northerly corner of land conveyed by Josephine E. Jones to Elizabeth Schwarz by deed recorded June 23, 1936 in Liber 318 of Official Records of said Marin County, at page 333; thence running along the Northeasterly line of said land so conveyed South 41° 17' East 48.66 feet to the Northwesterly line of Eldridge Avenue as shown on said Map of said Subdivision; thence along said line of said Eldridge Avenue, North 31° 58' East 100 feet to said Easterly corner of said Lot No. 345 and the point of commencement.

Being portion of said Lots Nos. 343, 344 and 345 of said Subdivision.

Subject to the current taxes, convenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights, and rights of way of record.

Bids or offers are invited for the property and must be in writing and may be delivered to the executor at the offices of ANDRESEN & MAYER, Keystone Building, Mill Valley, California 94941, which is the place of business of the executor in this state in all matters pertaining to the estate of said decedent, or may be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court at any time after the first publication of this notice and before the making of the sale.

Terms and conditions of sale: Cash in lawful money of the United States of America; ten percent of the amount bid to accompany the offer and the balance to be paid upon confirmation of sale by the Superior Court. Taxes shall be prorated as of the date of confirmation of sale.

The examination of title, recording of conveyance, and any title insurance policy shall be at the expense of the purchaser or purchasers.

The property herein described is commonly referred to as 39 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley, California. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated: November 2, 1970.

Pacific Is Spanned For 3 Fishermen

MONTEREY (UPI)—Planes and ships combed the Pacific today in a massive search for three crewmen of a fishing boat which sank.

The Coast Guard called in planes and ships from as far as San Diego to search for the three men, believed to have survived the sinking of the 55-foot Siesta early Wednesday.

Another fishing boat, the Edna May, received a radio call from the Siesta off Morro Bay saying its three occupants were taking to a liferaft.

Debris from the Siesta was found later Wednesday by search vessels, but there was no further clue to the occupants of the San Diego based fishing vessel.

Cause of the sinking was not known.

Coast Guard cutters and other ships carried on an extensive search Wednesday on the rough waters, where waves were 10 feet high.

More planes and vessels were on the scene today and were making a coordinated search of 6,000 square miles, stretching from Monterey Bay to Morro Bay on the coast and 60 miles out.

The Coast Guard said it had eight aircraft and four cutters in the search.

Weather conditions improved today, with only five-foot swells, diminishing winds and five miles visibility.

The skipper of the Siesta was identified as Bert Stowall, of National City, Calif., but the other crew members were not identified.

New Fire, Police Chiefs In Vallejo

VALLEJO (UPI) — Vallejo got a new police chief and a new fire chief today.

William R. Garlington, 43, was named to head the police department. He is currently an inspector in the San Diego Police Department.

John C. Baker, 47, was named fire chief. He currently is with the Lompoc, Calif., fire department.

The new chiefs were named by City Manager Donald F. McIntyre.

Fire Chief Harold J. Lindblad and Police Chief Jack Stoltz retired last spring.

Vallejo has a population of about 75,000.

Police Examine Dynamite Sticks

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — Police are examining 40 sticks of dynamite which failed to go off early today when two explosions ripped through a Sheriff's Department compound damaging vehicles being held as evidence in a camper-truck theft ring.

Police Capt. James Dalley today said the 40 sticks were professionally wrapped in four packages of ten sticks each and appeared to have been placed at locatons in the compound near the seven vehicles. Dalley said they had not been ignited.

Four of the campers were damaged in the blast but Sheriff Cleo Dodge said the others could still be used as evidence.

Troop Reduction Planned In Korea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Front-line positions now held by American forces along the border with North Korea probably will be turned over to South Korea when U. S. strength in the country is reduced next year, according to informed administration sources.

The present total of 62,000 U. S. troops in South Korea is to be reduced by about 20,000 before July 1, 1971. One of the two U.S. combat divisions in the country is guarding an eighteen-mile stretch of the 155-mile-long border with North Korea.

Two Hurt In 3-Car Crash

A three-car pileup on Highway 101 on California Park Hill, north of Larkspur yesterday, slightly injured a Novato woman and her son, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Emiko Y. Lewis, 35, of 520 Entrada drive, was treated at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital for minor scrapes. Ralph W. Lewis Jr. was treated for a bump on the head.

Officers said they were riding in a northbound car driven by Ralph W. Lewis Sr., 30, which was involved in a collision with two other cars at 3:15 p.m.

The other drivers, William S. Brotman, 46, of 2009 Willow Drive, Petaluma, and Walter L. Deegan Jr., 37, of 211 Marin Street, San Rafael, were uninjured, the patrol said.

Sierra Club Seeks Reversal On King Resort

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Sierra Club today asked the U.S. Supreme Court to reverse a lower court go-ahead for construction of the $35 million Mineral King recreation development in the High Sierra by Walt Disney Productions.

The club's action kept in effect a court stay preventing federal authorities from issuing construction permits to the Disney interests.

Leland R. Selna Jr., the club's attorney, said the petition for a writ of certiorari was filed with the Supreme Court in Washington. He said it would probably be two or three months before the court decides whether to hear the appeal.

Crime On Rise

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—So far this year there have been 35 robberies, 400 larcenies over $50 and 318 larcenies under $50 at the army's 3,300-acre Ft. San Houston. Lt. Col. H.S. Roby, base provost marshal, disclosed the rising crime rate Thursday, in a base newspaper.

Street People Wanting Voice In Haight Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The people who made Haight-Ashbury a household word want a voice in restoration of the neighborhood.

A contingent of hippies and "street people" noisily disrupted the first meeting of Mayor Joseph Alioto's new committee to restore the Haight Wednesday night.

Calvin Welch, speaking for the street people, introduced a proposal for an elected committee with 75 per cent membership from tenants in the area, "since that percentage of the community is made up of renters."

Defectors' Bodies Washing Ashore

HONG KONG (UPI)—Deep Bay tides washed ashore more bodies of Chinese defectors today, bringing to 30 the number of escapees known to have died in waters near Communist China since the end of September.

The body hunt by the Royal Hong Kong Marine Police came amid a large increase in the number of escapees. Communist Chinese boats joined the search apparently to avoid adverse publicity in the free world.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hardening Of The Arteries Is Mystery Process; Begins Early

Van Dellen

No one knows what makes the arteries harden, but the process begins early in life. The condition has been found in newborns and during autopsies performed upon young soldiers killed in combat. It is for this reason prevention should begin during childhood or the teens. Why wait until the arteries become hard enough to cause heart attacks or strokes!

There are many facets to arteriosclerosis, including exercise, weight, hormones, smoking, heredity, emotional make-up, and cholesterol. Many authorities stress a diet that minimizes the intake of cholesterol. They also believe that parents should cooperate by serving less animal fats, cream, whole milk and no more than four eggs a week .Buy lean cuts of meat and trim away all fat. Use skim milk only and substitute for butter. When cooking, avoid whole milk, cream, and egg yolks. Use more polyunsaturated vegetable oils. Coconut and olive oil have no effect.

DIETARY HABITS are not easy to change. The food industry can be most helpful by altering the fatty acid content of a variety of edibles. But many authorities believe we have no choice.

For example, many ice creams are rich in animal (saturated) fats. Select those that contain vegetable oils and skimmed milk. The skin of chicken, turkey and duck also is fatty. Fried foods, liver and other organ meats should also be restricted. Shellfish ought to be limited. It will not be easy for a growing teen-ager to follow these dietary restrictions, but perhaps some of these suggestions will rub off on others in the home.

MOST OF THE foods mentioned also are low in calories and should help the person maintain normal weight. Green vegetables, fresh fruits, low caloric drinks, diettic desserts and sugar substitutes contribute nothing to the cholesterol level and are not fattening. We must also stress physical fitness at every age because it improves circulation and muscle tone. Fitness also means that a person can exert himself without overtaxing the respiratory and circulatory systems.

Yes, provided it is bothersome enough to invest in X-rays and other tests necessary to uncover the cause. A tendon, muscle or vertebra in the neck may be pressing on the nerves or blood vessels of the arms when sitting in the typing position.

Guilty Plea To Lesser Charge

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A charge of assault with a deadly weapon against Archie (Skeets) Anderson, president of the Sonoma State College Black Students Union, has been dismissed in Sonoma County Superior Court.

Anderson pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of carryng a loaded weapon on a state college campus and Judge Kenneth E. Eymann set sentencing for Nov. 17.

Anderson, 23, had originally been charged with shooting fellow student Larry Stovall, 21, in the shoulder during an argument on campus last April 28. Asst. Dist. Atty. John W. Hawkes asked dismissal of the assault charge because Stovall is no longer a Sonoma State student and has left the area.

Reasoner In Move To ABC-TV

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harry Reasoner, of CBS news, is leaving the network to become New York anchorman of ABC-TV's evening news program, it was learned Wednesday.

Reasoner, who joined CBS in 1956, begins his new assignment Dec. 7, replacing Frank Reynolds who has been named as a special correspondent. Reasoner's resignation from CBS is effective Nov. 14 when his contract expires.

Noted for his dry humor, Reasoner, 47, had been anchorman on the late Sunday CBS evening news program and substituted for Walter Cronkite when he was on vacation or assignment. In addition, he was cohost of CBS's "60 minutes" with Mike Wallace.

In his new job, Reasoner will work with another former CBS newsman, Howard K. Smith, the ABC Washington anchorman. Financial arrangements have not been revealed.

Winner of numerous journalism awards, Reasoner was educated at Stanford University and the University of Minnesota.

TELEVISION REVIEW

She's A Luscious Blonde—In Disguise

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Miss Beth Brickell lives alone high in the hills of Los Angeles, in a lush area known as Benedict Canyon, which is almost as famous for its celebrity residents as for its fire insurance rates.

She has a huge dog who is very friendly and lovable, and who will let almost anyone into the house, doing very little good as a burglar alarm.

It is a nice house, with several fine adornments—spectacular view and a framed diploma showing that the former Millie Elizabeth Brickell, of the University of Arkansas, has done all right for herself in what they used to call Tinseltown, before the tinsel disappered.

She did a two-year stretch as a sexy young mama in the children's show, "Gentle Ben," on CBS-TV with Dennis Weaver, formerly of "Gunsmoke" and more recently of NBC-TV's "McCloud," playing her husband. But that's well behind her now, and a good thing too, because a young lady with her looks and ability, obviously is cut out for more adult and with-it roles.

On her series, she wore her hair short—on CBS-TV's orders because the network wanted her to look more average, which is impossible in her case. In the second season, when she tried to wear her hair longer, the network hollered because she looked so luscious.

Well, goodbye to all that typecasting. She now wears her hair long and blonde and natural, which seems to fit in with her penchant for playing folk songs on the guitar. On this particular occasion, she wore a midi-length gaucho outfit, with boots, and served exotic tea.

She tends her own gardens — literally —and generally avoids Hollywood social life. She was a political science major in college, and did editorial work on newspapers. At night, she studies her craft at school.

"It's so nice to be able to look the way I want to now," she said, in recalling her series experience. "It's nice having long hair. It's so much more feminine and appealing to men."

Her television career has begun to shape up nicely. She recently appeared on the top-rated series "Marcus Welby, M.D.," as Gary Merrill's young fourth wife, a sort of female trophy. The same night, she turned up in the two-hour preview of NBC-TV's new series "San Francisco International Airport," as Pernell Roberts' secretary.

Also this season, she will appear on ABC-TV's police show "Dan August" as a sensitive, frustrated wife; on NBC-TV's western "The Men From Shiloh"; on a two-hour NBC-TV "World Premier" called "The Great Man's Whiskers," about Abe Lincoln; and on "Bonanza," in a role she says is her best ever —that of a pathetic, homely country girl.

"They didn't want me for the 'Bonanza' part," she said. "They didn't think I was the type." In the best Hollywood tradition she went to the Salvation Army, bought a dreadful, dumpy dress for $1.50, put it on, wore no makup, got herself into a pathetic homely mood and went to the "Bonanza" office where, in the best Hollywood tradition, the secretary didn't recognize her. She got the part.

Yellow Ping Pong Balls Better Seen

BRAUNSCHWEIG, GERMANY (GF) — Ping Pong champs and would-be champs in West Germany are now using yellow ping pong balls instead of the traditional white ones.

The reason: scientists say it will improve your game. Yellow can be more easily tracked by the player's eye than white as the ball hurtles back and forth across the table at speeds up to 100 mph.

That, at least, is what color researchers at Braunschweig Technical University say recent tests prove.

The researchers say the human eye picks up light waves in the yellow-green spectral region easier than other colors. Thus this optimal color combination of green ping pong table and yellow ball.

'Smart' Pills No Help To Brain

DUESSELDORF, GERMANY (GF) — A West German scientist has destroyed one of West Germany's most fashionable myths: that "intelligence pills" make you more intelligent.

"They don't", asserted Prof. O. Creutzfeldt of Germany's prestigious "Max Planck Society", a research organization, at a recent medical congress in Duesseldorf, West Germany.

West Germans have long taken regular doses of drugstore preparations containing glutamine, which the makers claim stimulates the brain and improves memory.

Prof. Creutzfieldt has reported that glutamine in human blood doesn't penetrate the brain cells. He says that glutamine, one of the building blocks of albumen found in cheese and other dairy products, is carried by the blood up to the brain-cell walls — but no further.

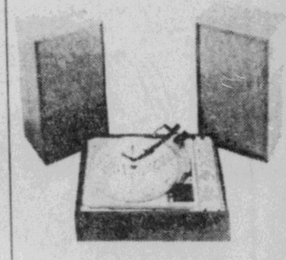
Ambulance Teams To Radio Data

HANOVER, GERMANY (GF) — Ambulance teams hope shortly to cut traffic accident fatalities by using police radio to relay vital data on the patient's condition to nearby hospitals.

Rescue workers will use extra-large vehicles equipped with all necessary aids for on-the-spot emergency treatment. Trained medical personnel will radio a preliminary "diagnosis" ahead to waiting doctors.

The diagnosis could include such data as pulse, respiration, loss of blood, even a rapid electrocardiogram. Hospital doctors will use the same radio wave to initiate first aid measures in the ambulance, thus saving precious time before patient's arrival in the operating room.

This is the "something good" you've been looking for.



Model Twenty-Four

How much do you have to pay for a really good complete stereo music system?

Less than ever before.

The KLH Model Twenty-Four sounds like twice its price. FM stereo tuner, custom-built Garrard record changer with Pickering cartridge and diamond stylus, powerful solid-state amplifier, and two full-range two-speaker systems. The unobtrusive cabinets are oiled walnut. And there are jacks for external equipment and tape recording.

See and hear how little you have to pay for expensive sound.

GOOEY HOMECOMING FUN

"Raggedy Andy" Doug Diego, senior at San Rafael High School, connects safely with a spoonful of chocolate pudding fed him by "Raggedy Ann" Karen Ragan, sophomore, even though both contestants are blindfolded. It wasn't quite as messy as it might have been yesterday as Homecoming week continued at the campus. All students were asked to dress as the doll characters; many of them volunteered for the pudding feat while noon-hour onlookers cheered. The spirit boosting is aimed at tomorrow's 8 p.m. football game, when San Rafael hosts San Marin High School of Novato.

Judge Halts Isolation Of Angela

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal judge Wednesday ordered city officials to put Angela Davis with other prisoners at the Women's House of Detention. She had been kept isolated in a 12-foot-by-10-foot room.

U.S. Circuit Judge Morris E. Lasker ruled that the constitutional rights of the black militant had been violated. He also found that while she had not been treated cruelly in the ordinary meaning of the word, her isolation might be held to constitute "cruel and unusual punishment."

Officials of the prison said she was not in solitary confinement and was kept separate from other prisoners only for her own protection and because she might have a disruptive influence.

The room had hot and cold running water, toilet facilities and a radio.

Miss Davis, a former coinstructor at the University of California at Los Angeles, is charged with buying weapons used in the superior court shootout on Aug. 7 at the Marin Hall of Justice that took four lives.

The Young Women's Christian Association Wednesday, in a "statement of concern," urged that the black revolutionary's constitutional rights be protected.

Tank-Destroying Missile Is Developed By Britain

LONDON (London Express) — Britain has developed a master-missile that can knock-out the heaviest-known tank up to a range of about two-and-a-half miles.

First real details of the weapon — known as "swing-fire" and built by the British Aircraft Corporation — were outlined yesterday.

It was revealed that army infantry units are to be equipped with the "swingfire" tank-killer, latest in a range of all-British cut-rate rocketry.

"Swingfire" is already in service with four British armor regiments in Germany.

Plans to extend its use to infantrymen were disclosed by Col. Douglas Sax, project manager for the "swingfire" project at the ministry of defense and aviation-supply department.

Col. Sax said that "several hundred" test firings had been carried out. There was a "killer" reliability factor of 90 per cent.

"Swingfire" also has what is known to the military as built-in battle-field survivability.

It can be fired from armored vehicles or with the controller some distance away. Actual distances were not disclosed.

Each fired-round costs between $3,800 to $4,300. The tanks it knocks out will probably cost around $250,000.

Sleepy Hollow Gets Restoration Award

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (UPI)—In a nationwide competition, Sleepy Hollow Restorations, Inc., which restored and operates three famous historic sites in the lower Hudson River Valley, has won an award from the Discover America Travel Organization for outstanding success in promoting interest in and travel to its landmarks.

Among the sites for which Sleepy Hollow Restorations won its award was Washington Irving's home, Sunnyside, in Tarrytown.

Woman Injured In Auto Crash

A 22-year-old Larkspur woman was treated yesterday at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael for scrapes and bruises sustained when her car collided with a railroad switch engine in Corte Madera.

Police said today Elizaebth Rigor of 19 Locust Avenue was northbound on Tamal Vista Boulevard when she collided at 2:20 p.m. with the westbound engine at the Northwestern Pacific Railroad crossing.

Police said the woman apparently failed to stop in time to avoid the crash. There were no other injuries.

Ladar To Quit Post As Assistant U.S. Attorney

Attorney Jerrold M. Ladar of Mill Valley, an assistant United States Attorney in San Francisco, has announced he will resign to enter private practice Jan 9.

Ledar, who resides at 30 Keats Drive, has been with the federal office for eight and one-half years, serving the past 20 months as chief of the criminal division.

Ladar said yesterday he will complete cases he is now working on.

A 1960 graduate of Boalt Hall Law School at the University of California, he served as law clerk to U.S. District Judge Albert C. Wollenberg before entering the U.S. Attorney's office.

He is married and the father of two sons, Jeffery, 10, and Jon, 8.

He is also a trustee of the Tamalpais High School District.

Deadline Extension On Scripps' Stock

CINCINNATI (UPI) — U.S. District Court has extended the deadline the U.S. Justice Department gave the E. W. Scripps Co. to divest itself of the 60 per cent stock it holds in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

The original was Nov. 1, but suits in the federal court have delayed the stock sale. Judge David S. Porter Wednesday set a new deadline of Nov. 30.

MARGIN OF VICTORY — Dennis Hextall (22), California Golden Seals' center, backhands the puck into the net over the glove of New York Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin, as Rod Seiling defends. The goal, the Seals' second of the game, proved the winning tally in a 3-1 victory. (UPI Telephoto)

IMPRESSIVE VICTORY

Seals Surprise Rangers

OAKLAND (UPI) — If the California Golden Seals get a few more shots at the New York Rangers, they may not be in the National Hockey League's basement much longer.

Of their two victories and two ties, the Seals have one of each against the tough easterners. They chalked up their second win of the campaign Wednesday night with a 3-1 verdict over the Rangers.

Opening period goals by Gary Jarrett and Dennis Hextall off a surprised Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin paved the way for the California triumph. Gary Croteau, assisted by defenseman Ron Stackhouse, knocked in the third goal in the middle period to wrap up the Seals' scoring.

Over the first 40 minutes, the Seals peppered the New York nets for 24 shots, compared to only 15 by the Rangers against Gary Smith.

Smith finally let one through in the third period when rookie Jack Egers knocked in a 20-foot screen shot.

Jarret's goal came at the 3:05 mark and Hextall followed with a rebound shot six minutes later. Croteau's goal, a 30-footer, came at the 9:17 mark of the middle period.

The Seals return to the ice Friday night, hosting the Toronto Maple Leafs at the Oakland Arena.

Mullins Saves His Best For One Of Best Teams

35 Points Against Bullets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Jeff Mullins saved his best game of the year for one of the best teams in the National Basketball Association.

The veteran 6-4 guard from Duke poured in 35 points, including 12 in the final period, to pace the San Francisco Warriors to a 111-100 win over the Baltimore Bullets before 2,591 at the Cow Palace Wednesday night. Thus far this season, the Warriors are 2-0 against the Bullets who top the East's Central Division.

AGGRESSIVE

"I was more aggressive tonight," said Mullins. "We do not have great one-on-one individuals so we have to play more of a team game. As a result, I'm trying to do more without the ball."

But when he had the ball he was murder.

Mullins hit on 15 of 28 from the field and converted all five of his free throws. In addition, he set up six other baskets and grabbed eight rebounds for his finest performance of the young season.

PRAISE

"Jeff has been doing a great job for us all season," said coach Al Attles. "He really works on defense and still gives you a good game on offense. Jeff has sacrificed his scoring and has worked hard for the team."

It was a fine night for the entire Warriors backcourt team.

Rookie guard Nick Jones chipped in with 13 points and four assists while Fritz Williams added 10 points and contributed nine assists.

Mullins, Jones and Williams accounted for 20 of San Francisco's 28 points in the third period to boost the Warriors into an 83-73 lead.

RALLY

But Baltimore rallied in the final period to close the gap to 87-85 before Mullins took over and personally outscored the Bullets 8-4 in a three-minute span to give the Warriors an insurmountable 95-89 lead.

Earl Monroe topped the Bullets with 30 points.

The Warriors, now 4-6, play the Trail Blazers at Portland Friday before hosting the San Diego Rockets Saturday night at the Civic Auditorium.

READY TO PLAY — Stephen Graves of Novato is a man who is always ready to play a set or two of tennis. Age doesn't seem to slow this man down, and he's young at 72. (Independent-Journal photo)

TENNIS AT 72

Novato Man Doesn't Let Age Stop Him In Sports

By RALPH CHATOIAN

When Stephen Graves of Novato isn't playing tennis you can probably catch him playing handball, squash, or maybe jaunting along on a 10-mile hike.

It doesn't sound like a normal schedule for a 72-year-old man, but Graves is far from average.

A retired YMCA secretary, Graves made it all the way to the finals of the 1970 National Seniors Hard Court Tennis tournament in the 70 and older division. He lost to Carl Bush of Downey, Los Angeles County, in the finals of the tourney held last month in Las Vegas, Nev.

How much tennis does Graves play?

"I get in as much as I can," he said with a twinkle in his eyes. "If I can find someone to play tennis with, I play."

A tennis player since age 13, Graves was a secretary for the YMCA in Cleveland, Ohio, for 42 years, a title which has been changed to director, which describes the job much better. In 1963 he retired and moved west with wife Jessie to be near three of his four children. He has a son living in Novato and daughters living in Fairfax and San Leandro. Another son lives in Evanston, Ill.

"Now we do a lot of baby sitting with our grandchildren," he smiled. "We have a total of nine grandchildren and six of them live in the Bay Area."

A native of Wakefield, Mass., the Connecticut-reared Graves attended Dartmouth University in New Hampshire.

"I just missed making the tennis team there," he chuckled, "and the guy who beat me out lives in Spokane, Wash., now. I saw him last June at our 50th class reunion at Dartmouth. Yep, the Class of '20."

The trip back East to Dartmouth was his annual "long trip" by camper truck. He and his wife go across country every year or so, and in the last few years visited Florida and British Columbia. "We have a lot of relatives in New England we like to visit," he said.

Graves likes to be called an "enthusiastic" tennis player. "I'm not that good a player, but I just love to play it." He usually plays three to five times a week during the summer. He also helps coach some of the wives of Hamilton Air Force Base personnel and is a member of the Novato Tennis Club.

This is really his first year of full retirement, as he and his wife have worked at Humboldt State Park near Eureka as park aides until this year.

"So I'm really getting in a lot of tennis. I've probably played more tennis this year than at any time in the last 20 years."

A member of the Sierra Club, Graves is also active in conservation work. An avid hiker, he leads hiking parties of groups of men and women half his age. He climbed Mount Whitney last year and has hiked Long's Peak outside Denver, Colo.

During the 30's it was mostly squash for Graves; enough, in fact, to earn him the nickname "Squash." At one time he was the Eastern Connecticut doubles champ. He's now captaining a squash team at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Stephen Graves is proof positive that you're only as old as you feel. At 72, he's a very young man.

Giants Take City Of S.F. To Court Over Surcharge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Giants and the city of San Francisco apparently have ended their love affair.

The Giants on Wednesday filed a breach of contract suit against the city in superior court, seeking an injunction against imposition of a surcharge.

The City's Board of Supervisors instituted a 50 cent surcharge last week on every ticket sold to Candlestick Park, home of the baseball club, in an effort to raise about a half million dollars a year toward defraying a $16.1 renovation job on the 10-year-old park.

The Giants cried "foul" at the time and then made good on a threat to take the city to the courts to settle the issue.

The Giants claim the renovation of Candlestick is for the benefit of the football 49ers, who move into the park next fall. They claim adding a surcharge on tickets to their baseball games in effect will have baseball fans paying for a football convenience.

Also, the Giants claim that in their lease with the city for Candlestick, signed in 1958 and running for 35 years, no change can be made "injurious" to the ball club without its approval.

There was no immediate word from city officials on the suit.

Presumably, a court hearing will be set for an early date.

All Chips On Table For Preps

All the chips will be on the table in the Marin County Athletic League football race tomorrow night, when the Terra Linda High School Trojans and San Rafael Bulldogs meet for the championship at San Rafael High School.

A standing-room-only crowd of 4,000 is expected for the game between the league's only undefeated teams, and radio station KTIM (100.9 FM) will broadcast the contest live, beginning at the 8 o'clock kickoff.

Two MCAL games will be played Saturday; San Marin meets Redwood in Larkspur, and Tamalpais is at Novato, both games starting at 1:30 p.m.

In action outside the MCAL involving Marin and Sonoma County high schools, Petaluma hosts Ukiah and Rancho Cotate is at Sonoma High for Friday night games, while on Saturday, Marin Catholic hosts Justin of Napa at 2 p.m. and San Rafael Military Academy travels to Merced for a game with Our Lady of Mercy at 8 p.m.

College action finds the College of Marin in San Pablo Friday night at 8 o'clock for a contest with Contra Costa College, and Sonoma State College journeys to Thousand Oaks in Southern California for a Saturday afternoon engagement with California Lutheran College.

Raiders' Switch Shows Profits

OAKLAND (UPI) —In a switch, it will be 185-pound Dave Grayson covering 240-pound Milt Marin when the Oakland Raiders host the Cleveland Browns Sunday.

With opposing teams flanking a running back outside the wide receiver against Oakland in earlier games, The Raiders revealed Wednesday they made an adjustment which helped salvage a 17-17 tie against Kansas City last week.

Instead of having safety George Atkinson covering the tight end as he does in normal situations, he handled the flanked out running back. That gave free safety Grayson a chance to cover his natural territory which is in the middle.

As a free safety, Grayson, a perennial All-Pro, checked the running back and helped others in the defensive backfield. But when Kansas City moved the running back outside and took away Grayson's effectiveness, the Raiders decided to make the flip-flop change.

Offensive day is today for the Raiders. And it is expected that Hewritt Nixon, the AFC's second rusher with 500 yards, will don pads for the session.

He ran some Wednesday but sat out contact drills.

Line Shuttle Paying Off For 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers may start a new National Football League trend with their defensive line shuttle system.

And it's working so coach Dick Nolan figures he'll stick with it.

The starting lineup Sunday against the Chicago Bears will have Bill Belk and Tommy Hart at the ends and Charley Krueger and Roland Lakes tackles.

In automatic passing situations, rookie Cedrick Hardman will take over for Belk and Earl Edwards for Lakes. Then on short yardage plays or at the goal line, tackles Edwards and Sam Silas will replace ends Belk and Hart.

Critics say constant changing has more drawbacks than staying with a set unit but defensive line coach Paul Wiggin disagrees.

"When people work alongside each other play after play, game after game, they develop an instinct for helping each other. Most good defensive lines operate this way," Wiggin said Wednesday.

The 49ers shuttle system is dictated by the talent, and it insures fresh defenders against tiring offensive lines.

Rotation Time For Cal Bears

BERKELEY (UPI) —It was rotation time Wednesday at the California Bears' workout.

Coach Ray Willsey, his crew bogged down by injuries to two linebackers, and a tackle, moved defensive end Steve Reece to linebacker, Tom Grieb from tackle to defensive end and John Madaris from guard to tackle.

Sharon Walsh Moves Into Quarterfinals

I-J Special Report

TORQUAY, England — United States junior champion Sharon Walsh of San Rafael yesterday defeated 20-year-old Lindsay Beaven of England to move into the quarterfinals of the women's singles at the Dewar Cup indoor tennis tournament in Torquay, England.

Miss Walsh, 18, took the first set easily, 6-2 and finally won the second, 9-7 after wasting three match points at 5-4 when she hit three successive balls into the net.

In the men's singles, Tom Gorman of Seattle cruised into the quarterfinals with a 6-4, 6-0 win over England's Chris Bovett. Gorman, second-seeded, dropped his serve in the seventh game of the first set to trail 4-3, but then denied the Briton another game win for the rest of the third round match.

Grid Star Suspended For Missing Practice

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—The University of Oregon will play unbeaten Air Force Saturday without brilliant Bobby Moore, suspended by his coach for missing practice.

Moore was arrested Tuesday night in Portland, Ore., along with Charles Earl Parker, 24, Portland, on a charge of entering a motor vehicle with intent to steal. They were released without bail and are scheduled to return to court next Tuesday for a preliminary hearing.

Coach Jerry Frei announced the suspension after talking to Moore on his return from Portland Wednesday. The coach said he had allowed Moore to go to Portland to see his wife and baby but that the junior halfback was supposed to report to practice Monday.

"This is the first time since Moore has been a member of the Oregon football team that he has missed practice," said Frei.

Moore, a UPI All-Coast performer last season, has been even more valuable to the Ducks this time around. He has galloped for 708 yards in eight games while his team has piled up a surprising 5-3 record, including a win over USC.

Of all the top running backs in the nation, Moore is undoubtedly the best pass catcher. He has caught 35 passes for 568 yards. He dominates Pacific Eight scoring statistics with 66 points scored.

Sports Car Club Announces Schedule

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — The Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) Wednesday announced a 16-race schedule for the seventh annual American Road Race of Champions at Road Atlanta Nov. 28-29.

CLEVELAND BROWNS GET A WARNING

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Cleveland Browns owner Art Modell said Wednesday some of the Browns had better start performing up to their potential or they won't be with the team next year.

"There is no question in my mind that a number of players have not been playing up to their full potential," said Modell. "If those players would only perform nearly as good as they said they were at contract time, we might be in better shape than at the present.

"In fact, if things don't improve some players won't be concerned next year with contract problems," said Modell.

The Browns were beaten last Sunday by the San Diego Chargers and will meet the Oakland Raiders this week.

Choice natural grains. Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.

Raiders' Chester Fantastic Rookie

Oakland's Raymond Chester is heading like a thunderbolt for rookie of the year honors in the American Football Conference. The mammoth tight end from Morgan State, who has caught a touchdown pass in every league game this year, including five in his last two games, moved into a tie with Baltimore's Ed Hinton this week for the conference pass-catching lead with 30 receptions.

The Western Division-leading Raiders continue also to provide the conference passing leader, and the second best rusher. Quarterback Daryle Lamonica is first in completions, yards and touchdowns, and leads Buffalo's Dennis Shaw in the complicated overall passing rating by 4½ points.

Fullback Hewritt Dixon, who missed most of last Sunday's game against Kansas City with bruised ribs, continues in the No. 2 spot among rushers, and leads in average yards per carry with 5.4. Floyd Little of Denver retains his lead with 558 yards.

Brodie Still Top Passer

San Francisco 49ers' John Brodie continues to lead the National Football Conference passers, according to statistics released out of New York by United Press International.

Brodie has gained 1,455 yards and has passed for 10 touchdowns. His favorite target, Gene Washington, was inactive last week with a hamstring pull and slipped to third in the pass catching department, 28 receptions to trail Charlie Taylor of Washington who has caught 31.

San Francisco kicker Bruce Gossett, scoring eight field goals in the past two weeks, has jumped into the No. 3 spot in scoring, a total of 61 points compared to Minnesota's Fred Cox who has 70.

Top rusher in the conference is Larry Brown of Washington, 596 yards.

West's Night In National Hockey Loop

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The West had it all over the East in the National Hockey League Wednesday night.

Except for Montreal's 4-3 victory over Minnesota, West Division teams beat their East Division counterparts in the remaining NHL contests. Chicago dumped Detroit 4-2, Los Angeles edged Toronto 3-2, California trimmed New York 3-1 and Pittsburgh routed Vancouver 8-3.

The Canadiens looked like they had a breeze against Minnesota, skating out to a 3-0 lead before the North Stars rallied with three goals in the final period.

Mickey Redmond, who had assisted on two of Montreal's first three goals, scored what proved to be the deciding marker at 8:07 of the third period. Danny Grant scored twice for the North Stars but it was not enough as Montreal's victory moved the Canadiens into a tie for first place in the East with New York and Boston.

Record Time In Mexican Auto Race

LA PAZ, Mexico (UPI)—Vic Wilson and Drino Miller of Costa Mesa, Calif., won the Baja 1,000 road race in the record time of 16 hours, 7 minutes, officials announced today.

Steve Rieman and Chuck Andrade of Los Angels were second in 17 hours and 24 minutes.

Both top teams drove Volkswagen dune buggies. The record of 20 hours, 38 minutes was set in 1968 by Larry Bergquist and Gary Preston on a motorcycle.

The Ford Bronco driven by Early leader Parnelli Jones of Palos Verdes, Calif., and Bill Stroppe of Long Beach, Calif., broke down 130 miles from the finish of the 832-mile race. (See pre-race picture, page 32.)

Winners of the various classes were not expected to be determined until Friday.

Three Stanford Starters Hurt

STANFORD (UPI) —The Stanford Indians, nearest they've been to the Rose Bowl in 18 years, may go into Saturday's clincher against Washington without three starters.

As his team installed its game plan for the Huskies Wednesday, coach John Ralston revealed that linebacker Jeff Siemon and offensive tackle Steve Jubb are "questionable."

Siemon has a bad thigh bruise and Jubb is laid up in the infirmary with a head cold and a concussion.

The third starter is split end Demea Washington, who is still troubled by a pulled hamstring but was out jogging Wednesday.

Giants Owner Likes Team's Rookie Crop

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Owner Horace Stoneham of the San Francisco Giants isn't pleased with what the city is trying to do to him, but he's more than satisfied with next year's crop of rookies.

"We will have the greatest crop of young players in spring training camp next year that we've had since 1958," Stoneham said Wednesday. "Our practice always has been not to rush young kids along too fast. But now . . . I don't know. Some of these news kids just might make it next season."

Then he started rattling off the prospects—Dave Kingman, Chris Speier, Ed Goodson and Steve Ontiveros. Of the latter, Stoneham enthused, "Wait 'til you see him."

He got so carried away that he neglected to name his pitching hopefuls. But he did say some of the hurlers in the Arizona Instructional League have impressed both him and manager Charlie Fox. "The kids throw nothing but strikes," he said.

Kingman, a towering first-baseman and shortstop Speier were among eight non-roster players invited to the big club's spring training camp.

The others are pitchers Steve Stone, Steve Kokor, Randy Moffitt, Jim Barr and Jim Johnson, who saw some duty with the Giants last season, and catcher Mike Sadek.

Washington Ace QB In Bed With A Cold

SEATTLE (UPI) —Sonny Sixkiller, Washington's record-breaking quarterback, spent Wednesday in the bed trying to vaporize a bad cold away.

But the chances are that even if he starts against Stanford Saturday, he will not play much of the game.

Greg Collins, who earned player-of-the-week honors filling in for Sixkiller in last week's game against Oregon has moved up in practice to the No. 1 spot.

"Yes, certainly there is a possibility Sixkiller will start," Jim Owens, Huskies' head coach, said.

"We will give Sonny a good workout tomorrow (Thursday) and Friday," Owens said. "That will make up for time he missed."

Sixkiller, for the second straight week, leads the nation in passing based on the average number of completions per game.

Bonavena Tending To Money Details

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Argentine heavyweight champion Oscar Bonavena will fly to New York tonight to personally tend to details of his forthcoming fight with Cassius Clay on Dec. 7.

Bonavena said he will remain in New York for a few days only to discuss television rights to the Madison Square Garden bout.

He said he will return to Buenos Aires to continue training for the Clay match.

Clay-Bonavena Bout Set Dec. 7

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cassius Clay will meet Argentine Oscar Bonavena in Madison Square Garden on Dec. 7 as the deposed champion's second step to regaining the heavyweight title.

Clay's last title bout was in the Garden on March 22, 1967, and only a few months after that fight he was stripped of the title and banned from boxing. Only last month, the 28-year-old Clay made a successful comeback step by stopping Jerry Quarry in three rounds in Atlanta.

Bonavena, 28, is currently the No. 1 contender and last week he knocked out Luis Pires as a tuneup for Clay. The Argentine's main distinction, however, is that he went 25 rounds in losing two decisions to Clay's successor, Joe Frazier. He also has beaten George Chuvalo, Zora Folley, Karl Mildenberger and Leotis Martin.

"I'll start training in about a week," said Clay from his home in Philadelphia. "I just want to keep busy."

Clay's victory over Quarry, also a top contender, boosted his record to 30 consecutive victories, including 24 kayoes. Both the Quarry and Bonavena bouts are expected to be no more than tuneups for a title fight, but unbeaten Frazier must first defend against light heavy champion Bob Foster in Detroit on Nov. 18.

Bonavena has 46 victories, including 38 kayoes, against six losses and one draw.

Defensive Signals Can Foul Offense

Frank Nunley calls defensive signals for the 's whose loyal football fans admire the way the dle linebacker goes about his job. Occasionally ley will bark an audible at the line of scrimmage hange a call made in the defensive huddle. That pens when he spots something in an enemy of- e.

nley's commands are crisp confined to simple code s which can send his fellow ackers one way, the line her and the secondary in or . He isn't a chatterbox at line of scrimmage. In fact, onal Football League rules make it mandatory for de- ive captain to keep silent e a quarterback is in his nce count of offensive sig-ill George, for years defen- captain of the Bears, was a ster jammer. He was the talkative man in Wrigley ld, home of the Bears, or erever they went. His defen- calls sounded like an ming alert on an approach- storm — lightning, thunder, clone, blizzard.

UT IT WASN'T always that in the NFL. Up until a cou- of years ago, the Chicago rs exploited the loophole in rules and, under the guise of ing defensive signals, ld jam offensive signals.

FROM TIME to time a range word would creep into orge's code, such as the time kept shouting "Mutt" in a me against the Rams in 1960. his disconcerted the Rams nsiderably because their uarterback in 1960 was Bill ade and Wade always sent his arn into a run or pass pattern ith the word "Hut."

The Rams protested after their 1960 "Mutt-and-Hut" loss to the Bears, claiming they were continually penalized for being in motion before the ball was snapped because "Mutt" sounded too much like "Hut."

In 1966 George followed George Allen from the Bears to the Rams and the Rams became the most talkative team in the league. By this time all NFL teams were squawking to Pete Rozelle about such tactics. The commissioner finally muzzled defensive captians in 1968.

GAME OFFICIALS, powerless to prevent signal jamming prior to 1968, now are empowered to impose 15-yard penalties for unsportsmanlike conduct on talkative defensive captains.

Thus, when the 49ers meet the Bears Sunday in Wrigley Field they won't have to worry about John Brodie's signals being jammed. And Wrigley Field's clock should not cause them any concern either since it no longer is under control of George Halas.

BUT THE 49ERS shouldn't permit the elimination of such worrisome Wrigley Field distractions to lull them into any pre-game complacency. With or without distractions, the Bears always are tough in the friendly confines of Wrigley Field.

COLLEGE NOTES

Conference Change Due For Marin

By DAVID EINSTEIN

In 1968, as part of a general Northern California, College of Marin left the Golden Valley conference to join a new interscholastic athletic league — the Camino Norte Conference.

Now, just three years later, Marin is trying like mad to get out of the CNC. For while Marin's enrollment has grown moderately, other schools in the league — especially DeAnza of Cupertino and West Valley of Campbell — have experienced tremendous growth. By numbers alone, the Kentfield school is no longer in the same class as these teams.

Tar football coach Dick Read, whose team is 0-3 this year in CNC play, said yesterday that plans are under way to establish yet another league, perhaps as soon as 1972, that will include Marin, Solano of Vallejo, Santa Rosa (all currently in the CNC), Ohlone of Fremont, Alameda and Napa.

Read points to another problem that has prevented him from fielding a first class team this year. He finds that, after three years of Pop Warner and four in high school, boys just get tired of football, and don't want to play any longer.

According to Read there must be close to a dozen students at Marin who could really have helped the Tars this year, but they chose not to play.

ONE TAR TEAM that isn't having any trouble is Tony Bailey's cross country squad, which is now 4-0 in conference meets after dumping Skyline in Oakland last week, 19-40. In that one, Marin's Don Makela set his second course record of the season.

The Tars will face their toughest opposition of the season tomorrow when they take on West Valley in Campbell. The Vikings, according to Bailey, are one of the five best teams in Northern California, and he says, "We don't think it's impossible for us to win, but we'll have to get a lot of breaks."

Makela will get a chance to avenge his only loss of the season against Lester DeVoe, who edged him out for first place in the Sacramento Invitational last month. Neither Makela nor DeVoe has lost a dual meet this season.

SPEAKING OF top runners, former Tar great George Stewart, who won both the mile and two mile in the 1969 Northern California junior college track finals, is making quite a name for himself at Oklahoma State.

Last month George won the Cowboys' Invitational Cross Country meet, covering the four-mile course in 19:16.2. Among the runners he beat were his own coach, Olympic 1500-meter runner Tom Von Ruden, and international distance ace Rex Maddaford.

Champion Race At Bel Marin

The race for champion sailor for those under 17 years of age will be held at 10 a.m., Sunday in the lagoon of Bel Marin Keys, sponsored by the Bel Marin Keys Yacht Club.

The races were started last Sunday, but the wind died down and the run-off race could not be run, said publicity chairman Joan Wrightsman.

The winners and their boats from last Sunday's races who will compete for the championship are: Mark Buetzow, Blue Buoy; Jeff Osterlund, El Toro; Joan Tetu, Sunfish and David Evans, Coronado 15.

NBA ROUNDUP

Best Effort, But Cavaliers Lose

By United Press International

The Cleveland Cavaliers came close, but not close enough.

The Cavaliers, still looking for their first victory ever in the National Basketball Association, led the Milwaukee Bucks by 12 points midway through the third quarter Wednesday night. The Bucks then outscored Cleveland 21-6 to take a 84-81 lead into the final period.

The Cavaliers managed to stay close and had a 96-95 lead with 4:58 left to play before Bob Dandridge pumped in four points in the next 20 seconds of play. Milwaukee remained in front the rest of the way and recorded a 110-108 triumph for its sixth victory in seven games while the Cavaliers suffered their 12th loss.

Lew Alcindor did most of the damage for the Bucks, scoring 53 points, 20 of them in the first quarter. Dandridge finished with 24 and Jon McGlocklin had 15 as the Bucks played without Oscar Robertson who was sidelined with a pulled groin muscle. Rookie John Johnson again paced the Cavaliers with 27 points but it was Johnson who missed a jump shot from the corner with six seconds left that could have sent the game into overtime.

Elsewhere in the NBA, New York downed San Diego 109-100, Detroit beat Atlanta 117-105, San Francisco topped Baltimore 111-100, Boston edged Philadelphia 115-113, Phoenix whipped Cincinnati 133-115, and Seattle romped past Buffalo 126-101.

New York posted its seventh straight victory and 11th in 13 games by beating San Diego. Walt Frazier scored 25 points and Mike Riordan had 24 for the Knicks who forced 24 San Diego turnovers. San Diego closed to within 68-65 midway through the third quarter before Frazier hit on a 15-foot jump shot, stole the in-bounds pass and scored on a lay-up to quickly increase New York's lead to 72-65. Stu Lantz led the Rockets with 28 points.

Detroit, the surprise team, upped its record to 11-1 thanks to a spurt of nine straight points in the fourth quarter which pulled the Pistons safely ahead of rallying Atlanta. Dave Bing paced the Pistons with 25 points and Jimmy Walker had 19 while Lou Hudson topped the Hawks with 21.

Bears Tight End Out For Season

CHICAGO (UPI)—Tight end im Hester will miss the rest of he season due to an injured atellar tendon in his rgiht nee, the Chicago Bears announced Wednesday.

Hester, obtained from New Orleans in an off-season trade or Lloyd Phillips, has appeared n three games with the Bears. He originally injured the knee n pre-season Bears workouts.

Dr. Theodore Fox, Bears club physician, said Hester's knee would be placed in a cast Saturday and that approximately two weeks later surgery would be necessary.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

If bending gets to be too much trouble, you'll soon pay for it in lower scores. It is necessary to crouch lower with each step, so that when you reach he foul line you are able to set the ball on the lane with just a slight bump. Bending requires you to use your muscles more. But what's wrong with that?

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Nov. 5, the 309th day of 1970.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio.

On this day in history:

In 1733 German-born publisher John Peter Zenger began printing the newspaper New York Weekly Journal.

In 1911 Galbraith Rogers completed the first American transcontinental flight. It took him 49 days to fly from New York City to Pasadena, Calif.

In 1940 President Franklin Roosevelt was elected to an unprecedented third term.

In 1955 Austria opened the reconstructed Vienna State Opera House and formally celebrated her liberation form 17 years of occupation.

A thought for today: British writer William McFee said, "Responsibility's like a string that we can see only the middle of. Both ends are out of sight."

Apollo 14 Moonship Mounted For Launch

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Apollo 14 moonship has been mounted on its Saturn 5 rocket and the whole assembly will be moved from the Saturn's hangar to the launch pad next Monday.

The three-section spacecraft was moved from the manned spacecraft operations building to the vehicle assembly building Wednesday. Apollo 14 astronauts Alan B. Shepard, Stuart A. Roosa and Edgar D. Mitchell are scheduled for launch to the moon Jan. 31.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

'Second Hand Low . . .' A Lovely Old Tune, But Words Are Out Of Date

If you were brought up properly with a deck of cards in your mouth (who wants a silver spoon?) you were rocked to sleep with the old lullaby that goes: "Second hand low, third hand high, fourth hand win the trick if you can." Lovely old tune, but the words are out of date. If you followed the old lullaby in today's hand, your partner might find a painful way to rock you to sleep.

PUTS UP QUEEN

West leads the six of spades, and East puts up the queen. Nothing unusual about East's play: he played third hand high. But South must not win the trick even though he is fourth hand.

If South does win the first spade trick with the king, he must try the diamond finesse, losing to East's king. Back comes the nine of spades, which wins the trick. Then another spade allows West to defeat the contract with the rest of his long suit.

NOT ENOUGH

It is not enough for South to refuse the first spade trick. If East then leads the nine of spades at the second trick, South must play low once more.

If South plays the jack of spades at the second trick, West refuses the trick. East gets in with the king of diamonds to lead his last spade, and then West takes the rest of the spades.

To make sure of his contract South must play a low spade at the first trick and another low spade at the second trick. West can take the third spade with the ace, but then communication between the defenders breaks down. When East gets in with the king of diamonds he cannot lead a spade, nor can he get to his partner's hand with any other suit.

ANSWER: Bid 2 no-trump. This promises eight points, or a weak nine points, and invites partner to go on to game if he has more than the bare minimum of 16 points.

New Disposal Plans Ordered

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Regional Water Quality Control Board told two companies Wednesday to produce new methods of disposing of industrial wastes from their San Francisco Bay Area plants.

Wastes from the U. S. Steel Co. plant at Pittsburg and the Standard Oil Co. refinery in Richmond are barged out onto the Pacific Ocean and dumped southwest of the Farallone Islands.

State Fish and Game Commission employees say that may have an adverse effect on the crab harvest.

Board members asked the two companies to submit replacement plans by Nov. 24.

Recovery Prospects Up For McDermott

By ROGER E. SPEAR

. I am interested in your nion of J. Ray McDermott the long term. Income is a factor. — C. K.

J. Ray McDermott is a inant factor in the engineer- and construction of fixed- oil drilling platforms and is a growing factor in under- er pipeline installations. npany compiled an impres- growth record from 1964- 3. However, this uptrend was rrupted in fiscal 1970, re- ting slowdowns in construc- activity in the Persian Gulf Gulf of Mexcio.

oth areas are important con- utors to McDermott's prof- and the reduced level of rk in these areas may contin- into fiscal 1971. In fact, for first fiscal quarter ended ne, sales declined 2.7 per cent d earnings tumbled 34 per nt. Although intermediate ospects for the firm's offshore tivities are clouded, the long- nge outlook remains favora- e.

McDermott's position in sev- al high-potential areas of ex- oration, the possibility of a w auction for Gulf of Mexico easeholds in mid-December, lus the optimistic forecast for e industry in general all en- nce the stock's recovery pros- ects.

Q. I would appreciate your observations on Guardian Chemical, traded OTC. The dividend was cut drastically and shares are well below my purchase price. — A. W.

A. On July 15, 1970, Guardian Chemical paid 2 cents a share, the same amount it has distrib- uted annually since 1962. Earn- ings as well have remained con- stant, with 3 cents a share being reported in each of the last six years, including the year ended March 31, 1970.

Until the last fiscal year, when sales were flat at $1.01 million, sales had shown some annual improvement. Finances at the fiscal year end were sound, current asset ratio was 4.5-to-1 and long-term debt stood at $40,561.

Of the 1.4 million common shares outstanding, 35 per cent are owned by United Internation- al Research. Speculative in- terest in these shares centers on the company's research with its cancer fighting chemical Iodo- cide. Other products include two urological drugs, an oil spill despersant and cosmetic prod- ucts. I see no reason to sell at this level.

3 Auto Makers Report Sales Up

DETROIT (UPI) — Although three of the major auto builders reported substantial increases in new car sales for October, the big four's combined sales fell 199,118 cars behind the same month of last year because of the strike at General Motors.

Chrysler Corp. said its October sales were the best of any month in its history. Ford Motor Co. said it had the second best month in its history and American Motors Corp. reported its best month in five years.

But G.M., shut down by a United Auto Workers strike for the past seven weeks, said its new passenger cars in the United States slipped from 424,807 in October, 1969, to 198,145 last month.

Agreement Reached On Algerian Claims

NEW YORK (UPI) — Atlantic Richfield Co. has reported its subsidiary, Sinclair Mediterranean Petroleum Co., has reached agreement with Algeria and Sonatrach, the state-owned oil company, for settlement of outstanding claims.

Financial terms were not disclosed. Atlantic Richfield said the agreement includes the release of claims by Sinclair Mediterranean against Sonatrach in connection with the take over of Sinclair Mediterranean's operations and revenues in June, 1967.

Price Hike

AKRON (UPI) — General Tire & Rubber Co.'s plastics division will raise prices of urethane foam products 5 per cent or more on shipments starting Dec. 1.

GM Concern Slows Down Stock Action

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market eased toward the close today in featureless trading.

Concern over the seven-week-old strike against General Motors Corp. seemed to offset some of the optimism stemming from hopes that the Federal Reserve's discount rate and prime bank rates will be reduced.

Shortly before the final bell, declines were leading advances, 860 to 541, but the Dow Jones Industrial Average was up 0.75 at 771.56.

Turnover exceeded 10,000,000 shares, down from 12,180,000 shares traded Wednesday.

Closing prices included: Am T & T 44 3-4 off 1-8; Beth St 21 off 1-8; Chrysler 25 7-8 off 3-8; Dupont 122 3-4 up 1-2; Ford 51 1-8 off 1-4; Gen El 86 7-8 off 1; Gen Motors 73 up 7-8 and So Pac 30 7-8 off 1-4.

Last Friday, both sides in the GM dispute clamped a news blackout on negotiations, traditionally a sign that hard, final bargaining is underway.

Early Thursday, an agreement was reached on a plant contract at Fisher Body plant No. 1 in Flint, Mich., but little progress was reported in main table negotiations.

Prices of automotive issues moved narrowly and on both sides of previous closings.

Royal Dutch Petroleum and Telex Corp. were among the day's most active issues as a result of large block transactions.

Prices were weak in quiet trading on the American Stock Exchange.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Fast Growing Lithograph Firm Moving Offices To San Rafael

A business that opened only a little over a year ago in Corte Madera has had to expand to larger quarters in San Rafael.

Spencer-Phillips and Green Photographic Reproductions, formerly at 510-B Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera has brought its fast growing lithograph operations to 70 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, where it has leased through John Hourihan of Grubb and Ellis Co. four times the space it had before.

Early last year Christopher Spencer-Phillips and Robert Green, both Corte Madera residents, were working for a San Francisco advertising agency and concluding that they were not getting anywhere. They took a flyer on their own in lithographing one picture and this started them in a part-time business. After six months work they were able to set up their Corte Madera shop and devote all their time to it.

Today their business involves both custom lithograph work for several large accounts and reproducing material of their own selection which is sold widely throughout California and in other parts of the United States by a full-time sales staff.

ANOTHER NEW SAN RAFAEL OPENING, which should take place by the middle of the month and also involving a Hourihan lease transaction, is that of Varner Supplies, new business of Carroll Varner of Novato.

He will be engaged in wholesale plumbing, heating, refrigeration, air conditioning, irrigation and swimming pool supplies and will sell mainly to licensed contractors, covering the entire North Bay area. Eventually he expects to employ a staff of five or six persons.

Varner has been in this type of business for the past 16 years with J. G. MacPhee and Co., San Rafael.

NEWLY OPENED at 100 Loch Lomond Drive, San Rafael is Loch Lomond Marine Supplies.

It will carry an extensive line of basic marine supplies and also maintain a snack bar. The business is owned by Arthur E. McIrvin, who also owns Jackson Pest Control of San Rafael and Mill Valley.

In charge at Loch Lomond is Cecil Patch of San Rafael, who has had several years experience in the boating and marine field.

Hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Closed Tuesdays.

HENRY C. TYLER of Novato is new manager of the Harbor office of Bank of Marin at 65 Medway Road, San Rafael. He joined the bank in 1969 and has been assistant manager at the Novato office.

THE MILL VALLEY civil engineering firm Frost and Meglio has received the Honor Award from the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for engineering and planning in connection with the Marinview project of Allan-Marin Co. in Mill Valley. Kenneth A. Frost is a resident of Belvedere. Vincent A. Meglio lives in Tiburon.

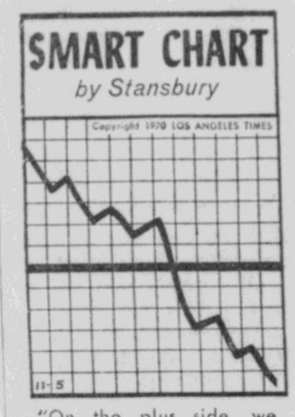
ACTING AS MODERATOR in a panel discussion on factors in right of way projects at a regional seminar in San Francisco Nov. 13 presented by the San Francisco Bay chapter of the American Right of Way Association will be Robert K. McCue of San Rafael, who is assistant chief right of way agent for the California Division of Highways.

Michael K. Stephenson of Terra Linda, supervisor of the community and environmental factors unit for the Division of Highways will be a panelist.



"On the plus side, we won't have to pay any income taxes for several years."

AMF Reports High Nine-Month Sales

NEW YORK (UPI) — AMF Inc. has reported record sales and profits for the third quarter and first nine months of 1970.

Rodney C. Gott, chairman, said the company's diverse position in leisure time and industrial markets helped it withstand the impact of general weakness in the economy and lower government business.

Third quarter profits rose to $8,452,000, or 47 cents per share, from $7,639,000, or 42 cents per share, on a rise in total revenues to $157,513,000 from $147,808,000.

Astronaut Says Moon Dust Helps

DELAWARE, OHIO — Apollo 8 astronaut William Anders said experiments have revealed moon dust to contain nutrients that make plants grow faster.

Anders, who left the astronaut corps to take a NASA position, said in a recent speech at Ohio Wesleyan University rere biologists still don't know why the plants responded to the moon dust.

He said just a tiny bit of the moon dust the Apollo 8 astronauts brought from the moon in December 1968 was mixed with water and administered to the plants. In a controlled experiment in which other plants were fed normal nutrients, the moon dust plants grew at a much faster rate, he said.

10 Per Cent Hike In Carpet Prices

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. (UPI) — Mohasco Industries Inc. has boosted prices 10 per cent on most of its carpet lines, with the largest increases in nylon and other selected products.

Mohasco said the increases, effective with shipments Nov. 16, resulted from higher costs in virtually all operations.

Considers Selling Oil Holdings

NEW YORK (UPI) — Union Carbide Corp. has announced it is considering selling off part or all of its oil and gas holdings.

The company has engaged Degolyer & McNaughton, Dallas petroleum engineering consultants, to determine the present market value of Union Carbide's petroleum holdings both in the United States and abroad.

The principal production of Union Carbide's petroleum subsidiary is from the Gulf of Mexico off the coasts of Louisiana and Texas, totalling about 9,000 barrels of oil and 45 milliin cubic feet of gas daily.

23,000 On Computer's Jury List

A total of 23,000 letters was mailed recently to persons chosen by a computer as prospective jurors for Marin courts in 1971.

The number is the same as last year, 15,000 for superior court and 8,000 for municipal court, according to Edmar Hicks, deputy county clerk.

From this number, county officials expect to get about 10,000 prospective jurors, most of who will probably be summoned for jury duty about three times during the year.

Persons who are entitled to exemption from jury service must now ask for the exemption, Mrs. Hicks explained. Before last year, such people as doctors, dentists, lawyers and teachers were automatically excluded and never received jury selection letters.

Since a change in the law, persons in these occupations as well as public employees, hospital workers, members of the National Guard and clergymen may choose whether they wish to serve as jurors or not.

Mrs. Hicks explained that for many years the county sent out 15,000 jury letters, but after the automatic exclusions were done away with, it was necessary to send out more.

Selection of those called is done completely by computer now, she said. County officials tell the data processing center how many jurors are wanted, and the computer selects names from the county voter lists on a numerical basis.

Persons who have been on the jury list one year are exempt the next year, she said. The computer also provides a list of prospective jurors for municipal and superior courts each week, staggering the list so that persons are usually called about three times during the year.

By the time those persons who wish to be exempted and are entitled to be so, as well as those who have died or moved are removed, the list will be whittled less than the original number, Mrs. Hicks said.

Measure A Committee Notifies Nixon On Win

The "silent majority" has spoken out for United States withdrawal from Southest Asia by next June 30 through voting for Marin County's Measure A., it was claimed yesterday.

The Marin Committee for Peace Referendum sent telegrams to President Richard M. Nixon, senators Alan Cranston and George Murphy and Senator-elect John V. Tunney, and Marin County's representatives in the Congress and Legislature, stressing "the great significance of this vote."

Measure A won on Tuesday's ballot, by a vote of 39,940 to 33,327.

"Marin, the wealthiest county west of the Mississippi, is 96.3 per cent Caucasian, with a heavy concentration of its population in the 35 to 49-year age group," the telegram declared. "Republicans make up 47 per cent of the voters, Democrats 46 per cent.

"A careful consideration of these facts will indicate the strong antiwar feeling of the so-called silent majority," the committee wrote.

"Our representatives must weigh the sentiments of their constituents and act to end our military involvement in Southeast Asia by a definite date, for this is the will of the people, as indicated once again by voters in Marin County."

The telegram is signed by Richard Sloan and Grace Hughes, co-chairmen of the Marin committee, and Barbara Boxer, publicity chairman.

Marin Health Planners To Elect Directors Jan. 13

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Marin, Inc. is preparing for its third annual meeting and election of directors, on Jan. 13.

Interested Marinites who have not yet joined the council must do so by Dec. 1 to be able to nominate and vote for directors, council president Ray Bolinger said yesterday. One third of the board's membership will be elected to three-year terms at the annual meeting, he said.

Membership applications are available from the council offices in the Marin County Civic Center. Citizens also are invited to suggest names of individuals willing to serve on the council's committees, Bolinger said.

Under federal law, a majority of the council's directors must represent health "consumer" interests rather than health "provider" interests, Bolinger pointed out.

Dehnert Will Chair Panel

O. E. (Denny) Dehnert of Corte Madera took over yesterday as chairman of the Marin County Building Code Board of Appeals.

He was elected by unanimous vote at the board's quarterly meeting in the Civic Center. Dehnert succeeded Ray W. Forbeaker Jr., who served as chairman for two years.

Eugene E. Crawford was elected vice chairman, succeeding Ray White.

Bribe Trial Is Scheduled

I-J Special Report

A San Francisco jury trial has been set for Jan. 11 for Harold Gilbert Ellis, a former Hamilton Air Force Base building contracts official, charged with soliciting and receiving a bribe.

Judge Robert F. Peckham of U.S. District Court set the trial date Tuesday.

Ellis, 42, of 665 Midway Boulevard, Novato, was arrested June 23 by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents who said they watched him accept $175 from the head of a Santa Rosa firm in the parking lot of Pacheco Plaza shopping center.

The Santa Rosan had tipped off the FBI that Ellis had offered to certify that his firm had installed more than $3,600 worth of pipe in a Hamilton project, when it had not yet been installed.

Hearing Set For Accused In Robbery

A preliminary hearing was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for Nov. 17 for Brian V. Beard and Richard Charles Hamilton, both of Marin City, who are accused of robbing two men in Sausalito Oct. 22.

Beard and Hamilton were charged after two Ohio men said that the Marin City men had offered to drive them to a restaurant when they couldn't find a taxi.

One of the men said that Beard grabbed his wallet when he took it out to pay him in the parking lot of the restaurant. The out-of-town men said they grabbed and held Hamilton until police came, but Beard fled and later was identified from pictures.

Beard, a Black Panther, was an unsuccessful candidate for the Sausalito School board in June.

An Appraisal Of Nixon's Two Years

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Two years ago today in the post midnight glow of his hairline presidential election victory, Richard M. Nixon held up his arms in triumph and remembered the little girl at the train station in Deshler, Ohio whose placard read: "Bring Us Together."

As the 37th President of the United States, he promised that unity would be the touchstone of his administration. Americans, he said, would go "Forward Together."

Nixon also pledged that his White House years would mark an era of "negotiation not confrontation" with the Soviet Union; that peace in Vietnam, progress at home, prosperity and law and order would be his goals.

In his inaugural speech he asked that voices of dissent be lowered and called for a truce against angry bombastic rhetoric that "fans discontents into hatreds."

As allies, he summoned the "great silent majority", the "forgotten Americans" and "Middle America."

After 21 months in office, Nixon, frustrated by a Democratic-controlled Congress, angered by bomb throwing "leftist terrorists," and "creeping permissiveness" became the slugger in his recent drive for a more responsive Congress. "The time has come to draw the line," he said .

The voters reacted by giving him a slightly more sympathetic Senate but kept the House firmly in Democratic hands. Only time will tell whether the President can translate this new legislative lineup into programs and policies.

Frineds and foes alike agree, however, that he is looking good in his steady effort to disengage the United States from Vietnam, the war that helped to depose his predecessor, Lyndon B. Johnson.

Nixon has succeeded in largely defusing anti-war sentiment, nullifying the organized peace movement and setting his own pace for withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

The statistics reflect his progress in that area. When he entered the White House there were an estimated 550,000 American troops in Vietnam. He has sliced the force level to 374,000 and plans a reduction to 284,000 men by May 1.

American boys were dying at the rate of 275 a week when Nixon was elected. The most recent rate is about 30.

The President also has won wide support at home and abroad for recent offer to the Communists of an immediate cease-fire and a total withdrawal of all American forces from the war zone.

Nixon has had less success convincing Americans that his fiscal policies will lead to a stable economy. During his tenure, prices have risen 10 per cent and unemployment has jumped by 2 million from 3.5 per cent to 5.5 per cent.

Nixon coined the "new federalism" and traveled around the country to "take Washington to the people."

He asked Congress for an anti-crime package and finally got it after 18 months of verbal lashings. But the lawmakers balked at his revolutionary welfare reform program to give poor families a guaranteed annual income.

Nixon reorganized White House operations, setting up a streamlined Domestic Council and Office of Management and Budget that took over some functions of the Cabinet. He also moved to protect the environment and got Congress to convert the Post Office department into a semi-private corporation.

He won Senate confirmation for two nominees to the Supreme Court—Chief Justice Warren Burger and Harry Blackmun—and made a political issue of the Senate's refusal to clear two nominees from the South.

In world affairs, no President has been more aware of the U.S. role as a superpower. He traveled thousands of miles (the White House declined to say exactly how many) and toured 17 countries to show the American flag and talk to world leaders.

He enunciated the Nixon Doctrine calling for a lower U.S. profile and more self reliance by allies in their own defense, barring a nuclear threat.

During his recent trip to Europe, Nixon's running theme was that "America is the most powerful nation in the world and has a responsibility to defend freedom."

This posture became more apparent as the United States and Soviet Union appeared to be edging toward the brink of a new cold war after a period of conciliation in the fields of nuclear disarmament, the Middle East and Europe.

Nixon's most exciting moment as President was on July 20, 1969, when the United States landed the first man on the moon in a "giant leap for

Release Of Captive Generals Expected

Few Details Remain, Says Russ Source

MOSCOW (UPI)—Three American Army officers and a Turkish colonel being held in Armenia after their aircraft crossed the Soviet-Turkish border will be released within a few days, unofficial Soviet sources said today.

They said there appeared to be only a few "technical details" to be cleared up before the four men are allowed to fly back to Turkey from Leninakian, Armenia, where they have been held since their light aircraft, a Beechcraft U8, landed there Oct. 21.

THOSE HELD

Two of the Americans are generals — Maj. Gen. Edward C.D. Sherrer and Brig. Gen. Claude M. McQuarrie. The other two are U.S. Army Maj. James P. Russell and Turkish Col. Cevdad Denli.

American consular officials have visited them twice in Leninakian and reported they are comfortably housed at a local villa and are in good health and spirits.

The four men claimed their light plane was blown off course by a strong gust of wind and they did not know they were on Soviet territory when they landed.

U.S. PROTEST

The U.S. government has protested their length detention. On Wednesday, State Department spokesman John F. King said in Washington "we completely fail to understand the long Soviet delay in completing the investigation of a matter which clearly involves accidental intrusion into Soviet territory."

He noted the United States already has apologized for the incident and said "the matter should end there."

The Soviet press has used the incident to protest what it termed a number of U.S. flights along the Soviet-Turkish border and into Soviet territory. They compared it to the U2 spy flight of Francis Gary Powers, shot down over the Soviet Union 10 years ago, as a "provocation" but did not claim the Americans were on a spy flight this time.

Return of the four men has been complicated by the hijacking of a Soviet airliner to Turkey.

TOO HOT TO HANDLE

Agency Sidesteps Cost Of Patrols

By WAT TAKESHITA

A political hot potato — an attempt by cities to make unincorporated areas bear more of the cost of sheriff's patrols —proved too hot to handle last night at a meeting of the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission.

An audience of 20, sharply divided between representatives of cities and unincorporated areas, repeated the arguments they have been giving for a decade, with a few new twists.

After two and one-half hours of wrestling with facts, figures and "analyses" by both sides, commissioners gingerly tossed the hot potato into the lap of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Before the commission, meeting at Ross Town Hall, was a proposal that a county service area for police protection be formed in the unincorporated areas so that communities which want "added" or "extended" police services would pay for such services.

Two supervisors on the commission, Louis H. Baar and Peter R. Arrigoni declared that the county supervisors should decide the matter. They wanted to abstain from voting last night because they must vote as supervisors later on.

But chairman Hugh G. Marchant warned that the issue would not go to the supervisors without three favorable votes, and he wasn't about to vote for it.

On a motion by Arrigoni and a second by Roy Farrington Jones of Ross, commissioners approved the formation of a county service area for police services and sent the problem to the supervisors "for careful consideration of various inequities."

Marchant, who lives in the unincorporated area of Kentfield, cast the lone dissenting vote.

Jones, a Ross city councilman, and J. Wayne Womack, a Novato city councilman, want the unincorporated areas to pay more of the sheriff's patrol cost and voted for the proposal.

The two supervisors voted "yes" only, they said, to get the issue before the county board of supervisors.

The long hearing started with a complicated list of figures showing costs and expenditures of various cities as compared with the unincorporated area, prepared by Executive Officer John F. Barrows. Barrows then followed up with an analysis and a conclusion that an inequity exists in financing the sheriff's patrol, with the unincorporated area getting the benefit.

Not so, said Merritt A. Robinson, Sleepy Hollow engineer, who used Barrows' figures and came up with the opposite conclusion. "The total inequity is $882,000 in favor of cities, and that was in 1967-68," said Robinson. Therefore, declared Robinson, the cities could afford to spend $882,000 more in increased sheriff's protection for unincorporated areas "before they collect one red cent from unincorporated areas."

Robinson's major argument was that cities get huge revenues from sales and use taxes, and cities should share some of that if they want unincorporated areas to pay more for sheriff's patrols.

This opened up the whole question of how much benefit cities and noncity areas get from other countywide services such as planning, county jail, and welfare.

Counter-analyses and rebuttals flew from all sides as city and noncity spokesmen lined up against each other.

Frank Solomon Jr., an attorney representing the Marinwood Community Services District said his district is prepared to launch a referendum to prevent the creation of a police services

Thuy Attacks Nixon On American Election

PARIS (UPI) — U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators at the Paris talks quarreled bitterly today over the significance of the American elections. A U.S. spokesman said the Communists used extreme and insulting language.

Stephen Ledogar, the spokesman for the U.S. delgeation, said the meeting was adjourned after a "sharp exchange" which followed "personally insulting, derogatory remarks made by Xuan Thuy about the President of the United States." Thuy, the chief North Vietnamese negotiator, was addressing his U.S. counterpart, Ambassador David K.E. Bruce.

Ledogar said Thuy's remarks were "the most extreme" he has heard in the many months he has attended the talks.

After one of Thuy's remarks about Nixon, Ledogar said, Bruce rose from his chair at the conference table and declared:

"I would like to say to the chief of the North Vietnamese delegation his choice of words and his attitude in these last few minutes is shameful and completely inadmissable. At least one should be cautious if one cannot be quiet."

The meeting was adjourned in an orderly fashion and all participants agreed to meet again next Thursday.

Thuy accused President Nixon of lying to the American people about the progress of the Vietnam War. Bruce rejected this.

Speaking at the 91st session of the stalemated Vietnam talks, Bruce called on North Vietnamese and Viet Cong peace negotiators to end "self-serving propaganda and preconditions to negotiations."

No progress was reported at the meeting, which lasted four hours and 20 minutes, but Bruce told newsmen: "We are still hopeful that the Communists will agree with us there is a need for genuine negotiations

Riles Pledge: 'Everyone Will Benefit'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Negro Wilson Riles, the state's new school chief, pledged today to work for the education of all children, not just black students and "not just to prove a point."

Riles, an upset winner over incumbent Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty, told a victory news conference: "If I can do the job I expect to do, everyone will benefit."

The 53-year-old native of the backwoods of Louisiana polled 3,195,555 votes to Rafferty's 2,716,369 in Tuesday's general election. It was Riles' first election bid, and his victory made him the first black elected to a major statewide office.

Riles told newsmen that he would not issue "a mandate ... for the integration of schools" in the state.

"When you're saying a black child has to sit next to a white child to learn I don't believe that," he said.

In response to a question, Riles said he waged his drive for the superintendent's $35,000-a-year job "on the educational issues.

"I sensed people were sick of confrontation issues such as sex education and busing for integration."

Riles was asked if he felt any special responsibilities as the first Negro chosen for such an office. He replied: "I plan to work for the education of all the children and not just to

Corte Madera's Ferry Plan Upsets Larkspur

A salvo of criticism was fired last night by the Larkspur City Council at the Town of Corte Madera's plan for a proposed Central Marin ferry terminal site.

The broadside was unleashed when, according to City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst, he informed the council that Corte Madera's plan required new roads within Larkspur city limits adjacent to the proposed site.

One councilman called the plan "a rape of Larkspur" to which Mayor Benton A. Sifford Jr., added "It looks like somebody's trying to seduce the (Golden Gate) Bridge District," according to Councilman Neil R. Brixon.

The charges followed a presentation to the council of Larkspur's plan which would place the proposed terminal north of the Corte Madera site on the Hutchinson Co. quarry property.

Following the presentation by architect Norman T. Gilroy of Mill Valley, councilmen Brixon and Fleckles and Mayor Sifford asked the city manager for a comparison between the two sites.

Bathurst reported that the bridge district had told him that more specific economic proposals had to be submitted for the Larkspur site or the Corte Madera plan would be accepted.

"It is extremely difficult to submit competitive proposals, in view of the fact that to date no standards or criteria have been established (for site selection) by the district," Bathurst told the council.

He said he did not believe the bridge district is willing to accept a proposal (Corte Madera's) that will require the filling of over 50 acres of marsh. (Corte Madera's site envisions the terminal located on the 99 acres at the mouth of Corte Madera Creek owned by W. J. Heerdt.

"I do not believe the district is willing to accept poor vehicle ingress and egress from Highway 101 and the City of Larkspur for traffic movement," Bathurst's report continued.

He said today such a proposal would require condemnation of private property within Larkspur, a proposal which raises legal questions if the city does not approve.

Bathurst also criticized Corte Madera's plan for a 15-acre out-

TEPEE PROTEST SITE

Two unidentified Indians, part of a group of 75 that have invaded a deserted Army communications center near Davis, warm themselves near a tepee set up at the post. The Indians, who arrived Tuesday, are attempting to obtain the 640-acre post for an Indian university and are protesting a federal government offer to the University of California at Davis. U.C. officials said the land would be used for rice and range research programs. (UPI Telephoto)

New Bus Challenge To Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court has been confronted with another challenge of the use of public funds to bus children to parochial schools.

Americans United, a Protestant organization, has appealed a decision by the Minnesota Supreme Court which on Aug. 7, 1970, upheld the state's 1969 bus law —said the statute approached "the brink of unconstitutionality."

Citing the need to protect children's health and safety, the Minnesota law provides that where the state furnishes transtportation to public school children it must do the same for those attending church schools.

Americans United accused the Minnesota Legislature of deceitful tactics.

"No wonder the young of our land cry out for us 'to call it as it is,'" the appeal said. "The self?serving recital of a 'safety' purpose in an act dealing with religious liberty is an example of what sends youth crawling up the walls in frustration."

The Minnesota Supreme Court said the primary effect of the law was not to benefit religion or support sectarian schools.

Twenty-three years ago in a similar case (Everson vs. New Jersey) the court ruled 5 to 4 that the state could properly reimburse parents for the expense incurred in transporting their children to school on public buses.

Justice Hugo L. Black, now 84 and still on the court, wrote that opinion.

Only two years ago the court upheld New York State's textbook loan program, which included parochial schools.

The rationale of Black's opinion was that the law assisted parents in getting their children to school, regardless of their religion. This view has come to be known as the "child benefit theory."

Americans United argue that savings thus realized by church schools or parents are released for other, wholely sectarian, purposes.

Mideast Cease-Fire Expires Today

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Middle East cease-fire expires today with both Israel and Egypt pledged not to start shooting again. However, immediate prospects for resumption of peace talks appeared dim.

The 90-day truce which began Aug. 7 was ending at 5 p.m. EST — midnight along the Suez Canal. Egyptian forces were on a "state of maximum alert" as a precautionary measure "to face the possibility of renewal of fighting at any moment."

A call for a 90-day extension of the cease-fire was passed by the U.N. General Assembly by a 57-16 vote Wednesday. Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad told the Assembly "we shall further observe the cease-fire period for three months." Jordan, the third party in the truce, also accepted the extension.

Foreign Minister Abba S. Eban, claiming the resolution was biased in favor of the Arabs, said Israel was not bound by it but would continue the cease-fire on an indefinite basis.

However, he made it clear the Israeli position on the resumption of peace talkswith the United Nations' Gunnar V. Jarring acting as mediator remained the same — Israel would not participate unless Egypt withdrew Soviet-built missiles it allegedly moved into the Suez Canal standstill zone after the truce began.

Palestinian guerrillas have refused to accept the cease-fire and three of them died in a clash with an Israeli army patrol near the Lebanese border Wednesday night. An Israeli army spokesman said today the patrol intercepted the three-man squad near the Margaliyot kibbutz in the upper Galilee. There were no Israeli casualties, he said.

The Jordanian government, in announcing its continuation of the cease-fire, said it would not prevent the guerrillas from launching raids into territory occupied by the Israelis.

In Damascus¼ the ruling Baathist party of Syria vowed to boost its battle against Israel and offer greater support for the guerrillas.

Syria has not accepted the cease-fire.

In London, Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir told a news conference the cease-fire could continue indefinitely as fas as Israel was concerned but said Israel will not resume the peace talks until removal of Soviet-built Egyptian missiles allegedly moved into the truce zone.

"We shall not shoot first. But if Egypt violates the cease-fire again and starts shooting Israel will react. But she has no intention of shooting first," Mrs. Meir said.

Israeli troops whiled away the last hours of the cease-fire sleeping and resting in virtually indestructable underground positions improved during the truce.

Israeli positions at Qantara and opposite from Ismalia were fortified with sandbags and barbed wire.

An alert went into effect on the Israeli side of the 102-mile waterway two days ago in preparation for the end of the truce.

12 Die On Ship

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (UPI)—A carbon monoxide leak killed 12 men aboard an oil tanker at a shipyard today, police said. Thirty-eight other men were taken to hospitals for treatment.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

17 Old People Die

MONTREAL (UPI)—An early morning fire today claimed the lives of 17 of 34 elderly residents of an old people's home in suburban Pointe Aux Trembles.

The fire, attributed to a small furnace explosion in the basement of the recently-constructed Foyer Bernadette, broke out about 4:30 a.m. It took Pointe Aux Trembles firemen about an hour and a half to extinguish it.

Damage to the home, which consists of two duplex apartment buildings built side-to-side, was slight, other than in the basement itself.

Those who died were unable to save themselves and died of asphyxiation in their beds, with the exception of one who made an attempt to escape in a wheel chair.

Fire, Bomb Threats

OLEAN, N.Y. (UPI) — A suspicious fire leveled two storage barns on the campus of St. Bonaventure University early today five hours after an argument over university authority and student rights.

While the fire was being fought, the university president called a special convocation at the university center where the arguments had been held earlier.

"I want to make it clear that I do not consider the unfortunate fire you have just witnessed an intimidation," the Very Rev. Reginal A. Redlon said. "I assure you that the unviersity will continue to operate normally in the morning." Several bomb threats were telephoned to the university switchboard Wednesday night while Redlon met with students over a dispute concerning visiting rights.

Ban On Reforms

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican today officially announced a ban on further experiments with the Mass and other forms of Roman Catholic worship.

Some changes were authorized by the Vatican Ecumenical Council more than six years ago.

In an "instruction" on the liturgy, the Congregation for Holy Worship said it was now necessary to achieve greater understanding of the liturgy as it stands rather than to bring about further reforms.

Sino-Italian Talks

PARIS (UPI) — Italy and Communist China concluded negotiations here today on establishment of diplomatic relations and the Italian government is expected to give formal approval Friday,, Italian sources said.

Official Italian sources said texts of the proposed agreements were exchanged between the Italian and Chinese embassies in Paris this morning.

The texts were sent to Rome and Peking for final approval and the Italian cabinet is expected to announce its approval after a meeting Friday, the sources said.

Former King Dies

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Former King Peter II of Yugoslavia, who held the reins of government for less than one month, while a boy, died Tuesday at the age of 47, friends reported Wednesday.

A spokesman for the Serbian Orthodox church in nearby Arcadia said Peter died of a cardio respiratory failure at a local hospital.

He was hospitalized a month ago for pneumonia.

Peter became the nominal king of Yugoslavia in 1934 at the age of 11 when his father, Alexander I, was assassinated. Peter's uncle, Prince Paul, acted as regent and held the real power.

Adventure Over

MOOLOOLABA, Australia (UPI)—Four adventurers rode a raft into port tonight, ending a 159-day, 7,000-mile voyage across the Pacific Ocean to prove that South American Indians could have sailed to Australia centuries ago.

The four men—bearded and parched by the sun—held a black and white mascot cat aloft as a victory sign from the deck of their 26-foot raft named La Balsa. A cabin cruiser towed the raft the last few miles into the harbor of this resort 90 miles north of Brisbane.

Riding the raft were Prof. Vital Alzar of Spain, who financed the journey; Marco Modena of France; Norman Tetre-Sales of Chile. The men left Sales of Chile. The mn left Guayaquil, Ecuador, on May 29.

U.S. Viet Casualties Drop; New Red Supply Area Found

SAIGON (UPI) —The U.S. Command said today only 24 American servicemen were killed in combat in Vietnam last week, the lowest death toll in five years.

The low death toll was attributed to a battlefield lull, American withdrawals, and the fact South Vietnamese forces were doing more of the fighting.

The figures compared to 43 U.S. soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines killed in action the week before. It was the lowest toll since the week ended Oct. 23, 1965, when 14 Americans were killed in the fighting.

In addition, 431 Americans were wounded during the week ending Oct. 3. Since the beginning of U.S. involvement in Indochina in 1961, 43,928 American servicemen have been killed in action.

Meanwhile,, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops fought a series of battles with Communist forces, Wednesday, killing 64 of them. Four Americans were reported lost in the actions.

Air Force Secretary Robert C. Seamans Jr. told a news conference in Saigon today that U.S. reconnaissance planes have discovered a major new buildup of Communist troops and supplies in North Vietnam waiting for shipment to the Indochina battlefront. He said the Air Force is waging a massive campaign to stop it.

Describing the supply caches high in the Annamite mountains as "extensive," Seamans said "this is a crucial time in the air war. Because of the Cambodian operation large supplies were wiped out. If they are to continue in Cambodia and Laos they will need supplies."

He said they have to bring the supplies in along the Ho Chi Minh trail and the air force is doing everything to stop them. The trial "will be a primary target in the coming months," he said.

The bombing campaign began 29 days ago when the monsoons cleared.

The cost in the past 29 days has run more than $75 million, the sources said, and current plans call for the campaign to run for several more months.

The campaign is designed to help cut down2 Communist capabilities of inflicting casualties on American and South Vietnamese ground troops.

In Phnom Penh, the Cambodian high command said that as its forces were built toward a hoped-for army of 200,000 men, they increasingly were taking the initiative in fighting against the Communists. "We are going out very often" rather than holding defensive positions around towns, the spokesman said. "Now we are taking the initiative and the offensive on the terrain."

The Cambodian command also reported two new clashes, one at Angkor Ban on the Mekong River about 35 miles northeast of Phnom Penh and the other at the town of Kompong Trach, 72 miles south-southwest of the capital. No Cambodian casualties were reported in either clash.

In South Vietnam, American and South Vietnamese troops clashed sharply with Communist units about 15 miles south of Da Nang, the country's second largest city. The American Command said a U.S. Marine pacification team spotted guerrillas and called in reinforcements. Twenty guerrillas were killed in the battle the followed and one Marine was killed.

Meanwhile, Lt. William Calley Jr., accused of 102 murders in the alleged My Lai massacre, spent today working on his defense with his attorney, Maj. Kenneth A. Raby, spokesmen said.

Calley, 27, is scheduled to leave Vietnam tomorrow, military spokesmen said. His court martial is due to start Nov. 10, at Fort Benning, Ga.

Find Mine Filled With Hashish

BEIRUT (UPI)—When Lebanese coastguardsmen spotted a frogman attaching a mine to an American-owned freighter in Beirut harbor they thought they might have a new form of terrorism on their hands. Instead it turned out to be smuggling.

The coast guard carefully pried the limpet mine from the hull of the Ikaria, registered in Panama and owned by the American Transport Line, and fired rifle bullets into it. The mine didn't explode. When they finally opened it up they found 44 pounds of hashish carefully tucked inside in place of explosives.

Two Rooms Burgled At San Rafael High

Two San Rafael High School teachers reported thefts from their adjoining rooms yesterday, San Rafael police said today.

Sally Jane Barkey said her purse was stolen from Room L-6, a set of keys extracted and the purse dropped in Room L-7. In that room, teacher Marjorie G. Mount of Lagunitas said a $60 portable radio was taken. The thefts were shortly after 11 a.m., while the rooms were briefly unoccupied, police said.

Judge Seeks Attorney In Theft Case

A Marin Superior Court Judge today said he will consider removing the public defender from an armed robbery case unless a specific attorney from that office is appointed to the case by Monday.

Judge E. Warren McGuire made that statement atfer hearing from the defendant, Gilbert Fullam, 25, of Santa Rosa, that he had been represented by various deputy public defenders in court proceedings but none had talked to him in the county jail.

A jury trial for Fullam and his codefendant, John Dougals Renda, 26, was set today for week of Nov. 23 in Superior Court.

Renda is represented by a court-appointed attorney, Robert McCreadie of Novato.

The men are accused of armed robbery and two counts of assault with a deadly weapon, stemming from the holdup of a San Rafael pool hall owner on Oct. 9.

Volvo Stolen

A 1967 Volvo sedan, license VSB 240, was stolen between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. yesterday from the home of Barbara Ellen Road, San Rafael, police reported today.

Judge Orders Probe Of Panther Slayings

CHICAGO (UPI)—Chief Criminal Court Judge Joseph Power Wednesday signed an order impaneling a special Cook County Grand Jury to investigate last December's police raid on a West Side residence where two leaders of the Black Panther Party were killed.

Power ordered the jury impaneled Dec. 7 at the request of Barnabas Sears, a special investigator appointed June 26 to enter the case after a federal grand jury report failed to recommend indictments for either police or surviving Panthers involved in the raid.

Panther leaders Fred Hampton and Mark Clark were killed by police gunfire in the predawn raid which was called "ill-conceived" by the federal investigating panel.

That report also criticized the state's attorney's office and other police for poor handling of information in the incident, and scored Panthers for refusing to testify before the jury.

Sears, who was appointed after civil rights groups and attorneys' organizations demanded further investigations than were made by the federal grand jury, said the county panel will have power to indict either police or Panthers.

The seven surviving Panthers had been charged with attempted murder by the office of State's Attorney Edward Hanrahan, whose police conducted the raid. But the charges were dropped for lack of proof.

Hijacker Says Marines Cheated

ROME (UPI)—Raffaele Minichiello, a Vietnam War veteran who one year ago staged the longest jet hijacking to date, testified today he did so because the U.S. Marines cheated him out of $200 in back pay and because he wanted to return to Italy.

Minichiello, 21, of Seattle, Wash., faces up to 30 years in jail on a variety of charges arising out of the Nov. 1, 1969, hijacking of a Trans World Airways 707 from Los Angeles to Rome.

He declined the offer of an interpreter at the opening session of the trial and took the stand to answer in Italian questions from the court, presided over by Giovanni Salemi.

Kitzmiller Gets Prison Sentence

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Robert Wayne Kitzmiller, 43, of Fairfax, has been sentenced to state prison for robbing the Rohnert Park 7-11 store on Sept. 18.

Superior Court Judge Kenneth E. Eymann said the term of five years to life will be served concurrently with sentences issued in Marin County Superior Court.

On Oct. 9 Kitzmiller was sentenced in Marin County to one to 15 years for burglary, possession of a sawed-off rifle and possession of a weapon by an ex-convict. He had been captured Sept. 29 in a bullet punctured chase through Tamalpais Valley.

Probation on a bad check charge in Marin County was revoked and he was also sentenced to serve one to 14 years on the count.

Bike Repair Center Delayed By Financing

A repair center for bicycles, scheduled to be opened Sunday at the Mill Valley Drop-In House, has been delayed by financial troubles, the Mill Valley Youth Commission heard last night.

Secretary Mark Noguchi reported the commission will hold a special meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at a place not yet determined to iron out difficulties of funding the repair center where Mill Valley youths will go for advice and help in fixing their bicycles.

The commission also heard a suggestion by Jack Benjamin that the center be turned into a club to sponsor such activities as bicycle trips throughout the county.

The commission held election of officers and chose David Abrahams, chairman; Frederick Wright, vice chairman, and Mark Noguchi, secretary.

EXPERT PET GROOMING

This new car is the best reason not to buy a Volkswagen Beetle.

In a year when every car maker seems to be giving you one reason or another not to buy a Volkswagen Beetle, it might be a good idea to listen to the best reason:

Volkswagen's Super Beetle.

It has almost twice the luggage space as the Beetle of yesteryear.

It has a longer-lasting, more powerful engine.

It has a new suspension system for a smoother ride.

It has a flow-through ventilation system to bring in fresh air when the windows are closed.

The interior is, to be honest, much nicer.

The floor, for example, is fully carpeted.

In all, it has 89 things you could never find on a Beetle.

So of all the claims you'll hear this year by car makers that their cars are "better than a Beetle," there's only one car maker with 25 years experience in small cars to back it up.

Volkswagen.

Appraisal Of Nixon's First Two Years

mankind." An overjoyed President likened the feat to the "greatest week since the creation."

His worst week without a doubt followed his electrifying decision "as Commander in chief" to send combat troops into Cambodia last April 30. The move shocked many and touched off protest demonstrations on many college campuses. Four students were shot and killed by National Guardsmen at Kent State University in Ohio, further embittering alienated students.

The President moved immediately to open lines of communication with students and other young people, even going to the Lincoln Memorial at dawn to appeal to demonstrators for understanding.

But he rejected two reports he requested on campus unrest when they said that the White House lacked an awareness of the national crisis and should exert "moral leadership" to win back turned off youth.

For all his highs, his lows, Nixon appears a happy man as President. He lost his "loser" image and he tells all comers, especially Boy Scout audiences, that they too can prevail if they try, try again.

Nor does he buy the cliche that the presidency is a "splendid misery."

"I know that the job I have is supposed to be the most difficult in the world," he said, "but it has not yet become for me that great awesome burden that some have described it."

Much as he loves the White House and all its trappings, Nixon has spent only about eight full weekends in Washington. Some wags refer to him as the "in-flight" President.

His sojourns take him to Key Biscayne, Fla., where he has his winter white house; to San Clemente, Calif., location of the Western White House and to Camp David, Md., a 30-minute helicopter flight to peace and isolation.

His innovations at the White House are designed to restore the homely virtues and respect for national symbols.

Nixon and his staff wear small American flags in their lapels. He inaugurated Sunday worship services in the East Room of the White House.

He has practically wiped out the news conference as a White House institution. He has held only 11 televised news conferences since he took office, his last July 30 in Los Angeles. Some five others were held in his office.

He is more prone to open up while he is on the move and a reporter with a microphone sometimes catches him in an expansive mood.

Nixon and his wife Pat like to entertain and do so often, formally and lavishly. To the delight of the sports world, he is also an ardent football and baseball fan with player statistics at his fingertips.

He relaxes best with "the boys" and prefers the company of his best friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo of Key Biscayne for swims and walks on the beach.

Basically, Nixon is a loner. He is organized and disciplined. He makes decisions only after studying in depth all his options.

He can be an eloquent off the cuff speaker, however, and he prides most his ability to keep cool under stress.

Last November, he made a sentimental journey to Capitol Hill to visit with members of the House. He told them that when peace comes it will be because of the support he has received from Democras and Republicans, adding:

"And history will record that the United States of America in a period of crisis, in a period of controversy, met the challenge of greatness and that the representatives of the people thought of themselves as Americans, put their country first rather than their party first in the great tradition of this House."

door parking lot, which compares with Larkspur's planned indoor-parking structures.

He said he also recommended that the bridge district consult with the Marin Transit District before making a decision on a site since more than ferry travel will be involved. His recommendation was accepted and the council directed a letter to the district asking such consultation.

"We're not trying to give anyone a snow job," said Sifford today. "We just want the site selected strictly on facts, not finances."

He said that while the Corte Madera plan appears at first to be more economical, the estimated cost there may not be indicative of the final cost. Corte Madera has estimated $4 million.

"The council just became upset with Corte Madera planning the future of Larkspur," said Bathurst today. "There was some strong language used. I don't remember exactly what, I was busy trying to keep track of my own."

He said the final point made during the evening was that the bridge district should evaluate the sites on their merits first, then study economic proposals for the one selected.

Larkspur's site is being proposed by TI Properties Corp. of Los Angeles, which signed an agreement with the Hutchinson Co.

Bathurst said a spokesman for TI Properties said last night new economic considerations will be forwarded to the district next week.

Lindsay: No President Plans

LONDON (UPI)—Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York said Thursday he has no plans to run for the U.S. presidency in 1972 and no intentions of changing political parties.

The tall, handsome Republican who won the New York mayoralty as a liberal and who political experts said might run for the presidency as a Democrat, told the heir to the British throne and some 5,000 British industrial and financial leaders that he had come to London "to talk about cities" — not about politics.

Marine Returns To Face Charges

WASHINGTON (UP) — A Marine sargeant, who voluntarily returned from Sweden has been charged with desertion and aiding the enemy in Vietnam. He could be sentenced to death if convicted.

According to Sgt. John M. Sweeney he was shot and left to die by his American comrades, then was captured and released by the Communists in Vietnam. He then went to Sweden.

He is charged with desertion, misconduct in the presence of the enemy by abandoning his rifle and ammuntion, and aiding the enemy by "preparing and recording in his own voice pro-Communist and anti-American propaganda statements.

Average Worker's Real Pay Goes Down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The average California factory worker earned 21 cents an hour more in September than a year earlier, but his "real" weekly take-home pay was $1.64 less, the state Department of Industrial Relations reported today.

The agency said the average hourly earnings of factory workers in September was $3.86, a record high. It said the average worker's weekly pay of $151.79 was $3.14 better than a year earlier, but that the "real" spendable paycheck was $93.71, down $1.64 from the figure of September, 1969 because of inflation.

More Rain Forecast For Marin

Cranky children praying for the rain to go away and come again another day struck out for the third straight day today, but the rain was only half as heavy as the previous day.

San Rafael had .56 inches of rain in the 24 hours prior to noon today compared to the deluge that dumped 1.28 inches on playgrounds and yards in the 24 hours before noon yesterday.

Umbrella weather prevailed through the rest of Marin and Southern Sonoma as well. Mill Valley had .54 inches, Tamalpais Valley .52, Petaluma .45 and Novato .42, all in the 24 hours prior to 8 a.m. today.

Getting less rain in the same period were West Marin, the Tiburon Peninsula and Sausalito where water barrels gathered .36 or .37 inches except in Tiburon where the total was .27 inches.

All totals were less than half those for the previous 24 hours. Forecast for tonight and tomorrow is 70 per cent chance of rain.

and discussion of our proposals as well as of their own."

Thuy, in his remarks, charged that President Nixon sought victory in the midterm elections to "direct even more his foreign and domestic policy in a reactionary sense."

Bruce replied: "I listened carefully to your statements. Unfortunately, you continue to adhere to your habitual formula of self-serving propaganda and preconditions to negotiation."

The chief U.S. negotiator added that Thuy presented a distorted picture of the American election and had no understanding of democratic processes.

"The record of the Nixon administration on deescalating the war and reducing U.S. forces in South Vietnam is clear and needs no elaboration," Bruce said.

Thuy spoke to newsmen as he entered the conference hall.

Calling on Nixon to accept the Communist propositions to settle the war, Thuy said "so long as the war in Vietnam and Indochina will not have found a correct solution, it is really difficult for the United States to smooth out all difficulties in various fields — political, social, economic, inflation, the problems of the cities. To emerge from this difficult situation, it is in Mr. Nixon's interest to stop his lying proposals and to end the war by responding seriously" to the Communist peace plan.

He said during the election campaign Nixon sought electoral victory to "direct even more his foreign and domestic policy in a reactionary sense."

"He pushed quite far the art of lying with the aim of leading public opinion into error," Thuy said.

The Viet Cong's chief negotiator, Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, charged U.S. and South Vietnamese forces exploited recent floods in the northern provinces of South Vietnam to "multiply their sweep operations and frantically herd flood victims into concentration camps."

Mill Valley Girl Attacked By Man

A 16-year-old Mill Valley girl was raped yesterday by a man who gave her a ride while she was hitchhiking on Miller Avenue, Mill Valley police reported.

The girl told police the man, between 22 and 26 years old and driving an older model foreign car, offered to take her to downtown Mill Valley about 5:15 p.m. He said he had to stop by a house because he had forgotten something, the girl told police. She said she accompanied him into the house where she was attacked.

The girl afterwards ran to a friend's house and called police.

Her assailant was described as Caucasian, 5 feet, 8 inches tall, 160 pounds, with black hair and dark eyes.

Nitrogen Spills When Truck Flips

HAYWARD (UPI)—A truck loaded with cylinders of liquid nitrogen overturned today on the San Mateo-Hayward bridge. Both westbound lanes were closed after some of the chemical leaked out.

Mid-morning traffic was turned back at the Hayward toll plaza for a half hour until one of the lanes was reopened.

Eight of twenty cannisters of the gas ruptured in the wreck, spilling the gas which formed ice on the roadway.

A Division of Bay Toll Crossings spokesman said there was also a danger from the vapors.

"The precaution is to keep upwind of the vapors," he said.

The spokesman said traffic had largely been cleared out by 10:30 a. m. The truck was righted and its lift gate used to reload the nitrogen.

Python's Downfall

MILAN (UPI) — A circus python snake hit its tamer's hand and dropped dead—of a heart attack. Tamer Silvio Mattera, 50, was only slightly injured from the non-poisonous bite Wednesday.

district. He said most commercial and industrial properties lie within cities so that the bulk of the property tax falls on homeowners in unincorporated areas.

"We've completely gotten off the issue," declared Robert P. Simmons, Corte Madera town councilman. "All we are saying is the unincorporated areas desire increased services but do not desire to join cities. And if they are not desirous of joining cities, then they should pay for added service."

The invitation to join cities can work the other way, said Robinson. "If cities don't like the burdens of their own police departments, they can dissolve and the county would be glad to take them back, especially to share in the (sales tax revenue of) Corte Madera Shopping Center."

James F. Reed, mayor of San Anselmo, argued that "sales taxes don't come free." He said cities pay a high price in patrols, fire protection, and other services for commercial areas, and these costs more than offset sales tax revenues.

Van Athanaskos, representing the Dixie School District Coordinating Council, wanted to know what criteria would be used to decide "present level of police services." Instead of adding another layer of governmental agency, a study should be made on consolidating all county services, he declared.

Other speakers lining up for the cities were Kenneth L. Anderson, San Anselmo city councilman, and Frank J. Egger, mayor of Fairfax. Speaking for the unincorporated areas were Hugh Dougherty of Stinson Beach, John Kilsby of Loma Verde, and Walter Rudolph of Santa Venetia.

A couple of new twists were suggested by Solomon and Dougherty.

Solomon said the county could increase sheriff's patrols in the unincorporated areas and also supplement police protection in cities like Fairfax, San Anselmo and Ross, which have small sales tax revenue. Tax-rich cities like San Rafael and Corte Madera would then be helping pay for more police protection in tax-poor cities as well as in unincorporated areas.

Suggested Dougherty: Create a police protection fund and have cities contribute a percentage of sales tax revenue into the common kitty, match that with some property tax revenue. Both the cities and the sheriff's department can then draw from that kitty for police protection.

Getting any more reprots and analyses would be fruitless, said Baar. He then suggested that the question be sent to the supervisors for a decision "once and for all."

Two GIs Seek Halt Of Trial

SEOUL (UPI)—Two American soldiers on trial for murder have filed a suit in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia seeking to stop their trial by Korean legal authorities, it was reported today.

The news was disclosed by Korean court officials handling the case involving Sgt. John W. Blount, 23, of San Francisco and James E. Walters, 22, of Detroit, both members of the U.S. 7th Infantry Division stationed in Korea.

Blount and Walters allegedly killed a Korean couple in Tongduchon 30 miles north of Seoul in early March this year and are under trial by a Korean court.

Guilty Plea To Reduced Charge

Joe Paul Seigert, 26, of Redwood City, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of being in a place where drugs were used.

He had earlier been accused of a felony count of possessing marijuana as well as a charge of possessing tear gas cartridges. The tear gas count was dismissed yesterday.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson placed Seigert on 30 days' probation and fined him $100.

Seigert was stopped by sheriff's deputiets in Tiburon Nov. 15, 1969, and a search revealed the contraband.

Falls From Haystack

Sylvia Morrison, 40, of 1035 Stage Gulch Road, Petaluma, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with possible back and hip injuries suffered yesterday at 6 p.m. when she fell from a 30-foot haystack at her ranch home.

Meeting Time

The Inverness Improvement Association will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Vladimir's Moravian Restaurant, not Saturday as erroneously reported in the Oct. 3 Independent-Journal.

prove a point but to do a good job."

Rafferty's campaign aides said he would not make an immediate comment on the outcome of the hard-fought battle.

For Rafferty the victory by Riles meant the end of an eight-year reign over California's vast network of public schools and five million children. He was first elected in 1962 and then again in 1966.

Rafferty, also 53, and also a native of Louisiana, sprang into national prominence in 1961 when he decried what he said was waning patriotism in the classroom. The statement was contained in a speech which was carried in a national magazine.

In the 1968 senatorial primary Rafferty defeated Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif., but was rejected by the voters in the general election with Democrat Alan Cranston capturing the post.

Riles served as Rafferty's No. 1 aide in charge of compensatory education in California. Before that he taught in Arizona, where he had received a master's degree in education.

Rafferty was a teacher, administrator and superintendent in Southern California schools prior to becoming the state school chief.

Asked whether he would hire Rafferty for his staff, Riles merely smiled.

Bomb Hoax Again At Novato High

Classes at Novato High School were interrupted for the second time this week by a bomb hoax that made necessary a search of the premises.

Princnpal Stanley Onderdonk said a male oice toldone of the student clerks that there was bomb of four sticks of dynamite in the school. The call was received at 8:30 a.m.

The school was searched by sections and as each area was cleared, the students were sent back to their classes. All students were back to their studies by midmorning, Onderdonk said.

The high school received another bomb threat on Monday and that afternoon, Hill Junior High School was the object of a similar hoax.

Fresnan Who Hijacked Plane Recalled As 'Troublemaker'

FRESNO (UPI) — A gunman who burst into the pilot's cabin of a San Diego to Los Angeles United Airlines jet Sunday night and forced it to Cuba was a recent graduate of a Fresno barber school, it was learned here.

FBI agents in Los Angeles Tuesday identified the hijacker as Felipe Larrazola, 34.

A spokesman for a Fresno barber college, who asked to remain anonymous, said Larrazola attended the school for nine months and graduated about three months ago.

The spokesman said Larrazola was a "troublemaker" and said the suspect, a Mexican-American, was "always agitating among his own people and many customers left angry and cussing."

Larrazola's mother, Mrs. Jose Guadalupe Larrazola, who lives alone here, said she had not seen her son in about four months.

She said her son was married and had four children ranging in age from 7 to 3.

Two children, identified as Guadalupe, 7, and Maria, 6, were with the gunman during the hijacking.

Fresno police said records show Larrazola was arrested in Fresno seven times on charges of drunkenness.

Several Fresnans were on the plane which made refueling stops in Tijuana and Monterrey, Mexico, before flying on to Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Ashjian and Ashjian's brother, Lee, said they spoke briefly with the gunman in the San Diego airport restaurant.

"We were about 20 minutes into the flight," Ashjian said, "when all of a sudden he grabbed the stewardess and held a gun up to her head."

Ashjian said when they landed in Cuba, two Cuban militiamen boarded the plane, slapped Larrazola on the back and escorted him off.

Ashjian said a woman, later identified by the militiamen as Larrazola's wife, met him at the Cuban airport.

Two other Fresnans, Susan Schneider, 26, and Mrs. M. Capozzi, were also listed as passengers on the plane.

Attorney Fined In Indian Land Feud

REDDING (UPI)—A judge has fined an attorney $500 and sentenced him to two days in jail for contempt of court in connection with Indian attempts to occupy government lands in Northern California.

Judge William Phelps in Redding Justice Court said Tuesday he had given attorney Aubrey Grossman of San Francisco a 10-day stay of execution to give the lawyer time to decide if he will appeal.

The judge cited Grossman for arriving 25 minutes late for a court hearing and ignoring an order not to return to national forest land occupied by Pit River Indians.

Grossman said he had been late because his Indian clients faced a confrontation with police and "there was a possibility that these clients of mine might be injured or even killed."

Memorial Day began as a day of recognition of soldiers and sailors of the Civil War and was, for years, also known as Decoration Day when it was the custom to place flowers on graves.

Judge Hits Use Of Flag Patches

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (UPI) — Two young persons were found guilty of flag desecration Wednesday and a third youngster was declared innocent of the charge. All three were arrested in separate incidents.

Whatcom County Superior Court Judge Leslie A. Lee said defendants Sherry Marie Helm and Richard Claxton had lied on the witness stand when they testified they had no other material but American flags with which to patch their blue jeans.

Miss Helm, 18, formerly of Sacramento, Calif., now resides in Bellingham. She was arrested while wearing jeans with a small American flag sewn on the rear.

Claxton, also 18, of Bellingham was charged with having an American flag sewn on the front of one of his jean legs.

John Dirk Meadows, 18, of Pittsburg, Calif., was arrested for having a flag sewn on the leg of his jeans. He was acquitted after he told the judge the flag was on the jeans when they were given to him.

Judge Lee said the two youths convicted lied when they said they loved the flag. "This is not something you do when you love the flag," he said.

The judge also said their stories about having no other material to use for patches was "preposterous."

All three of the youths charged are high school dropouts.

Wheel Rim Defects In G.M. Pickups

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government, in a victory for Ralph Nader, instructed General Motors Wednesday to notify owners of a safety defect in the wheel rim of 150,000 G.M. pickup trucks made between 1960 and 1965.

In a Letter to G.M. President James Roche, the National Highway Safety Bureau chief, Douglas Toms, said the wheel rims were "subject to sudden and catastrophic failure."

The government's decision was the latest move in a three-cornered disagreement between the government, Nader and G.M. over the safety of the three-quarter ton Chevrolet and General Motors Corp. trucks.

General Motors may either recall the trucks or contest the government's findings in court. The estimated cost to G.M. to replace the wheel rims is about $15 million, sources said.

Nader, the consumer advocate, originally claimed 200,000 of the wheel rims manufactured by Kelsey-Hayes Corp. were defective and could collapse.

Last October, the safety bureau and General Motors announced an agreement to replace the wheel rims on 50,000 of the 200,000 trucks. The 50,000 trucks were those which had been modified for use as campers. G.M. claims the wheels were not designed to support the added weight of the campers.

The safety bureau agreed there was no defect in the 150,000 other trucks but reserved the right to take further action if necessary.

In his letter, Toms said, "I have determined further action is necessary." He said tests showed that wheel rims used by the 150,000 trucks were "subject to sudden and catastrophic failure," subjecting operators to risk of death or injury.

Letter to the President of North Vietnam

"... Restore these men to their families"

"In the treatment of prisoners . . . the record in this war is one of the most unconscionable in the history of warfare" — President Nixon.

Can something be done about it? The letter below, written in Vietnamese, may seem a small voice. Yet it and others like it, appealing to Hanoi, are accomplishing what governments have hitherto been unable to do. Because it is an humanitarian, not a political appeal.

Strangely enough, Hanoi has taken note and taken action — not enough but yet encouraging. Mail is getting through, to both prisoners and their wives. Some 65% of all mail out of North Vietnam has come since last November when the letter-writing campaign began. Since January of 1970, under the pressure of this and world opinion, families have been allowed to send packages every other month, rather than two or three over a period of years.

Here in Marin County, three prisoner-of-war wives (shown at right) are appealing to Marin residents to clip and send the letter, in Vietnamese, to Hanoi. They are convinced that enough letters from this and other sources will move Hanoi to better treatment of these imprisoned Americans. And possibly to their release.

Many U.S. civic groups and other newspapers have recently joined in the campaign. Readers are urged to clip and send this letter of appeal immediately. It will definitely reach Hanoi. Perhaps it will reach what everyone wishes — a more receptive ear.

CLIP IT AND MAIL TO HANOI — TODAY!

Kính thưa Ngài Tôn Đức Thắng:

Chúng tôi dùng hình thức kêu gọi này để lưu ý Ngài về hoàn cảnh đã làm tất cả người Mỹ bận tâm. Lời thoát của việc này không phải là người Mỹ phải có mặt ở Việt-Nam hay người Mỹ phải rút lui-hoặc khẩu tất cả quân đội. Cũng không phải là Ngài có lý hay chúng tôi không có lý, hoặc chúng tôi hành động hợp lý hay Ngài hành động bất hợp lý.

Vấn đề là 450 quân nhân Mỹ đang bị cầm tù ở các trại giam của Ngài. 1150 người khác được ghi là mất tích và có thể một số người đó cũng là tù binh của Ngài.

Tình trạng của họ là mối quan tâm chung của chúng ta. Cả hai phe "bồ câu và diều hâu" ở Mỹ đều ấy náy về số phận và tình trạng sức khoẻ của họ. Chúng tôi thỉnh cầu Ngài xét việc phóng thích họ ngay. Họ chẳng có giá trị gì đối với Ngài về quân sự. Họ không làm hại hay cản trở sự chiến đấu của Ngài và không còn giúp ích gì cho chúng tôi.

Cũng như quân nhân của Ngài, họ không xây dựng chính sách, mà chỉ phục vụ như các quân nhân tử ngàn xưa. Cũng như quân nhân của Ngài, họ đã thi hành bổn phận và mong muốn được hy sinh cho sự sống họ. Cũng như quân nhân của Ngài, họ rời bỏ nhà cửa gia đình không phải vì họ muốn như vậy, mà để đáp lời kêu gọi của quê hương.

Lòng yêu nước không phải chỉ dành cho người Việt hay người Mỹ mà là đặc quyền của mọi người. Họ chiến đấu dưới lá cờ của họ dù nó là đỏ, trắng và xanh, hay bạc và vàng.

Những người ủng hộ Ngài ở Mỹ cũng có thể hài lòng về việc Ngài phóng thích tù binh. Việc đó cũng tỏ ra là Ngài không thể thù những người đã thi hành nhiệm vụ của họ. Việc đó cũng cho thế giới rõ rộng lòng thương, chứ không phải sẽ trừng phạt, có thể đưa tới hòa bình.

Nếu Ngài đáp ứng mau lẹ lời kêu gọi này thì Ngài sẽ đánh tan được lời chỉ trích Ngài rằng sinh mạng con người chẳng có nghĩa lý gì với Ngài.

Nếu Ngài có lòng thương và thực sự muốn tìm kiếm hòa bình thì đây là dịp để Ngài thực hiện hình ảnh ấy trước dư luận thế giới.

Người Mỹ cảm thấy rằng Ngài không quan tâm tới cá nhân, cũng như cầu và ý muốn của nó, và mạng sống chẳng có gì là linh thiêng.

Hành động của Ngài sẽ đánh tan ý nghĩ đó. Sự ân xá tù binh Mỹ sẽ tỏ cho thế giới rằng Ngài quan tâm tới sinh mạng linh thiêng của con người.

Giấy liên lạc gia đình ở Mỹ rất mạnh và mọi người Mỹ muốn các tù binh đó được tái hợp với gia đình họ. Nhiều người cha chưa hề được thấy con họ và nhìn chúng lớn lên. Con họ luôn luôn mong mỏi sự tái hợp.

Trong lịch sử thế giới, ít nhân vật nào có được dịp may như Ngài hiện có. Lịch sử sẽ ghi nhận Ngài là người có lòng thương, đề cao sinh mạng con người, để cho đời sống gia đình là tuyệt đỉnh và đã giúp sự yên ổn cho nhiều gia đình.

Thế giới sẽ tung hô Ngài nếu các tù binh được sum họp với gia đình. Nếu Ngài còn giam giữ họ thì các người ủng hộ Ngài sẽ nghi ngờ lòng thành thật và ý định của Ngài.

Chúng tôi ngỏ lời với Ngài không phải như địch thủ, mà là người biết thông cảm. Những công dân Hoa Kỳ là các cá nhân nên không có quyền lực, nhưng có thiện ý để thao dợt cho việc ân xá tù binh. Chúng tôi không có quyền dọa nạt nếu Ngài không đáp ứng lời thỉnh cầu.

Chúng tôi chỉ hy vọng; hy vọng rằng Ngài sẽ lưu tâm đến lời thỉnh cầu này và giao trả tù binh về với gia đình họ.

THE WIVES WHO WAIT. Shown above are three Marin County wives whose husbands are prisoners-of-war or listed as missing. They are hoping Marin residents will clip and send the letter to Hanoi.

At left, Mrs. James Douglas Birchin of San Rafael. Her husband, a captain in the Army Special Forces had been listed as "missing" Nov. 1968. She has had no word from him since.

Center: Mrs. Robert Hill of Novato. Her husband, a master sergeant, is an engineer with the 41st Air Rescue unit, Air Force. He has been "missing" since Oct. 1966.

Right: Mrs. William Butler of San Rafael. Her husband, an Air Force captain and pilot, has been a prisoner-of-war in North Vietnam since Nov. 1967.

This is the translation of the letter

"We take this means of appealing to you"

An English translation of the Vietnamese follows:

To the Honorable Ton Duc Thang:

We take this means of appealing to you on a situation which is close to the hearts of all Americans. This issue is not whether Americans should be in Vietnam or whether we should pull all our troops out immediately. The issue is not whether you are right and we are wrong or that we are right and you are wrong.

The issue is the 450 American servicemen who are held in your prison camps. Another 1,150 are listed as missing and possibly some are your prisoners.

Their situation is our united concern.

Both the "doves and the hawks" of America feel deeply about them and their welfare. We ask you to consider their immediate release. They have no military value to you. They can't hurt or hamper your war effort and no longer would help ours.

These men, like your soldiers, do not institute policy but merely serve as soldiers have done since time began. Like your men, they performed their duty and were willing to sacrifice for their country. Like your soldiers, they left their homes and families not because they wanted to but because their country called on them.

Patriotism is not limited to the men of Vietnam or to the men of America but is the privilege of all men. They fight under their flag whether it be red, white and blue or red, yellow and blue.

Your supporters in this country could take satisfaction from the release of the prisoners. This, more than anything else, would demonstrate that you, too, do not seek revenge against men who did their duty. This, too, would show the world that compassion, not punishment, can lead to peace.

The arguments of your critics that human life means nothing to you would be baseless if you allowed just peace by acting quickly on the appeal.

If your heart contains mercy and your soul compassion and if you truly seek to help the cause of peace, you have an opportunity to achieve these images in the eyes of the world.

The feeling here is that you don't care about the individual; that his needs and wants and desires don't matter; that life is not sacred to you.

Your actions can give lie to these beliefs. An act of amnesty toward American prisoners would show the world that you are concerned with life and that all life is sacred.

Family ties in America are strong and all Americans want these men reunited with their families. Some fathers have never seen their children. Some are missing the joy of watching them grow.

And, the children, they live with a constant dream and hope that they may again be a whole family.

Few men in the history of the world have been given the opportunity that you now have.

History can record you as a man of compassion; a man who respected human life and held it in high value; a man who held that family life is paramount, providing a measure of peace to many families.

Return these men to their families and the world would hail you. Retain them and your supporters can't help but wonder about your sincerity and motives.

We address you not as one enemy to another but as one human to another.

As citizens of the United States we have no power to offer anything as individuals but goodwill in exchange for the men you hold. We have no power to make threats if you don't.

We only have hope; hope that you will heed the pleas and restore these men to their families.

How & where to send your letter

Copies of the adjoining letter to Ton Duc Thang, president of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, may be mailed for 25 cents to Hanoi.

The letter, written in Vietnamese, should be clipped out as indicated, folded into an airmail envelope, and mailed to:

Ton Duc Thang, president
Democratic Republic of Vietnam,
Hanoi, North Vietnam.

A test pre-copy of the letter which was addressed, sealed and weighed indicated that 25 cents in U.S. postage would cover the mailing costs.

McNears Beach Planning Backed

A fishing pier at the county's new McNears Beach near Peacock Gap is desirable, but no power-boat docking should be allowed because boating does not mix with fishing and bathing.

This was the consensus of the Marin County parks and recreation commissioners meeting at the Civic Center yesterday afternoon.

Commissioners also decided that when the pool reopens next summer, the pool area will be fenced off and a separate fee charged to all swimmers. The only other fee would be 50 cents per car for those who use the parking area. Two other entrances will be provided for pedestrians and bicyclists to enter free of charge.

With these changes, the commissioners approved a master plan for McNears Beach presented by Park Planner Donald Rolph and Director Pierre W. Joske.

The master plan calls for a two-lane parkway along the Quarry Road entrance to the 33-acre beach, picnic tables and lawn areas for family recreation, a concession area near the pool, remodeling of a caretaker's residence, a new restroom and change house building, removing of pilings in the water and restoration of the beach area, and a pier jutting out into deep water for fishing.

The master plan also called for a courtesy dock for about four boats at the end of the pier.

"Somehow, I just don't like to see this mix of boats with fishing and swimming," said Helen E. Newman. She said fishing and swimming should get priority at McNears Beach, and power boats would be out of place.

Ronald A. MacMillan, president of the Glenwood Homeowners Association, announced that his group opposes any power boat docks at McNears Beach. "This should be a family park with low gear use." He said power boats would bring noise, gas and oil spillage, and other activities that would not be compatible with fishing and bathing.

Rolph replied that power boats are crying for a place to land and argued for a "courtesy dock" for three or four boats.

Commissioners agreed that power boat docks are scarce but three or four berths would not begin to solve the problem. They knocked out the docking facility.

On a motion by Albert J. Boro and a second by Merritt A. Robinson, the commissioners unanimously accepted the rest of the master plan and sent it on to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for approval.

29 Nations Ask Skyjack Action

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Twenty-nine nations today formally asked the General Assembly to take action against airliner hijackings and to protect passengers and crews of hijacked aircraft.

The measure was introduced into the Assembly's 127-member legal committee.

The main sponsor was the Philippines.

Coasting To La Paz

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—La Paz taxi drivers seldom use their engines in carrying passengers from the 13,000-foot airport down to the capital city of 12,000 feet elevation. Once they start down the twisting road, they cut their engines and coast all the way to the heart of the city.

Creek Bank Recreation To Be Aired

Recreational use of Corte Madera Creek, between oBn Air Bridge and College of Marin, will be discussed at a public hearing before the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission next Wednesday night.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the library of Wolfe Grade School, 25 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield.

Commissioners announced yesterday that the evening meeting was set to give the public a chance to express views on the use of the creek bank for hiking, bicycling and other recreation.

A private fence erected on the banks of the creek now prevents public access along the length of the creek.

Five-Year-Olds Learn To Type

HEIDELBERG, GERMANY (GF) — Experimental educators in West Germany are teaching five-year-olds to type.

The first experiment is being carried out with 165 kindergarten children who are also learning to read and write. Under the so-called "Intertip" program, the pupils start off on special typewriters with the ten-finger system.

Each key has a different color, which is also daubed onto the child's corresponding finger nails. The text to be written is programmed into the typewriter. The keys fail to respond to wrong letters. The child sees what he has written in front of him, which simultaneously teaches him to read the printed word.

Wouldn't Be Sold Like Toothpaste

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Milton Shapp, newly-elected Pennsylvania governor, received a package Wednesday containing a bronze plaque with a tube of toothpaste at his suburban Merion home.

"To Milton Shapp with admiration and respect from the ad agency he would not let sell him like a tube of toothpaste," the plaque read.

Big Civic Center

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Civic Center, which includes the 28-floor City Hall built in the 1920s and the three-theater Music Center complex completed in the 1960s, is the largest concentration of local governmental buildings in the nation.

Rainbow Entrance Into Marin Praised

The rainbow painted on the northbound approach to Waldo Tunnel is a great idea, the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commissioners declared yesterday.

"I've been reading in the Independent-Journal some letters from people complaining about it," said Albert J. Boro. "I just want to go on record that I think it's great."

Boro said the rainbow is not only pleasing to the eye but is almost symbolic for people driving north through Marin. "On the other side of the rainbow you find a pot of gold."

Mrs. Helen E. Newman, who said she has not yet seen the rainbow, expressed the only dubious note. She said the rainbow may be fine "just so they don't keep on painting other bridges into a Disneyland."

"It makes your drive worth while," said chairman Lothar Salin. "I think we can informally express our pleasure to the state Division of Highways."

The Parks And Recreation Commission Also:

AIR POLLUTION — Nominated Leroy M. Gerner as the commission representative to the newly created Advisory Council to the Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board.

FENCE — Heard from Mrs. Joi Losee of 69 Hatsic Court, Larkspur, that the administrators of Tiscornia Estates plan to build a fence to block off scenic Baltimore Canyon. Commissioners advised Mrs. Losee to get community backing and approach the Larkspur City Council to see if access to Baltimore Canyon can be saved for hikers.

YOUTH — Reappointed Boro to the Marin County Youth Commission and named Merritt A. Robinson as alternate to succed Luther Salin.

Terrorism Film In Panther Trial

NEW YORK (UPI)—A documentary type film featuring the activities of the Algerian terrorists in the 1954 uprising against France was shown today at the bomb-conspiracy trial of 13 Black Panthers in Manhattan Supreme Court.

The jury was excused during the presentation by the prosecution of the French-made film "Battle of Algiers." The jury was excused to permit the defense to consider possible objections to the submission of the film as evidence in the trial of the defendants who are accused of attempted murder, arson and conspiracy to bomb public places.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph Phillips has maintained that the movie was used by the Black Panthers for training purposes and was required viewing for members.

LOTHAR SALIN WILL LEAVE COMMISSION

Lothar Salin, chairman of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, will retire from the commission when his term expires on Feb. 3, 1971.

Having served on the commission for six years, Salin said he wants to step down and devote more time to other activities including his printing business.

Two other commissioners, whose terms will also expire next February, are Helen E. Newman and Herber C. Leney.

Officers To Graduate From Police School

Three new Novato police officers will graduate at 5 p.m. tomorrow from the Academy of Law Enforcement at Santa Rosa Junior College, said Police Chief Allen V. Klemme.

They are Roger Speerschneider, Gregory A. Guion and John L. Tyson.

Crewmen Rescued When Boat Burns

SEATTLE (UPI)—An 85-foot fishing vessel owned by the Flamingo Fish Corp. of New Bedford, Mass., burned and sank today after the two crewmen were rescued by a passing tug.

Three Coast Guard cutters responded to the emergency call but were unable to extinguish the fire aboard the fishing boat Flamingo.

The two crewmen were taken aboard a Coast Guard boat from the tug Dorothy Foss which had pulled alongside the burning boat and taken off the men.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined, Coast Guard headquarters said.

The sinking occurred off Point No Point, north of Seattle.

Hanoi's Special Torture For Prisoners' Families

"It is the view of the secretary general that the government of North Vietnam ought to give an international humanitarian organization such as the League of Red Cross Societies access to the Americans detained in North Vietnam," said U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, last year.

It has not done so.

The International Red Cross conference in Istanbul last year called on Hanoi "to abide by the obligations set forth in the (Geneva) Convention and . . . to insure that all uniformed members of the regular armed forces of another party to the conflict and all other persons entitled to prisoner-of-war status are treated humanely and given the fullest measure of protection prescribed by the convention."

It has not done so.

HANOI HAS REFUSED even to identify whom it holds as prisoners of war. The occasional lists of names of prisoners it has released have included only those whose status had already become known through other channels. More than 1,100 Americans remain listed as "missing in action" in Vietnam — a situation unprecedented, since in other wars captives were soon identified so that those missing were known to be either prisoners or dead.

In this war, only Hanoi knows.

Two Marin women — Mrs. Robert L. Hill of Ignacio and Mrs. James Douglas Birchin of San Rafael — are among the thousands who do not know whether their husbands are dead or alive in the prisons of North Vietnam. Their children do not know whether they have living fathers.

To bring the powerful force of public opinion more strongly to bear on Hanoi — which clings to the idea that it is supported by many Americans — government officials from President Nixon on down are joining this month with organizations such as the Junior Chamber of Commerce and American Red Cross in urging the signing of petitions calling on Hanoi to observe the Geneva Conventions for treatment of prisoners of war.

The California Newspaper Publshers Association also is joining in the effort.

ELSEWHERE IN TODAY'S Independent-Journal are a full-page advertisement for this campaign, and a story detailing the situation of Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Birchin, and another Marin wife, Mrs. William W. Butler, who knows only that her husband lives as a prisoner of the North Vietnamese.

It is known that more than 200 American POWs have been held prisoner for five years or longer. One Navy flier began his seventh year as a captive last Aug. 5.

But even worse is the lack of any knowledge of the more than 1,100 who may be prisoners — or who may be dead.

NORTH VIETNAM subjects the families of these men to a special kind of hideous torture in refusing to give out complete lists of those whom it holds as prisoners.

If enough petitions reach Hanoi, it may realize that it is damaging its own already weak case before world tribunals by thus flouting the Geneva Conventions which it signed. That is the purpose of this month's petition campaign.

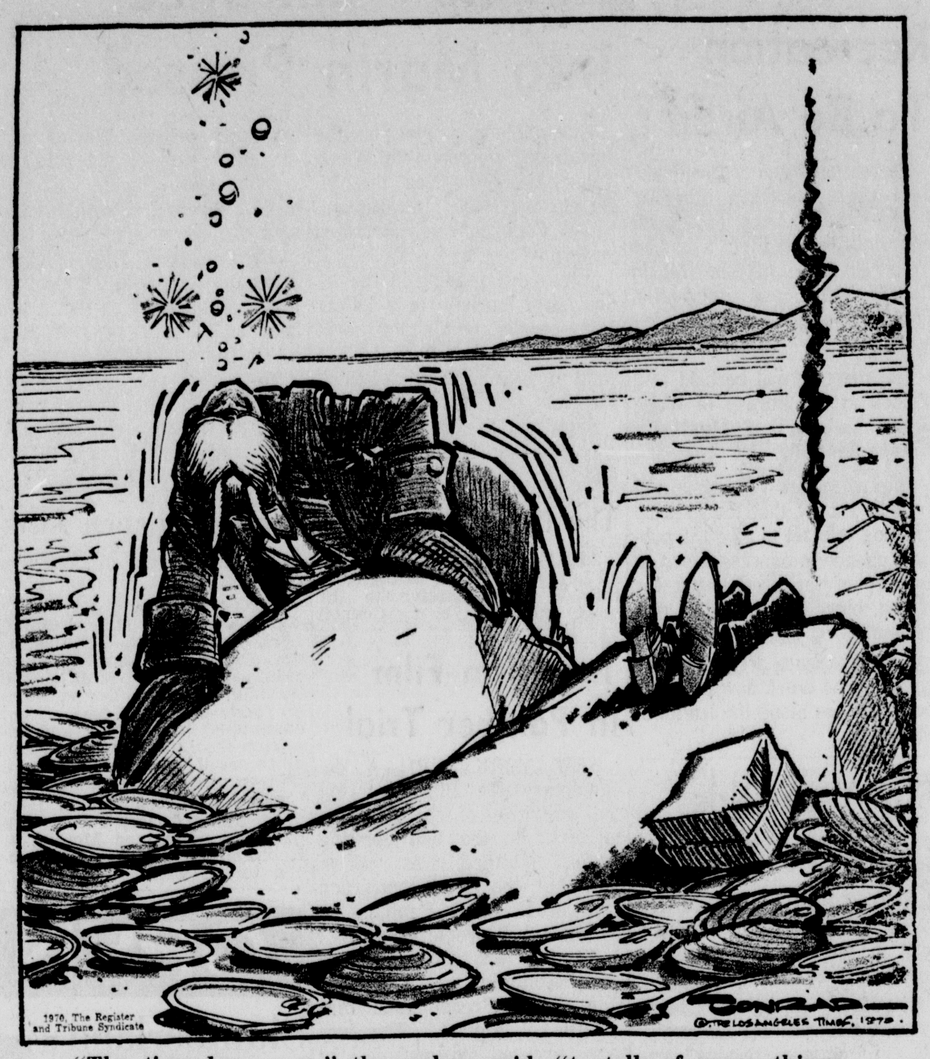
The Survivors

The quail that were balls of fluff this spring are now practically full grown. They even have their parents' crests upon their heads, though not quite as large.

They form a small covey of about a dozen birds, about six adults and six young. This summer one pair had about a dozen of their own. It appears that about one in six survived. Cats, skunks, climate, owls, disease and other factors — all played a part in controlling their numbers.

At first thought, this low survival rate seems very cruel. But Nature is infinitely wise. She knows the land will support just so many quail. By giving us an excess and allowing outside factors to whittle them down, she insures that those with the quickest reflexes, the most adaptable habits, the most resistance to disease survive.

The survivors do not know it, but they are the elite. They have been tested and chosen to perpetuate their species.



"The time has come," the walrus said, "to talk of many things: of DDT — and mercury — and what pollution brings."

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Sierra Club Forces Long Delay In Mineral King Project

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Although Walt Disney Productions is ready and willing to proceed with development of Mineral King recreation area east of Fresno, continued delays are foreseen.

The Disney people were scheduled to benefit from a suit won in federal court by the federal government, but added delays caused by the Sierra Club, losers of the suit, stand to add more than a year in delaying start of the project.

THE CLUB originally obtained a preliminary injunction against the federal government enjoining issuance of a permit for implementation of the Disney development plan.

Later, the Ninth District Court of Appeals vacated the preliminary injunction. This ordinarily would have fixed the go-ahead signal for the Disney peopel to begin the project.

But the Sierra Club adopted more delaying tactics, and was granted a stay in dissolving the injunction for 30 days, which brings the date up to tomorrow.

Even after the injunction is dissolved, there remains another period of delay until the U.S. Supreme Court decides whether it will hear the Sierra Club's appeal.

And the U.S. Supreme Court Court won't make up its mind until sometime next January. The injunction will remain in effect until such decision is made, and if the court does decide to hear the appeal, probably until final decision by the court is reached.

Thus, the harassing and delaying tactics of the Sierra Club are paying big dividends to the club members in their efforts to delay or halt development of the area as a major recreation center.

THE CLUB'S suit is based on saving the environmental quality of the Mineral King area. Yet the protection of this quality is not only guaranteed by the Disney interests, but also accepted by the federal government through departments of interior and agriculture, as well as national parks.

State funds still are budgeted for the construction of a road into Mineral King from Three Rivers, a project that has been budgeted for some years. Attempts to revert the money were made in the legislature this year by Sierra Club sympathizers, but were defeated.

It seems rather peculiar that a private firm is stopped from developing a recreational area at its own expense, when millions of dollars of state bond money are being spent to extend facilities on various projects throughout the state at probably double the cost as compared to private enterprise.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Language Teachers' Stand Clarified

Due to the erroneous coverage of the foreign language teachers' statements regarding overcrowded first year classes we fell the necessity to clarify our position.

Your article on page 14 dated Oct. 27 stated, "Simone MacKinnon, foreign language and English teacher, asked that foreign language teachers not have to teach English." This is not in agreement with the statement as read by Miss MacKinnon at the Oct. 26 board meeting of the Novato Unified School District. We would like to quote from the specific paragraph read:

"The most desirable method of ameliorating this acute predicament (of overcrowded first year foreign language classes) would be to acquire an additional English teacher, thereby reducing the number of English classes that most foreign language teachers now carry."

For example, two foreign language classes of 36 each could be divided into three classes of 24 each. This would necessitate another teacher acquiring one English class from the foreign language teacher. Our statement does not indicate or even imply that the foreign language teachers do not want to teach English; on the contrary, we enjoy and wish to continue our instruction of English . . .

New Night Spot Provides Action

On this bit regarding the new rock center and nite spot in the old Browns Furniture in Mill Valley, I think it's terrific. When I moved to Mill Valley from South San Francisco, I thought there would be some action up here. But as it is, Mill Valley is totally dead. But this new club will bring in people from all over the Bay Area and get Mill Valley out of the dark ages where it is now.

The kind of snobs you got in Mill Valley now think it's a big deal if they can go up to the library and read old magazines for an hour or so. But what else have they got they can do?

As to the parking —that is no problem as at night there is room to park three to four hundred cars downtown as the streets are all deserted all night now.

Rules Blocked Best Ways For Pennsy To Save Self

On the basis of a House Banking Committee staff report, chairman Wright Patman says the Pennsylvania Railroad's diversification program in the mid-1960s "contributed significantly" to the later financial woes of its successor, the Penn Central Railroad. He may well be right, but no one concerned with the future of U.S. railroads can let the subject drop there.

We won't try to pass on the wisdom of the Pennsylvania's major purchases, which included a pipeline company and three real estate and development firms. It's worth noting in passing, though, that they don't seem as far removed from the company's major interest as the acquisitions arranged by some other diversifying corporations.

WHAT IS IMPORTANT is the reason the Pennsylvania felt forced to diversify. Like other major railroads, the Pennsy represented a large capital investment that was generating a relatively small return. In fairness to their stockholders the railroad's managers had to try to improve that return.

One way it could have been improved was by limiting labor costs — by ending make-work practices and the chaos of dealing with a multiplicity of unions under antiquated federally set procedures. Here, of course, the way was and is blocked by union intransigence and congressional inaction.

The railroad's return also could have been improved through innovation —by experiments with rates, equipment and routes. Here the way was and is blocked by long-drawn-out Interstate Commerce Commission procedures, which often lead to rejection of any changes at all.

FINALLY, the Pennsy hoped that earnings could be improved through a merger with the New York Central, a transaction that would permit elimination of duplicating facilities and other economies. Whether the merger was a good idea or not, it was delayed for so long that by the time it was consummated the economic climate had completely changed.

So it's scarcely any wonder that the Pennsy tried to diversify. If the railroads are to survive as private enterprises, it's no help to tell them to stick to railroading. Other steps are needed to make it less necessary for railroads to turn to diversification in desperation.

Shame Of Spending Spree Should Help Override Nixon's Veto

WASHINGTON — Money, money, money — this has been a corrupting force in the election campaign just ended, dwarfing anything in America's political history. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that if an effective curb is not put on big spending elections, the country well will be destroyed.

While the Republicans had the big money and spent it by the barrelful, spending was not a prerogative of one party. In two Democratic primaries before the November election, private wealth put into television went to swing the balance.

IN NEW YORK, state Rep. Richard L. Ottinger is reported to have spent $1,300,000 to win the senatorial primary. The money came largely from International Plywood Corp. which his family controls.

In Texas, Lloyd Bentsen Jr., a multimillionaire insurance executive, spent well over a million dollars on a television blitz that began months before the primary date to defeat Sen. Ralph Yarborough. The Bentsen television spots were shrewdly tailored to exploit the emotions of prayer amendment and campus unrest.

While exact figures are difficult if not impossible to come by, the Republicans in the campaign spent probably over-all 10 times as much as the Democrats. One reason is that they had the money in contrast to the near-bankruptcy of the Democratic party.

WITH THE MEMORY of this orgy of money still fresh, a major goal should come at the top of the agenda of the returning Congress. That is to override President Nixon's veto of a bill limiting broadcast spending in political campaigns. The president vetoed the measure on Oct. 12 even though 97 Republicans in the House, including virtually all the Republican leadership, voted for it.

At the time of the veto, Republican leaders predicted they could prevent a two-thirds vote to override. By what rationalization those who were for the measure can justify supporting a feeble veto message is hard to see.

The measure is a modest attempt to hold broadcast spending down to a sane limit. Figures compiled by the Federal Communications Commission show that in 1968 the Republicans spent $12,697,953 for television and radio time for the Nixon-Agnew ticket. Electronic time for the Humphrey-Muskie ticket cost $6,143,953.

The broadcast bill would limit spending in a presidential campaign to 7 cents a vote for each vote cast in the last general election. This would add up to a total of $5,100,000 for each ticket. It would not include presidential primaries. Candidates for Congress and governorships would be limited to 7 cents a vote of $20,000, whichever was higher.

REPEATED attempts to restrain the spiralling costs of political campaigns have been frustrated. These attempts have included proposals to encourage small individual contributors by granting an income tax writeoff. The broadcast bill is the best chance — it may be the last chance, given the intricacies of the legislative process — to take a small step before another national election.

The president in his veto message called for board reforms, calling the restraint on broadcast spending merely plugging one hole in a sieve. Should the vote be against overriding, another strategy is under consideration by senators angered over the deluge of money. That is to separate the three elements in the bill — the restriction on broadcast spending, the equal-time provision, and a requirement that the networks charge at a lower than the highest commercial rate for political broadcasts — and introduce each on its merits. Lengthy hearings have been held on all these proposals and against the background of the spending spree it is believed they have a good chance of passage.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

China Couples New Blast With Nuclear Pact Bid

By PHIL NEWSOM, UPI Foreign News Analyst

Communist China has linked an attack on Japanese "militarism" with a call for a conference of large and small nations to discuss prohibition and destruction of nuclear weapons.

Since the Red Chinese have in the past rejected all invitations to participate in world disarmament dicsussions, the proposal scarcely can be taken seriously. It is, however, in the pattern of the propaganda line which the Chinese have been following since the first Chinese nuclear test blast in 1964.

Linked with the latest Chinese proposal was a denunciation of "U.S. imperialism" and of "Japanese militarism" for collaborating with and serving as a vanguard for U.S. "aggression" in Asia. It was issued in connection with a visit by a Japanese socialist delegation to Peking.

IT WAS ON Oct. 16, 1964, that the Chinece announced their entry into the atomic club, accompanying it by a call for an international conference to "discuss the question of the complete prohibition and thorough destruction of nuclear weapons" and a promise that China "will never at any time and under any circumstances be the first to use nuclear weapons."

In 1965, the Chinese proposed specifically to the United States that they join in a pledge not to use nuclear weapons against each other.

The U.S. rejected the suggestion as without "sufficient guarantee.

The exchange was not made public until May 11, 1966, when the United States raised the possibility of entering into a pledge with the Chinese that neither would be the first to use nuclear weapons if the Chinese would agree to stop their atomic testing.

THE CHINESE, who had refused to sign the 1963 test ban treaty, worked out by the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain, did not react to the U.S. proposal.

They have continued their atmospheric nuclear tests, carrying out their most recent one on oct. 14. It was their 11th nuclear test.

Their propaganda attack on the Japanese "militarists" and the government of Prime Minister Eisaku Sato was their second in two days.

A commentary distributed by Hsinhua, the Chinese Communist press agency, declared that a Japanese white paper outlining Japanese defense policies actually was designed to open the door to Japan's nuclear armament.

What the paper did was to reiterate Japan's anti-nuclear policy.

The Chinese commentary also said the white paper aimed at justifying introduction of conscription for supplying Japan's armed forces with manpower. The white paper specifically said Japan never would introduce conscription.

Be all this as it may, the commentary concluded that Japanese militarism is a paper tiger anyway.

Never Mind The Diplomats, Let Women's Fashions Close Gap

WASHINGTON — "Comrade buyers, fashion designers and state managers of state department stores. Is honor to introduce Comrade Torkel who has just completed visit to America where he observed new fashions now being worn on American women. Comrade Torkel."

"Is pleasure to be back in Moscow, comrades, and give report on American fashions with illustrations from magazines.

"Here, comrades, is first dress. Skirt is coming to below knees."

"BUT, COMRADE TORKEL, we've been making this dress in Leningrad dress factory for 20 years. What is new about this?"

"Am only reporting what have seen. Here second illustration. Evening pajamas to go to party in."

"You are mad, Comrade Torkel. Why would American women go to parties in their pajamas when they are richest women in world?"

"Is impossible to explain, but every reception I went to, I saw women wearing pajamas."

"But Comrade Torkel, if American women wear pajamas to party, what do they wear to bed?"

"Is nothing."

"NOTHING?"

"Is called 'new permissiveness.' Now, comrades, here is woman in pants suits."

"Are those for women railroad workers?"

"No, comrades, those are for women to go to restaurants, cocktails and dinner."

"Comrade Torkel, you are making fun of us. How can women wear pants in America when not working in factory?"

"Is being done all over."

"The Kiev Pants Co-Operative has been making pants like that since the revolution."

"Is true. Now here is outfit women wear to go out shopping in. Is leather coat with leather boots and fur on collar."

"BUT, COMRADE TORKEL, this woman looks like a member of the Communist Party. She could be working for KGB."

"Is true. Leather coats and boots are now the fashion."

"The Gum department store in Moscow had this outfit 10 years ago. We were stuck with hundreds of them."

"Next illustration. Here is peasant blouse and peasant skirt and no shoes for afternoon wear."

"But that is what they have been wearing in Smolensk since Stalin died."

"My sister, Katrina, wore an outfit like that until she got a job."

"AND HERE, comrades, is the piece de resistance. Is knickers with boots and woolen sweater and woolen hat."

"Comrade Torkel, do they have women Coassacks in America?"

"No Cossacks. Is for going to beauty parlor and night clubs."

"To think Malinkock was sent to Siberia when his factory once tried to make knickers and they wouldn't sell!"

"WHAT ARE YOUR conclusions, Comrade Torkel?"

"Is obvious, comrades, that American women want to look like Russian women. We also know Russian women all want to look the way American women used to look. Is possible we make barter deal. We give them all the clothes our women won't wear that we make; they give us all the clothes their women refuse to wear now."

"Comrade Torkel, is fantastic solution to our rotten clothes problem. I am putting you in for the Lenin medal today."

MARIN'S 'TOP GUN'

Veteran Lawman Retiring

By WAT TAKESHITA

Capt. Carl Ralph Sears, 45, Marin County's "top gun" in 1958, will retire on Dec. 15 after 23 years in Marin law enforcement, the last 19 in the sheriff's office.

He will retire because of illness, a crippling bone disease.

When the Marin sheriff's department started holding shooting competition in 1958, Sears posted a series of near-perfect scores to earn the title of "top gun."

He and his teammates outshot the best in the state to win the state team championship three years in a row, from 1961 through 1963. On that championship team were four others, still active on the sheriff's force — Undersheriff Sidney Stinson, William Johansen, Edward Levine, and Ernest Nielsen.

The team went on to the national finals in Indiana in 1963 and came back with individual trophies by Levine and Stinson.

Despite his prowess with the revolver, Captain Sears never drew his gun in anger during his four years as officer in Sausalito and his 19 years with the sheriff's department.

During his years as deputy, investigator, lieutenant and captain, Sears was known for his tight lipped silence, replying to queseioners with the laconic "Yup" and "Nope" in Gary Cooper style.

Did he recall any close brushes with death during his career?

"Nope," said Sears. "Not that I can remember."

But he did recall investigating some grisly cases such as the strangulation of Joy Barnes in a vacant lot on Princess Street in Sausalito in 1948, the twin murder committed by Stinson Beach houseboy Bart Caritavivo in the mid 1950's and the murder of 12-year-old Lorna Lax in Kentfield in 1960.

A native of Las Vegas, Nev., Sears attended public schools in Redwood City and joined the Navy in 1944. While stationed at Inyokern Naval Base in the Mohave Desert, he met and married his in 1946.

They moved to San Francisco and then to Sausalito in 1947 when he joined the Sausalito Police Department under Chief James F. Doyle, now retired. During his four years in Sausalito, Sears became sergeant and served as acting chief.

In November of 1951, Sears became a deputy in the sheriff's office, serving under Sheriff Walter Sellmer, then the late Sheriff David Menary Sr., and current Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

Sears rose to investigator, lieutenant and then captain in charge of the patrol division in June of 1966.

A graduate of Gornac Polygraph School in Pasadena, Sears is the only deputy in the sheriff's office who is qualified to administer lie detector tests.

"He came up through the ranks and has been one of the outstanding captains to command a patrol division with respect and dignity," said Sheriff Mountanos. "His reputation is well earned and deserved."

Sears said the big change in the sheriff's office he joined 19 years ago has been the growth, both in number of personnel and the physical facilities.

"There were 44 of us, including matrons, secretaries and the civil deputies," said Sears. "Now, there must be close to 180. At first we had no patrol cars so we used our own family car. Of course, in those days, we had no regular patrols. We were just subject to call."

Besides shooting in competition, Captain Sears' hobbies are water skiing and hunting.

His favorite hunging area is in Idaho, where he bas bagged elk weighing about 800 pounds. "I once shot a black bear, but we were driven away by a blizzard. We were snowed in for three days, and then when we went back for the bear, the entire area was covered with snow.

Sears' last day of work was last Friday, but he is still on sick leave and will not officially retire until Dec. 15, when Capt. Harvey E. Teague will succeed him.

Yacht Explodes, Victims Saved

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A yacht exploded, burned and sank in San Francisco Bay Wednesday but both persons aboard escaped unharmed in a raft.

A Coast Guard helicopter plucked them from the raft as it floated off Brisbane.

Those aboard were Bob Kennedy, South San Francisco, the operator; and Dale Campbell, Montara, a passenger.

Homestead Poll Due On Brown's Hall

Homestead Valley's 900 families will be polled by the Homestead Valley Community Association to see if they approve of plans to sell the group's meeting place, Brown's Hall.

Secretary Audrey Peterson said directors on Tuesday appointed a committee to prepare ballots and a letter giving background of the issue.

Member approval is necessary before the transaction can be made, Mrs. Peterson said.

Directors were told Tuesday that several parties are interested in purchasing the hall, which is being sold to ease the tax burden on the asosciation. Two of the proposals would convert the building into a film center and a third would make it into a dance hall.

In a related matter, directors voted to pay the first installment of the association's 1970 property taxes on the building. Total taxes this year will be $1,477, Mrs. Peterson said.

The board also was told that the county wants the association to agree to a five-year plan to pay off $2,098 in back taxes owed on the structure. Mrs. Peterson said the taxes accrued while the group's application for tax-exempt status was pending before the state.

'Head Tax' Ends In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) —West Virginians, seizing a rare opportunity to reduce their taxes at the polls, have wiped off their lawbooks the century old "capitation" tax.

The levy required all males over 21 to pay $1 annually to the state. Officials complained the cost of collecting the so-called "head tax" was greater than the returns some years. The vote was 239,926 to 112,418 Tuesday.

Five Arrested For Kidnapping

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI)—Police arrested five persons Wednesday, including two sons of a former presidential candidate, in connection with the kidnapping of Air Force commander, Gen. Cesar Rohon Sandoval, government sources said.

The sources said former paratrooper Washington Zavala, an alleged participant in the plot, told police the aim of Rohon Sandoval's kidnappers was to topple the government of Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra. Velasco who is serving his fifth term as president has never completed a full term in office.

Arrested with Zavala were Andres and Jorge Cordova, sons of Andres Cordova Nieto, a Liberal presidential candidate who lost to Velasco in 1968.

Volunteer's Group To Purchase Pumper

The Alto-Richardson Bay Volunteer Firemen's Association will purchase a used 1,000-gallon pumper truck for the district, the group's board of directors decided last night.

Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. said the truck, a Seagraves with a high-pressure pump, will be bought from the Los Angeles Fire Department.

Marin Women

THIS O F F -w h i t e shirt probably tailored to fit someone who wore it years ago gives a sort of dust bowl look to the young man who now happily wears it in Sausalito. It has hand stitching and a few stains.

A RUFFLED hem is a feature of the polka dot dress worn by this young woman at the same length Mrs. Richard M. Nixon wears hers. Although the two probably don't shop at the same kind of establishments and the look differs, they both are fashion conscious. The outfit is completed with a front-pleated jacket and six rings on her fingers.

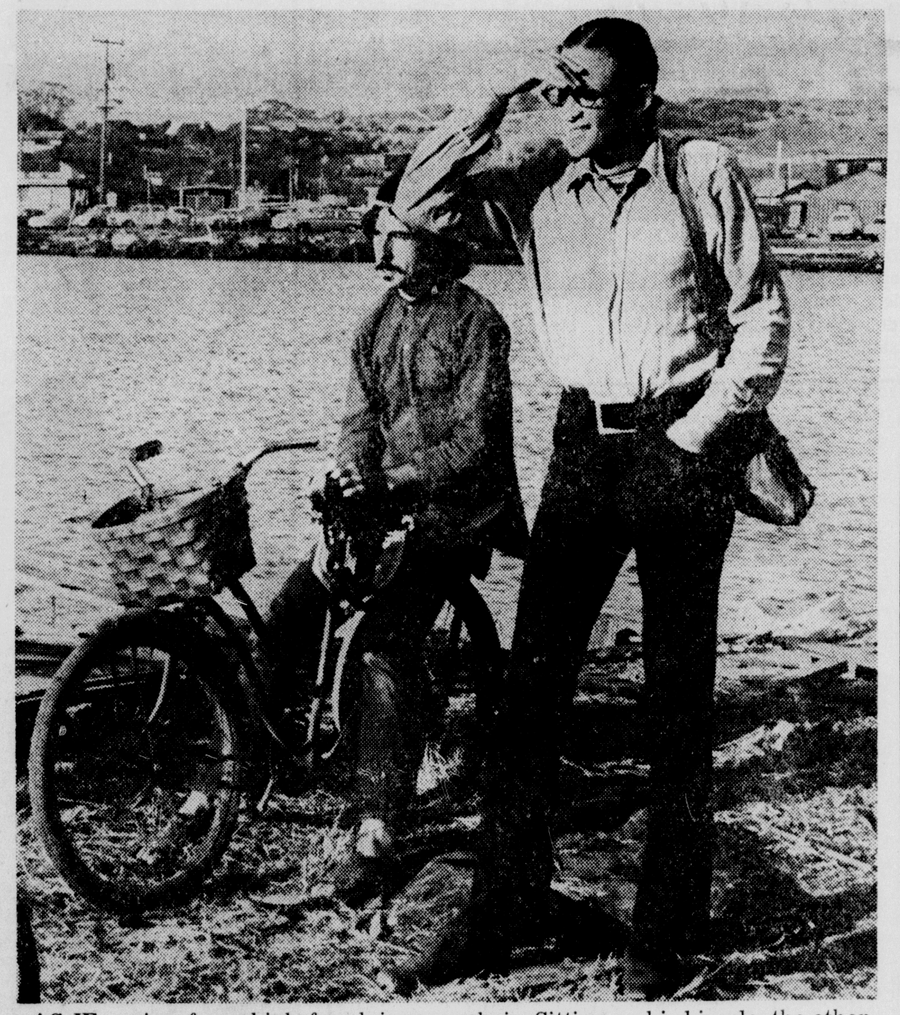
BIB OVERALLS, a big fashion item from the streets and countrysides of Marin to the new Nieman-Marcus Christmas gift catalogue were seen on several men and women who happened by the rock concert in Sausalito. The best accessory for the overalls, of course, is a red plaid flannel shirt. This man's box seat for the concert was a cut-down Buick. (Beth Gaeddert photos)

Fashion—Right On The Street Where You Live

The occasion was a free rock concert by the bay in Sausalito. Lured by the rock vibrations of a band called Heresy, hitchhikers and houseboaters appeared in their kind of "high" fashion, to have some apple cider and sit in the autumn sun.

The clothes they wore are the ones copied by designers for boutiques which are then copied by some of the world's most famous fashion designers. So, here, straight from the street are some of the "highest" fashions around. They include bib overalls, fringed scarves, shoulder bags worn by men and longer skirts — all first worn by people on the streets of Marin.

WHAT TO wear for an afternoon of jamming is whatever you feel like. This outfit included a feather and long-trailing scarf tied around the head, two neck scarves, a cross, airline junior pilot wings, a shoulder bag from South America, knit tank top and jeans adorned with two belts, a fringed shawl and a stars and stripes scarf tied around the knee.



AS IF posing for a high f a s h i o n magazine the two were just watching as the band played on. At right, the man's outfit included a canvas shoulder bag and neatly tied-back hair. Sitting on his bicycle, the other young man wears a Nehru-collared shirt and sandals. A head band and mustache complete his look.

Month In Peru Is Filled With Adventure For John Barnards

The John R. Barnards returned last weekend to Mill Valley from an adventure-filled month in Peru, where they visited their son Geoffrey and his wife, Elizabeth, both Peace Corps volunteers.

The young people have been living for a year at Puno, a small town located at an altitude of 12,500 feet on the shore of Lake Titicaca, highest navigable body of water in the world.

Of most interest to Jean Barnard, who is vice mayor of Mill Valley, she says, was seeing and a c t u a l l y going through some of the extreme hardships involved in living in that area.

"We bumped in ancient buses and cattle trucks over miles of dirt r o a d s," she said, "jammed in among Indians and their big loads and flew in all sorts of planes, including a Colombian cargo plane out of the jungle, sharing space with stacks of wild boar hides and fish as big as tuna but caught in the Amazon River.

"At Iquitos we swam in the very hot, black and unrefreshing waters of that river — a great contrast with swimming later in the delightful Carribbean Sea — and were surprised at how flat the Amazon is. In 2,600 miles it drops only 350 feet."

Jean said new experiences in food were eating alpaca meat in Puno and papayas as big as watermelons in the jungle and drinking milk from coconuts in Panama, which they passed through on the way home.

Incredible to them was having their shoes shined for two and a half cents, attending movies for 28 cents in Bogota and enjoying a full course dinner including cocktails for $2.50.

They saw many scenic wonders.

"We spent two days and a full moonlit night at the ruins of Machu Picchu, which our son calls 'the greatest sight in the western hemisphere,' and admired the work of modern man in the remarkable Salt Cathedral near Bogato, which

Minors Get Busted For Smoking Grass But Adults Go Untouched

DEAR HELEN:

It's illegal to smoke grass at any age, right?

So how come they bust us 'minors' for it, but leave the adults alone? Two of my friends got expelled from school because the were caught smoking one cigarette (between them). They'll go to court next week. One kid had never tried pot before, and the other got the stuff from a friend who stole it from home. His folks pass it around every time they have a party, and you'd be surprised who comes to their parties — people pretty high in the police department and county court.

You'd better believe these people don't get raided.

In magazine and television interviews, well known performers talk about getting stoned — even smoking right out on the street, and the cops never tap them. But if a student — even if he's over 18 — tried it,he'd be slapped with a heavy fine or even jail.

As I see it, there's a tough law for kids and "street people" that the police don't like, and a look the other way rule for the upright (or rich) citizens who do probably more illegal drugs than teens. Also, I doubt if the kid who got the joint from home would ever get busted.

How about printing my letter, Helen, and asking answers from people who make or enforce (more or less) the law? — STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT:

Letter printed; answers awaited. (We may have a long wait) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This fall four of us girls went on a week's camping trip at a state park. We had our parents' permission. In fact they even visited us there. We're ordinary college students, who like boys but don't go overboard about it.

On the last two nights of the campout, some fellas stopped at our campfire and we sat around playing guitars, singing, and talking. All we had to drink was coffee. We were neither loud nor lewd.

Well, it seems that some older campers were just waiting for an excuse to complain. They reported that we created a nuisance, and accused one girl of coming out of the tent in panties and bra. You know, the old naked hippie thing. They also said we used foul language, which we didn't.

It was their word against ours, and with all the publicity about hippies and parks, guess who won? We are now restricted from the park, and even our parents are doubtful about us. The Superintendent doesn't want to take a chance of giving the park a bad name, so — our reputations went up in smoke. Incidentally, the only smoking we did was with tobacco. But we got accused of that too.

How can we get this restriction lifted and clear ourselves of what we didn't do? — NOT GUILTY

DEAR N.G.:

First prove to your parents that the accusations were highly exaggerated. That shouldn't be hard, if you've been clean up to now. Next, have them arrange a hearing with the park superintendent. If he got no other compaints, or noticed nothing amiss with your camp during your stay, he may review the case and reverse the decision. Adult pressure carries a lot of weight. —

DEAR HELEN:

What's a good put-down for a guy who thinks he's GGTW? He thinks all the girls should fall down and worship him, and inasmuch as we're only sexual playthings anyway, he's doing us a favor by inviting us to his apartment. — WANTING A SHARP ANSWER

DEAR WASA:

The best put-down for these "much libido about nothing" fellas is "No thanks, baby" And a fast switch to another guy. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in the Independent-Journal.

Gail Marie Rogers Is Bride In Novato

Gail Marie Rogers became tpe bride of Daniel Grahame Payette of San Francisco in a ceremony Saturday at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Gail, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rogers of Novato, chose her sister Linda Rogers as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Douglas G. Alexander of Corte Madera, Donna Pettey of Novato and Sheila Lindsey of Millbrae.

Steven Payette of Berkeley served his brother as best man.

The guests were seated by Dan Zell of Novato, David Maiero of San Bruno and William Nacca of San Diego.

Gail and Daniel greeted guests afterward at a reception at the San Marin Club in Novato. Following their wedding trip to Southern California they will live in San Francisco.

Gail is a Novato High School graduate and is employed with United California Bank in San Francisco. She is the sister of Jane, Jill, Tim and Mark Rogers, all of Novato. Mrs. Robert Wander of El Cerrito is her grandmother.

Daniel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Payette of San Francisco and the brother of Susan Payette of Redwood City. He attended the College of San Mateo after graduation from San Carlos High School and is now employed with James Allen and Sons in San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Passage of San Francisco are Daniel's grandparents.

Good Variety Of Beef And Pork At Markets This Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that early November shoppers will find a good variety of beef and pork at meat counters and a fair supply of fruits and vegetables to choose from this weekend.

Beef offerings for this week include several varieties of roasts and steaks. In the pork line, shoppers should look for chops and ham. Broiler-fryers are the leading item in poultry buys.

Vegetable bins will have good supplies of onions, potatoes, cabbage, and carrots.

In West Coast markets the wholesale prices on broiler-fryers and fresh and smoked pork are lower while eggs are higher. Prices on butter and other red meats and poultry are generally unchanged from last week.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapefruit, cabbage, carrots, celery, onions and potatoes.

Seafood buys to watch for in the West, according to the U.S. Department of Commerce, are oysters, Pacific snapper fillets, halibut, salmon steaks, dungeness crabs and canned salmon.

ON THE AGENDA

Tamalpais District Camp Fire Girls To Plant Trees Saturday

Two hundred Camp Fire Girls of the Tamalpais District will plant 200 trees at the south end of Waldo Tunnel Saturday.

Conceived as a conservation project, the tree planting will follow a picnic at Kirby Cove for the girls, their families and leaders.

After U.S. Army transports have carried Camp Fire personnel and trees to the hillside, fathers of the girls will lend a helping hand by digging the holes for the Monterey pine seedlings the girls will plant on the hill.

Mrs. Herbert Heberling of Corte Madera is in charge of the project. District chairman Mrs. Donald Miller has announced that the trees grown at the University of California at Davis, agricultural station were donated by Assemblyman William T. Bagley. He formally presented the trees on Oct. 26 at the Camp Fire office in San Rafael.

THE MARIN Charter Chapter of the American Business Womens Association will present a fall fashion show Saturday at the San Geronimo Country Club. The theme will be Feathers and Fashions.

Proceeds are to be used to supplement the chapter's educational fund. Scholarships totaling $1,000 have been awarded this year to young women in Marin County. Special guets at the show will be this year's scholarship recipients.

Mmes. John J. Clancy and Dave Moore are coordinating the event assisted by Mmes. Maida Barrick, Harold L. Hosford, Eleanor Montgomery and Barbara Petropoulos.

Models will be Misses Norma Neal, Cheri Clancy, Christie Heller and Susan Nattress and Mmes. Joseph J. Bewley, William J. Frye, Hosford, Walter Madsen, Robert Tozer and Barrick.

Hostesses will be Mmes. John C. Logan, Lucille Brown, Kenneth Seiboldt, Rowena Thornton and Eleanor Montgomelry. Commentator will be Myron Zwang.

A "ROARING '20's" costume party will be held by the Novato Hostess Club at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Community House with a Reno style setting.

Mrs. Robert Powers is coordinating the party. Mmes. Archie Patton and Al Verza will serve refreshments and a midnight snack to members and their guests; Mrs. C. J. Goudeau is in charge of games; Mmes. Arthur Wagner and James Kiehl are decorations chairmen, and Mrs. William Cheney is reservations chairman.

ST. CECILIA'S Parish in Lagunitas will hold its annual public roast beef harvest dinner at the parish hall on Saturday evening beginning at 7. There will also be a silent auction and entertainment.

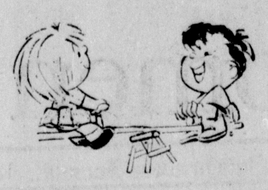
Members of St. Cecilia's Women's Club will prepare the home cooked dinner, and members of the Holy Name Society will assist. Reservations will not be necessary.

B'NAI B'RITH Women, Marin Chapter 266, is planning an evening "Remember When," Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wachsman in San Rafael.

Following a happy hour at 7 p.m. a pot luck dinner will be served highlighted by a fashion show of 100 years of fashions, courtesy of a private collector. Reservations chairman is Mrs. Harry Yaffee of San Anselmo. Funds raised will go to the many philanthropic activities of B'nai B'rith Women.

THE CHICKEN Little Chapter of Children's Home Society is having an anniversary dance at the Veteran's Memorial Building Saturday at 9 p.m. to raise funds to help the Children's Home Society. Reservations chairmen are Mrs. Ron Walters and Mrs. Fred Groverman of Petaluma.

FATHERS WILL have an opportunity to see what goes on at the Church in Ignacio Nursery School Saturday when their children bring them to the school to demonstrate fingerpainting, puzzle solving, block building and carpentry and to introduce them to the staff: Mmes. Arleigh Sawyer, John McSween, James Heidinger, Arthur Caswell and John Pearson, director.



A BANJO band will provide the music at the St. Anselm's parish dinner dance Saturday at the church in San Anselmo. The party begins at 7 p.m. and dinner will be served at 8 p.m.

MEMBERS OF Preceptor Alpha Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will attend the Actor's Playhouse of Marin production of "Star Spangled Girl" at the Congregation Rodef Sholom auditorium Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

A buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Chester Pec in San Rafael will follow.

A PRE-CHRISTMAS showing of creative playthings will be sponsored Saturday by the Mill Valley Nursery School, a parent-participation organization.

The show will be held from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the school, 51 Shell Road, Alto. In addition to the toy display there will be a sale of baked goods.

DAUGHTERS OF the Shepherd of Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church in Tiburon will host a reception Sunday after the 10 a.m. service to honor Dr. R. D. Lechleitner. The 11 a.m. reception in the church's fellowship hall will follow his installation as new pastor of Shepherd of the Hills.

Barnards' Peru Trip

is really carved out of black salt. Designed by an architect, it is located in a mine and has a most impressive treatment of the 14 stations of the cross consisting only of a Roman numeral for each standing tree in an alcove lit by fluorescent light," Jean said.

In Lima the Barnards spent some time with the Robert De Haans, formerly of Mill Valley and now of San Rafael but assigned to Lima for three years.

"We were amazed," Jean said, "to find that part of their house was open to the sky, for it never rains in Lima. It is a gray, ugly, fog-bound city which is not characteristic of Peru. Cuzco, on the other hand, is one of the most attractive cities we have seen."

The Indian women were of special interest to Jean. Because of a Peruvian government regulation that all names and ages of passengers must be listed, she learned that ancient looking, wrinkled women who would have been judged in the 90's in the United States were in their 40's. On the Puno streets she saw many women who looked like the grandmothers of the babies on their backs. Nevertheless, she observed, they seemed cheerful and jolly.

Jean said the major duties of their son and daughter-in-law are working with the campesinos, or peasants, encouraging them to sell their arts and crafts to cooperatives that they are also helping to set up. They find it quite frustrating because it is so difficult to get the campesinos to do anything new. They simply agree to whatever they are told and then do to suit themselves.

The young people were not called to help with the great earthquake disaster, Jean said, because more than enough people were already in the area for that purpose.

OUT OF THE ASHES AT GNOSS FIELD

Less than a month after a $250,000 blaze destroyed the Spectrum Air offices and Blue Yonder Cafe at Gnoss Field, workmen rush completion of a building that will be almost identical to the one burned. The structure was roofed in time to beat Tuesday's rains, and contractors' crews were expected to finish work within a month. Spectrum air service officals said they'll move out of a trailer rented as temporary offices, into the new building before Christmas. (Independent-Journal photo)

Regional Library Groundbreaking

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the long-sought Corte Madera Regional Library will be tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the intersection of Meadowsweet Drive and Stanford Street.

According to Bruce D. Bajema, county librarian, construction will begin about Nov. 15, with completion expected by October 1971.

The new library will be built by J. Di Giorgio and Son of San Rafael and will have about 10,000 square feet of floor space. Di Giorgio in September bid $330,974 for the project — about $10,000 less than the next lowest bidder. The architect, Neill Smith and Associates of San Francisco had estimated the construction cost at $320,000.

When completed, the one-story structure situated on a 2.6-acre lot will house from 50,000 to 70,000 volumes. It will replace two small existing branches in Corte Madera and Greenbrae.

Also envisioned for the new library site is a park for passive recreational use. The building itself will feature a clerestory roof to admit glare-free daylight throughout the building.

Corte Madera's bid for a library goes back to 1964 when discussions were held between the town, City of Larkspur and the county. Talks bogged down when Larkspur indicated it would not give up control of its library in any joint agreement.

For the next four years, study commissions from the two municipalities continued to discuss joint powers agreements and mergers.

In June 1968, the Corte Madera and county began discussion of a joint powers agreement to establish a county library in Corte Madera, with financing to be split between the two.

Four months later, the county board of supervisors voted to purchase the property where tomorrow's ceremony will be held.

In October of this year, the newly created Marin County-Corte Madera Library Authority board, formed to administer financing of the library, sold $855,000 in bonds for the library.

The funds will be used for site purchase, building construction and furnishing.

On hand for tomorrow's groundbreaking will be Corte Madera Mayor Edward W. Colthurst, Supervisor Louis H. Baar, and state Senator-elect Peter H. Behr.

Bay Crusade Seeking More Money

United Bay Area Crusade volunteers in Marin and four other counties are striving to raise $3.35 million more in pledges within a week. The annual campaign by 50,000 Bay Area volunteer fund-raisers entered its final week today.

Stephen A. Girard, UBAC campaign chairman, said yesterday the volunteers had raised $13,498,113, or 80.1 per cent of the Crusade's goal of $16,850,000. The money provides support for 190 voluntary agencies in the five counties.

Final report on the total pledged and community recognition awards will be made at a luncheon Nov. 13 in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel, San Francisco. Award applications and reservations may be made through the Crusade office in San Rafael.

Public Defender Out In Death Row Case

A motion asking that the Marin public defender be removed from a death row case on the grounds that he is incompetent was granted without comment yesterday by a Superior Court judge.

Public defender Jerome C. Durham did not appear at the hearing, held in the courtroom at San Quentin prison. It was reported by deputy public defender Buford Toney that Durham was ill and confined to bed under a doctor's orders.

After Toney asked for a week's continuance in the matter because of Durham's illness, Judge E. Warren McGuire asked Toney if his office planned to file affidavits in answer to those filed on behalf of Jack R. Gorman.

The affidavits had accused Durham of being unprepared for a trial which had been due to start next week.

When Toney replied that his office did not plan to file any affidavits, the judge granted the motion that Durham be removed from the case. He appointed Sausalito attorney A. Leonard Bjorklund for Gorman.

Bjorklund had prepared the affidavits for Gorman, in which a member of Durham's own staff, Edward Briggs, had been quoted as saying that the Gorman case was being mishandled and shuffled from one member of the staff to another.

Gorman had said in an affidavit that he thought Durham was drunk the first time he ever met him and that he smelled of liquor during his earlier trial.

Gorman and Marc C. Osuna were convicted of slaying bartender Mario Ferrari during a 1965 Labor Day holdup of the Mission Inn Tavern in San Rafael.

A higher court reversed the jury decision that they receive the death penalty and they are to be retried on the penalty phase of the case only.

Judge McGuire yesterday severed the cases and left the Osuna case set to go to trial next week. He continued Gorman's case to Jan. 19 for setting of a trial date.

Questioning On San Jose Incident

SAN JOSE (UPI) —A Santa Clara County Grand Jury committee has begun a series of "information sessions" on the incident last week at San Jose Civic Auditorium in which things were thrown at President Nixon's car.

The grand jury's Criminal Complaints Committee met Wednesday in Police Chief Ray Blackmore's office to begin its study.

Leonard Winston, chairman of the committee, said the series of sessions with various officials and witnesses would determine whether a full grand jury probe of the matter is necessary.

No Visas Needed

NEW YORK (UPI) — American tourists visiting New Zealand no longer need entry visas provided they have valid passports, fully paid transportation tickets to another country within 30 days and firm reservations at that destination.

Cause Found In Fire Disaster

St. LAURENT DU-PONT, France (UPI)—A commission investigating the dancehall fire that killed 145 youths said today a coroner's report revealed the blaze started when one of the victims threw a lighted match on a plastic-covered chair.

Soon after the announcement, the local council and six mayors from surrounding areas resigned to protest the government suspension of St. Laurent-du-Pont Mayor Pierre Perron after the fire last Sunday morning.

The investigating commission said Coroner Andre Viossat also reported the plastic decorations in the "5-7" dancehall gave off "an important quantity of gas" which when burned "probably had a considerably devastating effect."

Memorial Hike Set For Sunday

About 200 hikers are expected to take part in the sixth annual Kennedy Memorial Climb Sunday from the Mountain Home Inn on Panoramic Highway to the top of Mount Tamalpais.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. and the climb will begin an hour later when participants split into two groups. One will climb by way of the Nora Trail to West Point and then on to the top; the other will use the Throckmorton or Hogsback Trail.

The event, held yearly as a living memorial to President John F. Kennedy for his role in the development of a nationwide physicial fitness program, last year attracted 150 hikers. It is sponsored by the Mill Valley Youth Commission.

Hike leaders will be George Kewin and Carol Pritchard, both former chairmen of the commission. Master of ceremonies will be Mill Valley City Councilman Jerome C. Hauke.

Members of the Piedmont High School bagpipe band and the Marine Corps color guard from Treasure Island, traditional leaders of the hike, again will form an escort for the start of the climb.

Participants are asked to bring their own lunches, drinking water, comfortable and sturdy shoes, and rain gear for possible wet weather.

AEC Detects 7th Soviet A-Blast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission says it has picked up seismic signals from central Siberia, indicating the Soviet Union conducted an underground nuclear test equal to 200,000 tons of TNT.

It was the seventh apparent test recorded by the AEC this year. The last one, on Oct. 14, was equivalent to about 6 million tons of TNT.

San Anselmo Board To Expand Student Tests

The San Anselmo School District board has authorized an additional $800 to expand psychological testing of students at Yolansdale School.

Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry reported yesterday that the board's action Tuesday was taken to provide a comparison study of normal children with an already approved study of educationally handicapped students.

The new study of first through third graders at Yolandsdale will provide control data for comparison and will give additional guidance to their teachers by eavluating classes.

Lowy said the original study was initiated to identify instruction levels for the handicapped children.

The San Anselmo School District Board Also:

UNIFICATION — Tabled consideration of a Tamalpais High School District resolution asking that the state's mandatory unification election every four years be eliminated. The high school district is seeking support for its resolution from its feeder elementary districts.

PERSONNEL — Approved hiring Ann Richards for the position of district secretary at a salary of $583 per month; and Gordon Sims as supervisor of buildings and grounds at a salary of $602 per month. Sims was previously the custodian at Red Hill School.

GERMAN MEASLES — Approved a request from the Marin County Health Department for use of district school for rebella immunization clinics. Dates for the clinics have not been set.

RECREATION — Heard a report from the ad hoc recreation committee, made up of board members, city councilmen and recreation commissioners, that a community-wide assessment of recreation needs be made.

HEALTH EDUCATION — Heard a report that a representative of the Folsom-Cordova Unified School District (Sacramento County) will make two presentations Nov. 10 on health and family life education. The first presentation will be at 2:15 p.m. at Red Hill School for board members, health committee members and the curric lum advisory council. The second talk will be at 7:30 p.m. at Red Hill School for interested persons. The district is considering such programs.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to the next regular meeting Nov. 17.

Guilty Plea To Marijuana Charge

Frank Johnson, 20, of Petaluma, has pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of possession of marijuana.

The plea came in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court after a felon charge was reduced to misdemeanor. Judge Alexander J. McMahon set sentencing for Dec. 7.

Johnson was arrested Sept. 9 when police said he was standing in the middle of Petaluma Boulevard, waving a Bible and trying to preach to passing motorists.

Sluggish Rudder Story Related At Crash Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Both the captain and the pilot of the container ship Panama testified Wednesday she responded sluggishly to the rudder before smashing into an Oakland pier.

Captain Lewis Hassell of San Rafael told a Coast Guard hearing that construction at the Port of Oakland may have affected tidal currents and therefore the rudder action.

Pilot Paul Hoey of Daly City also noted currents had increased since the port expansion program started and said the ship "wouldn't hard left."

Traveling at 5 or 6 knots in a heavy fog on Monday, the ship tore a 64-foot hole in the concrete pier. She was freed by tugs.

Shakespeare Fest Gets $1 Rental

NEW YORK (UPI)—The City Planning Commission has approved a plan to buy a building used by the New York Shakespeare Festival and lease it back to the group for $1 a year so the festival can keep operating.

The commission approved $5.1 million to buy and remodel the building.

The festival, headed by Joseph Papp, has produced free outdoor Shakespearean productions in city parks. Several theaters it operates use the theater building.

Younger's Win Produces Potential Reagan Heir

By DENNIS J. OPATRNY

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Evelle J. Younger has become California's first Republican to be elected attorney general in more than a quarter century and looms as a potential gubernatorial candidate in 1974.

The Los Angeles County district attorney narrowly defeated Democrat Charles O'Brien in the final semi-official vote count Wednsdaey. Younger polled 3,084,300 to 2,994,042 for the chief deputy attorney general.

Fred N. Howser in 1946 was the last Republican to win election as the state's top law officer. It was the same year Earl Warren won his second term as governor.

Younger and O'Brien waged a vigorous battle for the attorney general's office, a post both Warren and later Democrat Edmund G. Brown used to vault them into the governor's chair.

The Nebraska-educated Younger has already indicated an interest in seeking his party's gubernatorial nomination in 1974. Gov. Ronald Reagan has said he believes governors should serve no more than two terms.

Younger, 52, served as both a municipal and superior court judge before being twice elected district attorney.

Marge Buckley, the Peace and Freedom party attorney general candidate, polled 174,560 votes, enough ballots to deny O'Brien victory. Presumably Miss Buckley drew her support from disenchanted Democrats.

Edmund G. Brown Jr. has taken a different route than his father by being elected secretary of state in his first try for statewide office.

Brown, 32 and a bachelor, defeated Republican James L. Flournoy, the first Negro a major party has ever nominated for statewide office. Semi-official final returns gave Brown 3,163,857 votes to 2,873,436 for Flournoy, a Los Angeles attorney.

Houston I. Flournoy won landslide re-election as state controller, which possibly puts him in position to battle Younger four years hence for the GOP nomination for governor.

Flournoy, a moderate, was the top votegetter in Tuesday's election from either party, polling 3,712,460 to 2,294,430 for his Democratic opponent Ronald Brooks Cameron. He garnered better than 60 per cent of the ballots.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, who also has announced aspirations to seek the governorship when it is surrendered by Reagan, won a smashing victory over his Democratic challenger, state Sen. Alfred E. Alquist.

Reinecke, a former three-term congressman from the San Fernando Valley, polled 3,481,512 votes to 2,663,413 for Alquist, a San Jose lawmaker.

Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest also won easy re-election as state treasurer by trouncing Democrat Milton Gordon. Mrs. Priest, the U. S. treasurer during the Eisenhower administration, gathered 3,636,102 votes to 2,467,654 for her opponent, a San Diego hotel executive.

CLOSE RACE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —A recount is likely in the Senate battle between Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke and Congressman Richard L. Roudebush following the impounding of voting machines and ballots in Indiana's 92 counties.

The state election board, headed by Gov. Edgar D. Whitcomb, took the surprise action Wednesday after unofficial tabulations of Tuesday's election showed Hartke the winner in the closest U.S. Senate election in Indiana's history.

Indiana state police impounded voting machines, paper ballots and absentee ballots, casting doubt also on the final outcome of other statewide races won, according to unofficial figures, by Democrats.

The nearly complete tabulation by National Election Service (NES) showed 865,397 votes for Hartke to 861,520 for his opponent. According to the Democrats, Roudebush was only a stand-in for President Nixon in this Indiana campaign. The President had campaigned in Indiana for Roudebush, as did other members of the Nixon family and administration.

The unofficial margin of slightly more than 3,800 votes in a total balloting of 1.7 million —less than one vote a precinct —set a new record for a close senatorial election in Indiana.

The extension of the impoundment order to all 92 counties was the result of objections by the lone Democratic member of the three-member state Election Board. Thurman DeMoss, Franklin, the Democratic member, said that Whitcomb and J.B. King, Indianapolis, the two Republican members, "told me they wanted to impound Lake, St. Joseph and Clark counties."

DeMoss said that he objected to picking out three usually Democratic counties for impoundment and that King then suggested the order cover all 92 counties.

Although the Election Board order locked up all the election material, except tally sheets, in all the counties, the apparent target of the GOP was the three counties in which Hartke received a margin of 51,860 votes. These were Lake, where the vote was in favor of Hartke, 86,773 to 56,264, St. Joseph, 52,809 to 34,151; and Clark, 11,528 to 8,492, according to NES results.

State law sets a deadline of Nov. 18 by which petitions for recount of votes may be filed. Such recounts may be requested in single counties. The cost of the recount is borne by the requesting candidate.

HAIRLINE WIN

DETROIT (UPI)—Republican Gov. William G. Milliken today appeared headed toward a close victory over Democratic state Sen. Sander M. Levin in the Michigan governor's race.

With 93 per cent of the Michigan precincts reporting, the governor held a 1,289,339 to 1,226,470 lead over Levin. Those totals included 874 of the 1,111 precincts in heavily Democratic Detroit, where a foulup in counting computerized ballot cards had kept the results of the governor's race in doubt.

The Detroit precincts which still were uncounted, however, included the only Republican legislative district in Detroit and some heavily Catholic areas where Milliken was expected to show well because of his stand favoring state aid to parochial schools.

The precincts, nearly all in northwest Detroit, also were ones in which Milliken's running mate, James Brickley, ran strongly when he was elected to the Detroit Common Council in the 1960s.

The governor had accumulated a 150,000 vote lead outside of Wayne County, in which Detroit is located, and the only question had been whether Levin's forces had turned out strong enough to turn the tide.

But a low turnout of little more than 400,000 voters in the Motor City combined with unusually strong black support for Milliken and strong Catholic support to blunt the Levin effort. Initial estimates said Milliken took at least 20 per cent of the black vote.

The governor sought his first full term after succeeding to the governorship when George Romney left the state capital to become Secretary of Housing and Urban Development in the Nixon administration.

Milliken had built up a 54-46 per cent edge in outstate Michigan, excluding the Wayne County (Detroit) area, as the tabulation began after the polls closed Tuesday night. But it was not possible to determine the eventual winner immediately because of the problems in counting the Detroit vote, problems which also held up counting in the August primary.

Wednesday evening the two realized no decision was coming and left the downtown Detroit election headquarters where they had been since early Tuesday evening.

The boyish-looking, 48-year-old Chief Executive returned to Lansing where he prepared to deal with the state's fiscal problems, aggravated by the General Motors' strike, when the state legislature reconvened today.

Levin returned to his suburban Berkley home to rest and be with his children.

There were various reasons given for the failure of Detroit's new computer card voting system to give a fast and accurate tally. But Mayor Roman Gribbs said simply the system had "flunked its test."

Stevenson's Victory Boosts Illinois Demos

CHICAGO (UPI) — Illinois' new junior senator-elect, Adlai E. Stevenson III, who led a sweeping state-wide victory for the Democrats, may be able to move up a notch in the Senate's seniority system by being sworn in when senators reconvene Nov. 16.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, a Republican, said Wednesday he would push for an early swearing in since it may result in Stevenson's improved status on committees and a better position to be effective in matters affecting the state.

Stevenson is eligible to be sworn in as a U.S. senator as soon as he receives certification of election, following the official canvass of ballots which usually takes 10 to 12 days.

His term as state treasurer expires Jan. 11 and Ogilvie said he will appoint Assistant Treasurer Charles W. Woodford to serve until the new treasurer, Democrat Alan J. Dixon, is sworn in.

Stevenson's landslide victory Tuesday defeated Sen. Ralph Tyler Smith, the gubernatorial appointee to fill the vacancy of the late Everett Dirksen, by a margin of about 452,000 votes or 57 per cent of the vote.

The victory, which also moved Democrats into control of practically all the state and Cook County offices, left the Republican organization in no position to "dismantle the Democratic machine" of Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, as Ogilvie had once threatened.

The Stevenson victory also denied Nixon administration efforts to get more support in Congress.

One Vote For Chet

BOSEMAN, Mont. (UPI)—Retired NBC-TV news commentator Chet Huntley, who now heads a corporation building a recreation complex near here, received one write-in vote for state representative in Tuesday's balloting.

Suspect Booked On Burglary

A 14-year-old San Anselmo youth was arrested yesterday at Sir Francis Drake High School on suspicion of burglary, police said today.

Officers said Gregory Vasilieff of 71 Camino D Herra was arrested at 2 p.m. following a tip that the youth was not in school at the time of a $3,815 burglary on Tuesday.

Police reported that personal possession taken sometime between 8 a.m. and 6:40 p.m. Tuesday from the home of Robert M. Kincaid, 10 Herrera Court, were found at Vasilieff's home following the arrest.

The youth was booked into juvenile hall.

Angela's Cohort Pleads Innocent

NEW YORK (UPI)—David R. Poindexter Jr. of Chicago, arrested last month with fugitive black militant Angela Davis, today pleaded innocent to charges of harboring a fugitive.

Poindexter is currently free on $100,000 bail, while Miss Davis is being held in the Women's House of Detention.

Poindexter's plea was made today before Federal Judge Irving Ben Cooper, who assigned the case to Judge John M. Cannella. Cannella, possibly later today, is expected to receive a plea for reduction of Poindexter's bail and possibly assign a trial date.

Rec District Won't Delay Cove Access

Directors of the Strawberry Recreation District last night refused to halt or delay action to acquire public use of private beach and marsh areas on the Strawberry Peninsula.

The board defeated two motions that would have instructed attorney Stephen H. Kaufmann to hold off on legal steps to secure recreational easements on property in the Strawberry Cove area, site of a planned 102-unit apartment development.

MOTION DEFEATED

Defeated, 2-3, was a motion by Director James L. Andrews to halt legal action pending a decision by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, which must approve the Strawberry Cove apartment plan. Director Manuel K. Lehua voted with Andrews.

A second motion by Andrews also failed, 2-3. It would have surrendered responsibility for the legal action to the county "to let it pursue acquiring the property for the public in whatever fashion it deems possible."

Clerk Jeanne Heick reported about 70 residents attended the meeting and heard Kaufmann explain what steps the board is taking to insure that public access to the cove area will not be blocked by planned development.

These include court action to obtain easements based on a California Supreme Court decision that the public has established a claim to property if use has gone unchallenged for five years.

Attending last night's meeting was Paul J. Broman of Peacock Gap, who won approval of the Strawberry Cove apartments from the Marin County Board of Supervisors Oct. 20.

Also at the meeting were members of an ad hoc group which is mounting an independent effort to see taht the Strawberry shoreline is not overdeveloped.

BCDC HEARING

The group urged citizens to attend the BCDC hearing at which Broman's plans will be considered. The meeting will be Nov. 19 at 2 p.m. at the state building in San Francisco.

The board also was told last night that a canvass of votes from Tuesday's election will be necessary before the winners of three seats on the panel can be named.

Elected were incumbents Arthur R. Senter and Carl L. Schaefer, but results of the voting for the third seat were inconclusive. They show Conrad N. Von Blankenburg with 550 votes and Thomas B. Miller with 548.

In such close races, Mrs. Heick said, the county elections office customarily seals the ballots until a canvass can be made. The board, which by law must meet within a week of the election to declare the winners, set an adjourned meeting for Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Strawberry Point School. The new terms begin Jan. 1, Mrs. Heick said.

Nixon Considers Election Success

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon considers Tuesday's election a "tremendous success" and believes the new make-up of the Senate will be "very helpful" in promoting his domestic and foreign policy programs, the White House said today.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen that Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew gave their assessment of the election results at a Cabinet meeting earlier today.

He said the President feels that his campaign efforts and those of Agnew were "very worthwhile."

Second Prosecution Witness On Again

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — The second prosecution witness in the trial of seven men arrested outside the Independent-Journal on Valentine's Day returned to the stand under cross-examination today.

Officer Charles Brobeck, testifying for the second day in Solano County Superior Court, identified defense pictures showing the scene on Julia Street before a violent confrontation between a group of shouting demonstrators and police during a rally in support of striking printers.

Carl B. Shapiro, one of three defense attorneys, also led Brobeck through a timetable of events leading up to the confrontation which resulted in the arrest of the defendants.

The seven later were indicted on 36 charges, including participating in a riot and assault on a police officer.

Brobeck was on a fire escape of the Rafael Theater overlooking Julia Street when the violence broke out.

Brobeck testified yesterday that the demonstrators chanted, "Hell, no, we won't go," during the time when a police command post was ordering the crowd to disperse. Brobeck said, however, that he could clearly hear only two of the loudspeaker commands because of crowd noise.

Earlier testimony indicated a long series of orders was given. The defense contends the demonstrators were unable to hear the commands because the crowd of about 400 protestors was yelling and chanting.

The commands, Brobeck testified, came after arrival of a car that was to have picked up newspapers at the I-J loading dock on Julia Street. Chanting demonstrators "bunched around" the auto, Brobeck said, and police tried to move the crowd back so it could leave.

The policeman said the auto tried to drive through a tightly packed group of pickets who began slapping on the auto's hood. The officer said he saw "sporadic objects flying from the back of the crowd toward the vehicle."

"I recall seeing a few eggs and some other hard objects," Brobeck said.

After the car finally departed with the aid of police, Brobeck said, a sweep of Julia Street by officers began. He said a line of officers rushed the demonstrators and that there was a lot of "pushing and shoving" by pickets to get out of the way. He said he saw several persons fall down in attempts to flee.

Brobeck said the riot-garbed officers carried batons, but added he saw none of the sticks being wielded in a striking position.

Sausalito Planners Balk On Proposal

The Sausalito Planning Commission last night refused to give the green light to a proposed housing development near the intersection of Santa Rosa Avenue and Glen Drive until the developer submits detailed plans.

Accorling to H. Eric Borgwardt, city planning director, the commission asked David Hunter, who is seeking a conditional use permit for the development, to prepare the plans and present them for further review.

After lengthy discussion, the planners decided no more than 18 units will be possible on the 145,000 square feet of land, as opposed to the 22 units proposed by Hunter, owner of the property.

Hunter seeks to construct a combination of apartments, duplexes and single family homes on the land. A variance to facilitate development was approved by planners in early September.

The Sausalito Planning Commission also:

SUBDIVISION — Approved lot split applications from: Marcus Perry for property at 136 Spencer Avenue; star of the Sea Church for land at 180 Harrison Avenue and A.A. Raymond for land at 625 Locust Road.

ZONE CHANGE — Denied a request from developer Frank Lynch for a rezoning of 60 acres of land on Wolfback Ridge to allow development of a 400-unit planned unit apartment development.

VARIANCE REQUESTS — Turned down two requests from Alexander Anolik for variances to allow an office at 911 Bridgeway to be turned into a dwelling unit and seeking relief from city parking requirements for apartments at the same address.

Tire Leasing To Bus Firms Under Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) today accused the nation's five largest tire companies of violating antitrust laws through a $20 million-a-year system of leasing tires to bus companies.

In a proposed consent order, the FTC said the leasing operations eliminate competition. According to the commission, the companies refuse to sell rather than lease the "special mileage tires" used on most buses and the leasing contracts have the effect of binding a bus firm to the same tire maker year after year.

The complaint named Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., the B. F. Goodrich Co., the General Tire and Rubber Co., all of Akron, Ohio, and Uniroyal, Inc., New York.

The proposed FTC order would ban the leasing arrangements and require the companies to sell bus tires competitively with published price lists.

The tire firms can sign the order, agreeing to its terms without admitting any guilt, or contest the accusation before an FTC hearing examiner.

Airborne Sensors Can Detect Crops

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The national space agency reported today that airborne sensors successfully detected corn blight infestations in an experiment carried out over Indiana.

The agency is developing sensors for use aboard two earth resources technology satellites (ERTS) to be launched in 1972 and 1973. Such satellites may be able from space to locate mineral resources, survey crop conditions, and provide information on air and water pollution.

The Indiana erperiment was conducted in August and September.

Comedy To Be Formula Of Troupe

There's a new theater group in Marin that thinks a crayon to draw moustaches on the face of society is mightier than the fanatic's bomb.

The new Actors Playhouse of Marin is dedicated to the idea of offering comedy to its audiences, rather than some deep message, according to Robert W. Boyden, Playhouse president.

If the formula works, Marin may have a new, year-round theater, offering three conventional or musical comedies during the fall and winter season, plus something fitting for summer audiences.

The fledgling troupe will make its first flight — hopefully, amid gales of laughter — Saturday when "The Star Spangled Girl" opens. Curtain time will be 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Congregate Rodef Sholom, 170 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

Taking its comedy seriously, the new theater has incorporated. Boyden, the president, is a veteran of the Ross Valley Players. He was vice president and executive producer for that group.

William McCall, chairman of the board and director for "The Star Spangled Girl," is a former president of the Ross Valley group. Ralph "Skip" Sommer, a Festival Theater star; disc jockey-comedian Gene Nelson and comedienne Patti Newman are vice presidents, and Mrs. Milton Flynn Jr. is secretary-treasurer of the new corporation.

The Playhouse goal is to fill a 400-seat theater for runs somewhat longer than other Marin theater groups, cooperating with 30 to 40 service groups selling tickets to benefit performances.

Plays performed by the group will "one, be comedies that the actors enjoy performing, and, two, sell well," Boyden stated candidly. "We are dedicated in a large degree to the enjoyment of the people involved" on both sides of the footlights, he said.

The troupe will audition only by invitation to build a group of tested and popular performers who will do as professional a job as possible for an amateur theater. The playhouse hopes to spend whatever's necessary for quality sets and technical production, providing it can keep full-house audiences coming in.

The Playhouse also must find a permanent home large enough.

Boyden said that a recent column by Melvin Maddocks expresses the philosophy of actor Playhouse of Marin:

"The prig builds reverent statues to himself. The comedian . . . crayons moustaches on them. Without comedians to deter them, little prigs tend to grow into big fanatics. Bombs being what they are nowadays, a custard pie in the face of a few prigs is a cheap price for civilization to pay. Bombs and bomb throwers we've got. But where are the pies?"

Hopefully, they'll be flying on and offstage in Marin.

College To Recreate Time Of Shakespeare

"Midsummer Night's Dream" will open at the College of Marin fine arts building tomorrow, in a recreation of the theater as Shakespeare knew it.

Strolling minstrels, a Punch and Judy show and ticket takers garbed as London Tower "Beefeater" guards will add to the atmosphere of the college production, directed by James Dunn.

Curtain time will be at 8 p.m. for performances tomorrow through Sunday, Nov. 12 through 15 and Nov. 19 through 22.

Dunn said the stage, theater entrance and costuming all follow Elizabethan patterns, to give both the performers and audience the spirit of Shakespeare's era.

The collegian cast is led by Ted Norris of Ross as Theseus; Pamela Contos of Belvedere as Hippolyta; David Brown of Larkspur as Lysander; Howard McMaster of Fairfax as Demetrius; Roxane Wilkinson of Novato as Hermia, and Alice Rorvik of Mill Valley as Helena.

Other roles are played by:

Alan Kernan, Joel Blum, Karen Meadows, J. W. Harper and John Chapot of Fairfax; Bruce Swenson, Leonard Roy Stevenson, Kathy Rainey and Rick Casoria of San Anselmo; Linda Apple, Steven Blair, John Evans, Ernie Shelton and Phillip Wandtke of San Rafael.

Helen Griesemer, Shelly Lipkin and Jess Jestrab of Mill Valley; Elwood Markham and Carla Sarvis of Kentfield; Robert Cooper of Novato; Stephanie Saunders of Greenbrae; Denise Orr of Ross; Robin Williams of Tiburon, and Mark Rasmussen of Lagunitas.

$110 Million Death Suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The widow of television personality Louis Lomax has filed a $110 million damage suit against Ford Motor Co. and Avis Rent-a-Car in the death of her husband.

The wrongful-death action was filed Wednesday in behalf of Robinette Lomax who asked for $10 million damages plus $100 million punitive damages.

Lomax, 47, was killed July 30 when his rented Ford Fairlane went out of control on a New Mexico highway. The suit charges the car was "unsafe because of defects in the manufacture, design, assembly, maintenance, inspection and repair" and had been "carelessly maintained, inspected and repaired."

The suit said the crash resulted from a mechanical defect of the front end steering mechanism.

Food To Needy On The Climb

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of needy Americans helped by government food relief programs rose from about 6.9 million in September 1969, to an estimated 11.7 million in September of 1970, the Agriculture Department said today.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Lyng indicated in a statement that the increase came primarily in the food stamp program. Enrollment in that program rose from about 3.3 million people a year ago to about 8.2 million last September.

The number of persons receiving government-donated food commodities in family-feeding programs remained basically stable at about 3.5 million.

20 Injured As Jet Bounced By Storm

NEW YORK (UPI) —Twenty persons were injured, seven of them seriously enough to be hospitalized, Wednesday night when a Pan American Airways Jumbo 747 jetliner was bounced around by a thunderstorm between Nantucket and Newfoundland.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., was one of the passengers aboard the New York to London plane, but he was not injured.

Humphrey Invites Lindsay To Defect

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former Vice Prsident Hubert H. Humphrey, who will be returning to the Senate in January, has invited New York Mayor John V. Lindsay to become a Democrat.

Humphrey was interviewed Wednesday on the CBS program "Election '70, What Happened Last Night."

Humphrey said that he had not talked to Lindsay about switching from the Republican to the Democratic Party. "I'd like to see him in the Democratic party," Humphrey said. "I don't know what he's been waiting for, in the first place. He needs a weekend out of New York to do some clear thinking."

Heart Transplant Patient Succumbs

DENVER (UPI) — A 21-year-old Denver man, the third person to undergo heart transplant opertion in Colorado, died Wednesday at Veterans Administration Hospital.

Doctors sid preliminary diagnosis showed that the patient's body was rejecting the transplanted organ. The man, a Navy veteran, ws not identified.

NLRB Charges Picketing Unfair Labor Practice

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Teamsters Local 85 was charged Wednesday with engaging in unfair labor practices by picketing which closed about one-tenth of the San Francisco waterfront warehouses for one week.

The charge was made by the National Labor Relations Board. The case will be heard Nov. 20 by Federal Judge Albert C. Wollenberg.

The Jones Stevedoring Co., was picketed by teamsters, who asserted the firm inherited a teamster contract for equipment truck drivers when it took over Matson Navigation Company's warehousing operations last summer.

Spokesmen for the company said their only labor contract is with Interntional Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

The NLRB filed the injunction suit to stop the picketing. Hearings were set for Dec. 9 to determine which union should be assigned the work.

MARSH PRESERVATION — Redwood High School students Robert J. Posner (left) and Richard L. Holmes grapple with the rusting remains of an oven discarded in the marsh adjacent their school. Their efforts were part of a massive clean-up Saturday of the marsh, which the two students and other conservationists hope to preserve as an outdoor laboratory. The group later learned the marsh is actually a flood control pond.

Agonies Of The POW Families

Mrs. Robert L. Hill of Ignacio last saw her husband, a master sergeant in the 41st Air Rescue Squadron, before he left for a second tour of duty in Vietnam as a plane crew member in April 1966. He was reported missing in action in October 1966. Since then, she has had no word.

Mrs. James Douglas Birchin of San Rafael's husband was a captain in the Army Special Forces (Green Berets) when he was reported missing in Vietnam in November 1968. Since then, she has had no word.

Mrs. William W. Butler of San Rafael is a bit more fortunate. Her husband, an Air Force captain, was pilot of a plane shot down in Vietnam in November 1967. For two years, she heard nothing, but since then she has had several letters from him, written from North Vietnam prison camps. The latest two were brought back in September by Robert Scheer, returning from a visit to Hanoi. There has been none through the mail since June.

The plight of Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Birchin is unlike that of servicemen's wives in any other war. Always, except in the Southeast Asian conflict, when a man was missing in action he would soon be reported by the enemy as held captive, or else would be presumed dead. But North Vietnam has never accounted for its prisoners. More than 1,100 Americans are still listed as missing in action. The U.S. government believes many of them are in North Vietnamese POW camps — but how many, only Hanoi knows.

There is a special poignancy for these women in a drive to make this month one of massive appeals for the Hanoi government to live up to the Geneva Convention's requirement that prisoners of war be permitted to send letters home, and to arrange for release of the sick and incapacitated and exchange of the others.

President Richard M. Nixon has proclaimed Nov. 11 — Veterans Day — as Prisoner of War Day this year. Gov. Ronald Reagan has made a similar proclamation for its observance in California.

A project started by the San Rafael Jaycees (junior chamber of commerce) has been adopted statewide to obtain petitions with hundreds of thousands of signatures to be sent to Hanoi. Their message is simple:

"We the undersigned petition the government of North Vietnam to abide by the terms of the Geneva Convention with regard to the treatment of American prisoners in Southeast Asia."

The San Rafael Jaycees plan to set up a table for obtaining petition signatures in downtown San Rafael on Nov. 11, according to Gordon Brown, Jaycee president. The Marin County chapter of the Red Cross plans a similar table in the Northgate Shopping Center on the same day.

The California Newspaper Publishers Association, of which the Independent-Journal is a member, has joined with the Jaycees and with Concern for POWs Inc. in in a statewide drive for letters and petitions. The San Rafael Jaycees, with Robert Callahan as project chairman, and the Concern for POWs office in San Diego will be collection points for these letters and petitions at the close of the drive on Nov. 25, and will see that they are delivered to the North Vietnamese Embassy in Paris during the Christmas holidays.

The organizations cooperating in the campaign believe, as do President Nixon and Governor Reagan, that an immense outpouring of concern over the prisoners may move Hanoi to recognize its responsibilities under the Geneva Conventions. A letter-writing drive last winter caused Hanoi to allow more of the prisoners to send letters home; but it still has identified only about 330 of those it holds — although the United States knows of 500, and the fate of more than 1,100 others is uncertain.

Sergeant and Mrs. Hill's son Robert Jr., who was five years old yesterday, cannot remember his father. And it is hard for Mrs. Hill to explain to the boy that she does not know whether his father is alive or dead.

Captain and Mrs. Birchin's son, David, 18 months old, was born after his father was reported missing. Their daughter Kimberly, 30 months, has no memory of a father. Their mother does not know whether they still have a father.

Captain and Mrs. Butler's daughter, Sheila, was only three weeks old when the captain's plane was shot down and he managed to parachute to safety — in a prison camp.

The three women hope that the petition campaign may at the least cause Hanoi to resolve the uncertainties that torment their lives as to the plight of their loved ones — and, in the cases of Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Birchin, whether those loved ones still live.

LIVING CLASSROOM PROJECT

Young Conservationists Find A Marsh Not Always A Marsh

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A plan by a small band of conservationists to transform a marsh at Redwood High School into a living classroom was set back the other day when it was learned the marsh is not a marsh.

The 12 acre area, which has every appearance of a marsh from pickleweed to yellow-legged coots, is actually an artificially created flood control pond maintained by the City of Larkspur, according to city officials.

As such, natural tidal flow in the pond is shut off during winter months to insure an empty basin for rain runoff.

Until Monday, all this was unknown to the conservationists, who have been studying, planning and promoting the outdoor laboratory concept for more than a month. As one member said, a readjustment of the group's plan is now in order.

The group, made up of students, biologists and high school officials, became distressed in September over abuses being inflicted on what they thought a natural marsh. Fearing possible irreparable damage to the marsh, the conservationists set out to save it.

"It has been viewed by some people as a hole which has to be filled," said Richard L. Holmes, a Redwood High School junior.

He and a classmate, Robert J. Posner, buttressed that view pointing to submerged motor oil cans continuing to discharge their plant killing contents, and to piles of decaying yard cuttings and old tires, open invitations to more dumping.

Combining the enthusiasm of the students, the expertise of several biologists and the influence of Tamalpais High School District officials, the group formed in September and mapped plans for the marsh's preservation.

First, letters were sent to nearby homeowners asking their cooperation in a dumping ban.

Next, junk in the marsh was cleaned out Saturday by about 25 members of the Redwood Hiking and Conservation Club.

Finally, the conservationists were to approach the school district board with a request that the marsh be designated a natural area. (The marsh area has been listed as a football field on the school's master plan.)

Clarin W. Zumwalt, a naturalist for Audubon Canyon Ranch and a leader in the marsh project, said he noted something askew last weekend while helping the students clean the marsh: It was high tide, but there was no tidal flow into the marsh.

A check with the city engineer showed that the city had shut the tidal gate which feeds the marsh — standard procedure during the fall and winter months. This allows rain runoff to collect in the nearby empty pond at high tide.

"The pond is definitely important to flood control," said public works director Warren Mistron, who added there was no way the city could do without the marsh except to build an elaborate pumping system.

The area is not a natural marsh anyway, said Mistron, but rather land subject to periodic innundation for flood control purposes.

Zumwalt said he did not realize the area was not natural marsh when he began the project in September.

"We're now going to have to reevaluate uses of the area," he said, "It may turn out we can still use it, but we'll have to take a different approach."

A major obstacle to the outdoor project, he said, is that it would be in the winter months it would be required the most, and those are the months it probably won't be usable.

He said arrangements were being made for a meeting between the conservationists and the city to see if there is some way of salvaging the group's plan.

"Possibly the city will consider opening the tide gates periodically to allow some salt water circulation," said Zumwalt.

Plans Approved For Retaining Walls

The Novato Plan Review Committee last night approved plans for retaining walls for the townhouse development of Western Hosts Inc., south of Rowland Boulevard and west of Highway 101.

The plan for the townhouses has already been approved by the committee. The committee postponed until 8 p.m., Nov. 18, consideration of plans for the recreation building for the townhouse project by the same firm.

Woman Reports Assault Attack

A 52-year-old San Anselmo woman told police today she was raped at 1:45 a.m. at her home by a man who threatened to kill her if she did not comply.

Officers said the woman told them she was awakened in her bedroom by the man described as a Negro, 20 to 25 years of age, six feet tall and wearing a yellow sweater and leather jacket.

Before leaving the woman's Hazel Avenue residence, the intruder reportedly stole $5 in cash, a watch and other personal possessions, police said.

$991 In Cash Taken From Marin Firm

Theft of $991 in cash from the office of Marin Motor Sports, 1560 Fourth Street, was reported by San Rafael police today.

The money was taken from a bank bag concealed in a cabinet; checks in the bag were left behind, police said. The theft, reported yesterday by Merle S. Greenblat of 3 Flamingo Lane, San Rafael, apparently took place between Monday night and yesterday morning, police said.

School Organizing Committee Elects

Two members were reelected, and a third former member returned to the Marin County Committee on School District Organization last night.

Representatives from 17 Marin County school districts voted to reelect Roy Parks of Tomales as a Fourth Supervisorial District member; J. R. B. Ellis of Kentfield as at-large member, and William Linn of Novato as a Fifth Supervisorial District member.

Parks was uncontested; Ellis and Paul McMullen of San Rafael had been nominated for the at-large seat. Linn was nominated from the floor at last night's meeting in the county superintendent's offices in Corte Madera, according to Byron Mauzy, assistant county superintendent.

The only school districts not represented at the annual meeting were Bolinas-Stinson, Laguna, Union and Lincoln, Mauzy reported.

Linn was a member of the reorganization committee until it was revised three years ago in line with a U.S. Supreme Court "one man, one vote" ruling. Last night's meeting marked completion of the committee's switch to two members from each of the county's five supervisorial districts, plus one member at large.

Arson Suspect Has Court Hearing Set

A preliminary hearing was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for next Tuesday for William Phillip Nance, 20, of Santa Rosa, who is accused of arson and burglary stemming from the $250,000 fire Oct. 12 at Gnoss Field.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. yesterday also reduced Nance's bail to $5,000.

Three other youths charged with burglary in connection with the fire are in custody in Sonoma County and have not yet been arraigned in Marin.

Officers have said the youths apparently went to the airport to steal gasoline. Upon discovering they had to go inside a building to release a lock on a gas pump, they reportedly stole a tape recorder and a radio and then allegedly set the building on fire to cover fingerprints.

Labor Council Sending Protest Letter To Nixon

The Marin County Labor Council voted last night to send a letter to Washington, "strongly protesting" recent National Labor Relations Board actions in the labor dispute involving the Independent-Journal.

Charles B. Weers, labor council secretary-treasurer, said the letter would be sent to President Richard M. Nixon, California's senators and other lawmakers in Washington.

The letter will appeal the "very arbitrary action" of the NLRB's "doing everything in favor of the I-J and everything against labor," Weers said. "They're the toady of the I-J," he declared.

The NLRB earlier this week dismissed complaints by the striking San Francisco International Typographical Union Local 21 that the I-J had failed to bargain in good faith to settle the strike that began Jan. 7.

In September, an NLRB examiner ruled that I-J mechanical superintendent Gordon Dixon had been illegally disciplined by the union. In August, the examiner ruled that the typographical union and two teamsters' locals were conducting an illegal secondary boycott in trying to halt shipment of I-J newsprint from a San Francisco pier.

The NLRB also is pressing federal court contempt charges against the printers, two Teamster locals and a Longshoreman's local involving recent hit-run picketing and halting of delivery trucks to Marin County businesses.

Engineer Hired For Outfall Line

San Rafael Sanitation District directors yesterday hired consulting engineer John Jenks of Palo alto to design a new outfall line for the Peacock Gap sewage treatment plant.

The engineer's fee will be 10 per cent of construction cost, which is expected to be about $87,500, according to Norris W. Rawles, district administrator.

Rawles told the directors that preliminary plans for the new Francisco Boulevard pumping station will be ready for presentation at the board's Nov. 18 meeting.

Nixon Sets 10-Day Vacation In Florida

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon flies to Key Biscayne, Fla., Friday for 10 days of relaxation and work in the sun, the White House announced Thursday.

Nixon will leave at 12:15 p.m. EST for the Florida White House following a morning National Security Council meeting.

Disruption Profile Given In Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Big, expensive, coeducational universities in the East that emphasize liberal arts and have ROTC programs are most likely to produce campus disorder, a report to the Scranton Commission said Thursday.

The 41-page profile of a school mostly likely to suffer from student violence was drawn from a survey of administrators, faculty and students at 1,890 colleges and universities in all parts of the country.

The report was issued without comment by the staff of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest, appointed by President Nixon June 13 to investigate the causes of student violence. The findings issued Thursday were not included in the commission's general report published last

No Sonority; Auditorium Locked Up

A sour note was struck yesterday when the director and officials of the Marin Symphony visited the Civic Center to inspect accoustics of Veterans Memorial Auditorium. They found themselves locked out.

Contractor Ben Oretsky of Santa Rosa and his superintendent had taken off for the day, locking up behind them the auditorium they are bringing to completion.

Thomas F. Campanella, assistant administrator, said the fault was his for assuming when an appointment was made for the symphony representatives that Oretsky would be on hand yesterday.

Unless Oretsky or his superintendent is present, Campanella said, no one can enter the auditorium. "It's his building until we accept it," said Campanella. "We won't enter without the contractor present and without his permission."

Director Sandor Salgo, who had come from Palo Alto for the occasion, and other symphony officials had to depart leaving untested the accoustics of the auditorium ni which they expect eventually to present concerts.

Campanella said Oretsky's $2 million construction contract is about complete except for installation of 800 seats. Still to be installed before next September's anticipated opening are furnishings and amenities such as curtains, elevators, carpeting, moving wall and another 400 seats.

When everything, including land, landscaping and fees, is taken into account, the project will amount to almost $4 million, according to Campanella.

Tape Deck Stolen

A sereophonic tape player and one tape, worth a total of $104 were stolen from the car of John H. Edmundsen, San Rafael police reported today. The theft was Tuesday night or early yesterday, in the carport of 55 Canal Street, Apt. 5.

Informal Talks Held On Teacher Salaries

Dixie School District teachers who received no cost-of-living pay increase this year met with the district's board last night in what may be a prelude to salary negotiations.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell said the teachers had asked for an informal session with the board to air gripes and salary was the major sore spot.

The approximately 45 teachers who attended complained that new funds from the state allocated to reserves should have gone to pay raises, the superintendent said.

Although salary negotiations normally start in the spring, Campbell said there have been none so far. Teachers are receiving the same pay as last year.

However, Campbell said, they may have been biding their time to see what funds would be available to offset the effects of

During the two-and-one-half-hour session Campbell termed "amicable, surprisingly so" the teachers also said they want more say in local school budgets, smaller classes and more preparation time, Campbell said.

There was also dissatisfaction that a room at Mill Creek School being used as a classroom was not designed as one, he said.

Gold Wire Stolen

A spool f pure gold wire valued at $75 was stolen from Fairhild Semiconductor co. in Northgate Industrial Park, company officials told San Rafael police yesterday. The theft apparently took place between Oct. 30 and Monday, police said.

$1,252 Refund On Water Main

The Petaluma Water Commission yesterday approved a refund of $1,252 to the Petaluma Christian Church for the installation of a water main on Schuman Lane.

The church had been paying $125 per year and, if approved by the city council, will receive the refund for over a 10-year period.

The commission also recommended that the council approve a capital improvement budget of $233,350 for improvements to the city reservoir and water mains. The other section of the capital outlay program included $5,300 for new equipment for the water department.

No Alarm To Sausalito Smog Count

Despite the jam of traffic in Sausalito and the resulting exhaust fumes, the amount of carbon monoxide in the air is not a health hazard, according to a report by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

At the request of City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr and City Councilman Wyman Hicks, district personnel took a carbon monoxide sampling in Sausalito on Oct. 3, a Saturday afternoon and a peak traffic period.

"We sampled under the worst conditions we could find," said Milton Feldstein, director of technical services for the air pollution district. "There wasn't much wind, and a strong inversion (an air condition which holds smog) was present in the Bay Area basin."

During the five hours of sampling, according to Feldstein, the average carbon monoxide concentration was 13 parts per million. Hourly averages ranged from 11 PPM to 18 PPM, while momentary peak concentrations ranged from 21 PPM to 60 PPM.

The technical services director said the Sausalito sampling showed the carbon monoxide levels did not exceed air quality standards recommended by the state Air Resources Board. Current state standard for carbon monoxide is 20 parts per million averaged over eight hours, but the air resources board is considering a tightened standard of 10 PPM averaged over 12 hours or 40 PPM averaged over one hour.

The sampling results will be before the Sausalito City Council when it meets tonight to consider a continuation of a partial parking ban on Bridgeway and several plans for curtailing traffic in the city.

Blue Chip Stamps.

Maybe Santa Claus has all those elves working for him, but we ordinary people don't, and sometimes Christmas can catch you with your ho ho ho's down. That's where Blue Chip Stamps come in. They're kind of an automatic Christmas savings plan. If, when Christmas comes, you have a few full books of Blue Chip Stamps you can spread quite a bit of Yuletide cheer just by redeeming them. So, unless you have Santa's elves working for you, why not shop at Mayfair and be ready for Christmas. Think about all the things you can get with Blue Chip Stamps, and then think about how hard it can be to put away a little something for Christmas presents. You'll see what we mean.

don't get caught with your ho ho ho's down.

HERE'S A COMPROMISE!
Looking for a home in a top area, with 3 or 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, a fun family room, utility room, level front and rear patios AND a Bay view? Finding that for this type and quality of home the prices are astronomical? Here's the reason this home can be bought so reasonably — highway noise. Most of the problem has been solved, however, by a wrap-around, glass-enclosed deck. Consider it — a minor annoyance in return for so much quality living. $41,900.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED BIDS
TAMALPAIS UNION HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT
STORM DRAIN INSTALLATION
SIR FRANCIS DRAKE HIGH SCHOOL

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the TAMALPAIS UNION HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT, Marin County, California, will receive up to, but no later than 2:00 o'clock P.M. on the 19th day of November 1970, at the office of the Director of Business Services, located in the District Administration Building on Doherty Drive in the City of Larkspur, California, sealed bids for the award of a contract for furnishing of all labor, materials, methods or processes, implements, tools, machinery and equipment, and all utility and transportation service required for construction of a storm drain installation at District's Sir Francis Drake High School in strict accordance with the plans and specifications therefor, prepared by Hoffman & Albritton, and filed 10/30/70 in the office of the Superintendent of said District.

If bids are mailed, they shall be mailed to the District Director of Business Services at Tamalpais Union High School District, Administration Building, Larkspur, California 94939.

All of said work is to be done at the places and in the particular locations, of the forms, sizes, and dimensions and of the material, and to the lines and grades and at the elevations as shown and delineated upon the plans, profiles and specifications made therefor and approved by District's Board of Trustees.

Each bid shall be in accordance with said plans, specifications and other contract documents now on file in the office of the District Superintendent, and copies may be obtained at the office of Hoffman & Albritton 35 Mitchell Blvd., San Rafael, California, upon deposit of $10.00 which will be refunded when the plans and specifications are returned in good condition.

Bids received by the Director of Business Services will be opened and read publicly at the time, date, and place above specified, and will thereafter be tabulated and submitted to the District Board of Trustees for action.

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check payable to the order of the District amounting to ten percent (10%) of the bid, or by a bond in said amount and payable to said District, signed by the bidder and a corporate surety or two individual sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions.

The above mentioned checks or bonds shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded to him and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said Contract after being requested to do so by the Tamalpais Union High School District.

Bidders are hereby notified that, pursuant to the statutes of the State of California or local laws thereto applicable, the Board of Trustees, Governing Body of the Tamalpais Union High School District, has ascertained the general prevailing rates of wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which the work is to be performed, for each type of workman or craft or mechanic needed to execute the Contract which will be awarded to the successful bidder.

A schedule of the prevailing rates to be determined has been approved by the Board of Trustees of the said School District, and filed with the Secretary of said Board in the offices of the Tamalpais Union High School District, and said schedule is hereby referred to and incorporated herein, fully as though set forth at length.

Is shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the Contract is awarded and upon the subcontractors under him, to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the Contract.

Notice is hereby also given that all bidders may submit with their bids a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability, and experience. Such sworn statements may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

The District reserves the privilege of rejecting any and all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bid or in the bidding.

Dated: November 2, 1970.

GREETING TO A FRIEND

President Richard Nixon leans down to greet his dog, King Tim A Hoe, at White House West in San Clemente. Nixon took time out for the greeting as he headed to a press conference yesterday where he offered congratulations to winning candidates of both political parties and his condolences to the losers. Pacific Is Spanned For 3 Fishermen

MONTEREY (UPI)—Planes and ships combed the Pacific today in a massive search for three crewmen of a fishing boat which sank.

The Coast Guard called in planes and ships from as far as San Diego to search for the three men, believed to have survived the sinking of the 55-foot Siesta early Wednesday.

Another fishing boat, the Edna May, received a radio call from the Siesta off Morro Bay saying its three occupants were taking to a liferaft.

Debris from the Siesta was found later Wednesday by search vessels, but there was no further clue to the occupants of the San Diego based fishing vessel.

Cause of the sinking was not known.

Coast Guard cutters and other ships carried on an extensive search Wednesday on the rough waters, where waves were 10 feet high.

More planes and vessels were on the scene today and were making a coordinated search of 6,000 square miles, stretching from Monterey Bay to Morro Bay on the coast and 60 miles out.

The Coast Guard said it had eight aircraft and four cutters in the search.

Weather conditions improved today, with only five-foot swells, diminishing winds and five miles visibility.

The skipper of the Siesta was identified as Bert Stowall, of National City, Calif., but the other crew members were not identified.

New Fire, Police Chiefs In Vallejo

VALLEJO (UPI) — Vallejo got a new police chief and a new fire chief today.

William R. Garlington, 43, was named to head the police department. He is currently an inspector in the San Diego Police Department.

John C. Baker, 47, was named fire chief. He currently is with the Lompoc, Calif., fire department.

The new chiefs were named by City Manager Donald F. McIntyre.

Fire Chief Harold J. Lindblad and Police Chief Jack Stoltz retired last spring.

Vallejo has a population of about 75,000.

Police Examine Dynamite Sticks

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — Police are examining 40 sticks of dynamite which failed to go off early today when two explosions ripped through a Sheriff's Department compound damaging vehicles being held as evidence in a camper-truck theft ring.

Police Capt. James Dalley today said the 40 sticks were professionally wrapped in four packages of ten sticks each and appeared to have been placed at locatons in the compound near the seven vehicles. Dalley said they had not been ignited.

Four of the campers were damaged in the blast but Sheriff Cleo Dodge said the others could still be used as evidence.

Troop Reduction Planned In Korea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Front-line positions now held by American forces along the border with North Korea probably will be turned over to South Korea when U. S. strength in the country is reduced next year, according to informed administration sources.

The present total of 62,000 U. S. troops in South Korea is to be reduced by about 20,000 before July 1, 1971. One of the two U.S. combat divisions in the country is guarding an eighteen-mile stretch of the 155-mile-long border with North Korea.

Sierra Club Seeks Reversal On King Resort

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Sierra Club today asked the U.S. Supreme Court to reverse a lower court go-ahead for construction of the $35 million Mineral King recreation development in the High Sierra by Walt Disney Productions.

The club's action kept in effect a court stay preventing federal authorities from issuing construction permits to the Disney interests.

Leland R. Selna Jr., the club's attorney, said the petition for a writ of certiorari was filed with the Supreme Court in Washington. He said it would probably be two or three months before the court decides whether to hear the appeal.

Crime On Rise

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—So far this year there have been 35 robberies, 400 larcenies over $50 and 318 larcenies under $50 at the army's 3,300-acre Ft. San Houston, Lt. Col. H.S. Roby, base provost marshal, disclosed the rising crime rate Thursday, in a base newspaper.

Two Hurt In 3-Car Crash

A three-car pileup on Highway 101 on California Park Hill, north of Larkspur yesterday, slightly injured a Novato woman and her son, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Emiko Y. Lewis, 35, of 520 Entrada drive, was treated at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital for minor scrapes. Ralph W. Lewis Jr. was treated for a bump on the head.

Officers said they were riding in a northbound car driven by Ralph W. Lewis Sr., 30, which was involved in a collision with two other cars at 3:15 p.m.

The other drivers, William S. Brotman, 46, of 2009 Willow Drive, Petaluma, and Walter L. Deegan Jr., 37, of 211 Marin Street, San Rafael, were uninjured, the patrol said.

Street People Wanting Voice In Haight Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The people who made Haight-Ashbury a household word want a voice in restoration of the neighborhood.

A contingent of hippies and "street people" noisily disrupted the first meeting of Mayor Joseph Alioto's new committee to restore the Haight Wednesday night.

Calvin Welch, speaking for the street people, introduced a proposal for an elected committee with 75 per cent membership from tenants in the area, "since that percentage of the community is made up of renters."

Defectors' Bodies Washing Ashore

HONG KONG (UPI)—Deep Bay tides washed ashore more bodies of Chinese defectors today, bringing to 30 the number of escapees known to have died in waters near Communist China since the end of September.

The body hunt by the Royal Hong Kong Marine Police came amid a large increase in the number of escapees. Communist Chinese boats joined the search apparently to avoid adverse publicity in the free world.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Hardening Of The Arteries Is Mystery Process; Begins Early

Van Dellen

No one knows what makes the arteries harden, but the process begins early in life. The condition has been found in newborns and during autopsies performed upon young soldiers killed in combat. It is for this reason prevention should begin during childhood or the teens. Why wait until the arteries become hard enough to cause heart attacks or strokes!

There are many facets to arteriosclerosis, including exercise, weight, hormones, smoking, heredity, emotional make-up, and cholesterol. Many authorities stress a diet that minimizes the intake of cholesterol. They also believe that parents should cooperate by serving less animal fats, cream, whole milk and no more than four eggs a week .Buy lean cuts of meat and trim away all fat. Use skim milk only and substitute for butter. When cooking, avoid whole milk, cream, and egg yolks. Use more polyunsaturated vegetable oils. Coconut and olive oil have no effect.

DIETARY HABITS are not easy to change. The food industry can be most helpful by altering the fatty acid content of a variety of edibles. But many authorities believe we have no choice.

For example, many ice creams are rich in animal (saturated) fats. Select those that contain vegetable oils and skimmed milk. The skin of chicken, turkey and duck also is fatty. Fried foods, liver and other organ meats should also be restricted. Shellfish ought to be limited. It will not be easy for a growing teen-ager to follow these dietary restrictions, but perhaps some of these suggestions will rub off on others in the home.

MOST OF THE foods mentioned also are low in calories and should help the person maintain normal weight. Green vegetables, fresh fruits, low caloric drinks, diettic desserts and sugar substitutes contribute nothing to the cholesterol level and are not fattening. We must also stress physical fitness at every age because it improves circulation and muscle tone. Fitness also means that a person can exert himself without overtaxing the respiratory and circulatory systems.

PINS AND NEEDLES

E.H. writes: If I type or write a long time my arms and hands feel as tho they were being jabbed with pins and needles. After I move around, the sensation disappers. Should something be done about this?

REPLY

Yes, provided it is bothersome enough to invest in X-rays and other tests necessary to uncover the cause. A tendon, muscle or vertebra in the neck may be pressing on the nerves or blood vessels of the arms when sitting in the typing position.

INFLAMED IRIS

S.W. writes: I have just recovered from a case of uveitis and would like to know something about this disease.

REPLY

Uveitis is inflammation of the uvea, which is mainly the iris, or colored shutter of the eye. Some types of this infection cause no visual impairment; others may lead to total blindness.

ARCUS SENILIS

G.B.T. writes: What causes gray rings around the inner circle of the eyes! The victim is a 69-year-old woman.

REPLY

Arcus senilis is the name of this condition, in which deposits of fatty granules form. Elderly persons are more likely to develop these rings.

Guilty Plea To Lesser Charge

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A charge of assault with a deadly weapon against Archie (Skeets) Anderson, president of the Sonoma State College Black Students Union, has been dismissed in Sonoma County Superior Court.

Anderson pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of carryng a loaded weapon on a state college campus and Judge Kenneth E. Eymann set sentencing for Nov. 17.

Anderson, 23, had originally been charged with shooting fellow student Larry Stovall, 21, in the shoulder during an argument on campus last April 28. Asst. Dist. Atty. John W. Hawkes asked dismissal of the assault charge because Stovall is no longer a Sonoma State student and has left the area.

Tools Stolen

A spool of pure gold wire val-$164 were stolen from the car of Guy B. Young, he reported to San Rafael police yesterday.

The theft happened Tuesday night or early yesterday while the car was parked outside Young's residence at 103 Ross Street, Apt. 5.

Reasoner In Move To ABC-TV

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harry Reasoner, of CBS news, is leaving the network to become New York anchorman of ABC-TV's evening news program, it was learned Wednesday.

Reasoner, who joined CBS in 1956, begins his new assignment Dec. 7, replacing Frank Reynolds who has been named as a special correspondent. Reasoner's resignation from CBS is effective Nov. 14 when his contract expires.

Noted for his dry humor, Reasoner, 47, had been anchorman on the late Sunday CBS evening news program and substituted for Walter Cronkite when he was on vacation or assignment. In addition, he was cohost of CBS's "60 minutes" with Mike Wallace.

In his new job, Reasoner will work with another former CBS newsman, Howard K. Smith, the ABC Washington anchorman. Financial arrangements have not been revealed.

Winner of numerous journalism awards, Reasoner was educated at Stanford University and the University of Minnesota.

Yellow Ping Pong Balls Better Seen

BRAUNSCHWEIG, GERMANY (GF) — Ping Pong champs and would-be champs in West Germany are now using yellow ping pong balls instead of the traditional white ones.

The reason: scientists say it will improve your game. Yellow can be more easily tracked by the player's eye than white as the ball hurtles back and forth across the table at speeds up to 100 mph.

That, at least, is what color researchers at Braunschweig Technical University say recent tests prove.

The researchers say the human eye picks up light waves in the yellow-green spectral region easier than other colors. Thus this optimal color combination of green ping pong table and yellow ball.

TELEVISION REVIEW

She's A Luscious Blonde—In Disguise

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Miss Beth Brickell lives alone high in the hills of Los Angeles, in a lush area known as Benedict Canyon, which is almost as famous for its celebrity residents as for its fire insurance rates.

She has a huge dog who is very friendly and lovable, and who will let almost anyone into the house, doing very little good as a burglar alarm.

It is a nice house, with several fine adornments—spectacular view and a framed diploma showing that the former Millie Elizabeth Brickell, of the University of Arkansas, has done all right for herself in what they used to call Tinseltown, before the tinsel disappered.

She did a two-year stretch as a sexy young mama in the children's show, "Gentle Ben," on CBS-TV with Dennis Weaver, formerly of "Gunsmoke" and more recently of NBC-TV's "McCloud," playing her husband. But that's well behind her now, and a good thing too, because a young lady with her looks and ability, obviously is cut out for more adult and with-it roles.

On her series, she wore her hair short—on CBS-TV's orders because the network wanted her to look more average, which is impossible in her case. In the second season, when she tried to wear her hair longer, the network hollered because she looked so luscious.

Well, goodbye to all that typecasting. She now wears her hair long and blonde and natural, which seems to fit in with her penchant for playing folk songs on the guitar. On this particular occasion, she wore a midi-length gaucho outfit, with boots, and served exotic tea.

She tends her own gardens — literally —and generally avoids Hollywood social life. She was a political science major in college, and did editorial work on newspapers. At night, she studies her craft at school.

"It's so nice to be able to look the way I want to now," she said, in recalling her series experience. "It's nice having long hair. It's so much more feminine and appealing to men."

Her television career has begun to shape up nicely. She recently appeared on the top-rated series "Marcus Welby, M.D.," as Gary Merrill's young fourth wife, a sort of female trophy. The same night, she turned up in the two-hour preview of NBC-TV's new series "San Francisco International Airport," as Pernell Roberts' secretary.

Also this season, she will appear on ABC-TV's police show "Dan August" as a sensitive, frustrated wife; on NBC-TV's western "The Men From Shiloh"; on a two-hour NBC-TV "World Premier" called "The Great Man's Whiskers," about Abe Lincoln; and on "Bonanza," in a role she says is her best ever —that of a pathetic, homely country girl.

"They didn't want me for the 'Bonanza' part," she said. "They didn't think I was the type." In the best Hollywood tradition she went to the Salvation Army, bought a dreadful, dumpy dress for $1.50, put it on, wore no makup, got herself into a pathetic homely mood and went to the "Bonanza" office where, in the best Hollywood tradition, the secretary didn't recognize her. She got the part.

'Smart' Pills No Help To Brain

DUESSELDORF, GERMANY (GF) — A West German scientist has destroyed one of West Germany's most fashionable myths: that "intelligence pills" make you more intelligent.

"They don't", asserted Prof. O. Creutzfeldt of Germany's prestigious "Max Planck Society", a research organization, at a recent medical congress in Duesseldorf, West Germany.

West Germans have long taken regular doses of drugstore preparations containing glutamine, which the makers claim stimulates the brain and improves memory.

Prof. Creutzfieldt has reported that glutamine in human blood doesn't penetrate the brain cells. He says that glutamine, one of the building blocks of albumen found in cheese and other dairy products, is carried by the blood up to the brain-cell walls — but no further.

OLDHAM, England (UPI)—Martha Price, 93, remembered too late that she had hidden $96 in an old stuffed chair. She gave the chair away Wednesday to three teen-agers seeking fuel for their guy Fawkes Day bonfire.

Ambulance Teams To Radio Data

HANOVER, GERMANY (GF) — Ambulance teams hope shortly to cut traffic accident fatalities by using police radio to relay vital data on the patient's condition to nearby hospitals.

Rescue workers will use extra-large vehicles equipped with all necessary aids for on-the-spot emergency treatment. Trained medical personnel will radio a preliminary "diagnosis" ahead to waiting doctors.

The diagnosis could include such data as pulse, respiration, loss of blood, even a rapid electrocardiogram. Hospital doctors will use the same radio wave to initiate first aid measures in the ambulance, thus saving precious time before patient's arrival in the operating room.

Five Persons Fined For Drunk Driving

Five persons were sentenced yesterday in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. for drunken driving.

Roger Cruwys, 31, of 35 Salvador Way, San Rafael, was placed on probation for one year and fined $150. He was arrested Oct. 1 on Highway 101.

Charles Francis Czarnowski, 52, of 120 Morning Sun Avenue, Mill Valley, arrested Sept. 27 on Highway 101, was placed on probation for one year and fined $150.

William Bogdanov, 43, of 216 Cotati Avenue, Cotati, arrested June 18 on Highway 101, was placed on probation for six months and fined $150.

Gladys Phyllis Crooks, 54, of San Francisco, arrested Sept. 23 on Highway 101, was placed on probation for one year and fined $50.

Harry Edward Olson, 57, of 40 Brighton Boulevard, Mill Valley, arrested Aug. 29 on Highway 101, was placed on probation for one year and fined $100.

GOOEY HOMECOMING FUN

"Raggedy Andy" Doug Diego, senior at San Rafael High School, connects safely with a spoonful of chocolate pudding fed him by "Raggedy Ann" Karen Ragan, sophomore, even though both contestants are blindfolded. It wasn't quite as messy as it might have been yesterday as Homecoming week continued at the campus. All students were asked to dress as the doll characters; many of them volunteered for the pudding feat while noon-hour onlookers cheered. The spirit boosting is aimed at tomorrow's 8 p.m. football game, when San Rafael hosts San Marin High School of Novato.

Judge Halts Isolation Of Angela

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal judge Wednesday ordered city officials to put Angela Davis with other prisoners at the Women's House of Detention. She had been kept isolated in a 12-foot-by-10-foot room.

U.S. Circuit Judge Morris E. Lasker ruled that the constitutional rights of the black militant had been violated. He also found that while she had not been treated cruelly in the ordinary meaning of the word, her isolation might be held to constitute "cruel and unusual punishment."

Officials of the prison said she was not in solitary confinement and was kept separate from other prisoners only for her own protection and because she might have a disruptive influence.

The room had hot and cold running water, toilet facilities and a radio.

Miss Davis, a former coinstructor at the University of California at Los Angeles, is charged with buying weapons used in the superior court shootout on Aug. 7 at the Marin Hall of Justice that took four lives.

The Young Women's Christian Association Wednesday, in a "statement of concern," urged that the black revolutionary's constitutional rights be protected.

Tank-Destroying Missile Is Developed By Britain

LONDON (London Express) — Britain has developed a master-missile that can knock-out the heaviest-known tank up to a range of about two-and-a-half miles.

First real details of the weapon — known as "swing-fire" and built by the British Aircraft Corporation — were outlined yesterday.

It was revealed that army infantry units are to be equipped with the "swingfire" tank-killer, latest in a range of all-British cut-rate rocketry.

"Swingfire" is already in service with four British armor regiments in Germany.

Plans to extend its use to infantrymen were disclosed by Col. Douglas Sax, project manager for the "swingfire" project at the ministry of defense and aviation-supply department.

Col. Sax said that "several hundred" test firings had been carried out. There was a "killer" reliability factor of 90 per cent.

"Swingfire" also has what is known to the military as built-in battle-field survivability.

It can be fired from armored vehicles or with the controller some distance away. Actual distances were not disclosed.

Each fired-round costs between $3,800 to $4,300. The tanks it knocks out will probably cost around $250,000.

Sleepy Hollow Gets Restoration Award

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (UPI)—In a nationwide competition, Sleepy Hollow Restorations, Inc., which restored and operates three famous historic sites in the lower Hudson River Valley, has won an award from the Discover America Travel Organization for outstanding success in promoting interest in and travel to its landmarks.

Among the sites for which Sleepy Hollow Restorations won its award was Washington Irving's home, Sunnyside, in Tarrytown.

Woman Injured In Auto Crash

A 22-year-old Larkspur woman was treated yesterday at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael for scrapes and bruises sustained when her car collided with a railroad switch engine in Corte Madera.

Police said today Elizaebth Rigor of 19 Locust Avenue was northbound on Tamal Vista Boulevard when she collided at 2:20 p.m. with the westbound engine at the Northwestern Pacific Railroad crossing.

Police said the woman apparently failed to stop in time to avoid the crash. There were no other injuries.

Ladar To Quit Post As Assistant U.S. Attorney

Attorney Jerrold M. Ladar of Mill Valley, an assistant United States Attorney in San Francisco, has announced he will resign to enter private practice Jan 9.

Ledar, who resides at 30 Keats Drive, has been with the federal office for eight and one-half years, serving the past 20 months as chief of the criminal division.

Ladar said yesterday he will complete cases he is now working on.

A 1960 graduate of Boalt Hall Law School at the University of California, he served as law clerk to U.S. District Judge Albert C. Wollenberg before entering the U.S. Attorney's office.

He is married and the father of two sons, Jeffery, 10, and Jon, 8.

He is also a trustee of the Tamalpais High School District.

Deadline Extension On Scripps' Stock

CINCINNATI (UPI) — U.S. District Court has extended the deadline the U.S. Justice Department gave the E. W. Scripps Co. to divest itself of the 60 per cent stock it holds in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

The original was Nov. 1, but suits in the federal court have delayed the stock sale. Judge David S. Porter Wednesday set a new deadline of Nov. 30.

MARGIN OF VICTORY — Dennis Hextall (22), California Golden Seals' center, backhands the puck into the net over the glove of New York Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin, as Rod Seiling defends. The goal, the Seals' second of the game, proved the winning tally in a 3-1 victory. (UPI Telephoto)

IMPRESSIVE VICTORY

Seals Surprise Rangers

OAKLAND (UPI) — If the California Golden Seals get a few more shots at the New York Rangers, they may not be in the National Hockey League's basement much longer.

Of their two victories and two ties, the Seals have one of each against the tough easterners. They chalked up their second win of the campaign Wednesday night with a 3-1 verdict over the Rangers.

Opening period goals by Gary Jarrett and Dennis Hextall off a surprised Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin paved the way for the California triumph. Gary Croteau, assisted by defenseman Ron Stackhouse, knocked in the third goal in the middle period to wrap up the Seals' scoring.

Over the first 40 minutes, the Seals peppered the New York nets for 24 shots, compared to only 15 by the Rangers against Gary Smith.

Smith finally let one through in the third period when rookie Jack Egers knocked in a 20-foot screen shot.

Jarret's goal came at the 3:05 mark and Hextall followed with a rebound shot six minutes later. Croteau's goal, a 30-footer, came at the 9:17 mark of the middle period.

The Seals return to the ice Friday night, hosting the Toronto Maple Leafs at the Oakland Arena.

Mullins Saves His Best For One Of Best Teams

35 Points Against Bullets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Jeff Mullins saved his best game of the year for one of the best teams in the National Basketball Association.

The veteran 6-4 guard from Duke poured in 35 points, including 12 in the final period, to pace the San Francisco Warriors to a 111-100 win over the Baltimore Bullets before 2,591 at the Cow Palace Wednesday night. Thus far this season, the Warriors are 2-0 against the Bullets who top the East's Central Division.

AGGRESSIVE

"I was more aggressive tonight," said Mullins. "We do not have great one-on-one individuals so we have to play more of a team game. As a result, I'm trying to do more without the ball."

But when he had the ball he was murder.

Mullins hit on 15 of 28 from the field and converted all five of his free throws. In addition, he set up six other baskets and grabbed eight rebounds for his finest performance of the young season.

PRAISE

"Jeff has been doing a great job for us all season," said coach Al Attles. "He really works on defense and still gives you a good game on offense. Jeff has sacrificed his scoring and has worked hard for the team."

It was a fine night for the entire Warriors backcourt team.

Rookie guard Nick Jones chipped in with 13 points and four assists while Fritz Williams added 10 points and contributed nine assists.

Mullins, Jones and Williams accounted for 20 of San Francisco's 28 points in the third period to boost the Warriors into an 83-73 lead.

RALLY

But Baltimore rallied in the final period to close the gap to 87-85 before Mullins took over and personally outscored the Bullets 8-4 in a three-minute span to give the Warriors an insurmountable 95-89 lead.

Earl Monroe topped the Bullets with 30 points.

The Warriors, now 4-6, play the Trail Blazers at Portland Friday before hosting the San Diego Rockets Saturday night at the Civic Auditorium.

READY TO PLAY — Stephen Graves of Novato is a man who is always ready to play a set or two of tennis. Age doesn't seem to slow this man down, and he's young at 72. (Independent-Journal photo)

TENNIS AT 72

Novato Man Doesn't Let Age Stop Him In Sports

By RALPH CHATOIAN

When Stephen Graves of Novato isn't playing tennis you can probably catch him playing handball, squash, or maybe jaunting along on a 10-mile hike.

It doesn't sound like a normal schedule for a 72-year-old man, but Graves is far from average.

A retired YMCA secretary, Graves made it all the way to the finals of the 1970 National Seniors Hard Court Tennis tournament in the 70 and older division. He lost to Carl Bush of Downey, Los Angeles County, in the finals of the tourney held last month in Las Vegas, Nev.

How much tennis does Graves play?

"I get in as much as I can," he said with a twinkle in his eyes. "If I can find someone to play tennis with, I play."

A tennis player since age 13, Graves was a secretary for the YMCA in Cleveland, Ohio, for 42 years, a title which has been changed to director, which describes the job much better. In 1963 he retired and moved west with wife Jessie to be near three of his four children. He has a son living in Novato and daughters living in Fairfax and San Leandro. Another son lives in Evanston, Ill.

"Now we do a lot of baby sitting with our grandchildren," he smiled. "We have a total of nine grandchildren and six of them live in the Bay Area."

A native of Wakefield, Mass., the Connecticut-reared Graves attended Dartmouth University in New Hampshire.

"I just missed making the tennis team there," he chuckled, "and the guy who beat me out lives in Spokane, Wash., now. I saw him last June at our 50th class reunion at Dartmouth. Yep, the Class of '20."

The trip back East to Dartmouth was his annual "long trip" by camper truck. He and his wife go across country every year or so, and in the last few years visited Florida and British Columbia. "We have a lot of relatives in New England we like to visit," he said.

Graves likes to be called an "enthusiastic" tennis player. "I'm not that good a player, but I just love to play it." He usually plays three to five times a week during the summer. He also helps coach some of the wives of Hamilton Air Force Base personnel and is a member of the Novato Tennis Club.

This is really his first year of full retirement, as he and his wife have worked at Humboldt State Park near Eureka as park aides until this year.

"So I'm really getting in a lot of tennis. I've probably played more tennis this year than at any time in the last 20 years."

A member of the Sierra Club, Graves is also active in conservation work. An avid hiker, he leads hiking parties of groups of men and women half his age. He climbed Mount Whitney last year and has hiked Long's Peak outside Denver, Colo.

During the 30's it was mostly squash for Graves; enough, in fact, to earn him the nickname "Squash." At one time he was the Eastern Connecticut doubles champ. He's now captaining a squash team at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Stephen Graves is proof positive that you're only as old as you feel. At 72, he's a very young man.

Giants Take City Of S.F. To Court Over Surcharge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Giants and the city of San Francisco apparently have ended their love affair.

The Giants on Wednesday filed a breach of contract suit against the city in superior court, seeking an injunction against imposition of a surcharge.

The City's Board of Supervisors instituted a 50 cent surcharge last week on every ticket sold to Candlestick Park, home of the baseball club, in an effort to raise about a half million dollars a year toward defraying a $16.1 renovation job on the 10-year-old park.

The Giants cried "foul" at the time and then made good on a threat to take the city to the courts to settle the issue.

The Giants claim the renovation of Candlestick is for the benefit of the football 49ers, who move into the park next fall. They claim adding a surcharge on tickets to their baseball games in effect will have baseball fans paying for a football convenience.

Also, the Giants claim that in their lease with the city for Candlestick, signed in 1958 and running for 35 years, no change can be made "injurious" to the ball club without its approval.

There was no immediate word from city officials on the suit.

Presumably, a court hearing will be set for an early date.

All Chips On Table For Preps

All the chips will be on the table in the Marin County Athletic League football race tomorrow night, when the Terra Linda High School Trojans and San Rafael Bulldogs meet for the championship at San Rafael High School.

A standing-room-only crowd of 4,000 is expected for the game between the league's only undefeated teams, and radio station KTIM (100.9 FM) will broadcast the contest live, beginning at the 8 o'clock kickoff.

Two MCAL games will be played Saturday; San Marin meets Redwood in Larkspur, and Tamalpais is at Novato, both games starting at 1:30 p.m.

In action outside the MCAL involving Marin and Sonoma County high schools, Petaluma hosts Ukiah and Rancho Cotate is at Sonoma High for Friday night games, while on Saturday, Marin Catholic hosts Justin of Napa at 2 p.m. and San Rafael Military Academy travels to Merced for a game with Our Lady of Mercy at 8 p.m.

College action finds the College of Marin in San Pablo Friday night at 8 o'clock for a contest with Contra Costa College, and Sonoma State College journeys to Thousand Oaks in Southern California for a Saturday afternoon engagement with California Lutheran College.

Raiders' Switch Shows Profits

OAKLAND (UPI) —In a switch, it will be 185-pound Dave Grayson covering 240-pound Milt Marin when the Oakland Raiders host the Cleveland Browns Sunday.

With opposing teams flanking a running back outside the wide receiver against Oakland in earlier games, The Raiders revealed Wednesday they made an adjustment which helped salvage a 17-17 tie against Kansas City last week.

Instead of having safety George Atkinson covering the tight end as he does in normal situations, he handled the flanked out running back. That gave free safety Grayson a chance to cover his natural territory which is in the middle.

As a free safety, Grayson, a perennial All-Pro, checked the running back and helped others in the defensive backfield. But when Kansas City moved the running back outside and took away Grayson's effectiveness, the Raiders decided to make the flip-flop change.

Offensive day is today for the Raiders. And it is expected that Hewritt Nixon, the AFC's second rusher with 500 yards, will don pads for the session.

He ran some Wednesday but sat out contact drills.

Line Shuttle Paying Off For 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers may start a new National Football League trend with their defensive line shuttle system.

And it's working so coach Dick Nolan figures he'll stick with it.

The starting lineup Sunday against the Chicago Bears will have Bill Belk and Tommy Hart at the ends and Charley Krueger and Roland Lakes tackles.

In automatic passing situations, rookie Cedrick Hardman will take over for Belk and Earl Edwards for Lakes. Then on short yardage plays or at the goal line, tackles Edwards and Sam Silas will replace ends Belk and Hart.

Critics say constant changing has more drawbacks than staying with a set unit but defensive line coach Paul Wiggin disagrees.

"When people work alongside each other play after play, game after game, they develop an instinct for helping each other. Most good defensive lines operate this way," Wiggin said Wednesday.

The 49ers shuttle system is dictated by the talent, and it insures fresh defenders against tiring offensive lines.

Rotation Time For Cal Bears

BERKELEY (UPI) —It was rotation time Wednesday at the California Bears' workout.

Coach Ray Willsey, his crew bogged down by injuries to two linebackers, and a tackle, moved defensive end Steve Reece to linebacker, Tom Grieb from tackle to defensive end and John Madaris from guard to tackle.

Sharon Walsh Moves Into Quarterfinals

I-J Special Report

TORQUAY, England — United States junior champion Sharon Walsh of San Rafael yesterday defeated 20-year-old Lindsay Beaven of England to move into the quarterfinals of the women's singles at the Dewar Cup indoor tennis tournament in Torquay, England.

Miss Walsh, 18, took the first set easily, 6-2 and finally won the second, 9-7 after wasting three match points at 5-4 when she hit three successive balls into the net.

In the men's singles, Tom Gorman of Seattle cruised into the quarterfinals with a 6-4, 6-0 win over England's Chris Bovett. Gorman, second-seeded, dropped his serve in the seventh game of the first set to trail 4-3, but then denied the Briton another game win for the rest of the third round match.

Grid Star Suspended For Missing Practice

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—The University of Oregon will play unbeaten Air Force Saturday without brilliant Bobby Moore, suspended by his coach for missing practice.

Moore was arrested Tuesday night in Portland, Ore., along with Charles Earl Parker, 24, Portland, on a charge of entering a motor vehicle with intent to steal. They were released without bail and are scheduled to return to court next Tuesday for a preliminary hearing.

Coach Jerry Frei announced the suspension after talking to Moore on his return from Portland Wednesday. The coach said he had allowed Moore to go to Portland to see his wife and baby but that the junior halfback was supposed to report to practice Monday.

"This is the first time since Moore has been a member of the Oregon football team that he has missed practice," said Frei.

Moore, a UPI All-Coast performer last season, has been even more valuable to the Ducks this time around. He has galloped for 708 yards in eight games while his team has piled up a surprising 5-3 record, including a win over USC.

Of all the top running backs in the nation, Moore is undoubtedly the best pass catcher. He has caught 35 passes for 568 yards. He dominates Pacific Eight scoring statistics with 66 points scored.

Sports Car Club Announces Schedule

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — The Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) Wednesday announced a 16-race schedule for the seventh annual American Road Race of Champions at Road Atlanta Nov. 28-29.

CLEVELAND BROWNS GET A WARNING

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Cleveland Browns owner Art Modell said Wednesday some of the Browns had better start performing up to their potential or they won't be with the team next year.

"There is no question in my mind that a number of players have not been playing up to their full potential," said Modell. "If those players would only perform nearly as good as they said they were at contract time, we might be in better shape than at the present.

"In fact, if things don't improve some players won't be concerned next year with contract problems," said Modell.

The Browns were beaten last Sunday by the San Diego Chargers and will meet the Oakland Raiders this week.

Raiders' Chester Fantastic Rookie

Oakland's Raymond Chester is heading like a thunderbolt for rookie of the year honors in the American Football Conference. The mammoth tight end from Morgan State, who has caught a touchdown pass in every league game this year, including five in his last two games, moved into a tie with Baltimore's Ed Hinton this week for the conference pass-catching lead with 30 receptions.

The Western Division-leading Raiders continue also to provide the conference passing leader, and the second best rusher. Quarterback Daryle Lamonica is first in completions, yards and touchdowns, and leads Buffalo's Dennis Shaw in the complicated overall passing rating by 4½ points.

Fullback Hewritt Dixon, who missed most of last Sunday's game against Kansas City with bruised ribs, continues in the No. 2 spot among rushers, and leads in average yards per carry with 5.4. Floyd Little of Denver retains his lead with 558 yards.

Brodie Still Top Passer

San Francisco 49ers' John Brodie continues to lead the National Football Conference passers, according to statistics released out of New York by United Press International.

Brodie has gained 1,455 yards and has passed for 10 touchdowns. His favorite target, Gene Washington, was inactive last week with a hamstring pull and slipped to third in the pass catching department, 28 receptions, to trail Charlie Taylor of Washington who has caught 31.

San Francisco kicker Bruce Gossett, scoring eight field goals in the past two weeks, has jumped into the No. 3 spot in scoring, a total of 61 points compared to Minnesota's Fred Cox who has 70.

Top rusher in the conference is Larry Brown of Washington, 596 yards.

West's Night In National Hockey Loop

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The West had it all over the East in the National Hockey League Wednesday night.

Except for Montreal's 4-3 victory over Minnesota, West Division teams beat their East Division counterparts in the remaining NHL contests. Chicago dumped Detroit 4-2, Los Angeles edged Toronto 3-2, California trimmed New York 3-1 and Pittsburgh routed Vancouver 8-3.

The Canadiens looked like they had a breeze against Minnesota, skating out to a 3-0 lead before the North Stars rallied with three goals in the final period.

Mickey Redmond, who had assisted on two of Montreal's first three goals, scored what proved to be the deciding marker at 8:07 of the third period. Danny Grant scored twice for the North Stars but it was not enough as Montreal's victory moved the Canadiens into a tie for first place in the East with New York and Boston.

Record Time In Mexican Auto Race

LA PAZ, Mexico (UPI)—Vic Wilson and Drino Miller of Costa Mesa, Calif., won the Baja 1,000 road race in the record time of 16 hours, 7 minutes, officials announced today.

Steve Rieman and Chuck Andrade of Los Angels were second in 17 hours and 24 minutes.

Both top teams drove Volkswagen dune buggies. The record of 20 hours, 38 minutes was set in 1968 by Larry Bergquist and Gary Preston on a motorcycle.

The Ford Bronco driven by Early leader Parnelli Jones of Palos Verdes, Calif., and Bill Stroppe of Long Beach, Calif., broke down 130 miles from the finish of the 832-mile race. (See pre-race picture, page 32.)

Winners of the various classes were not expected to be determined until Friday.

TWO TIME WINSER — Richard Griffith of Belvedere has won the Small Yacht Racing Association championship in the Knarr class for the second year in a row. Griffith, president of the San Francisco Bay Knarr Fleet Association, finished the season with 25½ points, 7½ better than his nearest competitor.

Giants Owner Likes Team's Rookie Crop

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Owner Horace Stoneham of the San Francisco Giants isn't pleased with what the city is trying to do to him, but he's more than satisfied with next year's crop of rookies.

"We will have the greatest crop of young players in spring training camp next year that we've had since 1958," Stoneham said Wednesday. "Our practice always has been not to rush young kids along too fast. But now . . . I don't know. Some of these news kids just might make it next season."

Then he started rattling off the prospects—Dave Kingman, Chris Speier, Ed Goodson and Steve Ontiveros. Of the latter, Stoneham enthused, "Wait 'til you see him."

He got so carried away that he neglected to name his pitching hopefuls. But he did say some of the hurlers in the Arizona Instructional League have impressed both him and manager Charlie Fox. "The kids throw nothing but strikes," he said.

Kingman, a towering first-baseman and shortstop Speier were among eight non-roster players invited to the big club's spring training camp.

The others are pitchers Steve Stone, Steve Kokor, Randy Moffitt, Jim Barr and Jim Johnson, who saw some duty with the Giants last season, and catcher Mike Sadek.

Three Stanford Starters Hurt

STANFORD (UPI) —The Stanford Indians, nearest they've been to the Rose Bowl in 18 years, may go into Saturday's clincher against Washington without three starters.

As his team installed its game plan for the Huskies Wednesday, coach John Ralston revealed that linebacker Jeff Siemon and offensive tackle Steve Jubb are "questionable."

Siemon has a bad thigh bruise and Jubb is laid up in the infirmary with a head cold and a concussion.

The third starter is split end Demea Washington, who is still troubled by a pulled hamstring but was out jogging Wednesday.

Washington Ace QB In Bed With A Cold

SEATTLE (UPI) —Sonny Sixkiller, Washington's record-breaking quarterback, spent Wednesday in the bed trying to vaporize a bad cold away.

But the chances are that even if he starts against Stanford Saturday, he will not play much of the game.

Greg Collins, who earned player-of-the-week honors filling in for Sixkiller in last week's game against Oregon has moved up in practice to the No. 1 spot.

"Yes, certainly there is a possibility Sixkiller will start," Jim Owens, Huskies' head coach, said.

"We will give Sonny a good workout tomorrow (Thursday) and Friday," Owens said. "That will make up for time he missed."

Sixkiller, for the second straight week, leads the nation in passing based on the average number of completions per game.

Bonavena Tending To Money Details

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Argentine heavyweight champion Oscar Bonavena will fly to New York tonight to personally tend to details of his forthcoming fight with Cassius Clay on Dec. 7.

Bonavena said he will remain in New York for a few days only to discuss television rights to the Madison Square Garden bout.

He said he will return to Buenos Aires to continue training for the Clay match.

IN THE 'GARDEN'

Clay-Bonavena Bout Set Dec. 7

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cassius Clay will meet Argentine Oscar Bonavena in Madison Square Garden on Dec. 7 as the deposed champion's second step to regaining the heavyweight title.

Clay's last title bout was in the Garden on March 22, 1967, and only a few months after that fight he was stripped of the title and banned from boxing. Only last month, the 28-year-old Clay made a successful comeback step by stopping Jerry Quarry in three rounds in Atlanta.

Bonavena, 28, is currently the No. 1 contender and last week he knocked out Luis Pires as a tuneup for Clay. The Argentine's main distinction, however, is that he went 25 rounds in losing two decisions to Clay's successor, Joe Frazier. He also has beaten George Chuvalo, Zora Folley, Karl Mildenberger and Leotis Martin.

"I'll start training in about a week," said Clay from his home in Philadelphia. "I just want to keep busy."

Clay's victory over Quarry, also a top contender, boosted his record to 30 consecutive victories, including 24 kayoes. Both the Quarry and Bonavena bouts are expected to be no more than tuneups for a title fight, but unbeaten Frazier must first defend against light heavy champion Bob Foster in Detroit on Nov. 18.

Bonavena has 46 victories, including 38 kayoes, against six losses and one draw.

Defensive Signals Can Foul Offense

Frank Nunley calls defensive signals for the 49ers whose loyal football fans admire the way the middle linebacker goes about his job. Occasionally Nunley will bark an audible at the line of scrimmage to change a call made in the defensive huddle. That happens when he spots something in an enemy offense.

Nunley's commands are crisp and confined to simple code words which can send his fellow linebackers one way, the line another and the secondary in or back. He isn't a chatterbox at the line of scrimmage. In fact, National Football League rules now make it mandatory for defensive captain to keep silent while a quarterback is in his cadence count of offensive signals.

BUT IT WASN'T always that way in the NFL. Up until a couple of years ago, the Chicago Bears exploited the loophole in the rules and, under the guise of calling defensive signals, would jam offensive signals.

Bill George, for years defensive captain of the Bears, was a master jammer. He was the most talkative man in Wrigley Field, home of the Bears, or wherever they went. His defensive calls sounded like an alarming alert on an approaching storm — lightning, thunder, cyclone, blizzard.

FROM TIME to time a strange word would creep into George's code, such as the time he kept shouting "Mutt" in a game against the Rams in 1960. This disconcerted the Rams considerably because their quarterback in 1960 was Bill Wade and Wade always sent his team into a run or pass pattern with the word "Hut."

The Rams protested after their 1960 "Mutt-and-Hut" loss to the Bears, claiming they were continually penalized for being in motion before the ball was snapped because "Mutt" sounded too much like "Hut."

In 1966 George followed George Allen from the Bears to the Rams and the Rams became the most talkative team in the league. By this time all NFL teams were squawking to Pete Rozelle about such tactics. The commissioner finally muzzled defensive captians in 1968.

GAME OFFICIALS, powerless to prevent signal jamming prior to 1968, now are empowered to impose 15-yard penalties for unsportsmanlike conduct on talkative defensive captains.

Thus, when the 49ers meet the Bears Sunday in Wrigley Field they won't have to worry about John Brodie's signals being jammed. And Wrigley Field's clock should not cause them any concern either since it no longer is under control of George Halas.

BUT THE 49ERS shouldn't permit the elimination of such worrisome Wrigley Field distractions to lull them into any pre-game complacency. With or without distractions, the Bears always are tough in the friendly confines of Wrigley Field.

Bears Tight End Out For Season

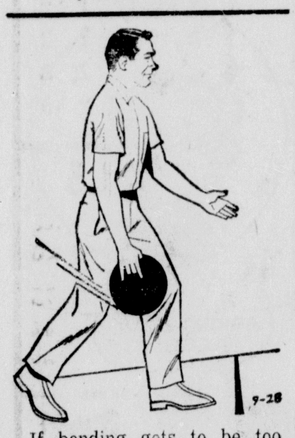
CHICAGO (UPI)—Tight end Jim Hester will miss the rest of the season due to an injured patellar tendon in his rgiht knee, the Chicago Bears announced Wednesday.

Hester, obtained from New Orleans in an off-season trade for Lloyd Phillips, has appeared in three games with the Bears. He originally injured the knee in pre-season Bears workouts.

Dr. Theodore Fox, Bears club physician, said Hester's knee would be placed in a cast Saturday and that approximately two weeks later surgery would be necessary.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



If bending gets to be too much trouble, you'll soon pay for it in lower scores. It is necessary to crouch lower with each step, so that when you reach he foul line you are able to set the ball on the lane with just a slight bump. Bending requires you to use your muscles more. But what's wrong with that?

San Rafael Police Turkey Shoot Slated

COLLEGE NOTES

Conference Change Due For Marin

By DAVID EINSTEIN

In 1968, as part of a general Northern California, College of Marin left the Golden Valley conference to join a new interscholastic athletic league — the Camino Norte Conference.

Now, just three years later, Marin is trying like mad to get out of the CNC. For while Marin's enrollment has grown moderately, other schools in the league — especially DeAnza of Cupertino and West Valley of Campbell — have experienced tremendous growth. By numbers alone, the Kentfield school is no longer in the same class as these teams.

Tar football coach Dick Read, whose team is 0-3 this year in CNC play, said yesterday that plans are under way to establish yet another league, perhaps as soon as 1972, that will include Marin, Solano of Vallejo, Santa Rosa (all currently in the CNC), Ohlone of Fremont, Alameda and Napa.

Read points to another problem that has prevented him from fielding a first class team this year. He finds that, after three years of Pop Warner and four in high school, boys just get tired of football, and don't want to play any longer.

According to Read there must be close to a dozen students at Marin who could really have helped the Tars this year, but they chose not to play.

ONE TAR TEAM that isn't having any trouble is Tony Bailey's cross country squad, which is now 4-0 in conference meets after dumping Skyline in Oakland last week, 19-40. In that one, Marin's Don Makela set his second course record of the season.

The Tars will face their toughest opposition of the season tomorrow when they take on West Valley in Campbell. The Vikings, according to Bailey, are one of the five best teams in Northern California, and he says, "We don't think it's impossible for us to win, but we'll have to get a lot of breaks."

Makela will get a chance to avenge his only loss of the season against Lester DeVoe, who edged him out for first place in the Sacramento Invitational last month. Neither Makela nor DeVoe has lost a dual meet this season.

SPEAKING OF top runners, former Tar great George Stewart, who won both the mile and two mile in the 1969 Northern California junior college track finals, is making quite a name for himself at Oklahoma State.

Last month George won the Cowboys' Invitational Cross Country meet, covering the four-mile course in 19:16.2. Among the runners he beat were his own coach, Olympic 1500-meter runner Tom Von Ruden, and international distance ace Rex Maddaford.

NBA ROUNDUP

Best Effort, But Cavaliers Lose

By United Press International

The Cleveland Cavaliers came close, but not close enough.

The Cavaliers, still looking for their first victory ever in the National Basketball Association, led the Milwaukee Bucks by 12 points midway through the third quarter Wednesday night. The Bucks then outscored Cleveland 21-6 to take a 84-81 lead into the final period.

The Cavaliers managed to stay close and had a 96-95 lead with 4:58 left to play before Bob Dandridge pumped in four points in the next 20 seconds of play. Milwaukee remained in front the rest of the way and recorded a 110-108 triumph for its sixth victory in seven games while the Cavaliers suffered their 12th loss.

Lew Alcindor did most of the damage for the Bucks, scoring 53 points, 20 of them in the first quarter. Dandridge finished with 24 and Jon McGlocklin had 15 as the Bucks played without Oscar Robertson who was sidelined with a pulled groin muscle. Rookie John Johnson again paced the Cavaliers with 27 points but it was Johnson who missed a jump shot from the corner with six seconds left that could have sent the game into overtime.

Elsewhere in the NBA, New York downed San Diego 109-100, Detroit beat Atlanta 117-105, San Francisco topped Baltimore 111-100, Boston edged Philadelphia 115-113, Phoenix whipped Cincinnati 133-115, and Seattle romped past Buffalo 126-101.

New York posted its seventh straight victory and 11th in 13 games by beating San Diego. Walt Frazier scored 25 points and Mike Riordan had 24 for the Knicks who forced 24 San Diego turnovers. San Diego closed to within 68-65 midway through the third quarter before Frazier hit on a 15-foot jump shot, stole the in-bounds pass and scored on a lay-up to quickly increase New York's lead to 72-65. Stu Lantz led the Rockets with 28 points.

Detroit, the surprise team, upped its record to 11-1 thanks to a spurt of nine straight points in the fourth quarter which pulled the Pistons safely ahead of rallying Atlanta. Dave Eing paced the Pistons with 25 points and Jimmy Walker had 19 while Lou Hudson topped the Hawks with 21.

MOON MULLINS

NANCY

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Nov. 5, the 309th day of 1970.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio.

On this day in history:

In 1733 German-born publisher John Peter Zenger began printing the newspaper New York Weekly Journal.

In 1911 Galbraith Rogers completed the first American transcontinental flight. It took him 49 days to fly from New York City to Pasadena, Calif.

In 1940 President Franklin Roosevelt was elected to an unprecedented third term.

In 1955 Austria opened the reconstructed Vienna State Opera House and formally celebrated her liberation form 17 years of occupation.

A thought for today: British writer William McFee said. "Responsibility's like a string that we can see only the middle of. Both ends are out of sight."

Apollo 14 Moonship Mounted For Launch

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Apollo 14 moonship has been mounted on its Saturn 5 rocket and the whole assembly will be moved from the Saturn's hangar to the launch pad next Monday.

The three-section spacecraft was moved from the manned spacecraft operations building to the vehicle assembly building Wednesday. Apollo 14 astronauts Alan B. Shepard, Stuart A. Roosa and Edgar D. Mitchell are scheduled for launch to the moon Jan. 31.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

'Second Hand Low . . .' A Lovely Old Tune, But Words Are Out Of Date

If you were brought up properly with a deck of cards in your mouth (who wants a silver spoon?) you were rocked to sleep with the old lullaby that goes: "Second hand low, third hand high, fourth hand win the trick if you can." Lovely old tune, but the words are out of date. If you followed the old lullaby in today's hand, your partner might find a painful way to rock you to sleep.

PUTS UP QUEEN

West leads the six of spades, and East puts up the queen. Nothing unusual about East's play: he played third hand high. But South must not win the trick even though he is fourth hand.

If South does win the first spade trick with the king, he must try the diamond finesse, losing to East's king. Back comes the nine of spades, which wins the trick. Then another spade allows West to defeat the contract with the rest of his long suit.

NOT ENOUGH

It is not enough for South to refuse the first spade trick. If East then leads the nine of spades at the second trick, South must play low once more.

If South plays the jack of spades at the second trick, West refuses the trick. East gets in with the king of diamonds to lead his last spade, and then West takes the rest of the spades.

To make sure of his contract South must play a low spade at the first trick and another low spade at the second trick. West can take the third spade with the ace, but then communication between the defenders breaks down. When East gets in with the king of diamonds he cannot lead a spade, nor can he get to his partner's hand with any other suit.

MAKES GAME

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ S- Q 9 7
♥ H- J 7 3
♦ - K 7 4 3
♣ - Q 10 3.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 2 no-trump. This promises eight points, or a weak nine points, and invites partner to go on to game if he has more than the bare minimum of 16 points.

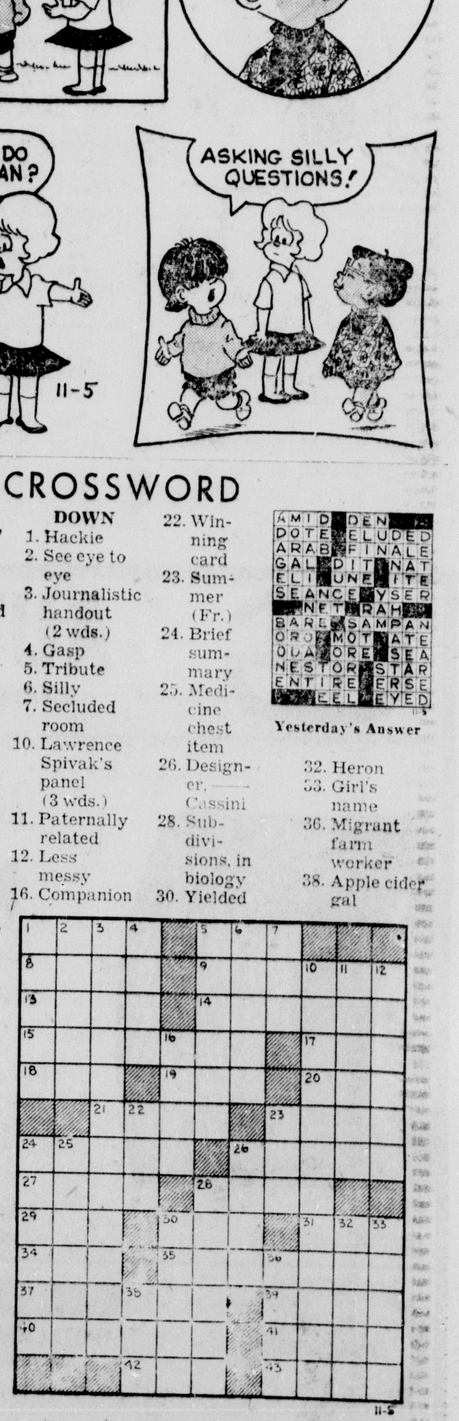
Yesterday's Answer



New Disposal Plans Ordered

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Regional Water Quality Control Board told two companies Wednesday to produce new methods of disposing of industrial wastes from their San Francisco Bay Area plants.

Wastes from the U. S. Steel Co. plant at Pittsburg and the Standard Oil Co. refinery in Richmond are barged out onto the Pacific Ocean and dumped southwest of the Farallone Islands.

State Fish and Game Commission employees say that may have an adverse effect on the crab harvest.

Board members asked the two companies to submit replacement plans by Nov. 24.

Recovery Prospects Up For McDermott

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am interested in your opinion of J. Ray McDermott for the long term. Income is not a factor. — C. K.

A. J. Ray McDermott is a dominant factor in the engineering and construction of fixed-type oil drilling platforms and is also a growing factor in underwater pipeline installations. Company compiled an impressive growth record from 1964-1968. However, this uptrend was interrupted in fiscal 1970, reflecting slowdowns in construction activity in the Persian Gulf and Gulf of Mexcio.

Both areas are important contributors to McDermott's profits, and the reduced level of work in these areas may continue into fiscal 1971. In fact, for the first fiscal quarter ended June, sales declined 2.7 per cent and earnings tumbled 34 per cent. Although intermediate prospects for the firm's offshore activities are clouded, the long-range outlook remains favorable.

McDermott's position in several high-potential areas of exploration, the possibility of a new auction for Gulf of Mexico leaseholds in mid-December, plus the optimistic forecast for the industry in general all enhance the stock's recovery prospects.

Q. I would appreciate your observations on Guardian Chemical, traded OTC. The dividend was cut drastically and shares are well below my purchase price. — A. W.

A. On July 15, 1970, Guardian Chemical paid 2 cents a share, the same amount it has distributed annually since 1962. Earnings as well have remained constant, with 3 cents a share being reported in each of the last six years, including the year ended March 31, 1970.

Until the last fiscal year, when sales were flat at $1.01 million, sales had shown some annual improvement. Finances at the fiscal year end were sound, current asset ratio was 4.5-to-1 and long-term debt stood at $40,561.

Of the 1.4 million common shares outstanding, 35 per cent are owned by United International Research. Speculative interest in these shares centers on the company's research with its cancer fighting chemical Iodocide. Other products include two urological drugs, an oil spill despersant and cosmetic products. I see no reason to sell at this level.

3 Auto Makers Report Sales Up

DETROIT (UPI) — Although three of the major auto builders reported substantial increases in new car sales for October, the big four's combined sales fell 199,118 cars behind the same month of last year because of the strike at General Motors.

Chrysler Corp. said its October sales were the best of any month in its history. Ford Motor Co. said it had the second best month in its history and American Motors Corp. reported its best month in five years.

But G.M., shut down by a United Auto Workers strike for the past seven weeks, said its new passenger cars in the United States slipped from 424,807 in October, 1969, to 198,145 last month.

Agreement Reached On Algerian Claims

NEW YORK (UPI) — Atlantic Richfield Co. has reported its subsidiary, Sinclair Mediterranean Petroleum Co., has reached agreement with Algeria and Sonatrach, the state-owned oil company, for settlement of outstanding claims.

Financial terms were not disclosed. Atlantic Richfield said the agreement includes the release of claims by Sinclair Mediterranean against Sonatrach in connection with the take over of Sinclair Mediterranean's operations and revenues in June, 1967.

Price Hike

AKRON (UPI) — General Tire & Rubber Co.'s plastics division will raise prices of urethane foam products 5 per cent or more on shipments starting Dec. 1.

GM Concern Slows Down Stock Action

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market eased toward the close today in featureless trading.

Concern over the seven-week-old strike against General Motors Corp. seemed to offset some of the optimism stemming from hopes that the Federal Reserve's discount rate and prime bank rates will be reduced.

Shortly before the final bell, declines were leading advances, 860 to 541, but the Dow Jones Industrial Average was up 0.75 at 771.56.

Turnover exceeded 10,000,000 shares, down from 12,180,000 shares traded Wednesday.

Closing prices included: Am T & T 44 3-4 off 1-8; Beth St 21 off 1-8; Chrysler 25 7-8 off 3-8; Dupont 122 3-4 up 1-2; Ford 51 1-8 off 1-4; Gen El 86 7-8 off 1; Gen Motors 73 up 7-8 and So Pac 30 7-8 off 1-4.

Last Friday, both sides in the GM dispute clamped a news blackout on negotiations, traditionally a sign that hard, final bargaining is underway.

Early Thursday, an agreement was reached on a plant contract at Fisher Body plant No. 1 in Flint, Mich., but little progress was reported in main table negotiations.

Prices of automotive issues moved narrowly and on both sides of previous closings.

Royal Dutch Petroleum and Telex Corp. were among the day's most active issues as a result of large block transactions.

Prices were weak in quiet trading on the American Stock Exchange.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Fast Growing Lithograph Firm Moving Offices To San Rafael

A business that opened only a little over a year ago in Corte Madera has had to expand to larger quarters in San Rafael.

Spencer-Phillips and Green Photographic Reproductions, formerly at 510-B Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera has brought its fast growing lithograph operations to 70 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, where it has leased through John Hourihan of Grubb and Ellis Co. four times the space it had before.

Early last year Christopher Spencer-Phillips and Robert Green, both Corte Madera residents, were working for a San Francisco advertising agency and concluding that they were not getting anywhere. They took a flyer on their own in lithographing one picture and this started them in a part-time business. After six months work they were able to set up their Corte Madera shop and devote all their time to it.

Today their business involves both custom lithograph work for several large accounts and reproducing material of their own selection which is sold widely throughout California and in other parts of the United States by a full-time sales staff.

ANOTHER NEW SAN RAFAEL OPENING, which should take place by the middle of the month and also involving a Hourihan lease transaction, is that of Varner Supplies, new business of Carroll Varner of Novato.

He will be engaged in wholesale plumbing, heating, refrigeration, air conditioning, irrigation and swimming pool supplies and will sell mainly to licensed contractors, covering the entire North Bay area. Eventually he expects to employ a staff of five or six persons.

Varner has been in this type of business for the past 16 years with J. G. MacPhee and Co., San Rafael.

NEWLY OPENED at 100 Loch Lomond Drive, San Rafael is Loch Lomond Marine Supplies.

It will carry an extensive line of basic marine supplies and also maintain a snack bar. The business is owned by Arthur E. McIrvin, who also owns Jackson Pest Control of San Rafael and Mill Valley.

In charge at Loch Lomond is Cecil Patch of San Rafael, who has had several years experience in the boating and marine field.

Hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Closed Tuesdays.

HENRY C. TYLER of Novato is new manager of the Harbor office of Bank of Marin at 65 Medway Road, San Rafael. He joined the bank in 1969 and has been assistant manager at the Novato office.

THE MILL VALLEY civil engineering firm Frost and Meglio has received the Honor Award from the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for engineering and planning in connection with the Marinview project of Allan-Marin Co. in Mill Valley. Kenneth A. Frost is a resident of Belvedere. Vincent A. Meglio lives in Tiburon.

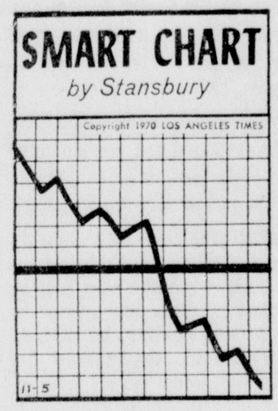
ACTING AS MODERATOR in a panel discussion on factors in right of way projects at a regional seminar in San Francisco Nov. 13 presented by the San Francisco Bay chapter of the American Right of Way Association will be Robert K. McCue of San Rafael, who is assistant chief right of way agent for the California Division of Highways.

Michael K. Stephenson of Terra Linda, supervisor of the community and environmental factors unit for the Division of Highways will be a panelist.



"On the plus side, we won't have to pay any income taxes for several years."

AMF Reports High Nine-Month Sales

NEW YORK (UPI) — AMF Inc. has reported record sales and profits for the third quarter and first nine months of 1970.

Rodney C. Gott, chairman, said the company's diverse position in leisure time and industrial markets helped it withstand the impact of general weakness in the economy and lower government business.

Third quarter profits rose to $8,452,000, or 47 cents per share, from $7,639,000, or 42 cents per share, on a rise in total revenues to $157,513,000 from $147,808,000.

Astronaut Says Moon Dust Helps

DELAWARE, OHIO — Apollo 8 astronaut William Anders said experiments have revealed moon dust to contain nutrients that make plants grow faster.

Anders, who left the astronaut corps to take a NASA position, said in a recent speech at Ohio Wesleyan University rere biologists still don't know why the plants responded to the moon dust.

He said just a tiny bit of the moon dust the Apollo 8 astronauts brought from the moon in December 1968 was mixed with water and administered to the plants. In a controlled experiment in which other plants were fed normal nutrients, the moon dust plants grew at a much faster rate, he said.

10 Per Cent Hike In Carpet Prices

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. (UPI) — Mohasco Industries Inc. has boosted prices 10 per cent on most of its carpet lines, with the largest increases in nylon and other selected products.

Mohasco said the increases, effective with shipments Nov. 16, resulted from higher costs in virtually all operations.

Considers Selling Oil Holdings

NEW YORK (UPI) — Union Carbide Corp. has announced it is considering selling off part or all of its oil and gas holdings.

The company has engaged Degolyer & McNaughton, Dallas petroleum engineering consultants, to determine the present market value of Union Carbide's petroleum holdings both in the United States and abroad.

The principal production of Union Carbide's petroleum subsidiary is from the Gulf of Mexico off the coasts of Louisiana and Texas, totalling about 9,000 barrels of oil and 45 million cubic feet of gas daily.

23,000 On Computer's Jury List

A total of 23,000 letters was mailed recently to persons chosen by a computer as prospective jurors for Marin courts in 1971.

The number is the same as last year, 15,000 for superior court and 8,000 for municipal court, according to Edmar Hicks, deputy county clerk.

From this number, county officials expect to get about 10,000 prospective jurors, most of who will probably be summoned for jury duty about three times during the year.

Persons who are entitled to exemption from jury service must now ask for the exemption, Mrs. Hicks explained. Before last year, such people as doctors, dentists, lawyers and teachers were automatically excluded and never received jury selection letters.

Since a change in the law, persons in these occupations as well as public employees, hospital workers, members of the National Guard and clergymen may choose whether they wish to serve as jurors or not.

Mrs. Hicks explained that for many years the county sent out 15,000 jury letters, but after the automatic exclusions were done away with, it was necessary to send out more.

Selection of those called is done completely by computer now, she said. County officials tell the data processing center how many jurors are wanted, and the computer selects names from the county voter lists on a numerical basis.

Persons who have been on the jury list one year are exempt the next year, she said. The computer also provides a list of prospective jurors for municipal and superior courts each week, staggering the list so that persons are usually called about three times during the year.

By the time those persons who wish to be exempted and are entitled to be so, as well as those who have died or moved are removed, the list will be whittled less than the original number, Mrs. Hicks said.

Bribe Trial Is Scheduled

I-J Special Report

A San Francisco jury trial has been set for Jan. 11 for Harold Gilbert Ellis, a former Hamilton Air Force Base building contracts official, charged with soliciting and receiving a bribe.

Judge Robert F. Peckham of U.S. District Court set the trial date Tuesday.

Ellis, 42, of 665 Midway Boulevard, Novato, was arrested June 23 by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents who said they watched him accept $175 from the head of a Santa Rosa firm in the parking lot of Pacheco Plaza shopping center.

The Santa Rosan had tipped off the FBI that Ellis had offered to certify that his firm had installed more than $3,600 worth of pipe in a Hamilton project, when it had not yet been installed.

Hearing Set For Accused In Robbery

A preliminary hearing was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for Nov. 17 for Brian V. Beard and Richard Charles Hamilton, both of Marin City, who are accused of robbing two men in Sausalito Oct. 22.

Beard and Hamilton were charged after two Ohio men said that the Marin City men had offered to drive them to a restaurant when they couldn't find a taxi.

One of the men said that Beard grabbed his wallet when he took it out to pay him in the parking lot of the restaurant. The out-of-town men said they grabbed and held Hamilton until police came, but Beard fled and later was identified from pictures.

Beard, a Black Panther, was an unsuccessful candidate for the Sausalito School board in June.

Measure A Committee Notifies Nixon On Win

The "silent majority" has spoken out for United States withdrawal from Southest Asia by next June 30 through voting for Marin County's Measure A., it was claimed yesterday.

The Marin Committee for Peace Referendum sent telegrams to President Richard M. Nixon, senators Alan Cranston and George Murphy and Senator-elect John V. Tunney, and Marin County's representatives in the Congress and Legislature, stressing "the great significance of this vote."

Measure A won on Tuesday's ballot, by a vote of 39,940 to 33,327.

"Marin, the wealthiest county west of the Mississippi, is 96.3 per cent Caucasian, with a heavy concentration of its population in the 35 to 49-year age group," the telegram declared. "Republicans make up 47 per cent of the voters, Democrats 46 per cent.

"A careful consideration of these facts will indicate the strong antiwar feeling of the so-called silent majority," the committee wrote.

"Our representatives must weigh the sentiments of their constituents and act to end our military involvement in Southeast Asia by a definite date, for this is the will of the people, as indicated once again by voters in Marin County."

The telegram is signed by Richard Sloan and Grace Hughes, co-chairmen of the Marin committee, and Barbara Boxer, publicity chairman.

Marin Health Planners To Elect Directors Jan. 13

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Marin, Inc. is preparing for its third annual meeting and election of directors, on Jan. 13.

Interested Marinites who have not yet joined the council must do so by Dec. 1 to be able to nominate and vote for directors, council president Ray Bolinger said yesterday. One third of the board's membership will be elected to three-year terms at the annual meeting, he said.

Membership applications are available from the council offices in the Marin County Civic Center. Citizens also are invited to suggest names of individuals willing to serve on the council's committees, Bolinger said.

Under federal law, a majority of the council's directors must represent health "consumer" interests rather than health "provider" interests, Bolinger pointed out.

Lots Of Wildlife To Hunt In Hawaii

HONOLULU (UPI)—Hawaii has so many wild goats and pigs that they may be hunted year-round in designated areas.

There also are bow and arrow seasons for wild sheep and special seasons for hunting of deer, partridge, pheasant, quail and chukar.

Dehnert Will Chair Panel

O. E. (Denny) Dehnert of Corte Madera took over yesterday as chairman of the Marin County Building Code Board of Appeals.

He was elected by unanimous vote at the board's quarterly meeting in the Civic Center. Dehnert succeeded Ray W. Foreaker Jr., who served as chairman for two years.

Eugene E. Crawford was elected vice chairman, succeeding Ray White.
